2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation: continued..

reading material in my own native language or provided me with an interpreter nor someone who's have well knowledge in law and legal skill "The Clerk's are hired inmates" with lack of financial support from my family, I'm relies heavily on incompetent Jailhouse lawyers for assistance (these jailhouse lawyers are self-learning inmates).

And for the past two (2) decades I have presented evidences to supporting my claims for relief in the State of California Supreme Court and U.S. Court of Appeals in which was unsuccessfully. These evidences are as follows: FIRST, based upon the records supporting will find I was accused and convicted as Aider & Abetter to the offense, I had no intention to harmed/killed anyone in the commission of the offense, furthermore I'm not the Major Participant in the commission of the offense, plus I've not demonstrated or acted with reckless indifference to human life. Even the Magistrate and the Prosecution Key witnesses all agreed I had no knowledge of the planning of the offense, and I was plainly less culpable (please review Opening Brief Petition attached Case #S213539, page 21 and exhibit 1, C.T. 105-108, R.T. 891-892, and R.T. 905).

SECOND, there are insufficient or no evidences to established that the primary victim Mrs. Lauren Tanaka was intentionally confined in a manner which exposing her to substantial likelihood of death (see petition attached page 17) however, Asportation is the Key element of the kidnapping offense, and I didn't removed any victims out of the house, and there was no victims has seriously injured or was intentionally exposed to the likelihood of death cause by me. Furthermore, the fortuitous of my codefendant (Silavong) of moving the car, in which cause the car chased from the Police resulting a crashes cause Mrs. Lauren Tanaka to have minor injuries were not the reasonable foreseeable consequences of I'm holding the other two victims at their house miles away from the car accident scene.

LAST, however, under Penal Code Section §209(a)(b) provision:

"Any person or person Aider & Abetter any such act Kidnap or carrier to hold or detain for ransom, in guilty of the felony, and upon conviction thereof, in cases, which any person is "Subjected to any such act suffer bodily harm or death", shall be punished by Imprisonment in State Prison for Life Without The Possibility Of Parole [or] in cases, "where NO such person is suffered bodily harm or death" shall punished by Imprisonment in State Prison for Life With A Possibility Of Parole".

Again the Penalty of (LWOP) Life Without A Possibility Of Parole can not applied to my conviction as Aider & Abetter to the Kidnap offense without violating both the State and Federal PROHIBIT AGAINST CRUEL & UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT (Cal., Const., art I, Sec. 17; Eighth Amendment) this included violation of Penal Code Sec. §209(a)(b) the same Penal Code which I was charged and convicted thereof.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jonathan Hubbard

In 1977, Louis Lovely asked 22-year-old Jonathan Hubbard to participate in the robbery of a local gas station. On December 29, 1977, Mr. Hubbard, Mr. Lovely, Felix Wilson, and Henry Cousins pulled up to a gas station. After robbing the attendant Roberto Ramirez, Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Lovely shot and killed him. On February 8, 1980, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hubbard to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 2 years for a firearm enhancement.

Mr. Hubbard is 62 and has now been incarcerated almost 40 years. He has committed himself to his rehabilitation through his exemplary conduct in prison and his dedication to self-improvement. Mr. Hubbard has had only one rule violation in the last 30 years. For the last 15 years, he has resided on the honor yard, reserved for inmates with good behavior. He has engaged in various self-help courses, including Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous, Anger Management, and parenting classes. Mr. Hubbard has donated to charitable causes and participated in a youth mentorship program. In 2017, a correctional officer on the honor yard commended Mr. Hubbard for his efforts and behavior. The officer noted that Mr. Hubbard's decisions are "positive, law abiding, and free from disrespect or violence." He stated that "if the opportunity to return to society were ever given, I believe that [Mr.] Hubbard would be a model citizen." In 2018, Senator Scott Wilk commended Mr. Hubbard on his participation in the Convicts Reaching Out to People program, noting Mr. Hubbard's commitment and service to the community. Mr. Hubbard's warden at Lancaster prison recommended him for clemency, praising his work and volunteer efforts. She commended him for staying free from disciplinary violations, drugs, and violence.

Mr. Hubbard's sentence gave him little incentive to change when he came to prison. He told a Board of Parole Hearings investigator that although he had no chance of parole, he decided to take the initiative and turn his life around. Because of his youth at the time of the crime, his rehabilitative efforts, and the length of his incarceration, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jonathan Hubbard to a total of 40 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

John Revola Irving

On February 3, 1994, 18-year-old John Irving, Bernard Ontiveros, and several friends targeted Jose Contreras Vasquez because they believed that Mr. Vasquez had raped Mr. Irving's friend. They drove Mr. Contreras Vasquez around and then Mr. Irving shot and killed him. On April 18, 1996, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Irving to life without the possibility of parole plus four years for murder and a firearm enhancement.

During an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Irving explained that he thought he was helping get revenge for the rape of his friend. Mr. Irving decided to make a positive change in his life after realizing the many negative consequences of his violent lifestyle. In his application for clemency, Mr. Irving described the rehabilitative efforts he has made since coming to prison. He wrote, "In the 23 years of being incarcerated I have rehabilitated myself through self-help classes in cognitive behavior therapy and with spiritual growth I have gained insight into my thoughts and actions. Through these personal developments I have learned the true meaning and understanding of empathy, compassion and forgiveness."

Mr. Irving is now 43 years old and has been incarcerated almost 25 years. He has only been disciplined three times, with the last violation two decades ago. He has never been involved with gangs or drugs in prison. Mr. Irving consistently receives above average work ratings from his supervisors; in 2018, one supervisor praised Mr. Irving as a "team player, highly adaptive to an ever-changing environment, with the potential for success in any professional environment." He has earned multiple vocational certifications and has lived on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard at Lancaster, since 2010. Mr. Irving volunteers for a program that trains shelter dogs, and has designed and manufactured dog leashes, harnesses, and other equipment for the animals in the program. Mr. Irving has also been active in self-help groups, completing programs like Men for Honor, Houses of Healing, and Creative Conflict Resolution. In the event of his release, Mr. Irving plans to live in the Philippines with his wife and work with his brother.

There is no doubt that Mr. Irving perpetrated a senseless crime as a young man. But he has left violence behind and has instead dedicated himself to self-improvement in an extremely challenging prison environment. For these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Irving's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of John Revola Irving to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Joaquin Jordan

Between May 22, 2000 and June 2, 2000, Joaquin Jordan robbed several businesses by either simulating possession of a weapon or brandishing a knife. On March 3, 2002, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Jordan to 25 years to life for robbery.

Mr. Jordan is 47 years old and has been incarcerated for over 16 years. Throughout his incarceration, he has sought ways to improve himself and has turned away from the substance abuse that drove his early criminal activity. Mr. Jordan proposed and developed the New Options for Wellness substance abuse treatment program; which he has facilitated since 2014, has attended Narcotics Anonymous for the past 12 years, and earned a Certification in Alcohol and Drug Studies through Palo Verde College. In addition to addressing his drug addiction, Mr. Jordan has earned three A.A. degrees in Human Services, Social Sciences, and Behavioral Science. Mr. Jordan has also committed to self-help programming; he has served as a facilitator for the Victims Awareness Offender Education Program for over a decade and has participated and facilitated classes in Anger Management, Domestic Violence, and Victim Impact.

Numerous individuals have concluded that Mr. Jordan is prepared for release including California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation Secretary Scott Kernan, who in 2017 wrote that "Mr. Jordan has demonstrated exceptional behavior in prison and would not pose a threat to public safety if he were released from prison." In 2015, a chief deputy warden wrote that Mr. Jordan "has embraced everything he has learned and continues to demonstrate what the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation strives to produce." Also in 2015, a clinical psychologist who evaluated Mr. Jordan, wrote that Mr. Jordan "is bright, highly motivated, deeply committed to his self-improvement and is an excellent worker with good interpersonal and organizational skills. His level of discipline is striking." During the Board of Parole Hearings commutation investigation, a correctional counselor said that Mr. Jordan's "institutional performance/adjustment while being incarcerated has been nothing but exemplary." A correctional lieutenant who has known Mr. Jordan for over 15 years commended him for being "genuine, dedicated, diligent, and a hard worker." Furthermore, information and testimony Mr. Jordan provided led to the conviction of a double murderer, as documented in letters from the Los Angeles Police Department and District Attorney's Office.

Mr. Jordan's warden wrote in support of clemency. After a background investigation was completed, the Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Jordan's case at an en banc meeting and referred his application with a favorable recommendation for a commutation of sentence. Additionally, the California Supreme Court made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Jordan.

In his application for commutation of sentence, Mr. Jordan wrote: "My crimes have had a toll that cannot be quantified, but I do understand the ripples I created resulted in untold damage and permanently changed the landscape of the lives of my victims. I do not know how far-reaching the damage of my individual acts have been, but I have attempted to atone in every way possible." I conclude that based on his record of rehabilitation, it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Jordan's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Joaquin Jordan to a total of 19 years.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

2. BRIEFLY DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME(S) FOR WHICH YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION.

On June 2, 2000, I entered Radio Shack #3796, located at 5001 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, where the victim Nelson Pinto was working as a clerk. I brandished a knife and took money from the cash register before fleeing. I pled guilty to one Count of 2nd degree robbery and I stipulated to make restitution to all dismissed counts.

3. EXPLAIN WHY YOUR ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION.

I am requesting a commutation because, subsequent to a recommendation from the Secretary of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) to recall my commitment and its referral to the Board of Parole Hearings (BPH), my family was informed via email that the BPH has declined to exercise their authority to refer these matters to court because it does not have a procedure in place to act on recommendations from the Secretary and did not know when such a procedure would be developed. Additionally, the Chief Counsel of the BPH and a Special Assistant to the Secretary suggested I pursue a commutation of sentence.

I have fundamentally changed the organizing principles of my life and significantly changed as a person. As my criminal record bears evidence of the need for both punishment and rehabilitation, I assert my post-conviction record of behavior demonstrates I have been highly responsive to the efforts of CDCR to engage me in rehabilitative programming. To support this statement I submit the following attachments:

Attachment A: Recall Recommendation memorandum authored by Secretary Scott Kernan

Attachment B: Letters from Los Angeles County District Attorney and the Los Angeles Police Department

Attachment C: Staff Letters of Recommendation

Attachment F: 2005 Life Prisoner: Documentation Hearing Report

Attachment G: Educational and Vocational Documentation

Attachment H: Rehabilitative (Self-Help) Documentation

Attachment I: Relapse Prevention and Post Release Plan

4. PROVIDE A BRIEF STATEMENT EXPLAINING WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED A COMMUTATION.

Between the ages of 15 to 29, I transformed from an adolescent with potential, to a criminal addict. Long before I faced a judge or spent a night in custody I was lazy, a liar, and a thief. Although these factors made me vulnerable to addiction and criminality, they were actualized by deliberate ill-informed decisions. A section of my probation report accurately and succinctly summarizes the narrative of my life before this prison term, “Despite prior attempts at correctional intervention, on several levels, the defendant continues to exhibit an inability or an unwillingness to modify his behavior to conform to socially acceptable standards.”

During periods of active use, my primary concern was to support my drug addiction without any concern for the impact I had on the lives of my victims. Throughout my criminal career I had a mistaken belief and misplaced pride in never having “physically” hurt someone during the commission of my crimes. Now I understand the enormity of that misperception. I realize that misperception contributed to the erosion of my thinking and minimized, supported, and facilitated my criminality each time I returned to active addiction.

My crimes have had a toll that cannot be quantified, but I do understand the ripples I created resulted in untold damage and permanently changed the landscape of the lives of my victims. I do not know how far reaching the damage of my individual acts have been, but I have attempted to atone in every way possible. I understand and accept the obligation I have to my victims which extends beyond any monetary restitution. The most important thing I owe them is personal change.

My placement at Mule Creek State Prison (MCSP) has been my longest period of sustained positive and productive behavior. My time here at MCSP has been transformative and my transformation is the product of helpful others, evidence based programming, informed deliberate decisions, sustained effort, practice, and a committed willingness to personal change and growth.

Prison has provided a continuous exposure to ongoing addiction and criminal lifestyles. It was the consistent refusal to engage in these lifestyles, which hardened my recovery and facilitated the positive outcome of my incarceration. This hardening process will make my recovery and rehabilitation durable outside of prison.

One of the most important things I have learned is there are three choices that I will confront every day. The choices are:

1. To associate or not associate with people who engage in criminality and addictive behaviors
2. To possess or not possess the materials needed to engage in criminality and addictive behaviors
3. To engage in or not engage in criminality and addictive behaviors

I have made deliberate decisions reinforcing my recovery and rehabilitation for 13 years. However, I do not warrant praise because I have learned to make adaptive and constructive decisions. I understand there are hundreds of millions of people who make these construct choices every day and I am finally joining the majority of the world.

For the first 4 years, my recovery was without any conscious understanding as a component of a rote behavioral chain, performed recovery behaviors because I wanted to stay out of trouble. It was not until I began the deep work of my recovery that I understood two foundational principles of my new life.

One, I can never responsibly use alcohol or drugs. Two, core elements of my character, such as dishonesty, sloth, entitlement, poor impulse control, inability to delay gratification, and a lack of age appropriate coping skills facilitated my entry into crime and drugs.

My studies of addiction and treatment enabled me to understand the interpersonal neurobiological aspects of my behavior. This in turn provided the means to develop and maintain more constructive methods of coping and strengthening my character.

Hyung Jun

On March 14, 1990, Hyung Jun walked into a restaurant while high on cocaine to commit a robbery. He walked up to the register and ordered the cashier, Margarito Alvarado, to give him the money in the register. When Mr. Alvarado tried to run, Mr. Jun jumped over the counter and shot him once in the upper back. Mr. Alvarado died from his injuries one week later. On October 9, 1992, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Jun to life without the possibility of parole for first degree murder.

In Mr. Jun's application for commutation, he expressed sorrow and remorse for killing Mr. Alvarado. Mr. Jun wrote, "I took away his life. A life that I cannot make or bring back. There's no way I could make up for what I've done." However, he hopes to "one day live in [the] community as an upright person pursuing goodness for myself, for my family, for my neighbors, and for my community. A community which I've caused so much tragedy. A community I've destroyed. I hope [to] one day [have] an opportunity to contribute healing and positive influences."

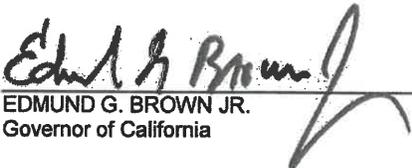

Mr. Jun was 18 years old when he committed this crime and has spent more than half of his life in prison. Although facing a prison sentence with no hope of release, Mr. Jun has made notable efforts to address the issues that led him to commit this crime. He has completed almost 11 years of substance abuse programming and has remained drug-free in prison. Within one year of being incarcerated, Mr. Jun earned his GED. He has resided on the Progressive Programming Facility for seven years and is participating in the Long Term Offender's Program. Mr. Jun has routinely received above average to excellent work ratings. Mr. Jun's supervisors characterize him as a self-starter, hardworking, and reliable.

Mr. Jun committed a senseless crime while addicted to drugs and spiraling out of control. It is clear that he has taken his rehabilitation seriously since coming to prison and has distinguished himself through his participation in self-help and his commitment to sobriety. For these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Jun's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Hyung Jun to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Kimberly LaBore

In 1998, Kimberly LaBore was addicted to methamphetamine and lived with several other people in an abandoned house. She, her boyfriend, and several other men participated in the murders of an unidentified man and Gaylord Chilcote. On April 23, 2001, the Santa Cruz County Superior Court sentenced Ms. LaBore to 60 years and 4 months to life for two counts of murder and two counts of robbery.

Ms. LaBore was recommended for a commutation of sentence by her warden. She is now 47 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 20 years. In her application for clemency, Ms. LaBore described her path to sobriety and expressed deep remorse for her participation in these crimes. She wrote, "Had it not been for my addiction and criminal lifestyle, I know these crimes would not have happened...My dream is to do my best to bring awareness to the death and mayhem addiction can bring to your life." Ms. LaBore explained that she mentors other inmates and facilitates substance abuse self-help programs as a way of continuing to make amends. Indeed, she has participated in numerous programs, including Narcotics Anonymous, Substance Abuse Treatment, and Beyond Violence. Ms. LaBore has only been disciplined once for misconduct during nearly two decades in prison. She is a certified addiction treatment counselor and has completed multiple other vocational programs. Ms. LaBore serves as a hospice volunteer, regularly receives exceptional work ratings, and earned an A.A. degree. Ms. LaBore lives in an honor dorm, donates to charity, and has been commended by staff members for her service to others. Ms. LaBore has been accepted to a transitional housing program, and her mother, stepfather, and aunt have offered to help support her if she is released.

Ms. LaBore participated in very violent crimes, and I know that the family members of her victims deeply grieve their loss. But Ms. LaBore has also made a remarkable commitment to her rehabilitation and sobriety. She has earned an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she can be safely released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Kimberly LaBore to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

APPLICATION FOR COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

2. Briefly Describe the circumstances of the crimes(s) for which you are requesting a commutation.

In the first week of November 1998, John Doe, who was introduced to me as Huckleberry and his female friend exchanged a ride with 2 of my friends for a place to stay for the night; I was living at the house, in Boulder Creek, to which they came. James Dotson, my boyfriend and I were already at the house when the other people arrived. We talked for a bit, the woman drove me to the mountain store to buy cigarettes. When we came back, I wanted to go to sleep. Dotson, my boyfriend, took my dog out to relieve himself, John Doe, the woman, Russell, and Towner all went to the living room or the other room in the house. I went to the bedroom to sleep.

I woke up to someone in bed with me, touching my stomach. I thought it was Dotson. I turned over to see John Doe and I began kicking at him. He stumbled out of the bed, and Dotson was at the bedroom door. Dotson picked up a bat that was at the front door and began beating John Doe with it. John Doe cried out asking, "Why are you doing this? Help me!" Dotson then handed the bat to me and I struck John Doe about three (3) times. I handed the bat back to Dotson and he continued to beat John Doe with the bat, he fell down to the floor. I picked up an exacto blade and cut John Doe's neck. I believe John Doe died.

I looked up and noticed Towner was at the bedroom door. Dotson held out a knife to him and told him he was either with us or he could join John Doe. Towner took the knife and made a few cuts on John Doe's body.

We did what we could to cover up the murder of John Doe. I asked Russell to have my back if this got messy. In the morning, Dotson told the John Doe's female friend that he took the bus into town to get more dope. Dotson and I stayed at the house and everyone else left for town. Dotson and I then began planning how to cover up the murder. I borrowed a car and we dumped John Doe's body in the mountains John Doe's body was not found until December 27, 1998, some six weeks after we murdered him.

Dotson and I then involved two more people, Petznick and Banes, in the second crime, the murder and robbery of Mr. Gaylord Chilcote. This crime happened specifically to get drugs and money in order to run from the police for the murder of John Doe. Mr. Chilcote was murdered in his home in Watsonville approximately six (6) days after John Doe's murder. We used Petznick's relationship with Mr. Chilcote to gain entry to his house. As planned, Mr. Chilcote opened the door for Petznick, Dotson and Banes entered the house with Petznick, I was in the car at this point. After some time passed, Petznick came and got me from the car to go help them look for the money in the house. When I went in I saw Mr. Chilcote had been tied up and murdered. I then help search the house for money. I found the fire box, we broke into it, took the cash that was inside, and left. We went to a hotel and split the money four (4) ways. The next day, Dotson, Petznick and I bought a van and drugs, and then went on the run from the police. We were eventually arrested in Florida about three (3) weeks later.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I am requesting a commutation based on my rehabilitation. While in prison I have worked on my education and self-improvement. I have earned an A.A. degree and I am a state certified Alcohol and Drug counselor (AOD). I take being an AOD counselor very seriously. This is my living amends to John Doe and Mr. Chilcote. Had it not been for my addiction and criminal lifestyle, I know these crimes would not have happened. I have attended many self-help groups to gain a better understanding of myself. Enclosed are copies of some of my accomplishments.

Today, I work for Amity Foundation, the contractor for the Substance Use Disorder Treatment Program, as an AOD counselor, which fulfills one of my long term goals: To continue working in the field of addiction. Enclosed is a letter from Options Recovery Services, the Offender Mentor Certification Program (OMCP), providers offering me assistance in my transition when I parole. If I were to be found suitable for parole at my board hearing, I would take Options Recovery Services up on their offer and continue to work as an AOD Counselor.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I am not asking for a commutation with the thought that I should be granted. Due to the brutality of my crimes, I should not be granted a commutation. I am asking for a chance, though asking for a chance also feels like too much, because I did not give a chance to either John Doe or Mr. Chilcote. However, if I am give a chance, I will do all I can to honor both John Doe and Mr. Chilcote in my daily life. The best way I know how to do that, is by working in the AOD counseling field. I would like to continue my education, so I can be better suited to work in the addiction field. My dream is to do my best to bring awareness to the death and mayhem addiction can bring to your life. I am asking for an opportunity to be a better person than the one I was in 1998.

David Bom Le

On June 3, 2006, David Le, Kam Wong, and Quac Ho attended a birthday party where they were confronted by a group they had fought with several weeks prior. Mr. Le and Mr. Wong retrieved guns and shot into the group, injuring My Ha and killing Chau Tran. On February 1, 2008, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Le to 15 years to life for murder plus a 25 year firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life. Due to Mr. Le's age at the time of the crime, subsequent U.S. and California Supreme Court decisions, and related changes to state law, he is eligible for youthful offender parole consideration in 2030.

Mr. Le has been incarcerated for over 12 years and has been a model prisoner. In his commutation application, Mr. Le stated, "Recognizing the harm that I have caused, I have committed myself to living upright, to come to term[s] [with] and cope with my feelings, to think twice about my decisions, and to serve my community." He told an investigator that when he arrived in prison he was determined to stay busy and better himself. He wrote in his application, "Today, I am committed to living a non-violent, crime free, and productive life in the interest of my community."

In prison, Mr. Le reflected on his "destructive behavior and unhealthy choices" and decided to dedicate his time and energy to self-improvement. Mr. Le has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. He earned his GED and an A.A. degree, and is currently pursuing a B.A. Mr. Le participated in self-help programs and volunteered as a literacy tutor and student teaching assistant. He has also worked at the San Quentin News since 2016 and currently serves as Circulation Manager. Mr. Le has earned strong support from staff through his efforts. The staff supervisor for the San Quentin News wrote in support of clemency, stating, "I observe in Mr. Le a mature, level-headed, goal-oriented adult who has educated [himself] and worked on rehabilitating himself to assimilate back into society." A principal with the education department wrote, "Mr. Le takes his responsibilities as both a student and a worker in the education department seriously and uses the opportunities offered at San Quentin to not only prepare himself for life outside of incarceration but to better himself as a person." A college program supervisor wrote that Mr. Le "has a sincere desire to help others improve themselves and is constantly working to increase his positive influence in the community. . . . Mr. Le has the personal stability and the professional, marketable skills necessary to function successfully in free society. I support his release without reservation."

While I cannot discount the seriousness of the crime Mr. Le committed, it is abundantly clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison. I believe Mr. Le has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of David Bom Le to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

CSP-Solano, California

Dear Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.,

My name is David B. Le and I am 28 years old. I've been incarcerated since 2006. I'm doing a total of 40 years and 2 life terms sentences for 2nd degree murder and a gun enhancement. In short, I was stuck in a predicament in which I felt threatened. At the time, I believed to be in imminent danger and I was desperately trying to fend myself from the people who intended to do me harm. In the heat of the moment, I fired a gun. My actions were unplanned and without malice. It troubles me that a life was lost. I wish it could have turned out differently. Nonetheless, I do accept full responsibility for my actions.

At my sentencing hearing, Judge Thomas Reardon whom presided in my case, noted that except for this incident I've led a law-abiding life and that I am a decent young man who has a lot of potential. He said, "I'm certainly going to presume from what I know about Mr. Le that his conduct in state prison will be exemplary. If that's the case, then for what it's worth, I would encourage the parole board to parole him as soon as he were eligible." The prosecuting DA, Joni Leventis, also made the same request. Also, Juror No. 12, through an e-mail correspondence with my trial attorney after my trial, she commented, "40 years??? that's insane! Why can't the judge help him out??" My trial attorney then replied that the judge has no discretion to do otherwise.

I am an individual who honestly desire a second chance. Unfortunately, any previous relief sought from the Court — unsuccessful. My numerous attempts to acquire pro bono aid — unsuccessful. I constantly pray for relief — for a second chance. A chance to continue to fulfill my sense of duty by helping my ailing father while he's still alive. A chance to continue to do more with my life in society. I have lost enough behind these walls! I do not wish to lose anymore.

What's more, I believe with a strong passion that there is more to my life than the confinement of these walls. With the utmost conviction of my being, I believe I can be an asset, a productive member of society again. For a synopsis of the facts of my situation, please refer to the supplicate brief provided.

In the interest of fairness and the furtherance of justice and upon having reviewed my record of what I've done with my life thus far (including my character, the direction I'm heading, and my culpability in my case) would it be at all immoral and unreasonable to commute my sentence to a reasonable length of time than what is presently imposed on me? I truly desire for a second chance. I appeal to your kindness and mercy. My second chance rest on your decision.

Sincerely Yours,

David B. Le

Jack McFadden

In 1983, 19-year-old Jack McFadden participated in a kidnapping and robbery during which one of his crime partners killed one of the victims. Mr. McFadden fled to Nevada, where he committed another kidnapping and burglary. On July 15, 1986, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. McFadden to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. McFadden was incarcerated for over 22 years in Nevada before he was transferred to California, where he has served an additional 12 years for this crime. Mr. McFadden is now 54 years old. He has only been disciplined twice during his incarceration in California, and has not committed any violent acts. He has lived on an honor yard since 2012. Mr. McFadden routinely receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors, has contributed to charity events, and participates in Paws for Life, a program that trains rescue dogs. The Director of Operations of Paws for Life stated that "Mr. McFadden has been an integral part of organizing the program and worked tirelessly to get the program up and running. Mr. McFadden is the natural leader of the group, which is made up of a very diverse group of men from all races, religions, past gang affiliations, educational and cultural backgrounds. In the event that Mr. McFadden is paroled, Karma Rescue is willing to offer him employment." Multiple correctional officers and staff members have also commended him for his positive behavior and work ethic. Mr. McFadden is currently earning his bachelor's degree from California State University, Los Angeles and a professor from the university noted that Mr. McFadden is "a rare and special man who...can bring a diverse group of strong personalities together," and offered him mentoring and help finding a job if he is released from prison.

Debbie Asuncion, the warden at Lancaster prison, recommended clemency for Mr. McFadden. Additionally, Jessie Walsh, a retired associate warden from Nevada, has also recommended a commutation. Ms. Walsh wrote, "It is most unusual in my fifty years of experience in the criminal justice system for such change to be concretely demonstrated, and also completely new in my experience to express support for clemency given the seriousness of Mr. McFadden's offenses." She continued, "In my opinion, to continue incarceration for Jack McFadden without him having the opportunity for release would be counterproductive and unnecessary in terms of the impact [continued incarceration] would have for himself as well as the community and society as a whole."

In addition, Mr. McFadden's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. McFadden. For all these reasons, I believe that Mr. McFadden has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jack McFadden to a total of 20 years to life.

1. continued.

Offense: Attempted escape. Date: Approx. late 1984? County: Washoe/ State of Nevada.

Sentence: 3 years, 6 months.

* Note Spent approx. 18 months in CYA. Convicted prior to age 18 but released after the age of 18. Less than 9 years before crime incarcerated for now.

2. On the morning of September 13, 1983 I received a phone call from my codefendant who asked me if I wanted to make some money. I was out of town at my girlfriends Mother's house due to her baby being sick and in the Children's Hospital in Orange County. I said yes and drove to the Hotel in lake Elsinore where my codefendant and his wife were holding Mr. Neblett hostage. After talking to Denise Sheldon I knew that Mr. Neblett was a former neighbor of theirs and they had taken him hostage for money. Their plan was to take him back to his house and get more money from him, including having him write checks for me to go cash. Jeff Sheldon and Mr. Neblett drove in one car and I followed them back to Mr. Neblett's house. I waited in the living room while Jeff and Mr. Neblett went to the back room. Jeff brought out a check for me to go cash at the bank at the end of the street. I did so. When I returned I was given another check to cash at a different bank. It was then that Jeff came out to the living room and told me, "you go kill him". I said no. Jeff then went and started to beat Mr. Neblett. Jeff came out again and told me to go finish killing him. I went back and saw that Mr. Neblett was almost dead. I know this doesn't sound reasonable but I did not choke Mr. Neblett, I went back out and told Jeff he had to finish it. After Jeff and I finished cleaning the house, wiping it down of fingerprints we both sat on Mr. Neblett to make sure he was dead. We placed a pillow over his face and then set the couch on him. I then followed Jeff and we dumped the car and tried to cash the check at the bank. They refused.

I want to make this clear. I am NOT blaming the murder of Mr. Neblett on Jeff Sheldon. I was there. It has been 33 years and memory fades. The details are not as crisp as they were. I have been ashamed of my crime and did not want to remember. I confessed to the Officers when questioned. That confession could have gotten me killed in prison so I hid it and tried not to think about it. I have no excuse. I was there. I helped Jeff kill that helpless man. It does not matter if my hands killed him or not. I did nothing to stop it. In fact I encouraged Jeff to go "finish it" himself. It is obvious that I did not think anything through. I tried to cash yet another check with my own ID. Not even thinking of what I was doing. I was so stupid that my stupidity cost another man his life. One word from me, telling Jeff, No, leave him tied up and let's go would have stopped everything. I didn't do that. It was me that said, let's wipe for fingerprints although right after that I cashed a check with my own ID, or at least attempted to. I have heard numerous ideas on how to write this. I hope this is enough.

3. I was 19 years old when I was locked up in 1983. I am now 52 years old. After committing the crime I am now serving my Life Without Parole sentence for I left the state and went to Nevada and a few days later committed the crime of Kidnap Robbery and Burglery. I was sentenced to two 5' to life terms of which I served approximately 23 years. The trial judge here in Calif. decided to run my Life Without Parole sentence Consecutive to my terms in Nevada. To date I have served more than 33 years in prison. I am the first to admit I deserved to be sent to prison. I deserve all the time I have spent in prison. I would just ask that you please consider giving me one chance. If my sentence of Life Without the Possibility of Parole were commuted to Life with and commuted to run concurrent with the time I have already spent locked up I would have a chance to see freedom again. I would never commit another crime. To say I have learned my lesson is such an understatement. I am no long 19 years old. Please give me a chance.

4. I was locked in 1983. I was 19 years old. I am now 52 years old, soon to be 53. I am the first to admit that I deserved to come to prison for the crimes I committed. Being 19 does not mean I should not be held responsible for my crimes. I can never atone for taking the life of another man. I can never make up for the loss to his family and friends and society. I can never make up the pain and suffering I have caused my own family.

The truth is everyone in my family has moved on with their lives without me except my Sister, my Saint. It is her and her amazing kids that have grounded me and made me want to become a better man. It is because of them that I stopped thinking about prison and started thinking about what I could do to become a person they could be proud of. The truth is when I first got to prison i was in Nevada, I had been sentenced to to 5 to Life terms for Kidnap with the use of a deadly weapon and 10 years for burglary. All crimes I committed within days of the crime that I am currently here in Calif. for. I tried to be the "tough guy" but prison soon teaches all kids they are not tough. I was in a state that was not fond of "California Boys". My first years in prison showed me reasons to be afraid, no terrified. I was raped repeatedly by the same man until I finally got sent to Ad. Seg for something and was then transferred to Riverside to face my charges. (Please see Mental Health File.) After being found guilty here in Calif. the Judge sentenced me to Life without the possibility of parole and then ran it consecutive to my time in Nevada, sending me back to Nevada.

Once back in Nevada I did anything and everything I could to make sure I was not the victim again. It wasn't until mid 1990s that I stopped being so afraid and started looking at myself. I hate admitting this but it is true. I had never reflected on my crime. I had never thought about what I had done to my family. I had spent my time feeling sorry for myself and a system that didn't care what happened to me. Little by little I tried to change my life. I got a job working^{the} Prison Industries there making draperies for hotels and casinos and other places. I started sweeping floors and quickly worked my way up with hard work. After a few years I was the Lead Clerk. In charge of the inventory of the whole shop and the pay for everyone, in a shop doing hundreds of thousands of dollars of business. I finally learned what it was like to earn an honest living and help my family. I was finally given a parole and transferred here to California in 2006.

It was not until 2012 that I was transferred here to CSP-Los Angeles County A-Facility. The Progressive Programming Facility. I have spent all but a few years of my life since the age of 14 locked up. Prison is full of stupid rules, mostly based on racial bias. For the first time in my life I could talk to who I wanted, play sports with who I wanted and eat with who I wanted. I could walk across the yard without worry of starting riot for walking through another races "area". Then I moved into a building that had just been changed from Ad-Seg to general Population. I wanted a job, any job and I could get one there being a porter. I was told that a new Program would be starting, A Dog Program called "Paws for Life". I had not seen a dog that was not searching for drugs or phones in more than 30 years, 3-decades. So, it was surreal when the dogs finally showed up. My life changed soon thereafter, a friend told me to stop being afraid, sit down and pet the dog. Her name was "Shelby", and after sitting on the floor she climbed right into my lap and started licking my face. I have put on my "prison face" for all these years, don't show compassion, don't show weakness because it leads to bad things. All of that left that moment in time. I cried like a little kid while I played with that amazing dog.

I have worked non-stop since then. Working 8-14 hours a day, seven days a week for little or no pay and happy to do so. One of the best days of my life was when I became a Paws For Life Trainer. No more do I complain to my sister or nephews about the system or this or that. It is always about the Puppies. My life has changed, I have changed. I joined Paws for life to help save and train dogs but most of all to be around dogs. Then one day when one of the people from Karma Rescue, (the Organization that runs and supplies Paws for Life) came over to see the dog I was training, my first dog assigned to me so I was madly in love with her. What caught my attention was Alex (The Worker from karma Rescue) knew everything about this dog. Not just from a paper but really knew about it and that made me smile inside, knowing someone really cared about this dog as much as I did. I watched closer after that and saw that Karma Rescue didn't just supply us with dogs, these people cared about LOTS of dogs and trying to help change the preception of some of the dogs. They cared about us as well. They had a "Big Picture" and for the first time in my life I realized I was a part of something bigger than prison, something truly good and it made me feel better than I have felt in my entire life.

I have continued to work all those hours for little or no pay and I am still happy to do it. I have received a number of Chrono's along the way but to be honest I have never believed I would get a chance to go home. (See attached) So, I don't do the work for the Chrono's or for the pay obviously. I do it for the dogs. I do it for Karma Rescue and all the people who work there who work so hard to make a better world. I do it for my Paws for Life Brothers that are all races from all back grounds. I do it for my family and for Society and I do it with a smile. Just a few days ago I walked a Beautiful Golden Retriever named Stella through her Canine Good Citizen test where she passed with flying colors. She will now go home to a Veteran who has PTSD and a family that can't wait to see her. I do it for the feeling that it gives me when I have helped do something truly special like this. I would love to get out and have a chance at life while being free. I have been locked up too long to actually believe it could happen but inside I knew I had to try. I hope that you will give me a chance. I believe I could help even more if I were free and I would dedicate my life to doing what I am doing now, helping Karma Rescue save animals and change the world. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Ronnie Mohamed

On July 26, 1994, Ronnie Mohamed stole various items from Maria Trinidad's apartment, including a backpack, food stamps, cash, and a VCR. Mr. Mohamed was caught by officers near the apartment building's exit and arrested. On July 12, 1995, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Mohamed to 25 years to life for burglary under the three strikes law and 10 years for prior felony enhancements – a total term of 35 years to life.

Mr. Mohamed started committing burglaries as a juvenile and began selling drugs to support his own drug addiction. He stated in his clemency application that getting involved in drugs was at the root of his problems. During his time in prison, Mr. Mohamed has been committed to living a drug and violence free life. He has not been involved in any gang activity and has only been disciplined once while in prison.

Mr. Mohamed has been incarcerated for 24 years and is now 58 years old. He has taken college classes, participated in self-help programs, and completed vocational training. Mr. Mohamed has received above average work ratings, and his outstanding work performance and respectful relationship with both inmates and staff has not gone unnoticed. In 2018, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Mohamed "exhibited the posture of rehabilitation and demonstrates his positive attitude in all affairs to prepare for society again." A visiting room sergeant who has known Mr. Mohamed for the past 10 years noted that he has always "maintained the same respect [for] staff, guests, and the inmate population." Mr. Mohamed was an original participant in the San Quentin Tennis Program and has encouraged other inmates to participate. In 2017, an associate warden wrote that Mr. Mohamed has been "instrumental" through the tennis program in "breaking down the inmate self-imposed racial self-segregation." The associate warden wrote that Mr. Mohamed is "mature, conscientious, and "dedicated [to making San Quentin] a safe environment for himself and others."

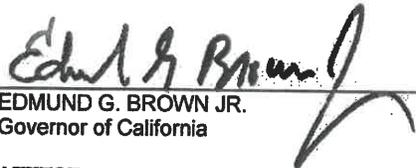

I note that Mr. Mohamed was recommended for a commutation by the Warden at San Quentin. Additionally, the Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Mohamed's case at an en banc meeting and recommended him for a commutation of sentence. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Mohamed.

Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Stephen Marcus, who reviewed Mr. Mohamed's case, wrote that the question of whether Mr. Mohamed should be granted executive clemency "should be determined, in large part, by his performance and record in state prison." Mr. Mohamed has remained dedicated to and focused on his rehabilitation throughout his incarceration. For all the foregoing reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Mohamed's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ronnie Mohamed to a total of 25 years.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Quintin Orrin Morris

At around 1:45 a.m. on November 30, 1991, Zaida Correa and three friends, Livan Cartaya, Maribel Canizales, and Jose Corzo, returned to Ms. Correa's house after an evening out. As they walked toward the front door of the home four shots rang out, striking Ms. Canizales and Mr. Corzo. The gunman ran towards Ms. Correa, faced her, raised his weapon, and fired six more shots, somehow missing her. The shooter then ran across the street and got into the front passenger seat of a waiting car. Mr. Morris was arrested nearby and identified as the shooter. On February 16, 1994, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Morris to 33 years to life for three counts of attempted murder.

Mr. Morris maintains his innocence for this crime. No physical evidence ties Mr. Morris to the crime, and it is not clear what his motive for committing the crime would have been. Another individual confessed to the crime shortly after Mr. Morris' trial in the early 1990s and, when recently interviewed, continued to assert that he was the true shooter. An eyewitness who testified at trial has since indicated that the other man who confessed to the crime "resembled the shooter," and she questioned her previous positive identification of Mr. Morris. In 2000, a federal magistrate, Charles Eick, recommended that Mr. Morris seek clemency, saying, "on the present record as a whole, including the evidence obtained post-trial, this court has significant doubt regarding whether petitioner committed the crime of which he stands convicted." Additionally, the Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Morris' case at an en banc meeting and recommended him for a commutation of sentence. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Morris.

The trial judge in Mr. Morris' case was Michael Hoff, a retired 20-year police officer intimately familiar with the neighborhood where the crime took place due to his previous time as a watch commander there. After retiring from the Los Angeles Police Department, he practiced law for 15 years and served on the Los Angeles County Superior Court for 21 years. He presided over hundreds of similar criminal cases. During Mr. Morris' trial, the judge expressed grave concerns about the sufficiency of the evidence placing Mr. Morris at the scene of the crime and asked the deputy district attorney to consider dismissing the case. Judge Hoff said that he was "surprised" by the jury's verdict, and granted a new trial after the other individual claimed responsibility for the shooting. That decision was later overturned on appeal. In 2013, Judge Hoff wrote to support clemency and explained his concern with the eyewitness identification in the case. He said, "Had Mr. Morris' trial been a bench trial, I would have concluded that there was reasonable doubt as to his guilt and that the People did not satisfy their burden of proof." During a more recent interview with the Board of Parole Hearings, Judge Hoff said, "I don't think he did it. The witness identification was impossible. We took the jury out to the crime scene at night. We took them out there by bus. At night, they couldn't see anything. There is no way they could see what they said they saw."

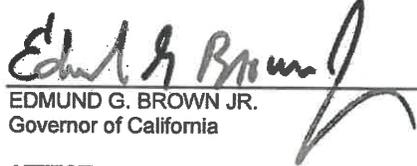

Mr. Morris is now 53 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 27 years. While incarcerated, Mr. Morris earned a GED. He has proven to be a hard worker and has received above average work ratings. Through his diligent efforts and thousands of hours of work, he has gained skills in metal fabrication. He has participated in self-help groups including Anger Management, Life Skills, Self-Development, and Interpersonal Skills. He has served as the co-chairman of his Alcoholics Anonymous group. He has not been disciplined for misconduct since 2012. One of his former attorneys wrote a letter of support describing him as "a model of positivity, gratitude, equanimity and generosity."

In light of the significant doubt that judges have raised surrounding Mr. Morris' conviction, along with his rehabilitative efforts in prison, I believe he should have an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Quintin Morris to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Lawrence Udukobraye Pela

In 2007, Lawrence Pela committed multiple armed robberies of video game stores and a convenience store. Mr. Pela had a gun and wore a mask and gloves during each robbery, but no one was injured. On November 5, 2009, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Pela to 10 years for 9 counts of robbery plus an additional 36 years and 8 months for 9 firearm enhancements – a total term of 46 years and 8 months in prison.

Mr. Pela has now been incarcerated for almost 11 years. In his application for commutation, he described his dedication to his faith and the changes he has made in his life since coming to prison. He wrote, "I have improved my understanding and ability to articulate my thoughts, utilizing an awareness of how to avoid negative situations to make a difference in the lives of those in my community behind the walls and abroad... If I am granted this commutation, I will reenter society committed to serving others as I have done while in prison."

Mr. Pela has clearly dedicated himself to rehabilitation and turning his life around. He has never been disciplined for misconduct during more than a decade in prison. He is taking college classes and has been working in the Prison Industry Authority for years, learning marketable skills in carpentry. Mr. Pela has participated in multiple self-help classes, including Trauma and Victimization, Criminal Behavior, Transformative Justice, and Effective Communication. He has also been commended by volunteers and staff members who interact with him regularly. In 2017, the executive director of Restorative Justice praised Mr. Pela for his participation in a transformative justice symposium, writing, "Pela is commended for his efforts in supporting the needs of survivors or crime and increasing public safety." In 2013, a correctional lieutenant applauded Mr. Pela for his participation in a program that counsels young people to stay away from the pressures of gangs, drugs, and violence. The lieutenant wrote, "His active participation in this program is evidence of genuine concern and commitment towards making a difference in the lives of at-risk youths in the community." A number of other supervisors have commended Mr. Pela's work ethic, positive attitude, and commitment to improving the institution. Mr. Pela plans to live with his mother and earn his bachelor's degree when he returns to the community.

For all the foregoing reasons, I believe that Mr. Pela deserves an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Lawrence Udukobraye Pela so he is immediately eligible for a parole hearing.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation.

Between March 27, 2007 and May 31, 2007, I robbed several retail stores in Sacramento County. In each robbery I displayed or pointed a gun, but never discharged the firearm. Surveillance cameras taped majority of the robberies and although I wore a mask, store employees were able to identify me because of my height, build, complexion, eyes and other characteristics.

3. Explain why you're requesting a commutation.

I am requesting a commutation of sentence because I am not who I was when I committed my crime 10 years ago. Throughout my incarceration I have taken advantage of educational opportunities through college courses, religious studies, and self-help groups. I have been dedicated to uplifting my community by tutoring other incarcerated men, leading a religious ministry, and mentoring at-risk youth. I have also been disciplinary free my entire incarceration, refraining from discriminatory behavior towards staff or other incarcerated men.

4. Explain why you should be granted a commutation.

I must begin by saying I can't explain why I "should" get anything because I don't "deserve" a commutation. I'm guilty of the crimes I've been convicted of yet I'm not the same man I was 10 years ago. By simply expressing who I am today, I hope to show why it would be "safe" to grant this commutation.

I grew up in Church my entire life. My mother and grandmother were adamant about instilling in my younger brother Michael and I the character, morals, and attitude of Jesus Christ. As a kid I sang in the choir and worked as an usher. In grade school I received A's, was an honor roll student, won spelling bee awards, and played basketball for my school team. I also attended community college where I continued to play basketball while seeking an academic education.

Having a good work ethic was important for me. I got my first job at the age of 16, working at a supermarket until my high school graduation. After high school I attended college and had various job experiences. I worked at a restaurant, a warehouse, gas station, department stores (Nordstrom and Gap), a workout gym, and a real estate agency as a consultant. I worked until I was 24 years old. However, I started becoming depressed because I was not where I wanted to be in life. I didn't have money, a respectable career, a house, and not being able to provide for a family (if I chose to have one) was disheartening for me. I struggled with my faith. At age 25, I committed my first crime, an armed robbery. For the next two months, I committed multiple robberies, of all Game Stop video games stores, believing I was not harming people. I was finally caught and convicted of 10 counts of armed robbery, receiving a 46 year sentence.

My incarceration itself was the epiphany moment. My understanding of my wrong actions were immediate. I started going to Church services and through reading and reflecting, I began to look for the source of my pain. I realized that my issues stemmed from my father choosing money over family. My father moved to Nigeria for work, making his home there when I was 7. I was distraught because he left and I told myself he cared about money more than me. I started to believe money was more important than family. From then on, in order for me to be valuable in my own eyes, as well as my father's, I needed to have money. That pressure was so intense for me that I became depressed; willing to steal money rather than earn it. I realized my truth was as simple as that. I understood how my two months of committing robberies, harming people and destroying my community was rooted in my distorted belief that money made me someone of value to myself and my father.

In prison I have been dedicated in holding fast to my faith. I lead the Drama ministry in the Protestant chapel, finding my value in spreading Christ's message in an unconventional way (through performing arts) to an unconventional audience. I have taken self-help programs, ensuring I gain the tools to help me become a productive member of society. In Essentials for Effective Communication I learned how to properly vocalize my feelings instead of holding them in until they erupted. In spite of having differences of opinion with other incarcerated men, I'm able to speak in ways that diffuses conflict rather than causes it. Criminal Rehabilitation Anonymous showed me how to combat the negative result of feeling depressed by responding to how I feel instead of reacting to it. Evaluating why these feelings arise, I carefully consider every long term solution available which keeps me from acting impulsively; seeking a quick fix.

I am enrolled in the Prison University Project, understanding a correlation exists between success and having an education. I want the best for myself and a college education provides another resource for me to improve and become better. I also participate in The Beat Within, Brothers in Pen, and Christian Creative writing workshops. I enjoy writing and using my imagination and creativity to make something entertaining and that will have a positive impact on the lives of my readers. I worked in education, tutoring men seeking to obtain their G.E.D. because I'm interested in helping men who are taking steps to better their lives; especially through education. I have mentored at-risk youth at Wasco State Prison with the Slow Down/Despacio program, continuing the work here at San Quentin, in a program called S.Q.U.I.R.E.S. Our goal is to help young men from neighboring communities desire to make the right choices. We achieve this using our motto, "We don't scare straight, we communicate." My passion for this kind of work is simply about preventing young men from crashing on the same road as I did.

I believe my record reflects why it is safe to grant this commutation. While consistently remaining assigned in an employment position, I have changed from who I was when I committed my crime, conducting myself respectfully and impartially when dealing with inmates and staff alike. I have improved my understanding and ability to articulate my thoughts, utilizing an awareness of how to avoid negative situations to make a difference in the lives of those in my community behind the walls and abroad. I've also remained disciplinary "115" free for my entire 10-year incarceration. If I am granted this commutation, I will reenter society committed to serving others as I have done while in prison. I humbly plead for your mercy; placing the degree of leniency under the authority of your discretion. I appreciate the time you have taken to consider this request, hoping you can see the changed man that I am, while always praying that God bless.

Lawrence U. Pela Jr.

Charlie Praphatananda

On April 4, 1997, Charlie Praphatananda and two others robbed Emiliano Coronado of twenty dollars. Later that day, Mr. Praphatananda shot and killed Robert Goodwin during a robbery. On January 5, 2001, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Praphatananda to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 10 years for a firearm enhancement.

Mr. Praphatananda has been incarcerated for over 21 years and has been a model inmate during that time. In his commutation application, Mr. Praphatananda described how he came to understand that while he made some terrible choices leading up to, and including, his crime, "I haven't continued to live in those choices." Instead, he noted, "My time in here has been spent on improving myself as a person, by learning new ways of thinking and by participating in positive activities." He wrote, "I hope to one day not be defined only by my worst actions."

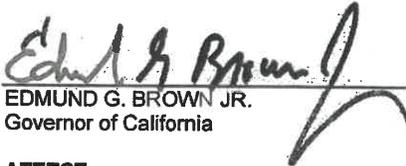

In prison, Mr. Praphatananda has been committed to his rehabilitation and earned the respect of staff. Mr. Praphatananda has been recommended for clemency by his warden. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. He has earned his GED, an A.A. degree, and is working towards his college degree in communications through the on-site bachelor's degree program at California State University, Los Angeles. Mr. Praphatananda has tutored fellow inmates studying for their GED and co-founded a book-sharing group to help inmates afford college. He instructs and leads a charity group that crochets items for donation. A lead administrator for the Lancaster Prison Program wrote that Mr. Praphatananda "is a great student, hard worker, and a perfect example of how education contributes to transformation." A faculty director of the program wrote that Mr. Praphatananda is "clearly and demonstrably not the man he was before coming to prison, but instead is now a mature, thoughtful, and loving adult, capable of becoming a productive asset to our society." He continued, "I have no doubt that if Charlie is released from prison he will continue to grow in ways that he did not know were possible and become 'so much more,' by bringing his compassion, patience and humanity into the world." Mr. Praphatananda has multiple job offers and support from family members upon release.

Faced with a sentence with no hope of release, Mr. Praphatananda could have easily given up and lost himself in drugs, gangs, and violence. Instead, he focused on his rehabilitation. As Mr. Praphatananda wrote in his application, "I've spent half my life trying to better myself, to learn from the consequences that my actions had." Mr. Praphatananda has demonstrated sincere remorse for his actions and dedicated himself to self-improvement and serving others. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Praphatananda has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Charlie Praphatananda from life without the possibility of parole to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon or commutation
(attach additional pages as necessary):

From the moment I was sentenced to Life Without the Possibility of Parole, my family has driven home the consequences of my actions, not allowing me any excuses. I realize that drugs and bad influences did not force me into the choices I made, for I willingly chose to participate in the events that led to the robbery and murder of Robert Goodwin.

Since then, I've also come to realize the pain that Robert Goodwin's family suffered in losing him. Knowing that I can never make that up, I can only ask for a second chance to show how I've learned to take responsibility for my actions and to make better choices these days.

As for my family, I'd like to be an example for my nieces and nephews, to show them the importance of accountability, and also the importance of forgiveness. Yes, I made bad choices, but I haven't continued to live in those choices. My time in here has been spent on improving myself as a person, by learning new ways of thinking and by participating in positive activities. I hope to one day not be defined only by my worst actions.

In asking for a commutation, I also hope for a chance to be there for my parents, who are old. My mom has serious medical issues, and I wish to be the son I always should've been.

Should you commute my sentence to 25 Years to Life, I will be forever grateful. And should I have a chance to rejoin society, I will demonstrate the values I've learned in here by living as an honest, hard-working member of the community.

Thank you for your consideration.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon or commutation (attach additional pages if necessary):

I was 20 years old when I committed my crime, and I am now 40 years old. I've spent half my life trying to better myself, to learn from the consequences that my actions have had. I believe I now make better choices, as I've been disciplinary-free for awhile, with no 115's in over 20 years and no 128's in over 5 years. My ability to make better decisions has in large measure been the result of my attending rehabilitative programs like Conflict Resolution, Constructive Communication, Victim-Offender Education Group, Relationship Building, Anger Management, and Re-Entry Preparation.

In here, I've been able to complete my post-secondary and higher education, so I've felt inspired to help my peers do the same. I've done this by co-founding the inmate groups A.C.E. (Achieving College Education) and H.E.A.R.T. (Helping Everyone Attain Real Transformation).

I've also encouraged my peers to community service. I am the instructor for our charity crochet class and founder of our group F.O.L.C.C. (For Our Local Community Charities). We crochet items for direct donation and for charity fundraisers.

Over the years, I've maintained close contact with my family and friends, who have stayed in touch through letters and visits. My parents, my sister, my nieces and nephews, and my friend Roger would all be willing to help me with housing and employment should I be granted a second chance.

Finally, I have marketable skills (Business major) from my Associate in Arts degree at Coastline Community College (2009). I'm currently enrolled as a student in the on-site Bachelor's degree program here through California State University, Los Angeles (CSU, LA). When I complete my Bachelor of Arts degree, I'll be in an even stronger position to find a job out there.

Alejandro Rosales

On September 24, 1999, a truck drove past Alejandro Rosales and one of its occupants flashed gang signs in his direction. Mr. Rosales pulled out a gun and fired multiple shots at the truck, hitting Jesus Villalobos in the chest and Antonio Perez in the arm. Mr. Villalobos died from his injuries; Mr. Perez survived. On July 18, 2003, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Rosales to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Rosales was 22 years old when he committed this crime; he is now 41 and has spent 18 years in prison. In his application for clemency, he took full responsibility for his actions and wrote that he regretted that the life he chose "brought so much pain not just to my loved ones, but also to those that my action hurt."

During his incarceration, Mr. Rosales has made notable efforts to turn his life around. Mr. Rosales has maintained a positive work record and served for several years as a lead porter. Mr. Rosales has been earnestly involved in self-help programs including Life without a Crutch and Alternatives to Violence, and is currently enrolled in an Anti-Recidivism Coalition program for youth offenders. In 2017, the sponsor for the Life without a Crutch program called him a "model for others to emulate," commended him for being "extremely dedicated in completing work assignments," and noted that Mr. Rosales "has also committed to a thorough self-analysis that has helped him to make a positive social behavior modification." The sponsor concluded, "I am confident that Inmate Rosales will do well in the future." In the event of his release, Mr. Rosales plans to seek services from a transitional housing program to help him re-enter the community. He has a mentor who has promised to help him if released and he reported that he is eager to rejoin his family and be a positive role model for those around him.

Despite serving a sentence that offered him no hope for release, Mr. Rosales has used his time in prison to reflect on his past and strive for a new, positive future. For these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

APPLICANT'S STATEMENT

1. On September 24, 1999 I was working at Endeveco which was a Friday and it was a half day of work which meant I was off work at 11am. My Mother that also worked at Endeveco at the time asked me for a favor on helping with moving of old furniture to my Grandfather house which I did for her and for the favor my Mother gave me money to go and get my truck washed.

Around 3:00p.m. my friend Alejandro Malfavon and his son showed up to my house to stop and say hi. At that time I let him know I was off to the car wash and he said he'd join me along with his son and asked to stop at the postoffice which was on the way to car wash.

At about 4:30 we were driving home the 3 of us. I was stopped at the light on Rancho Viejo Road in the South lane, when a truck, which was stopped in the opposite direction, made a U-turn and drove south. I noticed the truck because it was lowered had rims and a nice paint job. I continued driving and paid no attention to the truck and could not see it as the road curved. The truck was driving the speed limit and I saw the truck about 50 yards in front, the truck began to drive a lot slower as we past Via Escolara and I noticed the passenger had on a baseball hat which he took off. The truck was driving slowly towards the next intersection at Spotted Bull. I closed in on the truck because of its slow travel and I could tell the three males were Hispanics with shaved heads.

I noticed the passenger was turning around to look at us. I asked my friend Malfavon if he recognized the truck occupants, which he told me he did not. As I neared the truck about 20 yards behind the occupants seemed to want to talk to me. I started to roll down my window when adjacent to them, I looked over but did not recognize them. As I looked over the driver and the guy in the middle threw up their gang sign which was Varrio Chico, then I noticed the passenger put his baseball hat on the window. At that time I saw a gun barrel sticking out from the hat, I thought he was about to start shooting at us, being only five to seven feet of the person holding the gun in the truck right next to me, I went right for my gun.

At this time I thought these three guys were gang banging and this was a hit on our lives. I had a surge of adrenaline and fear, I had shot two shots out my window within seconds of seeing the gun and grabbing my own. My head was below the window sill and I leaned to my right so I wouldn't be hit, I pointed the gun in the direction of the other truck's window. The two trucks were nearly parallel at the time and about 50 yards before Spotted Bull.

I did not intend to kill, but realized that I might kill or seriously injure someone. I fired the gun to protect my friend his son and myself from being shot and killed.

Right after the first shots my friend Malfavon asked what the fuck I was doing. I told my friend that they threw Varrio Chico and in Spanish said "Mi Sacaron Un Cuete" meaning they pulled out a gun on me. He berated me.

I did not stop and felt the guys in the truck would have unloaded their gun into my truck. I could not veer to the left for their truck was there and to my right was the freeway wall adjacent to us.

The other truck sped off and went around the traffic on the left into opposite lane and continued south and within a few seconds I followed. I drove into the Village which at the time I lived in that complex. It was about 100 yards away. I drove quickly because I wanted to get out of there as I was scared and panicked.

My friend Malfavon kept telling me that I had fucked up and I kept saying that I was sorry over and over and that I was scared.

I then drove to a friend's house that also lived in the Village my friend Beto Gonzalez.

My friend Malfavon kept telling me not to get him involved, I agreed not to do as he asked me and Malfavon left with his son.

I wanted to do something with my hands so Gonzalez would not notice how nervous I was, so I washed off the streak marks on my truck from the drive from the carwash.

I did not tell Gonzalez what had happened but I asked if I could leave my gun there at his place. He told me that I could not leave the gun there. I ended up leaving the gun in his garage.

I then called my friend Malfavon to apologize once again he stated to me not to get him involved and I gave him my word that I would not.

The next morning I learned that someone had been shot and killed.

2. My efforts during my incarceration for rehabilitation have been towards my Appeal keeping in touch with my appeal lawyer during my direct appeal asking all questions to help me out towards a successful appeal. After receiving advice from my appeal lawyer (Sharon G. Wrubel) I learned of the Writ of Habeas Corpus and put all my efforts towards a writ of Habeas Corpus filing for Ineffective Assistance of Counsel.

I started to study the law by receiving State Habeas Corpus Procedure A manual for California Prisoners, I as well received many hand books as the federal habeas Corpus. I am a law library user that spent that time looking over case files speaking to other inmates that would help me by leading me in the right direction, the help I did receive from other inmates helped me to file many motions throughout the years of my incarceration, I have been the main one and only one to file "ALL" my Writs through all the courts and have done so by my own due diligence. I have done the best I could do under the circumstances of being in prison.

Throughout the years in prison I have held jobs at all the prisons starting at CCI I was a clerk for the program office which most of that time spent at CCI was spent on lock down which didn't allow me to be more part of the task of a clerk. Once at KVSP I was given a job as a yard crew worker that I held for the time I was there. At this time I find myself at HDSP and have held the job as lead porter in the block that I stay.

This whole time of my incarceration I have held all jobs that been appointed to me by each prison and at the same time have put in all my efforts to filing all my motions writs towards my appeal at the same time. I looked for help from my family that have been on my side throughout my incarceration.

3. On 10-30-03 possession of escape paraphernalia ccr §3006(c)(4) which was dropped because it was a mistake that the prison made by allowing a copy of my cousin I.D. come to me through the mail.

on 8-30-04 Delaying a peace officer CCR §3005(c), this was a protest towards CCI for having us on lock down for no reason.

On 3-4-08 Refusing a direct order CCR § 3006(B) at the time I didn't want to see the nurse or any medical. This was over the treatment of the inmates at KVSP.

On 6-17-10 Participation in a riot CCR §3005(d)(2) At this time I was working as yard crew at KVSP and a riot broke out that I was was caught up right in the middle of it.

On 6-17-10 Battery on an inmate with a weapon CCR § 3005(d) I was found guilty for participation on the eye witness.

4, The District Court adopted the Magistrates R&R therefore determining I had not demonstrated that Extraordinary Circumstances beyond my control precluded me from filing my petition on time, Accordingly. The petition is untimely and must be dismissed with prejudice, the Ninth Circuit court of Appeals as well denied my request for Certificate of Appealability, Stating 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2).

However it was a violation of my rights to due process when I can demonstrate that Extraordinary Circumstances beyond my control precluded me from filing my petition on time. I had demonstrated that I had done everything in my power to develop the claim, but further factual development is necessary there are disputed facts.

I had two trials so I know the courts are more than interested in the rules of the law than the truth. My first trial was a "Hung Jury" there was one hold out for guilty on the charge of murder. Had the judge allowed the jury to hear that the decedent had drugs in his system maybe the one hold out would have voted to acquit. Who knows. For the judge's own rules of law Judge Froberg refused to allow the jury to hear that the decedent had meth in his system. Stating the decedent was not the one on trial. I know in other cases with Special Circumstances all evidence is allowed to prove defendant's innocence which I was denied that right. Not just that but in many cases the jury has been able to hear that a victim had drugs in his system. I did find out that Judge Froberg is an Ex District Attorney as most judges are but what bothered me was the fact that he is married to a high ranking D.A. Official. I feel he was biased against me and my father who at the time of both trials was a Public Defender Investigator. My father had brought this up to my trial attorney Gary M. Pohlson, he dismissed this as a non-issue.

Without the Toxicology evidence and a ballistic expert to speak on my behalf, the first trial was a hung jury. Things may have been different if the jury had been allowed to hear the truth.

Two weeks after my first trial one of the victims/witness was a suspect in a 187 case NO.02-18962 Villalobos, I as well was not allowed that evidence to be presented to the jury.

In a case that has Special Circumstances the defendant has the right to present all the evidence to prove his innocence, I believe my Constitutional rights, due process and Eight of the Amendment rights had been violated.

I take full responsibility for my actions and regret what the life I had chosen in the past had brought so much pain not to just my loved ones but to those that my actions hurt. God knows the pain we go through and I ask him for forgiveness every day. As I do now ask the Honorable Governor of the State of California to forgive my past actions, after the years I have spent incarcerated the ones that go through the pain are my loved ones that have to see me behind bars for what I believe was an act of panic and fear for the life of a friend and his son as well as for my own life.

I hope and pray that my request be granted.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Hugo Ivan Sanchez

In November 2004, Hugo Sanchez was a 16-year-old gang member. He shot at a car driven by Victor Lopez. Mr. Lopez was hit once in the face, but thankfully survived. On February 8, 2007, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Sanchez to 15 years to life for shooting at an occupied motor vehicle and 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life.

Mr. Sanchez has been incarcerated for over 13 years and has dramatically turned his life around during that time. He told a Board of Parole Hearings investigator that at the time of the crime he was "spiraling out of control" and grieving because a rival gang had killed his friend. In his commutation application, Mr. Sanchez expressed shame at having committed this senseless act. He wrote that since coming to prison, "I have done everything within my power to learn how I ended up developing a warped belief system." Regarding his rehabilitation, Mr. Sanchez stated, "I made that commitment to live a life worth living, my life has been transformed."

In prison, Mr. Sanchez has dedicated his time and energy to self-improvement and helping others. He disassociated from gangs, avoided drugs, and left violence behind. He has never been disciplined for any serious misconduct in prison. He earned his GED and participated in self-help programs, including acting as a facilitator and team coordinator for Alternatives to Violence. A prison coordinator for the Alternatives to Violence Project wrote regarding Mr. Sanchez, "It has been a pleasure of mine to watch Mr. Sanchez mature in his sense of responsibility to the community," and noted that he "is remarkably intuitive in knowing how to interact with a variety of people." Mr. Sanchez has also served as a mentor in the Youth Offender Program and as a peer health educator. A trainer in the Inmate Peer Education Program wrote that Mr. Sanchez "willingly educates across racial, political, and religious lines," noting that he "has been selflessly committed to the program and is dedicated to educating his peers." A fellow inmate wrote in support of clemency, stating that "Mr. Sanchez's goal is to help those around him become better individuals," and that he "does his best to inspire them to do their best." Mr. Sanchez has a plan for his life after being released from prison that includes guaranteed housing, therapy, and a scholarship to continue his education.

I do not discount the gravity of Mr. Sanchez's crime, but it is clear that Mr. Sanchez has distinguished himself as a leader and role model to other inmates. I believe Mr. Sanchez has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Hugo Ivan Sanchez to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This section to be completed by the District Attorney only.

I, Barbara Woelfel AD, District Attorney of the County of Los Angeles, do hereby acknowledge receipt of notice from Hugo Ivan Sanchez, that he/she intends to apply to the Governor of the State of California for a commutation of sentence.

Signed Barbara Woelfel

Date 11/1/17

District Attorney: Please Return this Notice to the Governor's Office, Attn: Legal Affairs, State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814.

2.) Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

The crime I was convicted of was committed on 11/20/04. I and another gang member known as "Eazy" were headed back from a quincenera when I happened to drive up next to Victor Lopez, Rodrigo Valdez, and Uriel del Campo. I told "Eazy" to bang (meaning ask where are they from?) on them...which he did. They replied that they didn't bang and they started to drive away. I did not like the way they responded, so I pulled out a gun as I drove up to them. Then I started shooting at Victor, Rodrigo Valdez, and Uriel del Campo.

3.) Explain why you are requesting commutation:

I am requesting commutation because I am ready to reenter the real world as a new and really improved human being. I have been equipping myself with the necessary tools to reintegrate into society and become the giving and productive member of society I was always meant to be.

4.) Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted commutation:

I would like to express that I do not believe I am entitled to commutation because I do not think I am worthy of it. The reason why I do not think I am worthy of commutation is because I attempted to take Victor Lopez's, Rodrigo Valdez's and Uriel del Campo's life. My actions on that night caused Victor the use of his right eye as well as robbed all three of them of their sense of peace and security. I know that the harm I caused all three of these men cannot be undone, and this tragic incident I caused will forever haunt their lives. I now see this opportunity to be reviewed for commutation (If granted or not) as a sign of redemption, and I am truly grateful for being considered. Some may say that by me receiving two life sentences was the equivalent of me losing my life. I see it for what it truly is; "A blessing in disguise". By me receiving two life sentences, God spared me from an early death on the streets, and I was able to gain my humanity back. Being incarcerated has given me all the time I need to work on all the things I lacked in my life such as; becoming self-aware of the harm I have caused others, the long term effect of my actions, Education, Self-Awareness, Identity, Self-Control, and Love for myself and others. It also has given me time to heal from the multiple deep losses that my young heart had to suffer at a young age. When I was about six or seven years old, the first loss I suffered was my grandfather's passing. He was the only father figure I had. My second loss came when my dog "Chula" was taken from me, in a time when it was difficult for me to form healthy attachments to other human beings. The other tragedy I endured was that of my first best friend "Alan Melchor", who became like my older brother. He was murdered on his driveway in front of his parents and sister because of the gang lifestyle we chose to live. All these losses hurt me deeply...I'm not saying this to excuse what I did, but to just give an understanding that at that time I was a child that was hurting and didn't know how to ask for help, but instead of trying to ask for help, I ended up hurting someone else. I am ashamed of having committed this senseless act. Furthermore, I was given an opportunity to be transferred here to Ironwood State Prison and participate in the budding youth offender program and ever since I made that commitment to live a life worth living, my life has been transformed. I am no longer a gang member, I attempted to have my gang tattoo's removed, unfortunately the procedure is not a medical issue therefore medical could not provide that procedure to me. I have been doing everything within my power to learn how I ended up developing a warped belief system. The way I worked towards regaining my life back was through taking self-help classes that addressed my personal issues. I was then able to use my life experiences as well as the tools I learned in groups and start helping not only myself, but also those around me regardless of age, color of their skin, religious beliefs or even under what circumstances that they were raised. In particular, youth offenders in the YOP Mentoring Program I have been a part of; first as a youth offender, then I transitioned into being a mentor here at Ironwood State Prison since 2012.

Trina Sanders

Trina Sanders lived with her daughter Alisha Brown and Ms. Brown's fiancé, Jason Santos. On November 9, 2002, Ms. Brown, Mr. Santos, and Ms. Sanders had been drinking. Mr. Santos and Ms. Brown got into a physical fight and Ms. Brown pinned him down on the kitchen floor. When Mr. Santos got up off the floor, Mr. Santos threw a beer at Ms. Sanders, and she stabbed him once in the chest. Ms. Sanders called 911, but Mr. Santos died before the authorities arrived. On May 25, 2004, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Sanders to 25 years to life for first degree murder plus a one-year deadly weapon enhancement – a total term of 26 years to life in prison.

In her application for clemency and when speaking with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Ms. Sanders described her former addiction to drugs and her history as a victim of abuse. She recalled the physical and sexual abuse she suffered at the hands of her former partner; on one occasion, he raped her while she was pregnant and beat her with a cable cord until she had convulsions. He repeatedly threatened to kill her over the course of their relationship, and she described feeling like she was "always walking on eggshells." Ms. Sanders reported that after she moved in with her daughter and Mr. Santos, she quickly learned that Mr. Santos was physically, emotionally, and verbally abusive to her daughter. In 2003, a psychologist who specializes in intimate partner battery evaluated Ms. Sanders and concluded that she suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder, and that at the time of the crime, "The violence there was triggering memories of her own life of violence...she felt quite threatened both for herself and others and acted quickly in self-defense or a perception of a need to defend herself."

Ms. Sanders is now 58 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 15 years. She has no prior criminal history and has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. Ms. Sanders has shown a genuine determination to improve herself and live without violence. She has earned her GED and several vocational certifications, and has received positive work ratings from her supervisors. Ms. Sanders has completed many self-help programs, including Relapse Prevention, Substance Abuse Program, Beyond Violence, and Anger Management. She participated in multiple domestic violence awareness events and has lived in an honor unit since 2006. Ms. Sanders also volunteered for a group that helps prepare inmates for their release back into the community. A staff sponsor praised her for her commitment to the group and wrote that she "should be commended for her dedication to reducing recidivism, helping her peers, and working on her own rehabilitation." She has the support of her daughter and other family members, and has gained marketable skills through her many years of work in the Prison Industry Authority.

I do not discount the serious nature of this crime, and I note that several of Mr. Santos's family members wrote to me to oppose clemency and express their ongoing pain. However, after carefully weighing this matter, I believe that Ms. Sanders has demonstrated a serious, long-term commitment to rehabilitation and sobriety. Therefore, she deserves an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Trina Sanders to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of August, 2018.

Dear Governor Brown.

I wrote last year asking for your help in my Domestic Violence case. I also sent the proper application. Please also understand that a new law came into effect in 2005. P.C. 593 and P.C. 1593. The law only helps those with cases before 1996. After 2005 it was taken into account in the sentencing. Many after 1996 and before 2005, in prison with the same crime, have no relief for the 25 to life sentences handed down.

Cinda Sanchez Fox was my Judge in Superior Court of San Joaquin County. She announced on January 22, 2010 that she was retiring on disability. Fox was attacked by a man herself in the courtroom in March of 2009. She said she hadn't recovered from the emotional damage.

Due to my psychiatric condition I felt ~~that~~ my victim really want to kill my daughter and me. I had my other daughters to come forward for my defense but they were never called to help me. My sister and aunts also. Please review my case.

Thank you.
Trina Sanders.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jesse Vasquez

On March 3, 2001, 17-year-old Jesse Vasquez drove past Uriel Arellano and fired multiple shots at him. Mr. Arellano was hit in the legs and lower back, but survived his injuries. On February 28, 2003, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Vasquez to 7 years to life for attempted murder plus a 25 years to life firearm enhancement – a total of 32 years to life.

Mr. Vasquez now seeks a commutation of sentence based on his age at the time of the crime and his subsequent rehabilitation. In his application, he wrote, "I am convinced that I would be a safe candidate and an asset to my community. I was 17 years old when I committed my crime. Since then I have matured and gained great coping skills. Prison saved my life – throughout my incarceration I have learned the importance of self-discipline, I have gained direction in my life, and I have a sense of purpose."

Indeed, Mr. Vasquez has used his 17 years of incarceration to make a significant transformation in his life. In nearly two decades in prison, Mr. Vasquez has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence. Mr. Vasquez earned his GED and an A.A. degree, and routinely receives above average work ratings from his supervisors. He has participated in self-help programs including Celebrate Recovery, Nonviolent Communication, and Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous. Mr. Vasquez is the managing editor for the San Quentin News and has facilitated a program for at-risk youth.

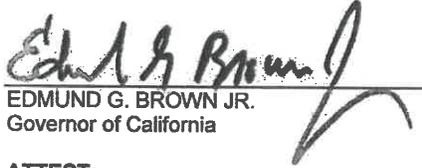

Mr. Vasquez has also earned the respect of those who work at San Quentin. In 2018, a staff member praised Mr. Vasquez's work ethic and wrote, "I have witnessed inmate Vasquez positively interacting and working with his peers, staff and volunteers. . . . I am positive that inmate Vasquez will not pose a risk to the community, shall he be granted parole." Mr. Vasquez's commutation is supported "without reservation" by a correctional lieutenant, who opined, "Vasquez is truly an inspiration to those here." Multiple individuals affiliated with the Prison University Project also supported Mr. Vasquez's commutation, including the academic program director, who said, "Mr. Vasquez has clearly spent a great deal of time considering the patterns that led to his incarceration and involvement in crime, and he is committed to changing his life and surroundings to avoid falling into those patterns in the future." Mr. Vasquez has already begun to prepare in case he is released from prison; he has a detailed plan for housing, reuniting with his family, and transitioning back into the community.

For all of these reasons, Mr. Vasquez deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jesse Vasquez to a total of 15 years to life.

Uriel and I had been friends but were no longer on good terms because I had discovered that he had been dating Lisset. I was in a jealous fit when I arrived at Lisset's apartment complex. After finding out why Uriel had been there looking for me, I decided to drive to Pine St, where I knew he was staying with Jose Luis Garcia. When I saw Uriel and Luis at the driveway I slowed to a stop on the side of the house. I exchanged words with Luis but Uriel stood by the cars in the driveway. I told Luis to get out of the way so I could shoot Uriel Arrellano. I shot him in the butt, ankle, and mid back area, then drove off.

I was arrested hours later, charged with attempted murder and shooting from a motor vehicle causing great bodily injury, and almost two years later I was tried, convicted, and sentenced to multiple life terms.

for 17 years. Initially, I was a loner and had few friends. During times of racial tension at Calipatria, Ironwood, and Folsom State Prisons I made a stand not to participate. Although a few times I was threatened to participate, I made it clear that I would rather get beat up or stabbed than hurt someone. The Mexicans respected my choice to abstain from violence, but I was ostracized and ridiculed for my personal belief and conviction in the redemptive power of understanding and compassion.

Nevertheless, I have fallen short of being a model inmate. In September of 2005, I received a 115 for delaying a peace officer from doing his duty - I had covered my cell door in protest. Actually I did it in solidarity with my cellmate but I really did not believe in the cause. I learned then that I needed to be careful about making choices that jeopardize my safety and the safety of others.

In April of 2011, I received a 115 for having a cellphone. I had recently moved into a new cell and was getting adjusted to the new program when I was introduced to the updated technology. Although I knew it was wrong, I thought that no one would know if I used it a few times. I was wrong for reasoning my way into doing wrong.

On May 6, 2013, I was placed in Administrative Segregation for sustaining a personal relationship with a staff member. I had developed feelings for my supervisor, Maria Hufana, over the course of 18 months. Whenever I was with her or around her everything seemed right. I got a 115 for sexual misconduct for intimate behavior with her, my love, and lust, blurred my understanding of right and wrong, appropriate and inappropriate, and I choose to engage and maintain an illicit relationship.

During my time in Administrative Segregation, I was able to correspond with Maria and express my sadness and regret for putting her through such an ordeal. I communicated the same sentiments to the ISU investigators because I was sorry. However, I do love Maria and have continued our relationship.

In November of 2014, I received a 115 for possession of dangerous contraband. - I had a headphone set with a three prong plug for cellphone device. I had been using the headphones daily for my walkman on the yard and did not realize they were contraband. However, they were in my possession because I was given them as a gift by someone that paroled. I plead guilty with an explanation.

Each infraction taught me a different lesson but the main lesson I got was that I need to be mindful of common pitfalls.

After my release from administrative segregation I got involved in Celebrate Recovery, a 12-step program based on the Bible with an emphasis on dealing with hurts, habits, and hang-ups. During my time in the program, I learned about my quirks, lust patterns, and fears. I learned more about how to develop healthy, objective perceptions of situations. I became so interested in alleviating the chances for failure and opportunities for temptations in my life that I started sharing my success with others.

I developed and taught for two years on character and personal development. The class revolved around personal responsibility and living a life of meaning instead of living irresponsibly in search of pleasures. I grew in personal awareness and commitment, and I was able to use my shortcomings as illustrations.

I have learned the importance of self-discipline, I have gained direction in my life, and I have a sense of purpose. I have grown through every trial and environment that I have been in. I have realized how insecure and lacking I was because my identity was dependent on pleasing others. Today, I am confident in my abilities to adapt to any environment without having to assimilate into its culture or style.

Through groups like Criminals and Gangs Anonymous, Restorative Justice, and Non-violent Communication I have learned about the impact my actions have on others as well as, and more importantly, why I behave a certain way—I am constantly feeling some way because I am in need or want of something.

I have developed healthy communication skills such as: identifying a person's point of reference, asking for clarity, and connecting with my own feelings and needs at the moment.

I have also been striving for a higher education through LaSsen Correspondence College and the Prison University Project at San Quentin State Prison. My goal is to obtain a B.A. in Psychology with a minor in Philosophy then map out my options for a masters degree according to my schedule and income.

While working for the San Quentin News I have developed an incredible network of supportive advisers, teachers, and community leaders. I know that I can depend on them for counseling, direction, and assistance whenever I need to be reminded of how far I've come and where we're going.

I have maintained my relationship with Maria Hofana and our plan is to get married and settle down in Sacramento. Through the years, I developed a relationship with Angela Contreras, whom is Maria's daughter. She visits often and calls me "Dad." It feels funny but I love her as if she were my own. I also have a good relationship with her other daughter Victoria and her children, Noah, Lorenzo and Elijah. I have not met the 1-year old baby Faith yet.

Furthermore, I am no longer the juvenile-minded adolescent I was when I committed my crime.

I know that I will not commit any crime or engage in any behavior that would jeopardize my success in society. I know that I can make a difference because I have the purpose and direction needed. My new set of values and coping skills allow me to see situations for what they are, opportunities for growth.

I am currently drafting a program outline titled "Prison Cultural Awareness Program." My goal is to inform the prison population of the dangers of perpetuating a herd mentality. I have witnessed many northern and southern hispanics invest their whole being and identity in the prison structure just to be disappointed in the long run. I believe that if they see the illogical contradictions, understand the options before them, and grasp the magnitude of the consequences many of them would choose otherwise. I have a similar program idea that I want to implement in the inner cities.

Shadeed Wallace-Stepter

On July 28, 1998, 16-year-old Shadeed Wallace-Stepter and a friend were buying marijuana from Anthony Castro. During the transaction, Mr. Wallace-Stepter pulled out a gun and shot Mr. Castro. Mr. Castro was seriously injured, but survived. On March 10, 2000, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Wallace-Stepter to 2 years for attempted robbery plus an additional 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total sentence of 27 years to life.

Mr. Wallace-Stepter has now served nearly twenty years in prison and is 36 years old. He has maintained an excellent record – he has only been disciplined twice in almost two decades of incarceration and has never been involved in gangs, violence, drugs, or alcohol. In his application for clemency, he emphasized how much he has grown since committing this crime. He wrote, "I am no longer the 16 year old apathetic teenager... Today, I am a man who has addressed those needs and found healing by acquiring marketable skills that have positively empowered me."

Mr. Wallace-Stepter's commitment to self-improvement in prison has been impressive. He earned his GED, a business certificate, and an A.A. degree from Patten University. He has participated in numerous self-help programs including Narcotics Anonymous, Guiding Rage Into Power, Victim Offender Education Group, Restorative Justice, and Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous. He has also facilitated groups for his peers, volunteered as a community peacemaker, and participated in forums with public officials. He helped produce San Quentin's 2016 TEDx event and gave a speech on his passion for entrepreneurship. Mr. Wallace-Stepter has been praised by many members of the prison staff for his positive behavior and attitude. One correctional officer wrote, "It is my personal opinion that Mr. Wallace-Stepter has a lot to offer his community and especially our troubled youth of today. I think and know he will be a successful member to society if granted a commutation." Another correctional officer also supported commutation and said, "All of my interactions with Inmate Wallace-Stepter have been of a positive nature. He has proven himself to be an honest and sincere individual who has made a legitimate change."

The Sacramento County District Attorney, Anne Marie Schubert, has asked that I grant Mr. Wallace-Stepter's application for a commutation of sentence. She wrote, "He has been a model prisoner and has taken many positive steps towards personal growth and development that will benefit him when he is released into society. He has demonstrated remorse and a fundamental understanding of the impact his crime had on him, his victim and both their friends and family." Mr. Wallace-Stepter also has the backing of several community organizations, has been accepted into a transitional housing program, and received a job offer from a family friend. In his application, Mr. Wallace-Stepter wrote, "It is now my mission to continue to make amends for the harm that I've caused by living a life of service and making a positive contribution to society."

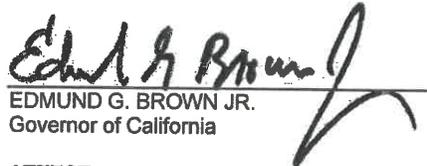

For all of these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Wallace-Stepter's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Shadeed Wallace-Stepter to a total of 19 years.

During the late/early morning hours between 11pm and midnight on July 27 and July 28, 1998, myself and a group of friends hung out at the apartment of Laurie Franklin. Many of us, including myself, were smoking marijuana and when we ran out of it Mario Rhone and Chester Chambers announced that they were going to buy more and if anyone else wanted to pitch in on the purchase, they were welcomed to do so. I told Mario that I had money to pitch in on the purchase of marijuana and that when he found a seller he could come back to the apartment and get me then we would go and make the purchase of the marijuana together. Mario agreed then he and Chester left the apartment to find a marijuana seller.

What Mario and Chester didn't know was that I had no intentions of purchasing marijuana. I intended to wait for Mario to find a marijuana seller, accompany him to where the seller was waiting, then rob the seller for his marijuana using the 9mm handgun I had concealed in my waistband, that no one knew I had. After around 20 minutes, Mario returned to Laurie Franklin's apartment and told me he found a guy who was selling marijuana. I then accompanied him to a convenience store where Anthony Castro (the marijuana seller) was waiting with Chester Chambers.

The four of us then walked to an alleyway and formed a semi-circle which had me standing next to Anthony Castro. Mario Rhone then pulled out his money to purchase the marijuana and Anthony Castro pulled out the marijuana. I then pulled out the gun I was carrying and pointed it directly at Anthony Castro's face. Anthony Castro then went to cover his face, but in the moment I mistakenly interpreted this as him coming at me, and I shot him. The bullet went through Anthony Castro's hand, broke his right thumb, penetrated his forehead and lodged in his skull. After shooting Anthony Castro I ran home.

I am requesting a commutation not only for good behavior, but also because I am not the same person who shot Anthony Castro 19 years ago.

At the time I shot and critically injured Anthony Castro, I was a 16 year old, impulsive, emotionally detached, manipulator who defined my self-worth by the ways in which I could take advantage of people. The circumstances that resulted in me shooting Anthony Castro centered around me involving two innocent people (Mario Rhone and Chester Chambers) in an assault and attempted robbery that they had absolutely nothing to do with. This poor decision was the product of a criminal mentality that I chose to adopt, a criminal mentality which made it easy for me to view human beings as objects and not care if they were affected by my actions.

This criminal mentality contributed greatly to my destructive choices and after years of personal reflection and rehabilitative programming, I now realize that the path that led to me shooting Anthony Castro didn't start during the early morning hours of July 28, 1998. It started much earlier than that. In fact, this path can be traced back to my early childhood. My early childhood would be highlighted by a number of memorable events that would leave me feeling powerless, helpless, and weak. These feelings would develop into familiar themes in my life that would have a significant influence on the development of my criminal mentality.

At the age of 5 years old I learned that the man that raised me, Robert Stepter, wasn't my biological father, but that he was the biological father of my older brother Robert and my younger brother Jibri. This knowledge had a devastating effect on me. My dad was everything to me and I remember how unfair it felt to learn that he wasn't my father. The fact that there was nothing I could do to change the situation left me feeling powerless and helpless. I would grow to despise these feelings because they made me feel weak, which in turn led to me feeling ashamed for feeling weak - and shame was a feeling that I hated more than anything else and would try to avoid at all costs.

Shortly after learning that Robert wasn't my biological father, my parents separated and we moved in with my Aunt Bennie and her 4 children. My Aunt Bennie was a drug dealer whose home was a place that drugs were manufactured and sold day and night. Between my family, my Aunt Bennie's family, and the 4 adult aged, male family members who (also sold drugs) and came and went from the home as they pleased, there were up to 12 people living in my aunt's 3 bedroom home at any given time. During this time, my mom would start smoking crack cocaine and my Aunt Bennie would be the one selling it to her. This would be my first experience with drugs and drug use. Although this environment was chaotic, I felt safe in it and I felt safe being around my Aunt Bennie. My Aunt Bennie was a master manipulator who got everyone around her, including my mom, to do whatever she wanted. She always appeared to be in control and this was a characteristic that appealed to me at the time. I started to do things to seek her approval. I began to steal from around our home, lie constantly, and I also began to try and pit adults against each other. I discovered that this behavior made me feel better about myself because it made me feel like I was the one that was in control.

My family stayed with my Aunt Bennie for 2 years, until I was 7 years old. When I was 7 years old our home was raided by police and my mom was arrested for identity theft related charges.

As my mom was cuffed and walked to a police car, I remember feeling completely helpless and powerless.

My mom would be sent to state prison and during her incarceration, myself and my two brothers would move in with their father Robert. This was a very difficult time for me because I remember not wanting to be there, but being powerless to do anything about it. During this time, I developed a deep resentment for my dad because I convinced myself that he treated me different than he did my brothers. I started to believe that he didn't love me like he did my brothers because I wasn't his biological son. I remember being angry all the time and I began to act out. I continued to steal from around the home, I lied constantly, and I was verbally disrespectful. At school, I was sent home almost everyday for disruptive behavior, for which I would receive a whipping from my dad when I got home - which only reinforced my belief that he didn't love me. This time serves as a significant period in my life because it marks the first time that my anger led to violence. During this time I got into a fist fight for the first time. I picked a fight with a classmate simply because he sat in my seat. Being able to express myself with violence made me feel good and the fear that I noticed that the other students had for me left me feeling empowered.

My brothers and I would stay with their dad for almost two years, until I was 9 years old. When I was 9 my mother was released from prison and when she was released she entered into a relationship with a woman named Leslie. My brothers and I would eventually move into an apartment with my mom and Leslie. My mom's sexuality would be a huge source of shame and humiliation not just for me, but especially for my older brother Robert. After around 6 months, he and my mother would get into an explosive argument over her sexuality and Robert would move back in with his dad. My brother's moving out would have a devastating effect on me because this would be the first time that I would ever live in a home without my older brother. I felt abandoned and, again, I felt like I was powerless to do anything about it. I would blame my mom for the situation and lash out. I continued to lie and steal and exhibit disruptive behavior at school. But this was also a significant time for me because it marks the first time that I committed crimes outside the home. I began vandalizing homes and cars and I also started shoplifting from grocery stores. This behavior would, again, leave me feeling empowered because it was something that I could do that made me feel like I had control over something. It also made me feel good because it was something that I knew my mother wouldn't approve of.

Myself and my younger brother Jibri would live with my mother and Leslie for around a year, until I was 10 years old. When I was 10 my mom would be arrested again for identity theft related charges and myself and my younger brother would be left in the care of my mother's partner Leslie. Having to live with my mother's partner would be something I was deeply ashamed of and again, it would leave me feeling powerless because it was nothing that I could do about it. I would take all of my feelings of anger, sadness, hurt, and resentment out on Leslie. My attitude toward her would be nothing short of toxic. I was verbally abusive, I stole from her and I second guessed and undermined everything that she said and did. I became an outwardly angry and withdrawn person and my behavior began to be out of control. It was during this time that I developed a deep distrust for authority figures. It was also during this time that I decided that I would no longer listen to anyone and that I would do what I wanted to do. I began to only focus on doing the things that made me forget about how hurt and powerless I was over all the things that were out of my control. I also began to disregard consequences and how others were impacted by my actions.

My younger brother and I stayed with Leslie for almost 2 years, until I was 12 years old. When I was 12 my mom was released from prison and me and my younger brother moved into another apartment with her and Leslie. My older brother Robert moved back in with us as well. Robert was 15 years old at the time and he had completely changed. Robert was now a gang member who sold drugs, smoked marijuana, stole cars, broke into homes, and brought guns home. When I could, I would tag along with my brother and his gang member friends and it was during this time that I used marijuana for the first time. This would be my first experience with gang members and would mark the beginning of my drug use. I enjoyed hanging out with my brother and his friends and their lifestyle appealed to me. They did whatever they wanted, with no fear of consequences, and they seemed to have complete control of their lives. This lifestyle also appealed to me because it seemed that all you needed to do to be accepted was commit crimes, which was something that I already was comfortable with. I then began to break into homes, steal cars and gamble by shooting dice. I continued to shoplift and I began to smoke weed almost everyday.

When I was 13 years old, my brother Robert would be arrested for armed robbery. His arrest would take place after a high-speed chase that ended at our house. When the police marched my brother out of our home in handcuffs, the entire neighborhood stood outside and watched. In the days following my brother's arrest I remember everyone remarking on how cool he was and how they were in awe of the huge scene that was his arrest. I saw the respect and high regard that everyone had for my brother and I wanted it for myself. I decided that I would create an image and build a reputation that was independent of my brother so that people would look at me in the same way that they looked at him. This time period marked a significant point in my life because it is when my criminal mentality really started to progress.

During this time, I decided to "hustle." I began selling drugs and carrying guns. I felt really empowered by carrying a gun because it gave me a strong sense of not only security, but control. It was also during this time that I consciously adopted the belief that being a manipulator and taking advantage of people was the most fulfilling way for me to get ahead in life. This way of living fulfilled my need to be in control and left me with a sense of empowerment that I became addicted to. I would begin to create and search out situations that allowed me to manipulate people in order to put myself in a position of control. This resulted in me being detached from any feelings of empathy or compassion for others.

Between the ages of 13 and 14, I would be arrested for petty theft and a school burglary. I was smoking weed almost everyday, consistently truant from school, and frequently running away from home. At the age of 15 I was arrested for possession of marijuana for sale, possession of stolen property, having a concealed firearm in a vehicle, and for being a minor in possession of live ammunition. I wouldn't be charged with these crimes, but my arrest for them only reinforced the image that I created for myself and provided a boost to my reputation as a criminal. When I was 16 years old a friend was killed in a gang-related murder. After learning of his murder I promised myself that I would never let that happen to me and that I would protect myself at all costs - and if this meant killing someone, then I was prepared to do it. I began carrying a gun everywhere that I went and my behavior became progressively more violent. I started committing armed robberies of neighborhood dice games and eventually I would make the conscious decision to deceive two innocent people (Mario Rhone and Chester Chambers) into being involved in the shooting of Anthony Castro (another innocent person).

It wouldn't be until my trial that I would be forced to face what I had done. During trial I would be confronted with the devastating effects, in vivid detail, of what I did to Anthony Castro. I would see that my shooting Anthony Castro in the head left him partially paralyzed on the left side of his body for approximately one month. He would gradually regain the use of his left eye, foot, ankle, and arm - except for his wrist and hand. He would be able to close his hand but could not open it without assistance. He had migraine headaches at least twice a week, he suffered from partial amnesia, and the hair near the bullet wound on his head would never grow back. Anthony Castro was hospitalized for 40 days as a result of my actions and during that time he underwent surgery, recovery and rehabilitation. He was confined to a wheelchair for a month and a half and then had to use the assistance of a platform crutch for his right arm. He can currently walk, but does so with a limp.

I could not escape the fact that I had effectively ruined Anthony Castro's life. He would now require assistance with everyday activities such as grooming, cooking, laundry, yard work, and caring for his two children, ages three and one. He lost his job as a roofer and would never be able to work in that field again due to the limited use of his left hand and arm. He and his wife suffered financially due to his loss of income and they lost the apartment in which they were living because they could no longer pay the rent or utilities. They lost the use of their only vehicle because after I shot Anthony, his vehicle was impounded and they could not afford to retrieve it from the impound. As a result, he and his wife would be forced to take the bus to get around. Anthony Castro would be unable to interact with his children in a normal way, as he could not dress them, play with them very easily, take them to the park by himself, or hold them as he normally would. He has experienced a great deal of anger and sadness and has been extremely frustrated and irritated by having his life affected in the ways described. His wife has been profoundly affected as well, as she has had to do twice as much to care for him, their children, and their household. She has also had to tolerate Anthony's anger and frustration which he, on occasion, takes out on his family.

I was also faced with the unavoidable reality that Anthony Castro and his family weren't the only people affected by my actions. I made Mario Rhone an unknowing accomplice to a crime that he had nothing to do with. Because of this, he would spend 4 years of his life in prison. I would be responsible for all the pain, anger, sadness, and hardship that he and his family would experience as a result of his incarceration. Because I placed both he and Chester Chambers in a position to where they were forced to testify against me, they were labeled as "snitches" and because of this label they were socially ostracized. This labeling would also leave them constantly fearing for their safety.

The guilt and shame that I carried for what I did to everyone who was affected by my crime compelled me to better myself. In the 14 months that I spent in Juvenile Hall, I obtained my GED, purged my desire for drugs and alcohol, and embarked on a journey that consisted of me abstaining from violence and being of service. After being convicted and arriving at a Level 4 Maximum Security Prison, my desire to better myself only increased. In the face of extreme violence and hopelessness, I remained disciplinary free and because of good behavior I would be transferred to a Medium Security Prison after almost 5 years.

However, although I remained disciplinary free at a Maximum Security Prison, I would receive three disciplinary infractions, two serious rule violations for cell phone possession and one administrative rule violation for being Out of Bounds, while at Medium Security Prisons. During these times my childhood need to feel empowered and be in control would surface and because I had yet to gain the tools to effectively address these issues in a productive way, I choose to fulfill these needs by possessing cell phones. After arriving at San Quentin State Prison, I was finally able to address my shortcomings.

Through rehabilitative programs such as G.R.I.P. (Guiding Rage Into Power - which taught me to cultivate mindfulness, develop emotional intelligence, stop my violence, and understand victim impact), VOEG (Victim Offender Education Group - which helped me to fully understand and take responsibility for my actions and make the necessary changes in my life in order to live a productive life), and CGA (Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous - which helped me identify my "lifestyle" addiction to illegal activity), I've learned to recognize the root causes to not only my crime, but also my disciplinary infractions. These programs helped me identify my childhood traumas, character defects, and triggers. I've discovered that the intense feelings of being powerless, helpless, and abandoned would show up as themes throughout my life and I became obsessed with feeling like I had control. Chasing this feeling, early on I chose to manipulate and use people to serve my own selfish needs. By selfishly focusing on what made me feel better, I became emotionally detached from the harm that my actions caused to others. I became addicted to destructive and criminal behavior and eventually my behavior would grow into a compulsion that progressively got worse. I developed principles that valued deceit, manipulation, and selfishness. I've since learned that my thinking as it relates to this criminal lifestyle leads to negative behavior that is triggered when I experience feelings of inadequacy, inferiority, or when I feel like I'm being treated as less than equal. I'm also triggered when I feel I'm in a position to take advantage of someone.

Today, with the help of programs like G.R.I.P, VOEG, and CGA, I'm intimately familiar with my triggers and have developed the tools to successfully prevent me from relapsing into this destructive thinking and behavior. I've learned to identify when I'm triggered by becoming attuned to noticing the bodily sensations that occur only when I'm triggered. When I'm triggered my breathing becomes shallow, my body temperature rises, my heart starts to race, and I experience a tingling sensation throughout my body. I now note and name these sensations, then practice breathing exercises as a way to self-soothe while in the heat of a triggering moment. I decide to not match the energy that I'm receiving then move into "witness mode" by making a conscious decision not to act. I then review my options: wait it out and use the conflict-resolution skills that I've learned in the rehabilitative program Non-Violent Communication; remove myself from the situation by tactfully walking away; contact a friend and explore what events in my history does this triggering moment relate to, explore what issues in my life are in need of further healing, then explore why I was triggered until I accept these feelings in a way that expresses my full understanding and compassion for the trigger; and if I can't contact a friend, I engage in healthy activities that help me feel empowered, like meditating or affirming self-talk, then later attempt to contact a friend again.

The completion of other rehabilitative programs such as the Restorative Justice Roundtable, No More Tears, The Richmond Project, the Kid C.A.T. First Step Curriculum, and Alliance for CHANGE have helped me to gain a deeper understanding of the harm that my destructive behavior has had not only on the survivor's of my crime, but also on the community. Through these programs I've had the opportunity to meet with survivors of crime and see, firsthand, the long-lasting effects of violence. I now understand that I am part of a larger community and that I have a stake in its success or failure.

With this new perspective, I've fully committed myself to self-improvement and being of service. I've taken Narcotics Anonymous in order to fully address my teenage marijuana abuse. I've joined the San Quentin Buddhist Sangha as a way in which to connect with my spirituality. I've been a member since 2013. After graduating from programs such as Richmond project, No More Tears, and Alliance for CHANGE, I was fortunate enough to be asked to facilitate these programs and take on a leadership role.

I've taken advantage of the opportunities that allowed me to contribute to society from prison. I've proudly participated in the Project Avary walk for children of incarcerated parents. I'm a Peacekeeper in San Quentin's Annual Day of Peace, which promotes peace and unity amongst the incarcerated. I've been chosen to participate in public safety forums and symposiums and asked to share my life's story. These events have included District Attorneys, representatives from the Department of Justice Victim's Service Division, Federal Judges, survivors of crime, school teachers, and members of the United States Congress.

I've had the opportunity to give back to my community by being a mentor to at-risk youth through SQUIRES, a youth diversion program that brings at-risk kids to San Quentin twice a month. I was elected chairman of this program by my peers.

I've also been elected to serve as vice-chairman of Kid C.A.T., a prisoner led self-help group that was created to address the unique needs of prisoners who received life sentences for crimes they committed as juveniles. I am currently the Lead Facilitator of Kid C.A.T.'s First Step Curriculum, a 28-week program that utilizes a restorative justice framework to analyze the impact of childhood trauma, amongst many other things. This program is offered to San Quentin's general population.

As a way in which to address my childhood need for control I've identified and pursued marketable skills that empower me in a healthy way. I've earned marketable skills in Carpentry and for the past 5 years I've worked with San Quentin Television as multi-media producer and journalists. I now have the ability to use video editing software Final Cut Pro X and audio editing software Pro tools 10 at a professional level. I'm proficient in the use of a variety of Sony and Panasonic 4K and digital cameras. I've written, directed, and produced more than 15 film and audio projects. I'm currently working on a feature-length documentary on juvenile-lifers called Growing Up Behind Bars of which I'm a co-writer, co-director, co-editor, and co-executive producer. I've also been elected by my peers to be the chairman of the Society of Professional Journalist-San Quentin (SPJ-SQ), which is the first SPJ chapter to be established inside of a prison.

I've also been empowered by committing myself to education. In 2017 I earned an Associates of Arts degree through the Prison University Project. While pursuing my education I discovered business and would earn a Certificate of Achievement in Business from Coastline Community College after completing 8 business-related college courses.

It would be while studying business that I discovered entrepreneurship and found my passion. With entrepreneurship I've identified a healthy and sustainable alternative to the street life. I've come to believe that individuals who grew up in the street hustling are uniquely suited to be entrepreneurs. This idea was something I was fortunate enough to present in a TEDx talk at TEDx San Quentin. I'm also currently developing a curriculum whose mission is to use entrepreneurship as a rehabilitative tool that teaches reformed criminals to transform their destructive criminal energy into productive enterprising behavior.

I've also participated in The Last Mile, an entrepreneurial development program that teaches participants to turn their passions into a business.

In conclusion, I'm requesting a commutation not only for my good behavior, but also because I've spent my incarceration figuring out and addressing the causative factors that contributed to me making the decision to commit my crime. There is no excuse for me shooting and critically injuring Anthony Castro. I'm deeply sorry for this and all of the hurt that I've inflicted upon everyone who has been affected by my actions.

I'm requesting a commutation because I am no longer the 16 year old apathetic teenager who uses manipulation to fulfill his needs for safety and control. Today, I am a man who has addressed those needs and found healing by acquiring marketable skills that have positively empowered me. Today, I have found healing through the many rehabilitative programs that CDCR has to offer and I've applied this healing by being a positive contributor to the San Quentin community. It is now my mission to continue to make amends for the harm that I've caused by living a life of service and making a positive contribution to society.

I cannot say that I deserve to be granted a commutation, but I can say why it would be safe to commute my sentence.

It is safe to commute my sentence because I've become a responsible and accountable man who has abstained from violence and drug use. I've taken advantage of the many rehabilitative programs that CDCR has to offer and I've identified the causative factors that are not only connected to my crime, but also connected to the 3 disciplinary infractions I've received during my 19 year incarceration.

It is safe to commute my sentence because I understand the triggers to my criminal behavior and I've developed healthy responses to these triggers.

It is safe to commute my sentence because I am deeply sorry and remorseful for shooting and critically injury Anthony Castro. I forever changed his life and I will spend the rest of my life making amends for that.

It is safe to commute my sentence because I've acquired marketable skills that will significantly increase my chances to successfully reintegrate back into society. I have the support of a network that has ensured that I have employment, transitional housing and financial and emotional support.

I still cannot say that I deserve to be granted a commutation. I understand that my actions have had a devastating effect on many and that there is nothing that I can to do to change that. If granted a commutation, I will live a life of service with the ultimate purpose of deterring crime. This is why I believe it is safe to commute my sentence.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Thomas Joseph Yackley

In February 1992, Thomas Yackley stabbed Glenn McCarty, Michael Gamble, and David Spragno following an argument at a party. Mr. Gamble and Mr. Spragno died, but Mr. McCarty thankfully survived. On March 3, 1994, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Yackley to two consecutive counts of life without the possibility of parole for murder, seven years to life for attempted murder, plus nine years for great bodily injury, weapon, and prior felony enhancements.

In his application for commutation, Mr. Yackley expressed deep remorse for his actions, writing, "I have never forgotten about what happened and the people I hurt." He emphasized that he is a different person today than he was when he committed this crime at 22 years old. He wrote, "Over the past 26 years, I have made it a point to change and become a positive person no matter what comes my way."

Mr. Yackley has been incarcerated for over 26 years and is now 48 years old. There is no doubt that Mr. Yackley has made a serious transformation within prison. He was last disciplined for misconduct 16 years ago. Mr. Yackley has resided on the honor yard since 2003. He earned his GED, is currently enrolled in college classes, and completed vocational training in janitorial services. Mr. Yackley routinely receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors and participates in Paws For Life, a program that trains rescue dogs. Mr. Yackley participated in self-help programs, including Anger Management, Getting Out by Going In, and Convicts Reaching Out to People. He completed American Sign Language classes and donated artwork to charity.

Mr. Yackley has earned the recognition of institutional staff, many of whom have commended him for his positive rehabilitation and were supportive of release. Debbie Asuncion, the warden at the prison in Lancaster, recommended a commutation of sentence for Mr. Yackley. In 2018, a correctional officer on the honor yard wrote that Mr. Yackley "is dedicated to not only improving himself, but to setting a positive example to his fellow inmates." The officer continued, "His desire to change and remorsefulness appear to be sincere and long-standing. He works well with staff and follows directions without supervision. All things considered, I expect that Mr. Yackley would transition successfully upon release." Another correctional officer on the honor yard commended Mr. Yackley in 2018 on his progress towards an A.A. degree and his leadership in a youth intervention program. The officer wrote, "Because of his efforts, the Convicts Reaching Out to People program will carry on strong, reaching countless youths long after Mr. Yackley returns to the community. He makes a positive difference in many people's lives, and he is to be commended for his efforts." Also in 2018, two correctional officers wrote, "It is clear that the decisions being made by Inmate Yackley are positive, law abiding and free from disrespect or violence." The officers wrote that they "believe that inmate Yackley would be a model citizen."

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, who voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Yackley.

For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Thomas Joseph Yackley to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th day of August, 2018.

The reason I hope you consider me for a sentence commutation is I am no longer the person I was when I was younger. When I found out the two men died, I turned myself in. I never intended for this to happen.

I had a hard life, my dad died when I was only 12 years old. I tried to find that guidance I was missing from losing my dad so I tried hanging around older kids, trying to be accepted which led me to do things like holding stolen property. I'm not making any excuses for anything I did in my past. What I was doing wrong never sank in until later on in my life. Just when I knew I had to change, step away from all these bad influences so I did, I got a job and planned on doing good. This happened one night after I got off work. I have never forgotten about what happened and the people I hurt.

Over the past 26 years I have made it a point to change and become a positive person no matter what comes my way. I have gotten my High School Diploma, GED, completed a vocational janitorial trade, currently enrolled in my 2nd semester of college and for the past 10 years I've been involved in CRIP, an at risk youth program that talks with troubled kids here on the PPTF ward where I have been since it was called the Honor Yard. I was one of the original people to sign up for this program. I've also been involved and still am in numerous self help programs. Anger management, COGCI and letters to at risk youth. Something I sincerely believe in and can honestly say it would have helped me as a kid.

If I am considered for commutation I would be a positive member of society and would also give back beginning with helping youth get on the right path so they do not make the mistakes I made.

I have strong family support and would have no problem finding work.

Thank you for taking the time to read my commutation request.

Louis Flores Albicker

On December 9, 2000, Louis Albicker and Richard Ponce murdered Efrain Esteves in his home, threatened to kill his wife Martha, and stole Ms. Esteves's car. On December 27, 2004, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Albicker to life without the possibility of parole plus 41 years to life for murder with a firearm enhancement and robbery with a firearm enhancement.

Since Mr. Albicker's incarceration almost 18 years ago, he has focused on his rehabilitation. In his application for clemency, Mr. Albicker expressed remorse for the killing of Mr. Esteves and wrote, "I have learned how to change the way that I live my life, I have been attending AA/NA classes, and I no longer use drugs. I have and will continue to make amends for the things that I have done. I have changed and can now be a positive and productive member of society." He continued, "I made one horrible mistake, however, before that incident as well as after it, I have led a non-violent life."

During almost two decades in prison, Mr. Albicker has been dedicated to transforming his life and leaving drugs and violence behind. Over the course of his incarceration, Mr. Albicker has only been disciplined twice for misconduct, and he has never been disciplined for any violence. Mr. Albicker has resided on an honor yard since 2013 and participated in Narcotics Anonymous and Bible study classes. Mr. Albicker made and donated items to a children's hospital, women's clinic, and dog rescue and training program. In 2015, a sponsor for the group commended Mr. Albicker "for his contributions and for his consistent support of the positive endeavors" on the honor yard.

Mr. Albicker's daughter Valerie wrote a moving letter in support of her father's clemency application. She wrote, "As a LAUSD Special Education Teacher committed to social justice and transformation, I am a factor and witness in my father's rehabilitation." She continued, "During his incarceration, [my father's] time allowed for reflection and transformation. My father has developed self-awareness and helped many others." She noted that Mr. Albicker "remains positive, respectful, and full of integrity." Ms. Albicker concluded, "His years of incarceration have amounted to tremendous recovery and ending [life without the possibility of parole] for him would be more beneficial to the community."

Despite having a sentence with no hope of release, Mr. Albicker turned his life around when he entered prison. I believe that Mr. Albicker has earned the opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Louis Flores Albicker to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Re; Continuation of Application for Executive Clemency

Describe the circumstances of the crime: Continued,

When I attempted to leave the home, Efrian grabbed me from behind and stabbed me in the chest with a knife. I had a gun in my coat pocket which in the struggle I fired once, which caused him to let go of me. I again attempted to flee, however, Efrian's wife blocked the doorway, as I turned around I saw Efrian coming at me again with a large knife, and I fired the gun two more times in panic, and then I fled the home. I did not find out until later that Efrian had died. I did not go to Efrian's with the intent to kill him, I did not know him and I had never met him before, I was surprised by his attack on me and reacted.

Why are you requesting commutation of your sentence?

I know that I was wrong to have taken the drugs, I know that I was wrong to have a gun in my possession. I have learned how to change the way that I live my life, I have been attending AA/NA classes, and I no longer use drugs. I have and will continue to make amends for the things that I have done. I have changed and can now be a positive and productive member of Society. I made one horrible mistake, however, before that incident as well as after it, I have lead a non-violent life. I will never re-offend or cause any problems for anyone in the community. Now because of my age, and the many serious health issues, and my deteriorating condition, I may only have a few short years remaining. I am asking that you take into consideration my conduct before and after the crime that I committed, and recognize that I am not a danger or unreasonable risk to society. I have the support of my family if I am released. Please consider my application for Clemency, and the possibility of a Parole Hearing and a Release Date.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of my request.

Re; Continuation of Application for

Describe the circumstances of the crime: Continued,

When I attempted to leave the home, Efrian grabbed me from behind and stabbed me in the chest with a knife. I had a gun in my coat pocket which in the struggle I fired once, which caused him to let go of me. I again attempted to flee, however, Efrian's wife blocked the doorway, as I turned around I saw Efrian coming at me again with a large knife, and I fired the gun two more times in panic, and then I fled the home. I did not find out until later that Efrian had died. I did not go to Efrian's with the intent to kill him, I did not know him and I had never met him before, I was surprised by his attack on me and reacted.

Why are you requesting commutation of your sentence?

I know that I was wrong to have taken the drugs, I know that I was wrong to have a gun in my possession. I have learned how to change the way that I live my life, I have been attending AA/NA classes, and I no longer use drugs. I have and will continue to make amends for the things that I have done. I have changed and can now be a positive and productive member of Society. I made one horrible mistake, however, before that incident as well as after it, I have lead a non-violent life. I will never re-offend or cause any problems for anyone in the community. Now because of my age, and the many serious health issues, and my deteriorating condition, I may only have a few short years remaining. I am asking that you take into consideration my conduct before and after the crime that I committed, and recognize that I am not a danger or unreasonable risk to society. I have the support of my family if I am released. Please consider my application for Clemency, and the possibility of a Parole Hearing and a Release Date.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of my request.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Anthony Ammons

On March 31, 2001, 16-year-old Anthony Ammons was a passenger in a car when he thought he recognized fellow gang members pulling up next to the vehicle in which he was riding. When Orlando Castillo, the driver of the other vehicle, did not respond to Mr. Ammons's question regarding his gang status, Mr. Ammons fired a shot at Mr. Castillo, striking and killing passenger Kevin Fauria. On September 6, 2002, the Los Angeles Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ammons to 25 years to life for murder, 15 years to life for attempted murder with gang enhancement, 20 years for a firearm enhancement, 3 years for assault with a firearm, 4 years for another firearm enhancement, and 10 years for a gang enhancement – a total term of 102 years.

Mr. Ammons has been incarcerated for over half of his life. He told an investigator that he is truly remorseful and ashamed of the murder and understands how he developed into the person that committed this crime. A correctional officer wrote in 2017 regarding Mr. Ammons, "I've observed him interact with staff as well as talk to the young and older reception inmates about their decision-making and never says no when asked to tell his story. . . . [h]e is accountable and responsible for the crime he committed. In addition, he is very remorseful for those he hurt."

In prison, Mr. Ammons has demonstrated his commitment to his rehabilitation: He earned his high school diploma, took college courses, and completed vocational training in healthcare facilities maintenance. In 2016 and 2017, staff praised Mr. Ammons's efforts in the Healthcare Facilities Maintenance Program, noting that Mr. Ammons "conducted himself with professionalism and respect towards others while carrying out his assigned tasks. His assignments are completed accurately and on time." In 2017, a correctional counselor wrote, "Inmate A. Ammons has performed in an exemplary and commendable manner, since he has been assigned as a porter here at San Quentin. Mr. Ammons has shown professionalism and respect towards staff and his fellow inmates inside and outside the facility. He has proven himself to be a team player and courteous to his supervisor and co-workers. His work ethic and attendance have been outstanding."

Mr. Ammons has fully engaged in self-help courses over the past several years, completing classes in Nonviolent Communication, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Anger Management, and Alternatives to Violence. In 2012, a teacher commended Mr. Ammons "for his tireless volunteer work with a struggling student in my class. Inmate Ammons is dependable, patient, encouraging and respectful to all students in class." In 2017, a correctional sergeant who has known Mr. Ammons since 2013 wrote regarding Mr. Ammons's work facilitating a self-help group, "He was authentic, honest, and responsible when he talked about his crime and his struggles in life. He showed me the remorse for what he had done in his life." The sergeant continued, "He continues to work hard, treats staff and his peers with respect, and conducts himself with great pride. I feel that inmate Ammons would be a successful person in his community once paroled." Mr. Ammons has plans for his release, including housing with family and a job offer.

Mr. Ammons committed a senseless crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Ammons has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Anthony Ammons to a total of 19 years to life.

Question # 2

The car. Orlando Castillo (the driver), Kevin Fauria front seat passenger, and Yvette Fauria back seat passenger. I yelled out of my car what's up blood no response from Mr. Castillo, so I yelled again what's up blood Mr. Castillo reacted down and at the same time my co-defendant David Greer said shoot blood and without hesitation I shot into these car murdering Mr. Fauria and then I shot again. I unloaded my weapons and put 2 more bullets inside the car as we gave chase to Mr. Castillo in order to shoot again we saw the police on the light made a U-turn and ran so that we could get away. I was charged with 1st degree murder, Attempted murder, and assault; shooting at an occupied vehicle; shooting at a moving motor vehicle plus 15 enhancements. I was sentenced to 12 years to life. I took Mr. Castillo's life as a challenge to my identity and pride. I felt that I could not allow my identity to be tested I wanted the approval so bad so that I could be down and fit in. I felt so much shame as a result of what I've done. And because of me Mr. Fauria lost his wife and a family was traumatized. I'm sorry Mr. Fauria lost his wife and a family was traumatized.

and security is what others thought. Today I appreciate & respect human life.

Today as compared to when I was 16 years old and committed this crime I can ask for help and I don't need anyone to validate who I am. I am secure in myself as a person who does not need to fit in with any group. My thinking started to change rather my rehabilitation started when I received my high school diploma in 2007. I started to see things differently. I realized that I had the ability to think for myself.

I still struggled though and received 115 days in prison for not following the rules why I was a work in progress I had an authority problem because I still felt I was me against the system. I did not want to listen I wanted to excel. I did not want to be open minded that I put myself in prison by murdering an innocent man and that they are here to do a job & support their families. I will say that since I've come to prison there is no history of Gang violence or violence for that matter.

I've taken groups that dealt with me been open with myself, my truth and the truth about me. I've taken Narcotic Anonymous, Alcoholic Anonymous, Anger Management, House of Healing, No Violent Communications, L.D.C.A.T. THE FIRST STEP, Free Health Ed, G.R.I.P., Criminal Gang Anonymous, I also received my vocational education while working in the hospital for 4 years at San Quentin. Taking these groups was difficult I had to feel uncomfortable in order to get comfortable with my own mess. It was hard to open up, but I did and today I understand the consequences of my actions does not just affect the victims, or me, but his family, wife, friends, committed crimes by his positive influence. I see that was I'm grown I think differently now. I've changed. This is why I'm requesting a commutation.

QUESTION

Guiding rage into power I learned how to speak what I was feeling instead of holding it in like I did in the past. I know better I learned how to transform my violence into communication. In my childhood I never learned how to communicate my feelings. All I knew was that if I was hurting I needed to act out and be violent. I learned how to cultivate mindfulness which is being patient in every situation and being able to respond instead of reacting. I can connect the dots of what I know now to my teenage old self to see my insecurity, low self worth I was an image chaser. I'm taking Kid CAT which is kids creating Awareness Together. I learned a deeper understanding of how to write empathy into my my consciousness. The first step (Kid CAT) helped me dig deep into my childhood to unpack a lot of pain and trauma where if I'm not being heard like I felt I was not being heard in my childhood I'm not going to go out and hang out with gang members and become one. which Today I'm happy to say I'm not. when I committed this crime I felt I was not being heard and I had the power to force Mr. Castillo to hear me which was my weapon. Today I can step back and be patient to wait for an answer. I am so so sorry for the crime I committed and I'm ashamed for my actions. my actions caused Mr. Foxlin's death I denied him a chance to be happy with his wife who was also traumatized by watching her husband die. I can not even begin to imagine the pain she went through the trauma I've ~~caused~~ caused her and Mr. Castillo who drove the car so one should have to go through being shot at and watching their family member pass away. I've learned that drinking and smoking weed while being a drug addict is not a way to deal with what I'm going through. I am a better person because of the rehabilitation in prison I want the opportunity to offer a health adult to my or any community instead of a kid who committed this crime against my community. I recently got the opportunity to play basketball against The Golden State warriors. why is this important because they have helped me trust more, become emotionally stable and see and appreciate the acts of serving my community. A program and house of healing helped me learn that though I could be mad at my father for not being there and my mom for being addicted to drugs I can still forgive their unskillfulness. Doing that allowed me to see their story and their pain and have rather get to a place so I could have sympathy for them and what they went through. I now understand that my dad never knew his dad all he knew was how to survive not be a father in this world. My mom had issues with the Army and being sexually assaulted which led her to not being able to talk about it, but push it down, but now I understand why she could not be there emotionally. I've dealt with these issues so that today my mom is my best friend and my dad is my dad most importantly I feel like a son for the first in my life. Criminal Gangs Anonymous showed me that my belief system was completely wrong that terrorizing and being a gang member hurt my community and that people scared to come outside kids can't play in the street just for fear of being shot at by other gang members because I wanted to hang out. Today I'm not that 16 year old boy I've grown into a man who really wants to be an asset to my community. I want for the rest of my life to honor my father with the skills I have learned to stop violent behavior that is destroying our communities. That's why my commutation should be granted.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Belinda Anderson

In August 1991, during a failed robbery attempt, Belinda Anderson stabbed and killed Andrew Scott, a taxi driver. On May 26, 1993, the San Francisco County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Anderson to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus an additional year for a prior prison term.

Ms. Anderson's criminal history was centered around drugs. She has admitted that she sold and was addicted to cocaine and heroin, habits that began when she was 20 years old. Ms. Anderson has been incarcerated for 27 years and is now 56 years old. In her application for clemency, Ms. Anderson wrote, "When I committed this crime I was twenty-eight years old. . . . I was a grown woman with the mind of an addict, who hadn't fully understood the effects drugs had on me."

Ms. Anderson has demonstrated a desire to turn her life around. She has participated in substance abuse programs and developed a thoughtful relapse prevention plan. Ms. Anderson has also participated in other self-help programs including Criminal and Addictive Thinking, Anger Therapy, Denial Management, and Alternatives to Violence. She recently enrolled in college courses and has earned 69 credits towards an Associate of Arts degree.

Ms. Anderson has also shown strong commitment to serving her community. In her application, she explained, "I feel I am the right person who can help [people] understand and see the damage [of addiction] and how it can make a decent person become a lethal, self-serving, irresponsible criminal." Ms. Anderson has served as a facilitator for self-help programs, a representative on the Women's Advisory Council, and a mentor in a mentorship program.

Numerous prison staff have commended her efforts. The warden of the Central California Women's Facility recommended Ms. Anderson for a commutation. A correctional lieutenant who has known Ms. Anderson for 15 years wrote, "I believe that inmate Anderson has gone above and beyond what any inmate can do. Inmate Anderson has sacrificed of her time and energy to improve and support the inmate population." A correctional sergeant wrote, "I am confident that upon her release to the community that Inmate Anderson will remain an asset and continue to better herself and help others within her community." Two correctional sergeants and a community resource manager reported that Ms. Anderson is a role model for her peers.

Additionally, Ms. Anderson's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Ms. Anderson.

While I do not discount the very serious nature of Ms. Anderson's crime, for all of the foregoing reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce her sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Belinda Anderson to a total of 30 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Application for Commutation

2. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I am requesting a commutation as I am not the same person I was 26 years ago. So many of my immediate family has passed on and my daughter needs help. They really don't have anyone left besides my two brothers, myself and a few nieces and nephews. I need to be there to help my daughter. My daughter never told me she need me before, now she says she prays to God for me to come home and be with her and my grandson. I truly want a chance to be mother to her as she so deserves. I am now able to be that mother she needs. If my parents were alive I would be a better daughter to them and they could see the daughter they knew I could be.

The second most important thing for me is being able to give back to my community. I feel I would be a big asset to helping children and young adults not to make the mistakes and choices I made. I can help them understand there is more to life than what they see. I also want to help them realize they could do or be anything they want to be. They don't have to except circumstances as being fate. People (especially young adults) can make their own destiny. I feel I would be really good at this, because kid relate to me especially in here. I try to guide them down the right path and to stay on track. I really believe they listen to me, because I see they make a decision to do the right thing for that situation. By being in prison some believe the environment has to be negative. But when I talk to the young ladies, I truly believe I show them how to turn this situation into a positive rehabilitation.

The third reason is to help addicts. Addiction is a disease and people need to understand what addiction is and what it does, how it can and will destroy your life. I feel I am the right person who can help them understand and see the damage and how it can make a decent person become a lethal, self-serving, irresponsible criminal. I would like a second chance to let society see and know people can change. I would like people especially my family to know the person I have become. To see this who I would have been if drugs wasn't a part of my life. I am not the same person who committed those crimes.

3. Provide a brief statement of explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I feel I should be granted a commutation for several reasons. When I committed this crime I was twenty-eight years old. I am now 54 years old, I was a grown woman with the mind of an addict, who hadn't fully understood the effects drugs had on me. I have now matured, I know understand what it means to be a mother, daughter, and a sister. It took a lot of hard work, changing my thought pattern, my life, my heart, becoming a woman of God. Anyone can be a female, you can be born that way. But it takes determination, obligation, communication, and a whole lot of love to be a parent. This is the one thing I never gave my children. I am more than capable and willing to fulfill the role as a being a mother.

I now have the tools, insight, and the know how to be successful in being a mother, grandmother, and a better person. I have learned so much through these years. I have a story to tell one most people who are into drugs, gangs, or criminal activities need to hear. I can offer my community my life experience with addiction, and hopefully it can and will make a difference in someone else's life. I can and will be a productive citizen in society. I should be granted a commutation, because I am the last living aunt my

Marisela Andrade

Marisela Andrade and Sergio Delacruz planned to kill Jose Zarate, Ms. Andrade's abusive husband. On April 11, 2008, Ms. Andrade gave Mr. Zarate some sleeping pills. Mr. Delacruz tied up Mr. Zarate, put him in the trunk of a car, and drove him to a remote location where he shot Mr. Zarate, killing him. On September 14, 2010, the Monterey County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Andrade to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Ms. Andrade applied for a commutation on the basis of her rehabilitation and her history of significant abuse. In a 2009 psychological report, she reported that Mr. Zarate began abusing her on their wedding night in 1996, when he tried to force her to have sex with him and hit her in the face. Mr. Zarate continued to beat her regularly with his hands and a belt throughout their marriage. Ms. Andrade reported that the abuse intensified around 2006, when her husband began regularly sexually assaulting her and forcing her to perform sexual services for other men. Ms. Andrade said that she feared her husband and rarely confided in others about the abuse because he threatened to hurt her and their children more if she reported him. The psychologist's 2009 report concluded that Ms. Andrade "was a battered woman, with additional factors involving very low intelligence [and] a personal history that made her vulnerable to influence" from others. An investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings also considered Ms. Andrade's case and determined that "most of the evidence appears to support the allegation that Zarate was abusive to Andrade and this abuse ultimately resulted in the commitment offense."

Despite her very traumatic past, Ms. Andrade came to prison and immediately started changing her life. She has never been disciplined for any misconduct during her incarceration. She participated in numerous self-help programs, including Celebrate Recovery, Beyond Violence, Women Against Violence and Exploitation, and Victims Impact. Ms. Andrade has maintained a strong work record, receives positive ratings from her supervisors, and currently works as a caregiver for inmates with disabilities. In an interview with the Board investigator, Ms. Andrade demonstrated sincere remorse for her participation in this crime. She hopes to use her experience with domestic abuse to teach her daughters and other young women how to break the cycle of violence and maintain healthy relationships. For all of these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Ms. Andrade's sentence to allow her to make her case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

Hilario Arroyo

On March 9, 1989, Hilario Arroyo robbed a restaurant where he had previously worked and stabbed the restaurant manager Anand Dewan to death. On October 15, 1990, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Arroyo to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Arroyo has now been incarcerated for almost 30 years and has expressed deep remorse for his actions in 1989. In his application for clemency, Mr. Arroyo wrote, "My life changed dramatically twenty-five years ago when I came to faith in Jesus Christ. At [that] point I gave myself to sobriety, learning English, and being a better person in every aspect of my life." Mr. Arroyo continued, "I was a selfish man when I murdered Mr. Dewan and am greatly sorry for my actions. My life speaks of my change and it is for this reason that I humbly request that I be considered for possible commutation."

During almost three decades in prison with no possibility of parole, Mr. Arroyo has dedicated himself to transforming his life. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct, over 13 years ago, and has never been disciplined for any violence in prison. He earned his GED and a certificate of achievement in English as a Second Language and completed vocational training through the California Prison Industry Authority. Mr. Arroyo has participated in and facilitated multiple self-help programs, including Domestic Violence, Houses of Healing, Anger Management, and Victim Awareness. Mr. Arroyo has also resided on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard, since 2011 and has been ordained as a minister.

Mr. Arroyo has earned the respect of the staff members who supervise him on a regular basis. In 2017, a correctional officer praised Mr. Arroyo for being "consistent in his commitment and efforts toward[s] rehabilitation as part of the Progressive Programming Facility," noting that he "has always been polite and courteous towards staff." In 2018, a Prison Industry Authority superintendent praised Mr. Arroyo for his work ethic and demeanor, writing that he is "hard working, conscientious and highly motivated. His even temperament allows him to interact well with his peers and staff." The superintendent noted that Mr. Arroyo's excellent work evaluations "reflect a positive attitude, work ethic, and bilingual communication skills." The superintendent continued, "Should the opportunity for parole arise, Arroyo will be well-served by his dedication to excel in all professional endeavors." In 2018, a correctional officer commended Mr. Arroyo for being well-mannered and respectful towards staff and other inmates. The officer noted that Mr. Arroyo takes advantage of programming opportunities on the honor yard and leads by example. The officer praised Mr. Arroyo "for exhibiting [a] positive attitude as a responsible individual," and stated, "I believe Inmate Arroyo is a good candidate for a second chance."

Mr. Arroyo committed a very serious crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitative efforts in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Arroyo has earned the opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation.

I was arrested at the age of 21 and have served 28 years in prison. At the time of my offense, I was a selfish alcoholic immigrant who was illiterate to the language and culture of the United States; full of immaturity.

According to recent Neuro Science, the decision making part of the brain is not fully formed until the age of 25. My life and actions fall well within this developmental state.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation.

My life changed dramatically twenty-five years ago when I came to faith in Jesus Christ. At the point I gave myself to sobriety, learning English, and being a better person in every aspect of my life.

I have made steady strides in rehabilitation in my stay in the Department. I became literate in 2000, attained my G.E.D. in 2003, in 2007 became active in AA/NA, and in 2014 I became a licenced minister Pastor/Director, California State License C-3586213. My faith is a very big part of my transformation and I gave myself to service in the Spanish Christian Ministry at Calipatria State Prison for fourteen years.

The Progressive Programming Facility has eferded me the oppertunity to take courses such as; Victim Sensitivity Awareness, Domestic Violence, Anger Management, Houses of Healing, Conflicts and Resolutions, Paving the Way, and my personal favorite, facilitating most of these courses in Spanish for those who desire to make changes, but did not speak the language.

I have only one write up in my 28 years and it was in 2005. I have been assigned in various positions since 1991, and have received positive work performance reports.

In conclusion, I was a selfish man when I murdered Mr. Anan Dewan and am greatly sorry for my actions. My life speaks of my change and it is for this reason that I humbly request that I be considered for possible Commutation.

Judith Barnett

In 1987, Judith Barnett wanted her ex-husband, Howard Witkin, killed so that she could have full custody of their children. Ms. Barnett's husband paid one of his employees to kill Mr. Witkin, and the employee recruited another man to help him. On March 20, 1980, the men shot and killed Mr. Witkin. On November 2, 1994, the Santa Clara Superior Court sentenced Ms. Barnett to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Ms. Barnett is now 69 years old and has been incarcerated for 26 years. She has dedicated herself to personal rehabilitation and public service even while her prison sentence offered no possibility for release. Ms. Barnett told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, "I have served the CCWF community in so many ways and to the best of my ability all these years while I travelled the path to understanding and acceptance."

In prison, Ms. Barnett has demonstrated a genuine desire to give back to her community. She co-founded a program for inmates serving life sentences, a support group for elderly inmates, as well as a hospice program. She has volunteered in the hospice for more than a decade; a nurse for the program wrote that Ms. Barnett made "a significant contribution to the program" and "has shown emotional and spiritual growth" through her service. Ms. Barnett has participated in and facilitated numerous self-help programs, including Commitment to Change, Personal Integrity, Life Planning, and Relationships and Communication. For many years, she has helped lead a program that guides new inmates in self-reflection, healing, and skill-building as they begin lengthy prison terms. In 2017, the Warden at the Central California Women's Facility praised Ms. Barnett for her commitment "to helping others and working steadily toward common goals for the population of the prison... This is an inmate who has dedicated most of her time and efforts toward improving and enriching her community and she should be commended for working tirelessly and committing herself to the betterment of CCWF."

Ms. Barnett's crime has profoundly impacted Mr. Witkin's family and friends, several of whom wrote to oppose clemency and express the pain they continue to experience as a result of their loss. After carefully examining this case, I am moved by Ms. Barnett's dedication to nonviolence, her service to those around her, and her commitment to self-improvement. I believe she has earned the opportunity to make her case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is ready to be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Judith Barnett to a total of 27 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr.
State Capitol
Sacramento, CA 95814

Dear Governor Brown,

Thank you in advance for taking the time to read this letter and other submitted paperwork and for considering my application for commutation so that I might have the chance to appear before the Board of Prison Hearings. I realize that you receive many requests like this and I appreciate the efforts from you and your staff, especially regarding the LWOP community.

I never expected my prison experience to be one of growth and introspection about my life and the roads I have taken along the way. I imagined at first that my life here would be one of stagnation and resignation, not self-growth and understanding. During the many years when I was responsible for the New Inmate Orientation, I always told them: "This is not the life I ever in a million years envisioned for myself, but I do have a life that is productive and fulfilling." That is my truth because I do believe I have served the CCWF community in so many ways and to the best of my ability all these years while I travelled the path to understanding and acceptance for all that I experienced throughout my own life. That includes self-forgiveness and forgiving others, acknowledging my mistakes, and praying for a different type of life with my family should I ever be released.

The death of Howard Witkin was a tragic event. He was a kind man and his loss was felt by many. He didn't have the chance to live out his years, his parents lost their son, his brothers grieved, our children lost their father. In addition, Mr. Witkin's many other friends and relatives suffered a severe loss. There is no question but that this event should never have happened. I grieve for him every day, along with all these other people.

In an odd way, I feel like I should thank the system for all that it offered me to further my growth as a human being. But now, I'm older and not well and I'm praying for the chance to finish my life just being a grandmother, mother, sister, friend, and good person. Thank you for considering that dream for me.

PART 2 – DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME:

In 1980 my then husband, Robert Singer, hired Gary Oliver to kill my ex-husband, Howard Witkin. Oliver and associate, Andrew Granger, travelled from Michigan to Mr. Witkin's home in Santa Clara, California, where Granger shot and and killed Mr. Witkin when he answered his front door. The special circumstances of murder for financial gain was found true and applicable to me on testimony that I requested Singer have the victim killed.

PART 3 – EXPLANATION FOR COMMUTATION REQUEST

I would like the opportunity to be considered for commutation to 25 to Life so that I can be eligible for parole consideration by the Board of Prison Hearings. I am 69 years old with medical issues, confined to a wheelchair, and would like a chance to spend time with my family. My son and his family, my sister, and many other relatives and friends have supported all these years and have offered help and assistance. If I am ever released, I would have the opportunity to return to an embracing and sustaining environment.

I feel like I could live a life of service to my community, as I have while in prison. I believe I am an improved version of my former self due to my journey at CCWF where I have learned more about myself and my life experiences along with my choices and mistakes than I could ever have imagined.

[MEDICAL PAPERWORK ATTACHED]

PART 4 – STATEMENT EXPLANATING REQUEST FOR COMMUTATION

From the time I arrived in prison, I realized that I had two significant missions to complete. The first was to work toward understanding the journey of my life, what mistakes I made, and why I allowed myself to use poor judgment when making life decisions. The second mission was to develop and act on my commitment to my community, using my education and business experience to dedicate my time and efforts toward enriching and improving my environment and helping those around me whenever possible.

My first step was to become a member of IAC immediately and maintain a position there for most of my incarceration. I held every office of the Executive Body and still serve as secretary. This allowed me to meet with administration and communicate the needs of population directly. I have taken these inmate advocacy responsibilities seriously throughout my term.

In addition to my service through IAC, I am especially proud of:

- Being responsible for New Inmate Orientation for many years and being the author of an Orientation Manual.
- Being the co-founder of the Long-Termers Organization, developing the By-Laws, and being responsible for planning and ensuring the success of the initial meeting and development of the organization.
- Co-founding the Silver Foxes Senior Group.
- Being the co-founder of the Comfort Care Program (with outside support from Hinds Hospice in Fresno) and being an active volunteer since the beginning.
- Extensive study leading to the first Bat Mitzvah event at CCWF.
- Training to be a Core Group Facilitator for the transformational program, LiT-uPP (The Lioness Tale Prison Project). The work began in 2009 and has changed me in so many ways. I feel that I better understand my life and decisions because of this program. I have learned about forgiving myself and others and understanding my life experiences. This group has focused on new lifers and long-termers and I believe my work has made a difference for these women. In turn, they have affected me and touched my heart in unexpected and deep ways.

Eric Benites

Between December 2007 and January 2008, 15-year-old Eric Benites participated in four gang-related shootings with Jason Trejo. Over the course of the shootings, Florentino Rivera was killed, two victims were injured, and three others were shot at or threatened, but uninjured. On January 12, 2011, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Benites to 25 years to life for murder plus a 25 years to life firearm enhancement for a total term of 50 years to life.

Mr. Benites is now 26 and has been incarcerated for nearly 11 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Benites wrote that abandonment by his parents and the murder of his younger brother by a rival gang led him to adopt a criminal lifestyle. He explained, "I was impulsive and only cared about the momentary satisfaction that I received from hurting those who robbed me of my brother." Mr. Benites wrote, "I learned early on in my incarceration about the negative ripple effect I created in my community. Worst of all, I learned that I did the exact thing that was done to my family . . . I am driven to make amends in honor of everyone that I have hurt." He reports that he now has "a strong support network that includes family, friends, and a long line of mentors" who are encouraging, supportive, and active in his life. Mr. Benites wrote, "I would like another opportunity to be part of the community . . . so that I can help rebuild it and discourage the youth from making the same choices I made."

Mr. Benites has dedicated his time in prison to better himself. He has only been disciplined for one rule violation, shortly after he arrived at prison. He earned his GED, his high school diploma, a paralegal certificate, and has completed 57 credits toward an A.A. degree. Mr. Benites completed vocational training in digital literacy, office services, and is an alcohol and drug studies specialist. Mr. Benites has participated in many self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, and Conflict Resolution. He has volunteered his time for a youth diversion program, and is a certified master inmate peer health educator.

Mr. Benites' efforts in prison have not gone unnoticed by the staff members with whom he interacts. In 2016, a correctional lieutenant who supervised Mr. Benites wrote that he is "trustworthy and sincere in his dedication to his job." A correctional sergeant, who has worked for CDCR for 22 years and also supervised Mr. Benites, wrote in 2016, "Mr. Benites has proven himself trustworthy, diligent, professional, and courteous. . . . [His] character merits acknowledgment and [he] is to be commended for his positive behavior and disciplinary free programming." In the event he is released, Mr. Benites plans to live in transitional housing, and has family and friends offering housing, financial support, and help seeking employment to help with his transition back into society.

Since committing this string of very serious crimes, Mr. Benites has turned away from violence and has instead committed himself to rehabilitation and education. As a result, I believe Mr. Benites deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Eric Benites to 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. Circumstances of the crime I am requesting commutation for...

The circumstances of my crime revolve around my younger brother Bobby who was killed by a rival gang on June 25th 2007. I was 14 years old at the time and did not know how to deal with it in a healthy manner. I was emotionally unstable and felt broken beyond repair. I gave up on life and immediately began self- destructing. I went on a rampage that resulted in the death of Florentino Rivera and two young men being shot. I justified my actions and used violence as a remedy for the pain I felt.

I was impulsive and only cared about the momentary satisfaction that I received from hurting those who robbed me of my brother. I believed I had every right to retaliate and hurt another human being. This twisted belief was reinforced and normalized in my community. I adopted this ideology when I made the decision to become a gang member. I embraced this surrogate family because I found worth and a sense of belonging in it. This was something I lacked as a child growing up because I was abandoned by my parents when I was a child.

Reflecting on my life, I realize that my biggest mistake was leaning on all the wrong people for guidance, But worst of all, I realize the worst choice I made was the day I decided to pick up a gun and invited Florentino, David, Marvin and many more to share in my own pain and misery.

Eric Benites #AE-1719

3. I am humbly requesting a commutation because...

I was an immature and impulsive teenager when I committed my crime. I responded to the world with violence because I lacked the ability to handle something as devastating as my brother's loss. I understand that my youth and lack of coping skills do not justify my actions but I realize that they highlight my contributing factors that made me susceptible to committing this horrible crime. I am requesting a commutation because I am no longer that angry and impulsive 15 year old kid that was looking for vengeance. More than anything I would like another opportunity to be part of the community that I once terrorized, so that I can help rebuild it and discourage the youth from making the same choices I made.

I learned early on in my incarceration about the negative ripple effect I created in my community. Worst of all, I learned that I did the same exact thing that was done to my family. As a result of this, I developed empathy and a profound sense of remorse that motivated me to become a better human being. I dissociated from my gang when I was 17 years old and began my journey of self-discovery and rehabilitation. Since then, I have acquired the coping skills I lacked as a teenager, I restored my relationship with my family, and been living a life of change and redemption.(see: Pictures)

I was a broken and lost as a 15 year old child, but since then I have found healing through my spiritual transformation, and in sharing my story with others, participating in self-help groups and in my educational endeavors (See: Summary of Rehabilitation). My heart and my mind have been transformed and filled with a newfound purpose and meaning in life. I no longer want to hurt people. I have a burning desire to give back and be of service to those in need. In no way is my request for commutation an attempt to minimize my crime or avoid accountability. I believe I should be held accountable, I am humbly asking for mercy and that my transformation and desire to rebuild my community be taken into consideration.

4. Why I should be granted a commutation and second chance at life?

First of all, I would like to say that I am deserving of the 50 years to life sentence I received. I committed a horrible crime that ultimately robbed someone of their life and victimized countless people in the process. I accept full responsibility for my actions and believe I deserve to be held accountable. I would love nothing more than to have a second chance at life as an adult. I committed my crime out of anger and impulsiveness. I didn't care if I lived, died, or went to prison. I didn't value the life of another human being because I didn't value my own. Today I understand how precious life is but most of all I've learned to value it. I am 25 years of age now and far from the reckless teenager I once was. I am deeply sorry for the pain I caused and wish I could go back and undue it. I have matured over the years and realized that I can't change the past or restore the lives I shattered 10 years ago, but I have discovered that I have the power to create a better future and make amends in the process. However, I understand that no matter what I do or say today, I will never be able to relinquish the pain and suffering I inflicted on my community.

In spite of that, I am driven to make amends in honor of everyone that I have hurt. I am forever in debt to society for the wrongs I have committed. Since my incarceration, I have delved into self-help programs such as Alternative to Violence, Victim Awareness classes, Criminal and Gang Members Anonymous and many more to further my personal growth and rehabilitation. These programs have been very instrumental and therapeutic in my recovery. They have taught me about the ripple effect of my actions, given me tools to deal with the daily stressors in life, and spiritual principles that keep me humble and accountable.

Today I have strong support network that includes family, friends, and a long line of mentors. They are very encouraging, supportive and active in my life. I no longer have the need or desire to be accepted by all the wrong people. My support network has been very important in my recovery and I understand that if and when I receive a second chance at life, they will be just as important as I transition back into society. I have no doubts that I will succeed on the other side of these walls. I am a young man driven with purpose and on the road to redemption. If I am blessed with another opportunity at life outside of these walls, I will continue to better myself and find meaningful ways to give back to my community. I plan on working with my dear friend and mentor Fr. Michael Kennedy (Jesuit Restorative Justice Initiative) and Scott Budnick (Anti-Recidivism Coalition) to hopefully put an end to this cycle of gangs, drugs, violence, and victimization that has infested our community.

Julian Blouin

In June 2007, Julian Blouin went into Kent Simplis' open garage and took a lawnmower. Mr. Blouin placed the lawnmower in the back of his truck and drove away. Mr. Blouin had a lengthy criminal history leading up to this burglary, including convictions for robbery, kidnapping, and driving under the influence. On February 29, 2008, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Blouin to 35 years to life – 25 years to life for first-degree burglary plus 5 years each for two prior felony enhancements.

Mr. Blouin is now 71 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 11 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Blouin acknowledged his lifelong history of drug abuse and explained that most of his crimes were drug-related and he does not "have the desire to do drugs anymore." He also wrote that he believes the person who committed his crimes "is dead, they no longer exist." Since his incarceration, Mr. Blouin has participated in Narcotics and Alcoholics Anonymous groups. In 2009, his Narcotics Anonymous sponsor noted that "Mr. Blouin has attended meetings regularly and has enhanced the program through his participation. He cooperates with the self-help sponsor in all phases of the program by sharing his ideas in a positive and productive manner. Mr. Blouin has presented a positive influence towards other inmates by sharing his past experiences with the group." He added that Mr. Blouin has "confront[ed] the nature of addiction in an honest and sincere manner, he has discovered that habitual destructive behavior is not a permanent condition and is now gaining the skills to build a better quality of life based on self-respect and achievement." Mr. Blouin has never been disciplined for serious misconduct.

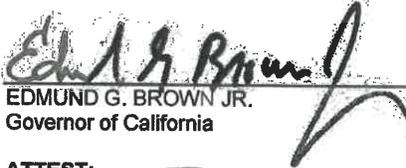

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Blouin.

Mr. Blouin has shown that he is no longer the man he was when he committed this crime. He has remained sober and has shown that he has taken his rehabilitation seriously. For all of these reasons, I believe that Mr. Blouin is ready to be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Julian Blouin to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

(4) I was an addict for years hooked on crack cocaine - and a wild teenager. I look back now at 68 years old, almost 70, and think I ~~was~~^{how} foolish and stupid I was. I regret each day, of all the things I did, not because I was caught, but, I'm truly, truly sorry. If I could change the stupid things I did I certainly would.

I've asked God for forgiveness, and I'm asking the Court to give me another chance at the years I have left. I am no danger to the community or any one else. And certainly don't have the desire to do drugs anymore. I just want to enjoy life with my Grand children - my Grand daughter will be graduating Pitt state in Kansas in Dec. of this year. I sure would like to attend since I've missed all of these graduations in the past. And I have poor health now - I take Cordison shots for my knees and I am a Diabetic, along with several other health problems - I am no danger to any one, just a financial burden to the state.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Christian Branscombe

In the early morning hours of December 20, 1994, 19-year-old Christian Branscombe and a friend robbed Joshua Johnson of a gun safe, pistol, and cash. During the course of the robbery, Mr. Branscombe shot Mr. Johnson, who was injured but survived. As they exited, Mr. Branscombe shot Patrick Klein, who had been sleeping on the couch, killing him. On February 26, 1996, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Branscombe to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 15 years for attempted murder and two firearm enhancements.

Mr. Branscombe seeks a commutation of sentence based on his transformation through his rehabilitative efforts. In his application, Mr. Branscombe stated, "When I committed my crime at the age of 19, I was a violent, drug-addicted menace to society with no remorse for my actions." He stated, "I am no longer the reckless kid that committed murder 22 years ago. . . . I have worked hard to face my drug addiction, criminal thinking, and to develop positive coping skills."

Over nearly 24 years of incarceration, Mr. Branscombe has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has been disciplined only three times in over two decades in prison, and has avoided drugs, gangs, and violence. Mr. Branscombe routinely receives exceptional to above average work ratings from his supervisors and participates in self-help programs, including Narcotics Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, and Victim Awareness. He has earned his GED. Mr. Branscombe has also served as a trainer for rescued dogs in the Paws for Life Program.

Mr. Branscombe leads the Progressive Arts Program at Lancaster. As Chairman of the program, Mr. Branscombe has been lauded for his leadership in the program. A sponsor of the Progressive Arts Program wrote in 2017, "[Mr. Branscombe's] passion for art and altruism has helped cultivate a culture of charity in the Progressive Programming Facility. He has demonstrated a willingness to make amends for the harm he has caused through his contributions to his and outside communities." A correctional officer praised Mr. Branscombe for his role in the program, stating that he "stands out as an individual to takes pride in himself, his work and as an advisor. . . . [Mr.] Branscombe strives to find ways to give back to the local community within the prison setting as well as those in the outside communities who are in need."

I recognize how devastating this crime was to the loved ones of Mr. Klein, who have opposed clemency in this case. Although Mr. Branscombe was given a sentence that gave him no hope of release, he has focused on his rehabilitation and giving back to others. Mr. Branscombe has taken responsibility for his crime and demonstrated sincere remorse for his actions. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Branscombe has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Christian Branscombe to a total of 25 years to life.

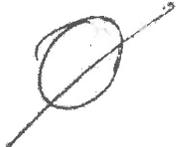

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

On December 19, 1994 at approximately 4am, I, Christian Branscombe and Joshua Richter went to Joshua Gunner Johnson's residence to commit a robbery. When let in by Patrick Klein, I went into Johnson's bedroom and went looking for Johnson's gun-safe, where Johnson and I exchanged gunfire. Richter then shot Klein in the shoulder while he lay resting on the couch in the other room. Dodging gunfire, I came into the room where Klein was and shot him once in the head, killing Klein. I returned to Johnson's bedroom and shot him twice in the head. Richter entered Johnson's bedroom and started moving Johnson's gun-safe while I grabbed Johnson's Mac-10 (that had jammed) and his fanny-pack that contained approximately 6000 dollars. I then helped Richter carry the gun-safe out to our vehicle, where we left the property.

I am sentenced to Life without the Possibility of Parole and have no hope of going before the Board of Prison Hearings without a commutation of sentence.

When I committed my crime at the age of 19, I was a violent, drug-addicted, menace to society, with no remorse for my actions. Which I justified with criminal thinking. It would take over a decade for me to start comprehending the magnitude of what I had done and more time still to confront my faults that led to those horrible actions I committed Dec. 19th, 1994. The day Patrick Klein was unjustly killed and Joshua Gunner Johnson survived a deadly attempt on his life, just days before Christmas.

~~Growing up I endured a lot of struggles that I did not have the coping skills to process. My experiences with isolation, non-acceptance, molestation, mental and physical abuse, led to great shame and dysfunction. I coped with these things by shutting down emotionally and becoming defensive. Drugs and violence were not far behind, they were my cure-all. Compounding these things was an inherent anxiety disorder handed down to me by my father. That creates irrational apprehension and can be crippling at times. This too I managed with determination and force. I did not acknowledge my own emotions and used inward force to function. Eventually I did the same with others.~~

When my mother passed from cancer unexpectedly, it shook me. As I felt the pain of losing her a flood of other emotions came to the surface that would no longer stay out of reach. I found support in arts in corrections. The people in these groups were a positive sub-community in prison that encouraged me to face my shortcomings and avoid drugs.

This led to a lot of introspection, 12-step programs, group therapy, and one on one counseling. I got back in touch with my humanity. It was a slow process that revealed I was responsible for my life and all of my actions past and present.

As I owned my wrong-doings, I had to ask why I had done these things. It was heart breaking to face the hurt I denied so long ago and to realize how much harm I had done. Feeling this new found remorse crushed me. After many tears openly and privately, I came to terms with the fact I could not bring Patrick Klein back or heal the eternal wounds I caused in his family. That his friends and the community would always be scarred with his murder. Attempting to kill Joshua Gunner Johnson may have made him more criminally minded and a greater threat to society. Further hurting the community and Joshua Gunner Johnson long after my incarceration.

I knew in that moment violence would never be an option for me again. That I have a life long debt that cannot be removed. I am obligated by this debt to search myself relentlessly and own all of the things I did not have the courage or strength to acknowledge before. Amends was not a choice and is not a decision for me. It is the natural result derived from the full comprehension of the effects I've had on others lives. I feel the pain I have created in them. I want to help them and others heal when it is possible.

I have been living my amends for close to a decade now. Through my art I have donated thousands of dollars to various charities. As the chairman of the Progressive Arts Program, I teach others these valuable tools, over 1900 classes with over 18,000 attendants since 2007. More importantly we build positive community and encourage each other to live by a higher standard.

When I joined the Paws For Life program nearly 3 years ago I did it to help animals faced with certain death get their "Good canine citizen" test. Some of these dogs have even gone into service for autistic children. They ended up giving me far more than I could have imagined at the start.

I invest in others when I share my pain and shortcomings in self-help classes and 12-step programs : Anger management, Parenting, Victim Sensitivity Awareness, Houses of Healing, P.R.E.P. courses, Narcotics Anonymous, and Alternative to Violence Project. I am healed as I share this journey with others.

I am no longer the reckless kid that committed murder 22 years ago. I've grown up and take responsibility for my actions. I live my life connected to myself and others dedicating all of my good deeds in Patrick Klein's name.

I am seeking mercy and the chance to stand before the Board of Prison Hearings as a changed man.

I committed my crime at the age of 19 when I was not fully developed or mature. I have worked hard to face my drug addiction, criminal thinking, and to develop positive coping skills. I am no longer self-destructive or a threat to others. I have been a productive person for nearly a decade and have done so without anticipating parole.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Marco Canchola

On August 14th, 2011, Mr. Canchola and Layne Ramirez confronted a group of people regarding their gang affiliation. Mr. Canchola and Mr. Ramirez open fired on the group, striking Jazlynn Love in her hand and leg. Ms. Love survived her injuries. On January 25, 2013, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Canchola to 6 years for assault with a semiautomatic firearm plus a 10-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Canchola was only 17 years old at the time of his crime and has now been incarcerated for 7 years. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "I do not believe I am entitled for a commutation. However, I do believe in rehabilitation, redemption, and a second chance. I understand the seriousness and the magnitude of what my crime produced. I take full responsibility of my actions." He told an investigator that he applied for a commutation because he is confident he can be a productive member of society.

Mr. Canchola has made good use of his time in custody. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct during his incarceration. He earned his GED and an A.A. degree in Social and Behavioral Sciences from Palo Verde College. Mr. Canchola participated in self-help programs, including Criminals and Gang Members Anonymous, Anger Management, and Alternatives to Violence. He is certified as an Inmate Peer Educator, and routinely writes letters to struggling youth. Mr. Canchola is currently enrolled in a vocational training program called The Last Mile that prepares prison inmates to get good jobs upon release by providing training in business and technology, including in computer coding. An instructor in this program wrote that Mr. Canchola "is a team leader and works well with others during work group." The instructor also noted that he "has demonstrated significant, positive strides in his path to rehabilitation while in the classroom."

Mr. Canchola has set himself apart through his exceptional conduct in prison, and his willingness to separate himself from gang activities. He is making serious efforts to prepare for a different and successful life upon his release from prison. Based on his age at the time of the crime and his dedication to self-improvement, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Canchola's sentence so that he can make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released on parole.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

David Carranza

On December 22, 2011, 18-year-old David Carranza and fellow gang member Oscar Meza encountered rival gang member Edgar De Jesus. Mr. Carranza encouraged Mr. Meza to shoot Edgar De Jesus. Mr. Meza shot Mr. De Jesus multiple times, killing him. On January 16, 2015, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Carranza to 15 years to life for murder.

Following his conviction for the murder of Mr. De Jesus, Mr. Carranza cooperated in the prosecution of Mr. Meza and testified against Mr. Meza. In 2016, a Los Angeles County Deputy District Attorney, who prosecuted Mr. Meza, wrote in support of Mr. Carranza at future parole hearings, noting his cooperation in the prosecution of Mr. Meza and his truthfulness regarding the crime. He wrote, "[A]ssuming that his performance in prison reflects the same change that his performance in court reflects, it is my personal belief that he is a strong candidate for parole."

In prison, Mr. Carranza has committed himself to his rehabilitation through his immediate disassociation from gangs and his dedication to self-improvement. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct. He earned his high school diploma and an A.A. degree in business and technology. Mr. Carranza has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Cage Your Rage, and Victim Awareness. He also participated in and facilitated the Life's Too Short Youth Diversion Program and served as a Youth Offender Program Mentor.

Mr. Carranza has earned the respect of staff members through his good conduct and mentorship of other inmates. Between 2015 and 2018, over a dozen correctional staff commended Mr. Carranza on his rehabilitative efforts. A correctional counselor commended Mr. Carranza in 2017 on his work with older inmates, noting, "Though youthful, he instills hope in older inmates and encourages those who he interacts with to engage in positive programming and educational opportunities offered." In 2018, a correctional counselor wrote that Mr. Carranza "has taken every opportunity to better himself while housed here at Ironwood State Prison." The counselor continued, "He acts as a mentor to his peers with the Youth Offender Program and often dedicates his time to assist other inmates in their efforts to gain insight into the causative factors of their life crimes and character defects that fueled their dysfunctional behaviors. In a word, his behavior and programming have been exceptional. He is a model inmate who has become a role model to others that associate with him." Two correctional sergeants commended Mr. Carranza on his work with the Life's Too Short program and wrote in 2017, "Inmate Carranza utilizes his experience and trust among the inmate population to mentor fellow youth offenders. His behavior provides a positive example for his peers to follow."

Mr. Carranza was an active participant in a very serious crime. However, since that time, Mr. Carranza has disavowed any gang association and focused on his rehabilitation. As a result, he has earned an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of David Carranza to a total of 10 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

3. Nothing that I can achieve or accomplish could make right the decisions I have made. No words can ease the pain I have caused Edgar De Jesus' family and the community. I was a reckless, callous gang member.

The day I was arrested and sentenced to life the realization finally sank in that I was responsible for murdering Edgar. I knew that I no longer wanted to hurt anyone. I began to see what is most important in life. I made a decision that day to search out where I went wrong and to do all that I could to become a better person.

I learned through self-help groups, college education, supportive counseling, and my superiors, that I was broken. I realized my alcoholic father beating my mother, siblings, and I; his absence due to being in and out prison; my older brother being on drugs and involved in gangs as well as the continual beatings and psychological degradation inflicted by my brother; and all my siblings leaving the home, had a profound impact on my development. I saw that I developed feelings and beliefs that I was unloved, abandoned, worthless, and mistrusting of authority figures, as a young child. These beliefs were the foundation that fueled my criminality. I developed into a selfish, impulsive, attention seeking, and uncaring person.

Through books of self-development like "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective people" and through my spiritual relationship with God I was able to replace my old belief-systems, transform my thinking, and adopt new principles as my foundation. I am now firmly grounded and able to navigate through life guided by principles such as integrity, selflessness, compassion, humility, and a sense of worth.

Through self-help courses such as Lifers Group, Alcoholics Anonymous, Anger Management, Center for Council, and Inside Out Writers, I learned coping skills to deal with failures, drug abuse, and criminal thinking.

Through my college education I learned responsibility, discipline, diligence and marketable skills and financial literacy. Most importantly, I learned how magnificent the world is and life is not confined to a street. Further, I am humbled by the realization that I do not know everything and there is always something new to learn.

Through supportive counseling with the institution's physiologist, Dr. Pam Crawford, I learned to look into myself and understand why I made the decisions I made. Further, I was able to find closure and make peace with my childhood development.

Through my job as a program clerk I learned the value of having a good work ethic such as trustworthiness, responsibility, communication, and a willingness to learn. Further, working with staff I learned to respect authority figures. I was able to strip away hatred, mistrust and resentments.

In closing, my hopes are that you are able to discern the man that I am now. I am no longer the broken, angry teenage boy who was immature, impulsive, lacked skills, attention seeking and who had a false belief system. I hope through my actions my sincerity and dedication to change, willingness to serve others, and sincere display of remorse and responsibility for Edgar's murder, is evident in the man that I am today. (Please refer to attachment B, C, and D). ~~I humbly request a commutation because I am a new person today ready. (Please refer to attachment B, C, and D).~~ I humbly request a commutation because I am a new person today ready to be an asset to my community.

4. I believe through my own personal merits I cannot earn a commutation. Through a commutation I ask for a second chance. A Chance to be a contributing member of society, not a burden and to show others that change is possible.

My transformation speaks to the ability to achieve change through the rehabilitative programs offered by CDCR. If granted commutation my goal is to come to prison through the Anti-Recidivism Coalition Hope and Redemption team to help offenders. Although I have only been incarcerated for six years (6), a relative short time, I have grown emotionally, spiritually, and intellectually. I want to continue to show my peers in the Youth Offender Program (Y.O.P.) that it is possible to accomplish personal growth and there is hope.

Further, I want to be able to build the community in which I once tried to destroy, beginning at home. My goal is to a positive remodel to my nephew and nieces. To simply be there for them to listen, love, share the lessons I have learned and deter them from destructive paths. I have hurt my family beyond measure. I am ready to be a Good son, brother, uncle and friend. (Please refer to attachment E).

If granted my goals are to continue my college education and become a small business owner. In the Spring of 2018 I will be graduating with my Associates in Business. I want to continue to work towards my masters, and to open a construction business in order to continue to build instead of destroy.

I have caused irreparable damage. I am responsible for Edgars death and also those who suffered because of my selfish dedication to a street gang and my activities as a criminal. I know there is nothing I could ever do or say to repair the harm I have caused. I ask for mercy, mercy that I did not show Edgar. I ask for an opportunity to serve my community as a free man. If granted commutation I plan to continue to serve through the church "Eden" as a youth pastor, and volunteer through Jesuit Restorative Justice Initiative, and Healing Dialogue In Action, to assist families that have suffered loss. Further, I plan to volunteer through Anti-Recidivism Coalition to assist former prisoners not to reoffend.

Jonathan Chiu

In 2004, Jonathan Chiu's girlfriend was in an ongoing child custody dispute with her daughter's father, Travis Parker. Mr. Chiu had given his girlfriend about $10,000 to cover legal expenses related to the custody battle, and they repeatedly discussed asking Mr. Parker to waive his parental rights so Mr. Chiu could adopt the girl. On August 2, 2004, Mr. Chiu went to the store where Mr. Parker worked, confronted him, and shot him multiple times, killing him. On January 17, 2006, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Chiu to 25 years to life for murder plus an additional 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 50 years to life in prison.

Mr. Chiu applied for a commutation of sentence based on his rehabilitation. In his application for clemency, he described his participation in self-help groups and restorative justice programs, and how he came to understand the impact of the harm he caused by committing this crime. Mr. Chiu wrote, "Whether I am granted a commutation or not, I will strive every day in prison for the rest of my life to repay the people and the community for what I took from them."

Mr. Chiu has been a model inmate during his incarceration. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct, and has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence. He participated in multiple self-help programs including Nonviolent Communication, Restorative Justice, and Kid CAT. Mr. Chiu has been active in the San Quentin media program, and currently serves as the layout editor for the San Quentin News. He is taking classes to earn an A.A. degree, has served as a literacy tutor, and has participated in several public safety forums. Mr. Chiu has been commended by numerous correctional staff members and volunteers for his positive contributions in the prison. Mr. Chiu's commutation was also supported by representatives from the Prison University Project and multiple advisors to the San Quentin News, each of whom recognized the positive strides he has made. In 2018, a correctional lieutenant who had worked closely with Mr. Chiu for four years wrote, "[T]he man who committed those unfortunate crimes against his community is not the same man that is coming before you today. Mr. Chiu's life-walk is indicative of someone who has undergone a wholesale value and character change." Another correctional officer praised Mr. Chiu's character and participation in self-help groups, and wrote, "I believe if his sentence were to be commuted, Inmate Chiu would continue to live a responsible, productive life and continue taking accountability for the wrongs he's done as a law abiding citizen."

Since committing this very serious crime, Mr. Chiu has demonstrated a serious commitment to transforming his life for the better. He has taken advantage of the many opportunities for self-improvement at San Quentin, and has shown remorse for his actions. For all of these reasons, I believe he deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jonathan Chiu to a total of 17 years to life.

Jonathan Chiu's Commutation

Attachment 1 of Jonathan M. Chiu's Commutation

2. On August 2, 2004 at the age of 21, I, Jonathan M. Chiu went to confront Mr. Travis Parker at The Music Store in Diamond Bar, about his parental rights over their daughter Tricia Rose Parker and my relationship with Meredith DelFosse. I brought a firearm with me to the confrontation prepared to use violence to make Mr. Parker sign over his parental rights to me so I could marry Ms. DelFosse and have custody over Tricia. I felt I was entitled to have the rights over Tricia because of my selfishness of wanting a family with Ms. DelFosse. I made a video prior to me killing Mr. Parker holding a paper target where I express my intention of killing Mr. Parker so Ms. DelFosse and I would be together. I waited for him in the parking lot of the store until he came off work. As he approached his car, I walked up to him and tried to intimidate him into signing over custody. As he said "no" Mr. Parker retrieved from his truck a letter written by Ms. DelFosse addressed to Mr. Parker and told me I should read it and then deliver it back to her. I read the letter detailing her attempts to get back with him in a relationship. As I finished, I felt anger, saying the letter wasn't true. I then again demanded one more time for him to sign over his custody of Tricia. As Mr. Parker walked back towards his truck, with his back turned, I pulled out my gun from my waist band, he turned around. In his defense, he reached for my gun and we struggled. I shot the gun until it was empty. I shot Mr. Parker twice, once in his neck and once in his back. I killed him and I am sorry.

3. I am requesting a commutation for good conduct. In the past 13 years of my incarceration, I have received one CDCR-115 Rules Violation Report in February 16, 2010 for Disobeying a Direct Order from a Correctional Officer at New Folsom State Prison. I disobeyed Correctional Officer Nakaishi when I was at the Sallyport gate speaking with another inmate regarding my appeal. I unfortunately was still thinking the way I thought when I murdered Mr. Parker, thinking that I was entitled to do whatever I wanted in order to get what was important to me. In this case, ignoring commands from an officer to seek advice regarding my appellate case with the State of California. After receiving my Rules Violation, I saw the consequence of my misbehavior and felt shame for repeating my selfish behavior. I'd promised myself that I'd never commit violence again, and I realized that breaking more rules was beginning the pattern that led me to murder

Mr. Parker. I wanted to do better with my life, be less selfish. From then on, I dedicated myself to becoming a servant of my community. By becoming a Teacher's Aide in New Folsom State Prison helping others achieve their G.E.D. At Solano State Prison, I became a Peer Health Educator for the medical department helping and educating inmates. When I came to San Quentin, I continued with my service by participating in the various groups. By taking Restorative Justice, it taught me to understand that my crime is far-reaching and longstanding and that my actions not only affecting Mr. Parker, his father Jon, mother Nora, sister Jamie, daughter Tricia but extends further out into the community like Ms. Karen Reynolds, co-worker of Mr. Parker who took him in after I shot him and called 911. She along with the family and community may never be whole after I compromised their sense of safety. I learn to face what I did, to take accountability understanding the impact and cause of what I did and the harm that I have caused Mr. Parker, and my community. I sat in small circles with victims of crime where they discussed the loss of a loved one from violence and it made me reflect on the effects of my crime on Mr. Parker and my community. I am truly sorry for what I've done, Mr. Parker should not have suffered and died because of my selfish beliefs and decisions. I've learned the ways of restorative practices that includes me helping others in need, one of which is working for the San Quentin News to help my community. San Quentin News is an organization that gives a voice to those who are voiceless and allows me to help spread the message of rehabilitation, showcasing how prisoners transform their lives and those around them. The San Quentin News also advances social justice by holding District Attorney Forums that addresses issues of criminal thinking and negative behaviors as well as establishing community relationships with the District Attorney's office. San Quentin News also highlights juvenile and female prisoners' issues nationwide and justice reform issues. Sharing the positive effects of these programs with other inmates within CDCR is my way of making indirect amends for a crime I can never make amends for.

Attachment 2 of Jonathan M. Chiu's Commutation

4. I would like to request a commutation because I have become an upright man of integrity who wants to serve his community. With the time I have been in prison, I had the chance to reflect on how and why I murdered Mr. Parker. I took advantage of self-help groups offered and through each I was able to discover the thinking and actions that led me to commit a horrible crime as well as my Rules Violation. In Kid CAT, I learned about masculinity and false male beliefs system where I held toxic beliefs about how a man should act and behave. As a child growing up in a violent household suffering from physical, sexual, and mental abuse, I developed no sense of self-worth or self-esteem, became depressed and angry, along with the belief that I had deserved to be in a perfect loving family. I learned the fear and shame I collected went on to affect my decision making in my adult years. I told myself that when I would meet someone I love, I would do anything not to be like my own parents, and not let harm come to my child by any means necessary. I made Meredith that person. She was the first person to say 'I love you' to me. I, for the first time in my life, felt like someone cared about me and that I mattered. I came to feel that nothing was more important to me than mattering to her so I revealed my feelings in a video that I made showing how tough I was and that I would have not problem using violence against Mr. Parker. This was a dangerous obsession. I owned guns, I thought that was being a real man. For me, guns were power, and I owned them to deny my feelings of powerlessness. In Kid CAT, I came to feel that I didn't care about anyone except my own selfish behavior and my own needs for a perfect family. In Restoring Our Original True Selves (R.O.O.T.S.) I learned about the intergenerational trauma I suffered growing up having immigrant parents who not only faced their own cultural struggles but also lacked the skills to communicate their feelings. This hurt my ability to communicate my own struggles therefore losing my cultural identity. I shunned away from my traditions. I learned that the physical and mental abuse exacted from my parents was passed down by their parents because it was the only form of discipline they knew. Through Non-Violent Communication (NVC), I learned in situations to rather than making judgments, make observations and to empathize feelings and needs of others. I saw that by not being able to communicate my own feelings and needs to Mr. Parker, I acted out in aggression in order to get my needs met. As I look back onto August 2, 2004, I learned to empathize with how Mr. Parker went through his day. He started the week happy and eager to see his daughter and not expecting a confrontation from me after leaving his job. His feelings were frustration and worry and his needs were to have security and safety from me as I made demands for him to sign over custody. In that moment, the observation is that I was unable to communicate my own feelings of frustration, I acted in the way I wanted in order not to feel powerlessness or frustrated. I felt angry because I was wanting of respect and purpose. I now know how to communicate to another in situations where I can recognize their needs and feelings as in a situation without judgment. I wish I could undo the choices I made. I can't, but I do strive to never cause harm or fall into the same negative thinking that brought me to prison. I found peace and positive purpose in making my indirect amends to Mr. Parker. The 13 and half years I spent in prison have given me valuable skills where I learned to become a person who makes good choices and considers the needs of others. I continue to learn and improved every day by continuing my education working towards achieving an Associates of Arts degree from Prison University Project. I continue to enroll in self-help groups such as Guiding Rage Into Power, and working as the Layout Designer and Crossword Creator for the San Quentin News. My work for the Television Specialist gave me the skills to learn lighting, filming, editing, and programming productions onto the prison television system to get employment. I hope to become a graphic designer in the arts department of newspaper, magazine, or website companies upon my release with a backup plan to find work in the television field with the production skills I have attained in prison. I am also a member of the Society of Professional Journalism at San Quentin where I am provided with a vast media network and job opportunities beyond prison. I have the addresses for transitional housing both in the San Francisco and Los Angeles as well as a job opportunity waiting in Frank Ruona's support letter working for his construction company. I am grateful for the chance and opportunity and thank you for your consideration. Whether I am granted a commutation or not, I will strive every day in prison for the rest of my life to repay the people and the community for what I took from them.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Justin Chung

In 2006, 16-year-old Justin Chung and several other gang members got into a gang-related confrontation with Eric Huang and Calvin Yao at a party. When Mr. Huang and Mr. Yao left the party, Mr. Chung and his crime partners followed them onto the freeway. Mr. Chung fired multiple shots at their car, killing Mr. Huang and injuring Mr. Yao. On February 1, 2008, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Chung to 25 years to life for murder, 7 years to life for attempted murder, and an additional 50 years to life in firearm enhancements – a total of 82 years to life.

Mr. Chung is now 28 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 12 years. In his application for clemency, he expressed sincere remorse for his actions and emphasized the transformation he has made in prison. Mr. Chung wrote, "I am not the same 16-year-old boy who came into the prison system. Today, I am a 28-year-old young man who understand[s] that I needed to go to prison for what I did...Prison not only put an end to my self-destructive behavior, it spared countless others from my immature and reckless conduct."

While in prison, Mr. Chung has maintained a spotless record and has shown a true commitment to his rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for misconduct in prison. Mr. Chung has participated in multiple self-help classes including Celebrate Recovery, Victim Awareness, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Alternatives to Violence. He has also participated in several groups for youthful offenders, including a juvenile crime deterrence program. Mr. Chung has furthered his education by earning his GED and several Bible college degrees. He routinely receives positive work records, and is respected by staff members who work with him. In 2018, a senior librarian commended Mr. Chung for his work skills and willingness to learn, and wrote, "He is able to adapt to change, and is effective at communicating with patrons of all backgrounds/affiliations. Most importantly, he has the patience, ability to teach, and the demeanor to be a positive role model to those around him." Mr. Chung's family supports his commutation, and has pledged to provide him with housing, help to find work, and other support in the event that he is released from prison.

Mr. Chung committed a very serious crime as a teenager. Since coming to prison, he rejected the influence of gangs, refrained from violence, and has instead dedicated himself to rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe he deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Justin Chung to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

I, Steven Frankel, District Attorney of the County of Los Angeles do hereby acknowledge receipt of notice from Justin Chung that he/she intends to apply to the Governor of the State of California for a pardon or a commutation of sentence.

Date 4-16-18

District Attorney: Please Return this Notice to the Governor's Office, Attn: Legal Affairs, State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime:

I was a 16 years old immigrant boy at the time of the crime. I had recently been jumped into a Korean gang. On August 17, 2006, I went to a house party in Rowland Heights with our gang, including Daniel Ryoo and Linnora Lay. We drank alcohol and smoked weed at the party. We were told that members of a rival gang were there. Two older members of our gang confronted them and accused them of belonging to our rival gang. When they left the party, Daniel, Linnora, and I got into Daniel's car and followed them. We caught up to them on the freeway, and I fired a gun into their car. I found out the next day that Eric Huang died in the shooting, and Calvin Yao was struck twice, but survived. Three others, Kelvin You, Xu Zhang, and Nan We, were in the backseat of the car.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon or commutation:

I am requesting a commutation because I have transformed my entire way of thinking and living. I am not the same 16-year-old boy who came into the prison system. Today, I am a 28-year-old young man who understand that I needed to go to prison for what I did. It was good that I was sent to prison at a young age. Prison not only put an end to my self-destructive behavior, it spared countless others from my immature and reckless conduct.

After my conviction, I soon came to realize how monstrous my behavior was. I have inflicted immeasurable pain and trauma on my victims and their families. I have also hurt my own family and my community. I have repented of my crime. My victims and their families are constantly on my mind. Not a day goes by that I don't think about them. This is something I will live for the rest of my life. I am now truly sorry that it took the jury's conviction to make me realize that I had done such a horrible thing.

I've had a lot of time to think about what I did, and why I did it. I've participated in numerous self-help groups, including A.V.P. (Alternative to Violence Project), C.G.A. (Criminal and Gangs Anonymous), Celebrate Recovery, A/A, N/A (12 Step Programs), T.U.M.I. (The Urban Ministry Institute), Cage Your Rage (Anger Management), Y.O.P. (Youth Offender Program), and Cemanahuac (Cultural Group). These self-help groups changed my life in more ways than I can count. With help from counselors and other inmates, I have addressed my insecurities, my low self-esteem, and my entitlement issues. I have learned the tools of Biblical teachings to transform my pattern of thinking and behavior. I have learned to deal with my emotions. I have also learned to speak for myself, to think independently, and to make my own adult decisions. Finally, I have learned that being assertive with good intentions is the healthiest way of communication.

When I got to prison, I made up my mind to finish my high school education and to pursue any further education available to me. I obtained a G.E.D. in Pelican Bay State Prison in 2008. I have an Associate's Degree from Harvest Bible University and another Associates Degree from Onesimus Bible College. I am currently pursuing my Bachelor's Degree from Onesimus. I am also attending the on-site campus college provided here by Hartnell College to obtain an A.A. in Social Sciences.

I am always looking for opportunities to share my story with at-risk youth, in the hope that my words and experience will change their course of direction. I volunteer with an organization called Life Cycle: Prison Letters 4 Our Struggling Youth. Through this program, I correspond with troubled youth, in the hope that my words will make a difference in their lives.

I also strive to contribute to my community here at the Correctional Training Facility. I help lead worship services, and I have been active in prison ministry in a leadership role since 2013. I help facilitate, teach/preach occasionally to serve my fellow inmates. I have held various industrial jobs as a tutor, a Lieutenant's clerk, a program clerk, a barber, a yard crew, and currently assigned as a law library clerk. I have also performed in the prison's annual poetry showcase (Louder Than These Bars), Christmas showcase from Hartnell College, Victim Awareness events, and The New Year's Eve showcase, as a means of using my passions and talents to better serve my community. I hope to one day pursue my passion as a minister; both to the men here and to the youth when I am eventually released.

In short, I am not the same person I was twelve years ago. I have not been gang-affiliated since the time of my crime. I have received no 115s in all my years of incarceration. I was transferred to a level 2 prison in 2015. My placement score is 19, the lowest available. Unless I am granted a commutation of sentence, my earliest youth offender parole hearing will be in December 2030. I am requesting a commutation to be released either to a transitional housing in California or to live with my mother in Korea.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon or a commutation:

Going to prison made me completely re-evaluate my life choices. I know I have changed for the better, and I am still taking advantage of every opportunity I have to learn and grow. I now strive to serve my family, my church, and my community. When I am released, I hope to share what I have learned with other young people that violence is not the way to gain respect or validation from others. When I am released, I hope to come back to the juvenile halls, county jails, and the prisons as a minister for incarcerated youth. If I should be granted a commutation, I know that it would solely be on the basis of mercy, an act of grace. Thank you for your time in considering my application.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Clinton Colon

In June 2006, 18-year-old Clinton Colon was participating in a drag race, going more than 100 miles per hour on a surface street when he collided with another car. There were three passengers in the other car; Anthony Mondragon was killed on impact, and two others suffered significant injuries. Mr. Colon and his two passengers were also seriously injured. On October 17, 2008, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Colon to 15 years and 8 months in prison for vehicular manslaughter, reckless driving, and 3 great bodily injury enhancements.

Mr. Colon seems to have turned his life around during his incarceration. In his application for commutation, he wrote, "When I was 18, I thought I could control all situations, but had I known what I know now about how quickly those situations can get out of hand and end tragically, I would have never made those choices and could have spared everyone who has been touched by this terrible situation." He explained that he has matured and that he now thinks "about the future and how my actions today will translate into consequences." He expressed sincere remorse and empathy for his victims and their families and said, "No matter what I will always live with this, and no matter what...I will never let this happen again."

Despite the significant pressures of prison, he never got involved with gangs, drugs, or alcohol. He has never been disciplined for any serious misconduct and routinely received satisfactory to exceptional work ratings. Mr. Colon participates in self-help programs, earned a vocational certification, and volunteers as a GED and literacy tutor. Mr. Colon's family and religious community have pledged to help support him when he is released.

In 2015, Harriet Salarno, the Chair and Co-Founder of Crime Victims United of California, personally delivered his commutation application to my office and wrote to me supporting Mr. Colon's release from prison. She said, "After reviewing the case and speaking to the Colon family, I believe Clinton has been justly punished and has served a fair amount of time."

Mr. Colon's reckless and careless conduct as a teenager had tragic results that have had a lasting impact on his victims and their families. However, I am convinced by his statements to the Board's investigators and conduct in prison that he is deeply remorseful for his action and has matured in his thinking. In light of his exemplary record and his deep contrition, I don't believe he needs to be incarcerated any longer.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Clinton Colon to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Amy Davis

In 2005, Amy Davis participated in the murder of Theodore Salanti, a man she had met years earlier in an internet chat room. Mr. Salanti was killed and his home was ransacked for drugs and money. The San Diego County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Davis to life without the possibility of parole for murder on January 11, 2008. After sentencing, two jurors wrote to the judge expressing their opinion that the sentence was too severe given the evidence they had considered at trial.

Ms. Davis claims that two men were sent to commit the crime by her abusive pimp, Marvin Pope. An attorney for the Coalition to Abolish Slavery and Trafficking opined that "Amy was under the direction and control of Marvin at the time of Theodore "Rocky" Salanti's murder and that she would never have directly or indirectly played a role in such a crime if not for her victimization and exploitation at the hands of Marvin." A psychologist found that Mr. Pope was "severely physically and sexually abusive to Amy, including situations where he tortured her physically and sexually. . . . She believed he would kill her if she did not submit to his control." The psychologist opined that "except for the exceptional level of coercive control by Marvin Pope over Amy, her behavior could have been totally different. Without Pope's control, Amy would not have been in a position where he could use her vulnerability and fear to cause her participation in any of these events." An investigation completed by the Board of Parole Hearings also yielded evidence supporting Ms. Davis' claims that she suffered from intimate partner battery at the time of the crime.

Ms. Davis' commitment to rehabilitation in the face of a life sentence without the possibility of parole has been exemplary. She has dedicated herself to understanding her drug addiction and overcoming the trauma caused by years spent as a prostitute under the control of her abusive pimp. Ms. Davis has never been disciplined for misconduct in prison, has remained sober, and lives in the honor dorm. She earned an Associate of Arts degree and has worked as a substance abuse counselor for other inmates. She has routinely received exceptional work ratings. In 2016, a correctional lieutenant commended her for her excellent work ethic, good behavior, and positive attitude, saying, "I have witnessed Inmate Davis evolve into a confident and balanced individual who has successfully used the resources available to her at [the prison] to improve herself." A social worker who worked with Ms. Davis in individual and group therapy noted that she has "confronted the sexual and mental abuse she experienced at the hands of her pimp." A community resources manager wrote, "Because of her commitment and inspiring attitude, Inmate Davis should be acknowledged as a role model and congratulated for her hard work." Ms. Davis has participated in an impressive array of self-help courses including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Anger Management, Conflict Resolution, Self-Esteem, and Healthy Relationships. She created and facilitates a self-help group to help other victims of human trafficking. Senator Cathleen Galgiani and San Joaquin Superior Court Judge Richard Vlavianos each awarded Ms. Davis a Certificate of Appreciation in 2015 for her involvement on a Beyond Incarceration panel to help at-risk youth. Similarly, then-Stockton Councilmember, now Mayor, Michael Tubbs commended her in 2015 for her "dedicated services towards restoring the youth in San Joaquin County by participating in Choices and Consequences and youth diversion efforts."

Ms. Davis participated in a serious and violent crime, but has made serious efforts not only to turn her own life around, but also to help others do the same. As such, she has earned an opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Amy Davis to a total of 20 years to life.

RE: Amy Davis (X-28708), Application for Commutation of Sentence

Dear Governor Brown:

Amy Davis (Ms. Davis) was sentenced to life without the possibility of parole (LWOP) for crimes she was involved in under violent coercion from her abusive, sadistic pimp Marvin Pope. For years, Pope subjected Ms. Davis to brutal daily sexual, physical, verbal, and psychological abuse, ultimately using threats of violence to involve her in the robbery of Theodore "Rocky" Salanti. During the robbery, two of Pope's associates killed Salanti. Ms. Davis's attorney did not present evidence of intimate partner battering (IPB) during trial or sentencing. As a result, Ms. Davis was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to LWOP. Neither Pope, nor the two men who perpetrated the violence against the victim, were charged or prosecuted.

Despite her hopeless sentence to die in prison, Ms. Davis has been a model inmate during more than a decade of incarceration. She has never received a single disciplinary violation. She has the lowest possible classification score (19) for an LWOP inmate, and she has the lowest possible score on the California Static Risk Assessment (1). She has earned an AA degree, receiving highest honors, and consistently receives "exceptional" marks in her work assignments. She has programmed extensively, founded rehabilitative groups, created a curriculum to educate others about and advocate for victims of human trafficking, and been widely recognized by both public officials and CDCR staff for her leadership and exemplary behavior.

Ms. Davis understands and has addressed the causative factors of her crime. As a child, she suffered from low self-esteem as a result of bullying and lack of affection and attention from her father. Her quest for love and acceptance led to early drug abuse, abusive relationships with older men, and eventually prostitution and exploitation by Marvin Pope. When Ms. Davis met Marvin Pope, he initially lavished her with affection and convinced her that he loved her. He quickly began placing conditions on his displays of affection, with which Ms. Davis complied. Over time, Pope used escalating levels of isolation, control, and violence to exploit Ms. Davis for his own ends. He cut off her contact with friends and family; he monitored her phone calls and email; he confiscated her paychecks; and he ultimately used violence – including beating, branding, tasing, cutting, suffocating, and sexual torture – to terrorize her. Pope forced Ms. Davis into daily prostitution and used threats of violence to control her every move.

In 2005, Pope ordered Ms. Davis to rob Rocky Salanti, a drug dealer whom Ms. Davis had befriended. Ms. Davis went to Rocky's house and searched his safe while he was running an errand. When she reported that the safe was empty, Pope sent two other men to the home. When Rocky returned, the two men beat and killed him. Ms. Davis was hiding in another room during this killing, and she did not know that the men were going to kill Rocky.

Ms. Davis does not have a single other incident of exhibiting violence in her life, before or after this crime. It is beyond dispute that Ms. Davis's participation in the commitment offense was the culmination of years of exploitation and abuse, and directly and solely resulted from the effects of IPB. Experts confirm that, at the time of both the crime and Ms. Davis's arrest and prosecution, she was suffering from extreme IPB and also qualified as a victim of human trafficking. Dr. Linda Barnard concluded that Pope's "coercive control . . . over Amy was extensive and dictated her behavior in every way"; that Amy was suffering from "cumulative traumatic stress," causing the experience of each instance of trauma to be compounded by past traumatic experiences; and that the psychological impact of Pope's abuse was "traumatic bonding" that distorted Ms. Davis's perspective, made her believe she was trapped in the relationship with Pope, and crippled her ability to resist him or escape from his control. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 17-20, 23.) Sarah Leddy, an expert on human trafficking, concluded that Ms. Davis "would never have directly or indirectly played a role in such a crime if not for her victimization and exploitation at the hands of Marvin [Pope]." (Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 388.)

Despite knowledge that Ms. Davis was suffering from IPB and was only involved in the crime as the result of duress, Ms. Davis's counsel in her criminal proceedings never presented any evidence of this. During the proceedings, the psychologist working with Ms. Davis (Dr. Hahn) notified her counsel that IPB was an issue in her case. Although counsel sought a continuance to obtain a domestic violence expert, he never followed through; no such expert testified on Ms. Davis's behalf; and the jury never heard evidence about the impact of Ms. Davis's longstanding and sadistic abuse by Pope or his role as mastermind of the crime.

Ms. Davis respectfully requests that the Governor consider her stellar behavior and progress in prison, and the role that trafficking and abuse played in her participation in the crime, and commute her LWOP sentence to a parole-eligible life term so that she can make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings that she has grown and matured and no longer poses a risk of danger to society.

I. CASE HISTORY

A. Family and Social Background

Ms. Davis was born on July 24, 1980, in San Diego. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 3.) From a young age, Ms. Davis struggled with low self-esteem. (Id.) She was picked on throughout her school years, due to her red hair and early puberty, leading her to feel worthless. (Id.) Ms. Davis was also constantly seeking affection from her father, who was reserved and detached. (Id.)

Ms. Davis's parents separated when Ms. Davis was starting high school. (Id.) The separation was incredibly difficult for Ms. Davis. (Id.; Ex. C, Murphy Eval. at 29.) Still desiring her father's affection to make her feel valued and secure, when given the choice, she chose to live with him. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 4.) Unlike Ms. Davis's mother, her father did not set boundaries or enforce rules, and Ms. Davis essentially had no parental supervision. (Id.)

During high school, Ms. Davis continued to struggle with low self-esteem and self-worth. Seeking acceptance from her peers, she began using drugs – something prevalent at her school, and also with her two older brothers. (Id.) She fell into a pattern of co-dependent relationships with older men, many of whom were abusive, manipulative, and engaged in criminal activity. (Id. at 4-5.) She became sexually active at 16 (a one-night stand with a 26-year-old she had just met), and quickly developed a belief that the way to obtain the love she craved was through sex. (Id. at 4; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 382.) At age 17, Ms. Davis discovered she was pregnant and her father pressured her to have an abortion. (Id.) Ms. Davis moved from one abusive, unhealthy relationship to another – she now sees that, at the time, “she didn’t believe she deserved better than abusive men.” (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 5.)

B. Abusive Relationship with Marvin Pope

Ms. Davis met Marvin Pope in 2003 when she was working at Taco Bell, and he immediately began to groom her for prostitution. (Id.) He actively pursued her and lavished her with attention, convincing her that he loved her. (Id.) He talked to her for hours, obtaining huge amounts of information about her but disclosing very little about himself. (Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 383.) Gradually, he began to “test” her commitment to him, placing conditions on his expressions of affection, and Ms. Davis complied out of fear he would leave her. (Id.) At the same time, he kept promising Ms. Davis that they would build a wonderful “future” and telling her about the life they could have together. (Id. at 384.)

Pope began to exercise control over Ms. Davis in small ways. He coaxed her to sign over her paychecks to him to save for their future together. (Id. at 383-84.) Over time, his coercive tactics escalated, and eventually Pope used verbal, psychological, physical, and sexual abuse to exercise near complete control over Ms. Davis, forcing her into daily prostitution. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 5-6.) According to Dr. Barnard, Pope used the following methods to exert this power and control over Ms. Davis. (Id. at 11-16; see also Ex. F, Davis Decl.; Ex. Y Leddy Eval. at 383-85.)

Isolation: Pope made Ms. Davis erase all the numbers in her phone, especially targeting any numbers of men. He controlled when she could leave the house, preventing her from seeing friends and family. He monitored her activities during her free time by placing cameras in her car and monitoring her phone and email. Severe consequences ensued any time Ms. Davis acted on her own. Pope would also call Ms. Davis constantly when they were not together, and he would beat her if she did not pick up on the first ring. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 12.)

Emotional Abuse: Pope continued to damage Ms. Davis's already low self-esteem through further degradation. He screamed at her, criticized her, humiliated her, and openly engaged in sex with other women. (Id. at 12-13; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 41, ¶ 8(e).)

Economic Abuse: Pope exerted total control over Ms. Davis's money (taking her paychecks and the money she earned through prostitution). He frequently refused to give her basic necessities, and did things like forcing her out of the car and abandoning her on the side of the road or locking her out of the house. He would also destroy her possessions, such as clothing, as punishment. On one occasion, he forced her to abort his child and left her homeless with nowhere to go. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 13-14; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 38, ¶ 3.)

Physical Abuse: Pope's physical abuse of Ms. Davis was extreme. It included beating, branding, tasing, attempting to carve his name into her leg, smothering, starving, kicking her in the stomach to try to cause a miscarriage, forcing her to do drugs when she did not want to, forcing her to eat his feces, smearing his feces on her face, and dragging her by the hair. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 10; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 39-40, ¶¶ 5-6; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 384-85.)

Coercion and Threats: Pope routinely threatened Ms. Davis with violence and harm against herself, her family, or others she cared about. He once tied her to a chair and threatened her with a handsaw, and he many times threatened to kill her. The innumerable times that he carried out acts of violence made his threats real and believable to her. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 14; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 384-85.)

Intimidation: Pope used random violence and cruelty to terrorize and intimidate Ms. Davis. His violent outbursts would be accompanied by a change in his tone and the way he looked at her. He would spontaneously explode into violence without warning and, for example, smash a car window. He was also cruel to Ms. Davis's dog, to the point that the dog would not go near him. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 14-15.)

Sexual Abuse: Pope's sexual abuse of Ms. Davis was extreme. He forced her into daily prostitution for years. He forced her to have sex with him more times than Ms. Davis could count. He filmed her having sex with him, and used the video to blackmail her. And he engaged in sexual torture, tying her to a chair, penetrating her with objects, and swabbing her vaginal cavity with rubbing alcohol. (Id. at 15; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 38-39, ¶¶ 2-3, 5; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 384-85.)

Stalking: Pope put hidden cameras in Ms. Davis's car and around the apartment so that he could monitor her activities at all times. He also required her to use a cell phone he provided so that he could monitor her phone activity. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 15-16.)

During the years of abuse by Pope, Ms. Davis engaged in heavy drug use, seeking to numb the pain she felt and dissociate from her situation. (Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 384.) By 2005, she was using crystal methamphetamine on a daily basis, and was often heavily under the influence of drugs. (Id.)

Ms. Davis became friends with the victim, Theodore "Rocky" Salanti, a drug dealer, through her forced prostitution. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 6.) Unlike Pope, Rocky was kind to Ms. Davis, and they began spending time together at his house – he took care of her when she had nowhere to go; he did not put her down; and he gave her money to pass on to Pope without requiring her to have sex with him. (Id. at 6-7; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 41, ¶ 9.) When Pope discovered Ms. Davis's relationship with Rocky, he beat her severely and began controlling everything about the relationship. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 6.) This included ordering Ms. Davis to obtain codes for Rocky's safe and to steal large sums of money from him on multiple occasions. (Id. at 6-7.)

C. Commitment Offense

On the day of the crime, Pope ordered Ms. Davis to help rob Rocky's safe. (Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 42, ¶ 14; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 386.) Ms. Davis went to Rocky's house and, after asking Rocky to run an errand, reported to Pope that the safe was empty and that she could not find any money. (Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 43, ¶ 15; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 386.) Pope sent two associates to Rocky's house and told Ms. Davis that, if she did not let them in, he would kill her and harm her family. (Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 42, ¶ 14; Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 7.) While Ms. Davis hid in another room, the two associates searched the house. (Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 43, ¶ 15; Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 7; Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 386.) When Rocky returned home, the men beat and ultimately killed him. (Id.) Ms. Davis, who was under the influence of drugs, did not participate in the murder. (Id.) She did not initially realize that the men had killed Rocky, and did not know that they would do so. (Id.)

Pope ordered Ms. Davis to drive the two men and drop them off, to return to Rocky's home and continue searching for money, and to conceal Rocky's body. (Id.) Ms. Davis complied out of fear. (Id.; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 43, ¶ 16.)

D. Prosecution

Ms. Davis was arrested for murder. Neither Pope nor the two associates that murdered Rocky were arrested or prosecuted. Although Ms. Davis was questioned numerous times by law enforcement, she did not mention Pope during these interviews or at trial. (See Ex. W, Court of Appeal Opinion, People v. Davis at 303-08.) During this time, Pope was threatening to harm Ms. Davis and her family if she disclosed his role in the crime, and Ms. Davis was both afraid of him and convinced that she needed to protect him. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 8; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 43-45, ¶¶ 17-20, 25.)

Ms. Davis was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to LWOP. (Ex. D, Abstract of Judgment.) At trial, Ms. Davis testified that she had no part in the robbery-turned-homicide, that two men approached her with weapons outside Rocky's house and carried out the crime, and that she did help cover up the murder and search the house for money because she was high on methamphetamine. (Ex. W, Court of Appeal Opinion, People v. Davis at 307-08.) She did not disclose Pope's abuse or his overriding involvement in the murder. (Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 43, ¶¶ 18-20.) Her testimony at trial was confusing and inconsistent. (Ex. E, Letters from Jurors (stating that they believed Ms. Davis told "several different stories" and lied, but asking for leniency in sentencing).)

During the criminal proceedings, Ms. Davis did reveal Pope's involvement and effect on her to a psychologist, Dr. Hahn. (Ex. G, Hahn Decl. at 47-48, ¶ 2.) Dr. Hahn relayed this information to Ms. Davis's defense attorney. (Id. at 48, ¶ 3.) Although the attorney sought a continuance so that he could secure an expert on domestic violence, he never followed through. (Id. at 48-49, ¶¶ 4-5; Ex. F, Davis Decl. at 44-45, ¶¶ 21, 24; Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 21.) Evidence of IPB was not presented at trial or sentencing. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 21.)

Had evidence of IPB been presented in Ms. Davis's case, it could have resulted in Ms. Davis not being convicted of first-degree murder, and thus not receiving an LWOP sentence. Under California law, IPB evidence can negate intent and mitigate responsibility for certain crimes. The California Supreme Court has explained: "[D]uress may negate the deliberation or premeditation required for first degree murder." See People v. Burney, 47 Cal. 4th 203, 249 (2009) (citing People v. Anderson, 28 Cal.4th 767, 784 (2002)). Although duress is not a defense to murder and does not reduce murder to manslaughter, it can make second-degree (instead of first-degree) murder the only available crime, thus eliminating the possibility of the special circumstance finding and an LWOP sentence. See Burney, 47 Cal. 4th at 249; Cal. Penal Code § 190(a) (penalty for second-degree murder is 15-to-life sentence unless the victim was a peace officer or the killing was perpetrated by means of shooting a firearm from a motor vehicle); id. § 190.2 (LWOP is available penalty in special circumstance first-degree murder cases). IPB evidence is directly linked to showing duress, and therefore would have played a pivotal role in Ms. Davis's trial. See, e.g. Cal. Penal Code § 1473.5 (recognizing that expert testimony on IPB is relevant to duress); Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 23 (concluding that Pope's threats and coercion are central to entire case against Ms. Davis for the robbery and death of Rocky).

Notably, after Ms. Davis's conviction, two jurors wrote to the sentencing judge requesting a more lenient sentence than LWOP. (Ex. E.) The jurors specifically stated that they did not believe Ms. Davis had any intent to carry out a murder (as opposed to the underlying robbery), and they found her level of involvement fundamentally irreconcilable with such an extreme mandatory sentence. (Id.)

E. Expert Testimony re IPB and Human Trafficking

The following testimony could have been presented in Ms. Davis's criminal proceedings:

Dr. Linda Barnard concluded that, at the time of the commitment offense and her arrest and prosecution, Ms. Davis was suffering from extreme effects of IPB as a result of physical, verbal, psychological, and sexual abuse by Pope (not to mention prior abusive relationships). (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 17.) Dr. Barnard explained that the impact of IPB is to paralyze the battered woman, distort her perspective, and cause her to honestly take on the beliefs and perceptions of her abuser, ultimately allowing the abuser to exert total control over her. (Id.) Dr. Barnard explained that these dynamics would be even further exacerbated where the abuser is also the woman's pimp, and that they would also be compounded by Ms. Davis's drug dependency. (Id. at 19, 20-21.) As a result, Ms. Davis did not have the same psychological freedom as women with no history of abuse, and she responded to events in an abnormal way. (Id. at 18.) In addition, Dr. Barnard concluded that Ms. Davis also suffered from "cumulative traumatic stress," caused by a victim experiencing current trauma simultaneously with the effects of prior traumas, intensifying the effects of the symptoms. (Id.) Further, the innumerable times that Pope carried out violence against Ms. Davis made his threats even more believable to her. (Id.)

Dr. Barnard concluded that, due to the effects of IPB, "[t]he coercive control by Marvin Pope over Amy was extensive and dictated her behavior in every way." (Id. at 23.) IPB evidence would have been "critical" to Ms. Davis's case because it would have explained how Ms. Davis perceived an immediate threat to herself from Marvin and his associates at the time of the crime, and during her prosecution, and how she did not have the same psychological capacity as women with no history of abuse to resist Marvin's coercion or to disclose his treatment of her and his overriding involvement in the crime. (Id. at 21, 23.)

Notably, Dr. Barnard also explained that IPB affects not only the way victims react to events, but also how they remember and recount events. (Id. at 20.) Prior trauma can cause IPB victims to skip around when telling stories, leave out vital information, or change their stories, which critically affects credibility unless explained. (Id.) Expert testimony about this effect of IPB was highly relevant to Ms. Davis's case and the inconsistencies in her law enforcement interviews and testimony at trial. (Id.; Ex. E, Letters from Jurors (stating that they believed Ms. Davis told “several different stories” and lied, but asking for leniency in sentencing).)

Human trafficking expert Sarah Leddy also concluded that Ms. Davis qualifies as a victim of human trafficking due to her exploitation by Pope. (Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 387-88.) Ms. Leddy found that, at the time of the crime, “Amy was strongly trauma bonded to Marvin and exhibited all the key signs of Stockholm Syndrome.” (Id. at 387.) She concluded: “Amy was under the direction and control of Marvin at the time of [the crime] and [] she would never have directly or indirectly played a role in such a crime if not for her victimization and exploitation at the hands of Marvin.” (Id. at 388.) She also concluded that the victimization and threats by Pope were “the reasons that Amy did not reveal the true circumstances surrounding the crime for which she was charged,” contributing to the omission of substantial IPB evidence at her trial. (Id.)

F. Exceptional Performance in Prison

Despite a sentence to die in prison, Ms. Davis has been a model inmate and showed exceptional motivation to change her life during her incarceration. She has never received a single disciplinary violation. Her classification score is the lowest possible (19) for an LWOP inmate. (Ex. U.) She also has the lowest score possible score (1) on the California Static Risk Assessment. (Id.) She is a leader in her community – she lives in the Honor Dorm, has designed a curriculum for trafficking victims, founded self-help groups, and gained recognition from public officials and CDCR staff. She has not only developed insight into the circumstances that led to her crime, but she has used that insight to help others.

Ms. Davis has excelled in college and in vocational training. (Ex. H.) She earned her Associate in Arts from Feather River College, receiving highest honors with a 3.66 GPA. (Ex.

I.) She has been successful in multiple jobs, including her current work as an HIV/Aids Peer Health Educator, and consistently receives “exceptional” marks. (Ex. J.) Certified as a T4T trainer, she has given more than 25 presentations to the general population about sexually transmitted disease, as well as other health classes, seeking to improve the well-being of her fellow inmates. (Ex. J.) For ten years, Ms. Davis has been housed in the Honor Dorm in recognition of her exemplary behavior. (Ex. K.) She has received special recognition within the Honor Dorm, including a Woman of the Quarter Honorable Mention and Honor Dorm Honorable Mention. (Ex. H.)

Ms. Davis has participated in virtually every self-help program available to her. These programs have helped her heal from past trauma and gain insight into the behavior patterns that led to her involvement in the commitment offense. (Ex. N.) Most notably, she is chairperson for the Beyond Incarceration Panel (BIP), a group of inmates hand-selected for their positive programming. (Ex. M, BIP Documents at 115.) She identifies this program as the “most impactful on [her] change, maturity, and [] passion.” (Id.) Through BIP, Ms. Davis created and facilitated a human trafficking workshop as a way to use her experiences and rehabilitation to advocate for others and honor her victim. (Id. at 120, 128-47.) She has also created workshop curricula for the Big Sister Mentor Program. (Ex H; Ex. Q, Big Sister Mentorship Program Chronos at 196.) Through the Honor Dorm, she has participated in Domestic Violence Group, Accountability and Restorative Education, Relapse Prevention, Life Skills, 12-Step Study, Get Out and Stay Out (GOSO), and Cage Your Rage, among others. (Exs. H, K.)

Ms. Davis has received recognition from public officials as part of her involvement in BIP. Councilmember Michael Tubbs awarded her a Certificate of Recognition for contributions to the Helping Out People Everyday Ministries. (Ex. M, BIP Documents at 122.) State Senator

Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr.
February 8, 2018

Cathleen Galgiani awarded her a Certificate of Recognition for her contributions to the San Joaquin County collaboration team. (Id. at 124.) The Honorable Richard Vlavianos, Judge of the California Superior Court for San Joaquin County, issued Ms. Davis a Certificate of Appreciation for her dedicated services towards the youth in San Joaquin by participating in Choices and Consequences. (Id. 123.)

Numerous CDCR staff have commended Ms. Davis for the tremendous work she has done for her prison community. (Ex. O.) Staff have commended her for “establishing an avenue to aid with conflict resolution” (id. at 160); her volunteerism with the Honor Dorm (id. at 162); and for consistently excellent performance in every job she is assigned (id.). Correctional Lieutenant Tegtmeier specifically notes that she has “evolve[d] into a confident and balanced individual who has successfully used the resources available to her at CCWF to improve herself. She is constantly working towards bettering herself . . . and is to be commended for her growth, positive attitude, and appropriate conduct.” (Id.)

Several programs have been particularly impactful for Ms. Davis in developing insight into the causative factors of her crime. She participated in Herion’s Insight and Lifer Group offered through Mental Health. (Ex. N.) Ms. Davis developed further insight into her “timeline, cycle of violence, and victim impact” in the two-year intensive program Victim Offender Education Group (VOEG). (Id. at 143.) Between these programs, she has developed a comprehensive understanding of the factors from her childhood and early adulthood that led to her involvement with Marvin Pope, the cycle of violence in that relationship, and the full impact of her choices. By recognizing and addressing these factors and consequences, she has been able to rehabilitate and live in amends to her community.

Ms. Davis has dedicated herself to giving back to her community. (See, e.g., Ex. M, BIP Documents at 116 (staff sponsor stating that Ms. Davis’s “concern with reaching out to those who are in need is evident and inspiring”).) In addition to creating curricula to educate and advocate for victims of human trafficking, and also for the Big Sister mentor program, she has developed a group for fellow LWOP inmates. After participating in programs she found particularly helpful to self-discovery and improvement, often offered to lifers, she recognized a similar need in the LWOP community. Ms. Davis co-founded the LWOP Support Group to give resources and hope to fellow LWOP inmates. (Id. at 150; see also Ex. X.)

II. MS. DAVIS’S LWOP SENTENCE SHOULD BE COMMUTED.

LWOP is an unnecessary and unjust sentence in this case.

Ms. Davis’s involvement in this crime was the direct result of her own victimization, not inherent criminality or violent inclination. It is telling that Ms. Davis has not once perpetrated violence, either before or since this crime. Three separate experts conclude that Pope’s physical, verbal, sexual, and psychological abuse created an “exceptional level of coercive control” which Pope used to force her participation in the crime. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 2; see also Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 387 (concluding that absent Pope’s abusive control, Ms. Davis “would never have directly or indirectly played a role in such a crime if not for her victimization and exploitation at the hands of Marvin.”); see also Ex. G, Hahn Decl. at 48, ¶ 2 (noting that Pope had a “strong emotional hold” on Ms. Davis, as evidenced by the fact that she concealed his key involvement in the crime).) Expert Sarah Leddy concluded that Ms. Davis qualifies as a victim of human trafficking, who was severely “trauma bonded” to Pope at the time of the crime. (Ex. Y, Leddy Eval. at 387.) This control was exacerbated by the fact that Ms. Davis was suffering complex trauma, and by her substantial drug dependency, cultivated as she tried to numb her pain and dissociate from her unimaginable circumstances. (Ex. B, Barnard Eval. at 17-18, 20-21.)

Ms. Davis has done everything in her power to change her life, and she has earned an opportunity to demonstrate to the Board of Parole Hearings that she can safely be released to the community and become a contributing member of society. Even in the face of an LWOP sentence, she has shown astounding motivation to apply herself, rehabilitate, and achieve at the highest level. Ms. Davis has never received a disciplinary violation, she graduated with an AA degree with highest honors, she has earned a place in the Honor Dorm since 2008, and she has created curricula and founded programs to put her knowledge to use and benefit the community around her. Ms. Davis has cultivated deep and healing insight into the causative factors of her crime, and developed from a codependent young woman to a "confident," "balanced," healthy, and mature adult. (Ex. O at 162.) Furthermore, she constantly seeks to use her healing and gained insight to help others grow and find healing as well. Her achievements and profound contributions to her prison and broader communities have garnered recognition from public officials and CDCR staff.

A commutation is Ms. Davis's only avenue to relief from her unjust LWOP sentence. Because Ms. Davis was 25 at the time of her crime, she is not eligible for a resentencing hearing under SB 9, or a Youth Offender Parole hearing under SB 394. She is also barred from seeking relief under Penal Code § 1473, which applies only to sentences imposed before August 29, 1996. Her direct appeal and subsequent habeas petitions were denied.

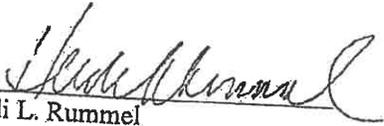

III. CONCLUSION

Ms. Davis respectfully requests that her sentence be commuted to a parole-eligible sentence so that she can make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings that she has grown and changed and does not pose a risk of danger to society.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Abel Delcid

In 2009, Abel Delcid agreed to help his father recover a debt from Joe Ibarzabal. He and his father, brother, and friend of his father's held Mr. Ibarzabal at gunpoint, tied him up, and drove him to a remote location, where his father shot and killed Mr. Ibarzabal. On November 29, 2011, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Delcid to 15 years to life for murder.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Delcid described the progress he has made toward his rehabilitation. He has dedicated himself to making amends for his participation in this crime, and wrote, "I hope that through my conduct and sharing of insight and experiences with others here and beyond these walls, I can be a positive influence on those who are still on a path of destruction but still within reach." Mr. Delcid has maintained a spotless record during his incarceration. He had no criminal history before this crime, and has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. Mr. Delcid is a peer health educator. He has not only been dedicated to improving his own education and is close to finishing four A.A. degrees, but he is also committed to getting other inmates interested, involved, and enrolled in the college program at the prison. He has participated in self-help groups including Alcoholics Anonymous, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Anger Management, and Victims Impact.

Mr. Delcid has also earned outstanding commendations from the staff members who know him well. A correctional lieutenant praised Mr. Delcid's hard work and dedication, and wrote, "He has shown himself to be trustworthy in a work environment where honesty is required. . . . Inmate Delcid possesses many skills and abilities that allow him to be an asset to any job assigned to him, allowing him to move forward in his rehabilitation and eventual re-integration into society." He holds "one of the highest trusted positions in the prison working in medical." Another correctional lieutenant wrote, "Inmate Delcid has been exemplary to other inmates working around him in his conduct and has demonstrated his rehabilitation over the years." A correctional counselor supported Mr. Delcid's commutation and praised him for committing to a positive path despite his lengthy sentence. She wrote, "When he was received into prison he could have easily taken the road most inmates go down. Rebel against the system, get tattoos, look for support in gangs, and let go emotionally and mentally, as he was given a life sentence. To most, a life sentence at a young age means they can give up." She continued, "I have no hesitation or doubt in my mind that if he were to walk out of prison today, that he would be nothing but a productive member in society, with a good job, a stable family with great respect for the law and fellow mankind." And she concluded, "Not only [do I] speak for myself, but on behalf of the staff who have worked around Delcid; we are all in agreement that he should be released from prison."

Mr. Delcid participated in a very serious crime, but has shown that he has left violence behind and is truly dedicated to improving himself. I believe that he has earned an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that they can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Abel Delcid to a total of 10 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

CLEMENCY ATTACHMENT PAGES

1. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime:

On June 10, 2009, my father asked me and my brother, Ezequiel Delcid, to help him recover some money from a man who he said owed him. I and my brother agreed, and my father called my victim, Mr. Joe Ibarzabal, to ask him if they could meet up at a property that Mr. Ibarzabal owned. He agreed and once there, me, my brother, my father, and my father's friend, forced Mr. Ibarzabal into an SUV at gun point, zip tied him and drove him out to a remote area of the Palmdale desert. Once there, we dragged him out of the vehicle into a dried out wash. My father and Mr. Ibarzabal began conversing with one another and soon began arguing heatedly until the point where my father shot him in the head. I didn't think that we were going to murder Mr. Ibarzabal, however I believe that by me carrying a weapon during the crime, I knew that there was a high probability that violence would occur and therefore, I am as equally responsible for the murder of Mr. Joe Ibarzabal. I never once attempted to stop my father or my co-defendants. I went along with everything and I won't deny that because I wish to tell the truth. After my father shot Mr. Ibarzabal, we realized that we didn't have any tools or plan as to what to do with Mr. Ibarzabal's body, and so my father and brother left the scene and went to purchase shovels. When they returned, I and my father's friend buried Mr. Ibarzabal in a shallow grave. My brother and I then drove Mr. Ibarzabal's vehicle away from the scene to Pacoima. Once there, I wiped the interior of the vehicle with bleach in an attempt to get rid of any evidence, then left the keys in the ignition and my brother and I joined my father and his friend in a separate car. We then went out to eat at a restaurant while an innocent man was left buried in the desert.

2. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

It's very difficult and saddening to write about my crime because I am ashamed of my actions and the heartless monster that I was then. I am ashamed of how my actions took the life of a husband, a father, a brother and an innocent person. I regret every act that I committed against Mr. Joe Ibarzabal and am miserably sorry and repentant to his memory, his family, his friends, loved ones and the entire community, for the immense damage I caused. During my incarceration and rehabilitation I have learned about having insight into my crime and how it has affected so many people, directly and indirectly. I know that I have to repay the life I took and be a living amend to the memory of Mr. Joe Ibarzabal by living honorably and helping others who are on a path of destruction so that they may come to the light and not hurt others as I have. During my time in prison I have remained positive, utilizing my time wisely by learning new skills and tools that I can use in life. Self-Help groups have transformed my heart and mind into positive being full of love, whose desire is to give back to others what was so freely given to him, despite of who he was and has done in the past.

I wish to be with my family and my loved ones to repay all the good they have done for me, even when I was at my worst. They have been my support in this long journey of change and redemption and I owe them everything. My wife Sara not only taught me how to love without expecting anything in return, but also to have empathy for others and to be kind. My mother taught me how to forgive and how to ask for forgiveness through actions. Not just words. My Aunt Silvia taught me the meaning of family, and that if you really love and value them, you must be willing to suffer and sacrifice for what is important and good. I have remained disciplinary free throughout my time in prison, because I value my family and loved ones today. I not only do it for them, I do it for myself because I believe in my heart that following the rules and doing the right thing is a way of honoring my victim, Mr. Joe Ibarzabal, his family, and an entire community of people that were affected because of my actions. I was a young man full of self hate, resentment, with no regard for the law or anyone else. I felt entitled, self righteous, and insecure, but in denial of it all. I over compensated for my failures by all means necessary, destroying many lives in the process. Today, I am a loving, law-abiding human being who wants to make a difference in his community. I am pro-social, looking for people to help, people who were just like me, lost without any direction, only violence and criminality on their minds. I am a man who understands the magnitude and reaches of what he did in the past and only wants an opportunity to prove himself worthy of freedom, to become an asset instead of a burden on society. I am a God fearing man who wishes to make amends to those he harmed, and help those who are on the path of destruction, but can still be saved before they harm others. Today, I know who I am. I am responsible, caring, empathetic, honest, humble, and hopeful for my future.

I pray everyday for the Ibarzabal family, that God may give them relief of the pain that I caused them. Mr. Ibarzabal had goals, dreams, and aspirations. He had every right to live. He was a human being who was innocent and did not deserve to die. I helped end his life and impacted not only his family, but the community, his loved ones and all those first responders who were involved in cleaning up my horrific mess. I am truly and deeply sorry and utterly ashamed of my actions. I am saddened and regretful of the person that I was, affecting so many lives. I've had plenty of time to meditate and think on my actions, the irrational decisions I made, my state of mind at the time, and the factors that led up to my involvement in a brutal and callous crime. I've had to un-learn all of the negativity, and take on new values and beliefs in order to change my thinking patterns and my very core. I've had to completely transform from someone who thought it was ok to help his father murder an innocent man, to someone who values life, has empathy and care for others, and who is responsible and accountable for his thoughts and actions.

3. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a Commutation:

I humbly believe that I am a candidate for a Commutation because I believe in my heart that I am no longer a threat to society. My behavior and disciplinary free record can testify to this. I'm blessed with support from my family and friends, who have volunteered to provide me with employment, housing, funds, transportation, and practical and spiritual guidance. I also have transitional housing ready to receive me upon my paroling. I have participated in numerous self-help groups and volunteer activities (see attachment) in order to rehabilitate and transform myself into someone society will accept. I'm also enrolled in 2 local colleges, Coastline Community and Palo Verde Community, where I'm 2 classes shy of graduating with 3 AA degrees and 1 AS degree in the following areas: Social and Behavior Sciences, Business, American Studies, and Arts and Humanities. I'm on track to graduating in the spring of 2019. I'm currently also attaining a vocational certificate from Palo Verde College in Building Construction Technology, which include courses in renewable energy such as Photovoltaic Installation Theory. I also have numerous commendations from facility staff who can attest to my change and character, as they have witnessed my transformation and development throughout my incarceration. I have also volunteered in the annual Cancer Walks, raising money for cancer research and have donated time and funds to charity events, in an attempt to make amends, directly or indirectly. And most importantly, I'm a believer in God and serve as the music director here at our church on this facility, leading the worship services with my fellow musician brothers. I currently sing and play piano.

Although I have been blessed with the opportunity to accomplish all of these things, and continue to work on my rehabilitation and renewal of self, it still doesn't bring back the life that I selfishly took when I was young, the life of Mr. Joe Ibarzabal. I can only hope and pray that the choices I make and the lifestyle I'm living today are worthy of honoring his memory and his family. I hope that through my conduct and sharing of insight and experiences with others here and beyond these walls, I can be a positive influence on those who are still on a path of destruction but still within reach. I will speak to anyone who will listen and dedicate my time in an attempt to save the lives and futures of our youth, and of those who they would potentially victimize if they continue in their warped beliefs. As a youth, I irrationally and unjustifiably victimized so many people, however as a man, I now want to make reparations and bring healing to all those I have harmed. I'm asking for an opportunity at life and freedom, a chance to prove myself worthy of living among society and being a contributor. I'm asking for a chance to repay and honor not only society and my family, but the memory of Mr. Joe Ibarzabal and his family and loved ones.

Manuel Delgado

On October 5, 1997, while under the influence of heroin, Manuel Delgado noticed a bicycle in Paul Knapp's open garage and stole it. A neighbor immediately informed Mr. Knapp, who was subsequently able to locate and detain Mr. Delgado until the police arrived. The bicycle was given back to Mr. Knapp at the scene. On June 22, 1999, the San Bernardino County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Delgado to 25 years to life for burglary plus two years for prior prison terms.

Mr. Delgado started using heroin at 17 years old and became addicted – injecting the drug twice a day. He would sell marijuana and commit burglaries to support his drug habit. He is now 45 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 21 years. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "I have been in prison now more than 19 years [and] have used the time to improve myself. . . . [I] have remained free from drugs and alcohol for more than 19 years and [am] simply no longer the same person who entered the prison system."

During more than two decades in prison, Mr. Delgado has rejected drugs and alcohol. He has focused on improving himself through self-help programs such as Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, Victim Impact, Criminal and Addictive Thinking, and Anger Management. In 2012, an academic instructor wrote that "his attitude toward education has matured and interpersonal skills are excellent." Mr. Delgado earned his GED, has sought to enroll in college courses, and routinely receives positive work ratings from his supervisors. He has maintained strong family ties and plans to live with family if granted release from prison.

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Delgado.

I do not discount the community impact of the numerous property crimes that Mr. Delgado committed, but it is clear that his acts were driven by his heroin addiction. He has since committed to sobriety, education, and rehabilitation. For all of the foregoing reasons, I conclude that it is appropriate to mitigate his sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Manuel Delgado to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Andre Edmund

In January 1992, Andre Edmund attempted to commit a robbery of a local fish market and shot and killed the store owner. On March 15, 1993, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Edmund to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a four-year firearm enhancement. At sentencing, Judge Neidorf stated, "It's real sad. I don't feel great about this. Hopefully some governor in the future will have some mercy on you and allow you to be paroled."

Mr. Edmund has now been incarcerated for more than 25 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Edmund wrote that he has done a considerable amount of work and now looks at life through a different lens. Mr. Edmund wrote that he "has adjusted his attitude and behavior, and wants a second chance at life with his wife and his freedom," adding, "people make mistakes and people can change." He also noted that he "would like to work with at-risk youth who are headed down the wrong path and do not even realize it."

During over two decades in prison without any possibility of parole, Mr. Edmund has been dedicated to transforming his life. He earned his GED and is enrolled in classes to obtain an A.A. degree. Mr. Edmund has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Celebrate Recovery, Alcoholics Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, Victim Awareness, and Path to Peace. He has facilitated Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous.

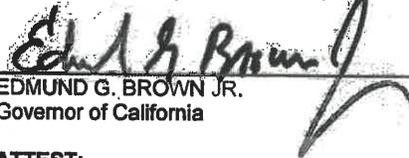

Notably, Mr. Edmund was commended while working as a Literacy Tutor by his instructor, who noted that Mr. Edmund "willingly tutors and teaches students in any academic areas needed" and "has been an immense asset to this program." In 2018, Mr. Edmund was also commended by a chaplain who noted that Mr. Edmund "continues to demonstrate a good commitment in assisting the programs while keeping good manner and respect for staff and inmates." He has been a role model for other inmates and helped them achieve positive goals in an extremely challenging environment. In the event of his release, Mr. Edmund plans to live in a transitional housing facility, where he has been offered assistance finding employment in plumbing and electrical work and would also receive assistance with with life skills and his transition into society.

Mr. Edmund committed a serious crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Edmund has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Andre Edmund to a total of 30 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

2. "BRIEFLY DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME(S) FOR WHICH YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION:"

The following is a concise summary of the prosecution's case and the defense case, highlighting the "circumstances of the crime." This summary comes from a "Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus," written by Marilee Marshall & Associates INC., Attorneys at Law, and submitted in "The Court of Appeal of the State of California-Second Appellate District. (See Attachment for full discussion-Ex: "E")

The evidence presented by the prosecution established that on the evening of January 15, 1992, Koang Ho Song was working with Jack Enge and another person at Rick's Fish Market on Washington Blvd, Los Angeles. Petitioner and a companion entered the store, and were waited on. As Enge walked out shortly thereafter, he passed the petitioner and his companion. He had previously seen the petitioner numerous times in the neighborhood and in the store. He heard petitioner say something about robbing the store, but ignored the comment and returned to the shop.

A few minutes later, petitioner entered the premises again. This time he was alone and was dressed differently, wearing a sweater, eyeglasses and a kango hat. Enge saw petitioner standing at the counter with a can of soda. As Song opened the cash register, petitioner pulled out a small revolver, held it down on the counter, pointed at Song and demanded the money in the register. The gun went off and a bullet stuck Song, and causing death almost immediately. Petitioner ran out of the store without taking any money.

Petitioner testified at trial that his confession was false and was the result of threats and promises which were not contained in the tape of the interview. The interview lasted for approximately three hours. At the beginning of the taped interrogation, petitioner stated that he witnessed an incident at he market and at the end of the tape, confessed that he participated in the shooting.

3. "EXPLAIN WHY YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION:"

The reasons I am requesting for a commutation are many, they are sincere, hopeful and honest.

Over the course of my incarceration, which has been approximately twenty-six years, I'm proud, yet humbled, to admit that I've become a man of "Strong and Balanced Faith" with an opened heart, mind and spirit of "Conviction and Understanding." These elements have truly allowed me to view "Life" and everything that happens in it as "Beautiful and Necessary" acts of "Divine Decree," even though we may lack an understanding of them, or the patience to forebear them when it becomes more or less apparent in our personal lives.

I remember vividly the day, Wednesday, March 3, 1993, sitting before the Honorable Richard Neidorf, waiting for a sentence to be handed down after I was found guilty in the Los Angeles Superior Court. The Judge said something to me that has stuck with me throughout these years, and, there were times that I relied on them for "Strength and hope," when I didn't have any, and, I rely upon them now, as the essence of my request for commutation. The Judge said:

"It's real sad. I don't feel great about this. I don't feel great about sending anyone to prison forthwith. Hopefully some Governor in the future will have some mercy on you and allow you to be paroled so you can be with your parents."

(See Attachment for full discussion)
(Exhibit "A")

Another reason that I'm requesting a commutation is to be able to enjoy and be with both my mother and father before they pass away and being sentenced to "Life Without the Possibility of Parole," a commutation is a very real opportunity to obtain any meaningful chance to get a "Second Chance" at life and sustaining a high quality of living beyond these walls and relative barriers of incarceration in order to experience life "anew" with a renewed sense of "Being, Determination, and Desire," with a sound understanding of what my proper roles are as a "Productive Citizen, Son, Husband, Father, Brother, Spiritual Leader & Guide, A Successful Businessman and as a Reformed and Rehabilitated Human Being." I now possess and value "Self-respect" "Self-esteem" and "Self-love;" "respect and compassion for all life," and my "identity and true purpose in life."

Everything that I was taught and everything that I learned, or experienced through the "Self-Help" courses and groups that I either "developed, facilitated or participated" in, are very valuable and essential tools that I am completely dedicated to sharing with my beautiful and supportive wife, Mrs. Michelle Edmund, our children and the community "as a whole," and consciously using them as I pursue success in my career which will include, volunteer work with established programs and centers that are dedicated to eliminating and addressing "Gang Violence & Participation," the underlying problems that are less visible, for example, fatherless homes, skilled, or talented youth from low income families and endangered communities that lack "reasonable and reachable" alternatives, and bridging the existing gap between our "Religious/Spiritual Centers" and the youth in these great communities, including their families and caregivers.

"SELF-HELP GROUPS AND COURSES" (Exhibit "B")

- * Workforce Development-Transition Skills (Instructor and Facilitator)
- * PACE Learning Systems (PLS) (Coordinator and Facilitator)
 -  Accelerated Learning Lab curriculum in content areas including: Spelling, Reading, Language, Writing, Basic Math, Advanced Math, Science and Social Studies.
- * E-Learning (Electronic) "Career Resource Center" (Instructor and Facilitator)
 -  Course Content: "Career Planning" "Learning about your Interest and Skills" "Finding Jobs where you can use your Interest and Skills" "Learning About Jobs" "Make Choices about Life Roles" "Finding out what kind of Education or Training you need" "Finding a Job" and "Keeping a Job."
- * Internal Empowerment Coaching and Scripture Therapy Institute, in conjunction with William Glasser, Inc. and Loyola Marymount University (Graduate and Participant)

I'm requesting a commutation because, I've been rehabilitated and reformed from my past "reckless and toxic" behavior and thinking, behavior and thinking that was more criminal than civil, more idle and easily influenced, than focused and disciplined. Today, my "behavior and thinking" is reflective of my "Hopes, Dreams and Goals."

I would like a "Second Chance" so that I can incorporate all of the programs, their tools, guidance and wisdom, into helping the "Youth and Adult" change or improve their lifestyle, especially those that suffer from a destructive or harmful "Behavioral Addiction" "Lifestyle Addiction" "Drug/Alcohol Addiction" or "Habit Addiction." Being a "Certified Coordinator" (Lead Facilitator) in Alternatives to Violence Project (AVP) California, I would like to introduce the AVP Program into the school system as a part of their curriculum, generally, as a vehicle to assist "children" in learning personal and social tools to encourage coping skills, character building, communication and cooperation, etc.. with themselves, their parents and environment; specifically, however, for those children that either, exhibit certain "behaviors or risk factors," or have already been subjected to a/any Judicial punishment, for example, "Probation, Community Service, or Juvenile Detention."

My other "Passions and Goals" include, starting a business (Non-Profit and Profit) that will provide jobs especially to those that need a "second chance" at life, or recovery, to help my parents with their "Bed and Breakfast" business, and to start a family of my own, so that, I can enjoy and take pride in "Fatherhood" and "Manhood," and be the best example that I can possibly be to them, and pass on to them everything that I've learned and experienced in this wonderful and empowering life that Almighty God has given me.

These are some of the main reasons why I am requesting a commutation.

Since 2012, up to the present, I have been functioning in the capacity of an "Inmate Minister" here at Centinela State Prison, and I was appointed to this position, initially, because of my knowledge and understanding of the Religious and Spiritual "Principles, Scriptures, Ceremonies and Pillars," however, the quality, sincerity and correctness of my character and behavior, as well as, my ability to effectively communicate with individuals and groups in this environment, has also been a determining factor and compass, by which, I uphold my priorities and responsibilities as a "Leader, Counselor, Friend, Educator, Life Coach, Peer Mentor, Healer, and Advisor."

I have, however, since 2003, also held the positions of "Minister of Education" and "Arbitrator." My duties included, developing, coordinating and teaching an academic curriculum which focused on fundamental topics such as, "Morality, Purification of The Heart, Soul & Mind, Social Responsibility, Critical Thinking, Relationship Management, Etiquette and Reform."

For a period of approximately two years, I was a member of the M.A.C (Men's Advisory Council) Committee, where I served as a liaison between the inmate population and staff, helping in every capacity that I could to keep the channels of "Respect, Peace, Communication and Cooperation" open, fair and functioning.

I've taken on these positions of "Trust, Influence and Leadership" willingly and wholeheartedly because, it keeps me honest with myself, first and foremost, then, accountable and selfless with those around me. It's taught me valuable lessons upon my own path of "Reform & rehabilitation," such as, patience and perseverance, putting someone's needs before my own, forbearance with undesired circumstances, right conduct & the reciprocation of human rights, moderation, tolerance and love. All these "principles and values," I've learned and experience during my twenty-six years of incarceration and it has been extremely fulfilling and enlightening. I greatly look forward to experiencing how "fulfilling and empowering" it will be at home, as a free man, in the free world..."Born-Again."

4. PROVIDE A BRIEF STATEMENT EXPLAINING WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED A COMMUTATION

The man and human being I am today, is nothing like the individual I was as an adolescent, who deeply lacked discipline, direction, vision, a system of belief or balance. As an adolescent, I depended on people's attention, acceptance and favorable opinion of me, and because of that, I always found myself going to great lengths to receive it, even if it required disrespecting or disobeying myself, my parents, or totally going against what I knew was right, and doing what was wrong or harmful to me and others. This counter-productive pattern of "dependency and immaturity" became habitual and it influenced my behaviors, my attitude & perspective, my process of thinking and complete well-being, while, masking all the pain and growing voids that accumulated.

Today, by the "Grace, Guidance and Mercy of God," I've managed to completely embrace the "Qualities and Boundaries" of "True Manhood-Adulthood" and "Maturity" through a deep, prolonged and sincere introspection, over the course of twenty-six years, especially as it applies to my actions, behaviors and the manner in which I express myself in my relationships and social interactions. Today, I understand the "Value, Responsibility and Importance" of "Education, Spirituality, Having a Firm Resolve and Humility," and the need to apply these basic, yet, profound principles "every single day," regardless if the circumstances are favorable or unfavorable, small or large, personal or otherwise.

I continue to take pivotal steps towards putting these principles into action and, on October 29, 2016, I married a beautiful and outstanding woman by the name of Mrs. Michelle Lee Edmund, my companion, best friend, supporter and lover, and together, we're dedicated to success and happiness. (See: Exhibit "C"). I've also taken the initiative, quite recently, to contact the ARC (Anti-Recidivism Coalition), to express my intent and interest to be an active part of their organization through membership, and I will be following up with their response. (See: Exhibit "D").

Dear Mr. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.,

May the Peace, Love and Blessings of The Almighty God be upon you and your family as I briefly introduce myself to you, and, at the time when you receive it.

I know sir, that at this transitional point in time, you are a very busy man and the time that you can devote to me is a blessing in itself, so, I will try my best not to be too long or overbearing. My name is Andre' Miquel Edmund. I was born in London, England, to two amazing people, Mr. Barry Edmund and Ms. Joycelyn Raymond, who, together, decided to migrate to the United States in 1978, with the hopes and dreams of pursuing a successful career, raising a wholesome and loving family, and capitalizing on every opportunity that America had to offer.

I had a very good upbringing, some will say "privileged," in the sense that, I had both my parents in the home, my sister Michelle and I had the best education and my parents did what they could to keep us active in a multitude of sports activities and extracurricular programs, hoping that our lives wouldn't be consumed or influenced by "gangs, drugs, idleness or delinquency."

Regardless, at a very young age, I found myself being pulled and attracted to those very "things" that my parents tried so hard to steer me away from especially, being conscious and wise about the friends that I keep, and irresponsibility. Growing up, I can admit and take full responsibility that I made countless mistakes and very poor decisions, one after the other, refusing to listen to, and take heed to that "internal voice" inside of me that always seem to surface every now and then, trying to steer me aright when, I was clearly on the wrong path---finding myself deeper and deeper in some kind of trouble, growing more distant from my parents and emotionally & psychologically bankrupt.

When I came to prison, I was twenty years old, broken in more areas of myself than a few and it wasn't before long that I hit "rock bottom," and came "face-to-face" with the "memories and emotions" of all my wrong "decisions and actions." This proved to be a very pivotal time in my life, where I had to take an honest and thorough look at me. It was definitely hard, honest and emotional; but, it was necessary because, I knew deep down in my soul that, "this wasn't me," "I wasn't born to live the rest of my life in prison," and "I'm going to do what I have to do to 'evolve and mature' into my true self" because, once I'm free, "I'LL NEVER DO ANYTHING TO PUT MYSELF IN PRISON AGAIN OR PUT THE PEOPLE THAT LOVE ME THE MOST IN THIS POSITION EVER AGAIN."

Mr. Brown, I'm not a bad person and I've spent the last twenty six years of my life making amends for the bad that I did when I was a child. I try to let all the work and energy that I put forth, speak for the remorse that I feel and live with every single day, and I'm asking you with all the "humility and love" that I can gather in myself, to grant me a "Second Chance" to be the best that I can be towards my parents and family, my beautiful wife and our family and towards humanity. Thank you for your time and consideration, and for everything great thing that you've done and accomplished in office. You're a true blessing and kind soul.

Sincerely Submitted, Andre' M. Edmund

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Rita Ennis

In 1994, Reza Dadrass owed Rita Ennis a debt for drugs. Ms. Ennis and her husband, Gregory Ennis, confronted Mr. Dadrass on March 8, 1994. Mr. Ennis took Mr. Dadrass' wallet and car keys, tied him up with duct tape, and put him in the back of a pickup truck. While Ms. Ennis stayed home, Mr. Ennis drove the truck to a remote location, killed Mr. Dadrass, and disposed of his body. On October 20, 1999, the San Bernardino County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Ennis to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus eight years for kidnapping.

Ms. Ennis is now 61 years old and has been incarcerated for over 23 years. In her application for clemency, she expressed remorse for her participation in this crime. She wrote, "I knew right from wrong, I chose to do wrong, to act based on my defects instead of my conscience. I am deeply sorry for my part in this crime and [am] deeply ashamed of myself." She continued, "My remorse is what lets me know that I am no longer that person, that I am strong enough to live a peaceful and proper life should you decide to grant me commutation of my current sentence."

Ms. Ennis has shown a genuine commitment to turning her life around. She has only been disciplined twice during more than two decades in prison, and has never been involved with drugs or violence. Ms. Ennis earned two A.A. degrees from Feather River College, and completed a paralegal certificate from Blackstone Career Institute. She has participated in self-help programs including Beyond Violence, Restorative Justice, and Women's Empowerment. Ms. Ennis has lived in an honor dorm for several years and has mentored other women through self-help groups and volunteer efforts. She has also maintained a positive work record and completed a vocational training program. A correctional officer who supervised Ms. Ennis commended her for her hard work to help others, and wrote, "Inmate Ennis has grown in maturity and insight over the years and this is reflected in her positive attitude and demeanor. I believe inmate Ennis deserves the chance to re-enter society and gain her life back again." Ms. Ennis' commutation is supported by many members of her family, who have offered her housing, financial assistance, and help to transition back into the community in the event of her release.

Although she participated in a very serious crime, Ms. Ennis has worked hard to show that she is a changed woman. She has been dedicated to self-improvement and helping others for many years now. For these reasons, I believe Ms. Ennis should have the opportunity to make her case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Rita Ennis to a total of 25 years to life.

Re: Application for Commutation of Sentence for Rita V. Ennis

Dear Governor Brown,

I respectfully request a Commutation of Sentence for myself, Rita V. Ennis, an elderly mother and grandmother. I am serving a Life Without Parole sentence for a crime of which my lack of insight at the time, caused me to participate in; the murder of a young man, Reza Dadrass. As you read the attached documents you will see that my life and time in prison, my commitment to self-rehabilitation, and becoming a model inmate are a testament to the fact that change is possible. My hope is for a second chance at life with my family and in my community. I note here that I presently have a Writ of Habeas Corpus filed and in process with the Supreme court which is based on the Banks case. In light of my age and the number of years I have already served, (from March 1995-beginning at the county-through the present time here at CIW). I am asking that you Commute my sentence to a 25-to life sentence as to provide me with a meaningful chance for release.

Upon analysis of my crime and my individual participation, I can see now how I am accountable for Reza's death. He may have been mildly acquainted with a couple of my teenage children at this time but the only reason he became further involved with my family was because of the money I felt he owed me. Thus, when he was enticed into coming to our home, I did nothing to stop the situation. I should have been more cognizant of the situation and realized they meant to threaten or possibly harm him. I should have been more perceptive to the danger posed to Reza's personal safety, I was in fact more concerned with myself and my own needs and paid no attention to whether or not he was in any sort of danger. And the idea of selling his car to recoup the debt was far too enticing; however, the debt was already part of criminal activity to begin with so there was nothing about this thought or idea that could be justified. Then when my husband and the others took Reza from my home, I should have realized he was in even graver danger. I should have tried to stop them, but I didn't. I then heartlessly participated in suppressing Reza's murder by facilitating the communication between my husband and another codefendant and by telling them to keep their mouths shut. I am extremely ashamed of my behaviors and I deeply regret how these behaviors contributed to the murder of Reza Dadrass.

At that time in my life I had no sense of selfworth, I felt I had no value as an individual. I consistently gave in to the demands and requests of the man I was married to, Gregory A. Ennis. I did not have the foresight or maturity to handle what was happening in my own home at this time in my life. I had grown up completely codependent due to the childhood abuse and domestic violence in my childhood home. I became desensitized to any form of bullying and aggressive behavior. I should have never considered what was happening to be "normal" behavior but at the time it was happening, I did. My mother was divorced and remarried when I was very young so I grew up in an environment of fear because the man she married was a violent, abusive, alcoholic. This caused me to develop strong codependencies and insecurities. This childhood abuse, I know now, led to my defect of having a lack of empathy. I developed no sense of concern for others.

The abuse I endured as a child, that led to my personal defects, I later allowed to continue in both of my marriages without making the choice to seek help for myself. As a result, I was both insensitive and insecure and therefore willing to participate along with my husband and the other codefendants in getting what we believed was owed to us instead of having any concern for our victim's safety. These facts of behavior and defects are not an excuse, they are only an explanation of the causative factors in this crime. I knew right from wrong, I chose to do wrong, to act based on my defects instead of on my conscience. The insight I have gained has empowered me to know I would never participate in a situation like that again. I am deeply sorry for my part in this crime and deeply ashamed of myself. My remorse is what lets me know that I am no longer that person, that I am strong enough to live a peaceful and proper life should you decide to grant me Commutation of my current sentence. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Respectfully yours,

Rita V. Ennis

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Willie Erwin

On November 15, 2001, Willie Erwin entered Esther Lugo's home while she and her grandson were sleeping, intending to burglarize it. Mr. Erwin left the house with several small items. On August 8, 2002, the Fresno County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Erwin to 25 years to life for burglary and 5 years for a prior felony enhancement – a total term of 30 years to life.

Mr. Erwin is 58 years old and has now been incarcerated for more than 17 years for this crime. In his application for clemency, Mr. Erwin wrote that at the time of the crime he struggled with a substance abuse problem. He wrote, "Afforded the chance to reform and address my addiction over the 17 years in prison, [I have been] disciplinary free over 11 years, and [have] renewed [my] relationship with God."

During almost two decades in prison, Mr. Erwin has worked to transform his life. Mr. Erwin has only been disciplined twice for misconduct over the course of his incarceration. He completed electrical, office services, and substance abuse counselor vocational training. Mr. Erwin has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Substance Abuse, Personal Growth and Development, Anger Management, and Getting Out by Going In. In 2009, a director for the Substance Abuse Program said regarding Mr. Erwin, "He has demonstrated an outstanding will, and has shown great motivation in learning the curriculum." In 2008, Mr. Erwin was assigned as a lead tutor for the Independent Study Program at the Pleasant Valley Adult School to help other inmates improve their academic skills in order to obtain their GED.

In addition to Mr. Erwin's rehabilitative efforts in prison, I am moved by Mr. Erwin's significant health issues. Mr. Erwin struggles with Meniere's disease, hearing impairment, and limited mobility. Mr. Erwin also has the support of numerous family members, friends, and pastors upon his release.

Additionally, the Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Erwin's case at an en banc meeting and recommended him for a commutation of sentence. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Erwin.

Mr. Erwin has remained dedicated to and focused on his rehabilitation throughout his incarceration. For all the foregoing reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Erwin's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Willie Erwin to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Marco Antonio Flores

On June 16, 1997, 16-year-old Marco Flores, Jesse Silva, and other gang members attempted to enter a house party. Prior to entering, Albert Molina requested to search the group for weapons. Mr. Flores, Mr. Silva, and the others refused to be searched and started yelling their gang affiliations. Mr. Silva pulled out a gun and shot Mr. Molina in the chest, killing him. On January 11, 2011, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Flores to 22 years for voluntary manslaughter and 10 years for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 32 years.

Mr. Flores has been incarcerated for 10 years. During that time, he dropped out of his gang and has dedicated himself to self-improvement. In his application for clemency, Mr. Flores wrote, "I am no longer that immature, irresponsible, angry and impulsive 16-year-old teenager that was once lost in a false warp belief system, susceptible to gangs and violence. I made the choice to disassociate myself from any gang, drugs or criminal behavior and began my journey of self-discovery and rehabilitation." He told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that he is ready to give back to the community he has taken so much from by sharing his experiences during his incarceration and possibly changing the minds of at-risk youth.

Since his incarceration, Mr. Flores has been disciplined for misconduct only twice. He earned his GED and is currently enrolled in college classes. Mr. Flores completed vocational training in office services and electronics. He participated in self-help programs including Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Alternatives to Violence. A sponsor of his Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous group wrote that Mr. Flores's "continuous work at recovery is helping him to gain insight on the physical and emotional consequences that addiction has had on his life," and that he "has become a positive role model for his peers in the group." In the event of his release, Mr. Flores has been accepted into transitional housing, and he has the support of his family.

I acknowledge that Mr. Flores participated in a very serious crime. However, based on his age at the time of the crime and his commitment to rehabilitation, I believe Mr. Flores has earned an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Marco Flores to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration.

On June 16, 2007 I made some irresponsible and impulsive choices. I assisted on injuring Dario Novoa and Martha Rojas. At 4:20pm I was on a bicycle at Brandford park in the city of Arleta in the County of Los Angeles. I was accompany by Michael Deleon, Jesse Silva, Eduardo, Anthony, Jose all Gang members. When Dario Novoa and his brother-in-law walked passed me, Dario Novoa entered the restroom. His brother-in-law walked passed me again. But this time he bumped and kicked my bicycle. I look in his direction and waited for him to excuse himself and he just kept walking. So I yell at him and said 'What's up homie' but he ignored me and that's when I felt disrespected due to my false warp belief system that the gang embedded in me. That's when I felt challenged so I confronted Dario Novoa brother-in-law and I seen the look he had when I approached him. He had no idea of what I was talking about. He was confused. That's when Dario Novoa exited the restroom with no knowledge of what was going on. All he seen was his brother-in-law in an altercation with myself. So he walked towards me and got in my face to protect his brother-in-law. I felt threaten by his demeanor so I acted impulsively fueled by fear, so I pushed Dario Novoa causing him to stumble on his feet. He looked surprised that I had pushed him. He then rushed back my way that's when Michael Deleon, Jesse Silva, Eduardo, Anthony and Jose jumped up and attacked Dario Novoa before he could reach me. I could see and hear Martha Rojas yelling and screaming "Stop, stop let him go!", your hurting him. I then seen how Martha Rojas jumped on top of Dario Novoa to protect and shield Dario Novoa from being assaulted. When I seen Martha Rojas getting involved I yelled to all my co-defendants " let's go, let's go, I was on my bicycle and watched how everything took place. My impulsive action by pushing Dario Novoa triggered my co-defendants to react the only way they knew with violence to protect me even though I was in the wrong by starting and provoking Dario Novoa, that resulted in an assault and lost of their personal belongings. My poor decision making was not over yet. It progressed because later that night on June 16, 2007, I attended a party with Michael Deleon, Jesse Silva, and Giovanni Leyva (driver) We arrived at 12462 Osborne street in the city of Pacoima in the County of Los Angeles. I made another irresponsible choice. I brought a gun (silver revolver) 32 caliber with me because of what had happened at the park earlier that day. As I walked out the vehicle I showed Michael Deleon my gun. That's when Michael Deleon asked me if I wouldn't mind him carrying it at the party. I said No. So I handed it to Michael Deleon the (32 caliber revolver) from my waistband. Michael Deleon grabbed the gun and put it in his right pocket of his shorts. Michael Deleon and Jesse Silva walked ahead of Giovanni Leyva and myself. As we approached 12462 Osborne street, we could see the entrance to the party. I noticed Michael Deleon and Jesse Silva arguing with the people in the entrance, one of them being Albert Molina who was in control of the entry into the party. Albert Molina refused our entry because Michael Deleon refused to be searched upon entry, because he had the 32 revolver in his possession. We began to shout our gang, that's when tension progressed and Michael Deleon swung at Albert Molina striking him on the chest and upper torso area. Albert Molina protected himself by grabbing ahold of Michael Deleon. Michael Deleon pushed Albert Molina causing him to let go and stumble. That's when I heard two shots fired. I seen Michael Deleon holding the 32 revolver. He had it locked up in the air, everyone got down. We yelled our Gang again, that's when Jesse Silva (co-defendant) took the gun from Michael Deleon hands and Jesse Silva aimed it at Albert Molina direction and began to shoot. Four shots were fired. Everything happened in a matter of seconds. Everyone around me is running and screaming. I run toward our vehicle and when I look back Michael Deleon, Jesse Silva and Giovanni Leyva our (driver) were running towards me. Jesse Silva with the 32 revolver in his hands. We entered the get away vehicle. I was seated front passenger, Giovanni Leyva driving, Michael Deleon left backseat and Jesse Silva right backseat behind me. I told Jesse Silva to empty the 32 revolver by removing the empty shell casings so I could discard them. Jesse Silva gave me all six casings and I threw them out the window one by one as we drove away from the crime scene. Reflecting back not only on June 16, 2007 but in life, I realized that I had made the biggest mistake of my life. I was seeking for help and guidance in all the wrong places and from all the wrong people. This choice led me to another poor decision in my life, the day I decided to join a Gang. I joined the Gang because it was my coping mechanism. It helped me deal with everything I was going through in life. Being abandon by my father at the early age caused my mother to struggle and have a disfunctional home. I was just seeking acceptance and approval from my family. I began to develop low self-esteem. All I wanted was tone recognized by my own family. The love and affection that only family could provide, I seeked it eles where and replaced it with the Gang. It became my avenue. I was able to vent out by causing others pain, suffering, and fear, at the same time relieving my own through violence. I was impulsive, selfish and irresponsible. I only cared about myself and the satisfaction that I received from hurting others. I was made to believe I had every right to hurt another human being. This cowardly and callous warp belief system was embedded and normalized in my life. Now I'm able to understand that I was completely wrong. All I did was suppress my emotions, my problems and justified my actions with violence. I had No right assault and injure Dario Novoa, his brother-in-law, Martha Rojas and the community. They had no intention of causing harm to me or anyone around. I was the problem. I provoked and caused Dario Novoa and Martha Rojas to be assaulted and injured. They didn't deserve to be hurt mentally, emotionally or physically. As for Albert Molina, he did not deserve to lose his life the way he did. He did nothing wrong. He was at a party, when he was confronted and murdered by four gang members. I did not shoot Albert Molina but I am as guilty as Jesse Silva the shooter, because I owned and furnished the 32 revolver used to kill Albert Molina. I also encourage the shooting by yelling the Gang. I know that there are no words I can say or write that could take back my actions, but I take full responsibility and accountability. I want to make it clear that my age does not justify my actions on June 16, 2007. No one has the right to take a humanlife.

On January 11, 2011 I was sentenced to 32 years and as a second striker in which a prior juvenile strike was used to double up my base term, along with an adult strike. I was convicted of voluntary manslaughter. I was 16 years old when I assisted in committing these crimes. I was arrested at the age of 17 and tried as an adult. However I can now truthfully state as a 26 year old that through self-developing courses offered by (CDCR) I was able to understand the gravity and negative ripple affect of my crimes and impulsive actions. My age at the time of the crime and lack of coping skills do not justify my actions, but through criminals and gangs members anonymous program (GCA) I was able to understand that I played a part in my contributing factors that made me vulnerable to contribute and commit these cowardly and horrible crimes. I am no longer that immature, irresponsible, angry and impulsive 16 year old teenager that was once lost in a false warp belief system, susceptible to gangs and violence. I made the choice to disassociate myself from any Gang, drugs or criminal behavior and began my journey of self discovery and rehabilitation. I admit I struggled at first. I stumbled a few times, but I motivated myself because I wanted to become a better human being. I was not going to let my destructive lifestyle and crime define me. I found healing and peace through my spiritual life and participating in self help groups that offered me the correct way of dealing with my problems. I came to understand that I will forever be in service to others in the community while incarcerated or upon release. There are no words I can say or actions I can take that will bring Albert Molina back to life. But I owe it to Albert Molina, his family and the people I've hurt in the community by giving back any way possible. I believe that if given the opportunity, I can make a difference and change the community by servicing other communities, by reaching out to the youth so we can discourage the youth from Gangs, drugs and criminal behavior. I can share my story and teach the community how to help our youth by showing them that we are there to help, not judge and provide our community with proper coping skills so our youth can mature into productive and successful members of society. I am not requesting for a commutation of sentence to minimize my crime or avoid accountability for what I've done. I am humbly requesting an opportunity to earn a second chance in life.

Reflecting back on all the damage and unnecessary trauma I inflicted on my community through acts of behavior, I know I don't deserve to be granted a commutation because Albert Molina never got a second chance at life. He didn't deserve to be murdered the way he did on June 16, 2007. There ain't nothing I can do or say that will bring Albert Molina back to life, but through years of rehabilitation I came to understand that I can honor Albert Molina life by never re-offending and being in service to others in prison and upon release. I have took the time to educate, rehabilitate, and better myself as a human being. These 10years Why? Because I have a burning desire, a goal in life, a purpose and it begins here in prison through the youth offender program at Ironwood state prison where I am able to be a positive role model and mentor to my peers while incarcerated creating a better community. I also part take in a youth diversion program offered by Ironwood state prison called "Life's to short" where I am able to give back to the community through the youth, their parents, and our custody staff by sharing my story of transformation and showing the youth that they are not alone, because at one point in my life I was that lost teenager seeking for help and guidance in all the wrong places. I don't want this destructive cycle of Gangs, drugs and criminality to continue damaging our youth. I know I can not change everyone I encounter, but if granted a commutation I know what I am capable of doing with a second chance in life, and I will make a positive impact in our communities with the help of my support network (see attached support letter) I want to help rebuild our communities starting with the youth, showing them that they can make their dreams come true, no matter what neighborhoods or upbringing they come from, help them understand and believe in themselves because they are tomorrow's future. They do not need Gangs or drugs to feel loved, accepted or happy. All they need is someone to spend time with them, listen to them, understand them and relate, establishing communication, developing a relationship and teaching them how to trust. It's hard especially for youth who have been let down because it takes time and patience. I come from this reality so I know I can help them now and upon release. I ask that you judge me by my will to regain the trust of the community and for making all the necessary changes in my life to be part of the solution and no longer the problem.

Tammy Rochelle Garvin

Tammy Garvin had been acting as a prostitute since the age of 18 when she met Herman Lemelle, who became her boyfriend and pimp. Ms. Garvin and Mr. Lemelle decided to rob Rolf Neumeister, a restaurant owner and former boyfriend of Ms. Garvin. On February 25, 1991, Mr. Neumeister let Ms. Garvin into the restaurant, and Mr. Lemelle stabbed Mr. Neumeister to death. Afterward, Ms. Garvin and Mr. Lemelle robbed Mr. Neumeister. On December 22, 1995, the Santa Clara County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Garvin to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

An investigation conducted by the Board of Parole Hearings concluded that Ms. Garvin was suffering from the effects of intimate partner battery at the time of the crime, as a result of prior abusive relationships and abuse from Mr. Lemelle. In a 2007 declaration, Mr. Lemelle admitted that he was "physically violent and threatening" towards Ms. Garvin, including threatening her with knives at times. He stated that he wanted Ms. Garvin to pressure Mr. Neumeister for more money, noting that Ms. Garvin was justifiably scared of him. Ms. Garvin was set to testify against Mr. Lemelle, but after he threatened her in jail, she was too afraid to carry through, resulting in the rescission of a plea offer that would have resulted in a sentence less than life without the possibility of parole. In her application, Ms. Garvin acknowledged the effect that intimate partner battery had on her actions at the time of the crime and how she has worked to address her history while incarcerated. She wrote, "I am responsible for murdering Rolf as it was my choice to stay in a dangerous relationship. At the time I didn't understand that I was making bad choices, or that I had much choice at all, but after years of therapy I have insight into my mental and emotional condition at the time as well as the conditions of abuse I was living with and why."

Ms. Garvin is now 59 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 28 years. In her commutation application, she wrote that she requested a commutation "because it is my prayer to show accountability, maturity, and rehabilitation to earn a second chance outside of prison." She continued, "I am a changed person who values life and healthy relationships and I am always striving to be the best person within my community that I can be." Ms. Garvin told a Board investigator, "I can show that people can change given the right tools." In prison, Ms. Garvin has dedicated herself to her rehabilitation. She has received only four rules violations over the course of her incarceration and has not been disciplined in over 12 years. Ms. Garvin has resided on an honor yard since 2014 and served on the Inmate Advisory Council, including as Chairperson. She has participated in myriad self-help classes, including co-dependency, alternatives to violence, substance abuse, and healing trauma. She has also served as chairperson of the long-termers organization and facilitator for the domestic violence and beyond violence groups.

Ms. Garvin's commitment to self-improvement and helping others has also earned her the respect and praise of staff. In 2015, a lieutenant wrote that Ms. Garvin is "an avid voice for the people who sometimes don't have one" and commended her for "her determination to make a positive difference in the lives of those around her." In 2018, a staff sponsor commended Garvin on putting others before herself and wrote, "She always thought of what was best for her community." A licensed clinical social worker who has worked with Ms. Garvin since 2009 wrote, "I have found her to be a stellar woman with a great deal of integrity." She continued, "I know that Ms. Garvin is an upstanding, honest, and forthright individual who will go forth in the free community and continue as a positive citizen role model." A correctional officer wrote in 2017 that Ms. Garvin's "desire for growth and how she has become a better person not only for herself but also for others as an example of how rehabilitation should play."

Additionally, her application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Ms. Garvin.

Mr. Neumeister's family has expressed opposition to Ms. Garvin's release. While the profound impact of Ms. Garvin's crime cannot be erased, I have weighed the evidence and given to Ms. Garvin's exemplary conduct in prison and her efforts to put the impacts of her prior abuse behind her through programming, I believe she has earned the opportunity to present her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Tammy Rochelle Garvin to a total of 28 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime (s) for which you are requesting a pardon or commutation.

On Monday, February 25, 1991 at approximately 10:15 a.m. Campbell police officers were dispatched to a restaurant known as " Brigitte's" 384 East Campbell Avenue, California. There officers determined that the restaurant owner, 70 year old victim Rolf Max Neumeister had been murdered. The victim suffered approximately 61 stab/slash wounds to the face and upper body. APPLICATION FOR COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Tammy Garvin, W60997

Addendum to Form

2) Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

As a battered woman and a second time offender, I was sentenced to Life Without the Possibility of Parole for first degree murder. At the time of my trial in 1995, the jury didn't hear anything about "battered women's syndrome," which is now recognized as "intimate partner battering and its effects." Nothing was explored about my domestic violence, battered women's syndrome, or the impact of the traumatic events in my life. I had an expert witness on pimps and prostitutes and I should have had an expert witness on intimate partner battering and its effects.

I'm requesting a commutation because it is my prayer to show accountability, maturity, and rehabilitation to earn a second chance outside of prison. I am and have developed into the woman I was created to be. I am a changed person who values life and healthy relationships and I am always striving to be the best person within my community that I can be, I have stayed involved as an active participant and leader in my community, a valued worker, self-help group participant and facilitator, a citizen in prison with many productive talents. I have become a role model and I have committed myself to living a life of service and rehabilitation. I have not remained disciplinary free throughout my time in prison, but my last disciplinary was in 2005, I have five CDCR 115's total. I currently live in the honor dorm and it is my prayer to be afforded the opportunity to serve the outside community and give of myself in the same way. I live a life of love, integrity, truly living a life of amends to Rolf, so that his death will not be in vain.

3) Explain why you are requesting a commutation

A domestic violence expert came to the prison to interview me in February 2008 on intimate partner battering, Linda Bernard, Ph.D. During my trial, the court did not hear expert testimony concerning whether I was suffering from intimate partner battering at the time of the murder, because the pimp/prostitute relationship was not fully recognized as a qualifying relationship under the law. I am aware that Sara Kruzan had her LWOP sentence commuted in 2011 by Governor Schwarzenegger, who recognized the pimp/prostitute relationship as a relationship especially vulnerable to intimate partner battering. The Attorney General also dropped her opposition to Sara's post-conviction appeal based on intimate partner battering evidence, after first misunderstanding that an abusive pimp/prostitute relationship was not intimate partner battering. At the time of my arrest, I didn't know anything about battered women's syndrome or understand how I allowed those relationships to control me, nor did I understand why I stayed. Today I understand why. I took advantage of every self-help group and rehabilitation I could so that I could change, and heal. I learn and understood why I was the way I was during those relationships. Who I was before, and who I am now.

I wasn't able to represent myself well before the jury at court. I was not mentally in my right mind. I was traumatized from years of abuse. It has taken years of therapy from my mental health group called abuse and trauma, and my mental health staff Ms. B. Herion. When I was in jail, the district attorney offered me a deal of 25 to life to testify against my co-defendant. My co-defendant wrote my father a letter letting him know that he killed Rolf. My father was going to testify against my co-defendant and when I came back from court one evening there was a letter at the end of my bed from my co-defendant threatening my father and I not to testify. This is why I came to prison with Life Without Parole.

I am responsible for murdering Rolf as it was my choice to stay in a dangerous relationship. At the time I didn't understand that I was making bad choices, or that I had much choice at all, but after years of therapy I have insight into my mental and emotional condition at the time as well as the conditions of abuse I was living with and why. I deserve to pay for my crime and for being responsible for taking Rolf's life. I am requesting your mercy to lessen my life sentence to afford me the opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings.

4) Provide a brief statement explaining why you believe you should be granted a commutation:

I'm asking to be granted the commutation based on my rehabilitation and the fact that I am not the person I used to be. I'm a battered woman and I am asking for a life sentence that is parole eligible. I have grown into a responsible woman who is confident, trustworthy, and makes good and healthy decisions. I'm accountable for my actions and have knowledge and insight into why I stayed in an unhealthy and dangerous relationship. I now have healthy boundaries. I live a life of amends to Rolf and the many victims as a result of my crime by taking ownership of my crime and holding myself completely accountable every single day. I live a life of amends by being a productive citizen and leader within the prison community, by continuing my self-help, by facilitating self-help groups, and by helping others through sharing my experiences.

From the start of my prison sentence I set out to get help and be the woman I was intended to be. In 1996, this prison had very little to offer. I have worked in the Law Library, went to substance-abuse class, worked as a Captain's clerk, and as a maintenance mechanic in Plant Operations where I learned to fix washers and dryers. I am also a Certified Peer Educator on Hepatitis A,B,C, HIV/AIDS, and Herpes. In 2009 I started therapy and mental health and I still participate in this group. I reached out to get help, to heal and to find out what was wrong with me that caused me to stay in a relationship that was unhealthy and dangerous.

Since coming to prison I became a better person through rehabilitation, a person who is healthy in mind, body, and soul, not only for me, but for Rolf, his family and friends, my family and friends, and so many people who are also victims affected by my crime. I am a Beyond Violence facilitator, I have served as the Facility Chairperson Executive Chairperson, ViceChair, and Sergeant-at-Arms for the Women's Advisory Council for at least 15 years or more. I also served as the Chairperson for the Long Termer's Organization for six years. A major pivotal point in my life of insight and healing came in 2014 through the "Bridges To Life" restorative justice program, a victim impact awareness program. It was then that I gained an even deeper understanding of my responsibility in my crime and how my childhood connected to who I was at the time of my relationship with Mr. Lemelle. I watched my aunts and my mother stay in abusive relationship, I witness many fights, and no one called the police, so this is why I stayed because I thought this was a normal way of life, and a womans place. I have remained dedicated to myself and my self-help and on the positive path of rehabilitation. I have facilitated self-help groups throughout the institution like Helping Women Recover, Bridges to Life, Domestic Violence, Relapse Prevention, A Woman's Way Through the 12 Steps, and a series of self-help groups and workshops pertaining to attitudes, anger and, denial, including Cage Your Rage, A Place Called Self, and many more. I am currently facilitating Beyond Violence, and Domestic Violence self-help groups with women who want to change their life.

I pray to be granted a commutation to reduce my sentence. I will continue to serve my community. I have included realistic parole plans and letters from a strong support system.

Tyren Gillison

Between November 4 and November 27, 2007, Tyren Gillison committed a string of armed robberies. On March 13, 2008, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Gillison to 10 years for six counts of robbery plus an additional 10-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Gillison has now been incarcerated for almost 11 years. In his clemency application, he expressed remorse these robberies, writing, "My incarceration has granted me the ability to delve inside myself to grasp the devastating harm my past actions have caused my victims. The disgraceful crimes I committed are unforgettable, but if forgiven the person I've become would like to begin some type of restorative efforts to earn back the trust of society that was broken."

During over a decade in prison, Mr. Gillison has been dedicated to transforming his life. He has never been disciplined for any violent misconduct. He is working towards his GED and has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Alternatives to Violence, Cage Your Rage, Narcotics Anonymous, Self-Awareness and Improvement, and Getting Out by Going In. Mr. Gillison also serves as Chairman of the Men's Advisory Council at the Correctional Training Facility. Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Gillison has earned the respect of the staff members and prison volunteers who see him on a regular basis.

Mr. Gillison routinely received satisfactory to exceptional work ratings. In 2018, a correctional sergeant wrote that Mr. Gillison has "maintained a positive attitude and has remained disciplinary free. He has proven to be a model inmate by his willingness to help the facility by volunteering his time and assisting with new projects for the general population." Also in 2018, Mr. Gillison's work supervisor noted that he "has proven to be a mature and responsible individual," adding that Mr. Gillison "will be a positive role model and a productive member of society upon his release."

I believe Mr. Gillison has earned an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Tyren Gillison to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration.

(Question #2 attachment)

The purpose was monetary gain, but the person I am today knows there is absolutely nothing that can be said to downplay or justify my actions. That's why I have never tried to rationalize what was done, because wrong is wrong no matter how you look at it; as my mother says.

(Question #3 attachment)

Trust of society that was broken. I would like to help educate anyone that is misguided or troubled, and explain that there are so many positive ways to Succeed in Life. No matter what goes on in your personal life, there is never an excuse to commit crime for any reason. There is nothing worth going to prison for, and I learned that the hard way cause of a lapse in my moral judgment which was totally my fault. Hurting anyone physically or Mentally is wrong on so many levels, and most importantly is not what a decent human being does. The person I was in the past was not a decent human being, but the man I am today will continue to always conduct himself decently and humane without a second thought for the rest of my Life.

Learn many of the necessary skills and tools needed to never resort to any type of crime again. Self-respect, self-confidence, humility and healthy communication are just some of the principles obtained that will continue to direct me on the correct path of positivity and maturity for not only myself; but my family and the community I've wronged. I meditate on the principles learned, and place them into action on a daily basis. I've made it a goal of the highest priority not to make another poor decision, and commit a crime of any kind. Even though that should have been my state of mind in the first place, we sometimes don't use the best judgment and have to learn things the hard way when it was not necessary. It's no exaggeration to say that I regret what I did everyday, and the things that have stayed on my mind is what I did to my victims and their families; as well as what I've done to my own family. I know it will never be forgotten the crime that I committed, but my hope is that you can sense that the man I am now has made a lifetime commitment to change. There is nothing in the world worth coming back to prison, and I can say that with 100% confidence in myself.

"We should always strive to be a much better person today, then we were yesterday."

And I am..... Hope you can sense that today.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Bobby Gonzales

In December 2003, Bobby Gonzales was 16 years old and wanted to prove himself to fellow gang members, James Lopez and Malik Alaybue. The three men drove through rival gang territory and spotted Nelson Mayorga and his girlfriend walking to their apartment. Mr. Lopez told Mr. Gonzales to "handle your business." Mr. Gonzales shot Mr. Mayorga six times in the back. Mr. Mayorga died the next day. On November 3, 2008, the Santa Clara County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Gonzales to 15 years to life for murder plus a 10-year firearm enhancement – a total term of 25 years to life.

Mr. Gonzales has been incarcerated for almost 15 years – nearly half his life – and is deeply remorseful for committing this crime. When submitting his request for commutation, Mr. Gonzales expressed, "I believe I have obtained the insight and maturity required to not only be granted parole, but to succeed on parole and to thrive as an asset to society. I believe this wholeheartedly because it is who I have already become while here in prison and is a direct result of my remorse and dedication to making a living amends."

While in prison, he has dedicated himself to rehabilitation and has devoted his time to self-improvement. Mr. Gonzales earned his GED in 2011, completed a vocational training program, and has participated in self-help programs including Alcoholics Anonymous, Criminal Thinking, Anger Management, and Victim Awareness. He routinely received above average work ratings. Mr. Gonzales has not been disciplined for a serious rule violation in nearly a decade. Mr. Gonzales has been commended by many correctional staff members for his positive and productive behavior. He contributed stories and poems for a prison newsletter, Word on the Yard. He has also facilitated Away With Words, an art, music, and poetry group dedicated to sharing artistic works with inmates via video. Mr. Gonzales organized chapel talent shows and participated in several music performances related to his music therapy group. In October 2018, Mr. Gonzales was given the opportunity to share his story and rehabilitative efforts with a group that included music artist Common, who noted that Mr. Gonzales was "one of the most insightful, enlightened individuals he had ever met" and a "living example of a transformed individual who can go on to do good in society."

I have taken into consideration not only the serious crime Mr. Gonzales committed, but also his age at the time, the difficult circumstances of his upbringing, his conduct in prison, and his substantial efforts to turn his life around. Mr. Gonzales chose a different path while incarcerated and has become an example to other inmates. I find that he deserves an earlier chance to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Bobby Gonzales to a total of 15 years to life.

"Introduction"

B Gonzales

CDR# F25927

My name is Eddy Martin Gonzales and I take full responsibility for the murder of Nelson Mayorga on the night of Dec 22nd, 2013.

Although the following expresses an acknowledgement of my co-defendant James Lopez and the role he played in my thought process, I own my choices and make no attempt to minimize my actions or detract from the pain and suffering I have caused the entire Mayorga family including and especially Nelson's fiancée Sandra Ramirez and their son.

I am remorseful and deeply apologetic, so I only hope to provide a greater scope into the details of that night with honest descriptions to show who I was and what I have done to apply myself to the rehabilitative process.

"The Circumstances Of My Crime"

B. Gonzales

CDOR# F25927

Situation:

Two weeks after my 16th birthday, I was invited to a Bar & Grill on Bascom Road along with Malik Alyube, 18. James Lopez 24, was hosting a gathering there with his wife, daughter and several other "OG's" from "Varrio Horseshoe".

Upon leaving and getting into cars, I let James know that I was carrying a gun and he became excited with the idea of coming across "Scraps" (Surenos) and decided for all of the fellas to go by foot.

I chose to follow as we walked down San Carlos St. through Leigh Ave then on to Scott St. Every other corner we came to, the "OG's" yelled out "Horseshoe Gang!" bell gerantly and James asked me if I was "ready to ride?" in a rallying type manner.

I was not foreign to this kind of behavior however, James' words had great effect on me, especially when he looked me in the eyes and said "This is what separates the Real from the Fake."

We then reached the house without coming across anybody and James seemed to be disappointed. About 15 minutes later he says to Malik and I to go with him to get pizza. Once in the car, he explains after getting pizza, we can cruise through Cadillac Dr. (Known Surenos Neighborhood) if I'm down?

Thoughts:

The "OG's" are just drunk, be cool. Everything is under control, I got this. Wait... why's he questioning me like that? What's he mean "am I ready?" I ain't no punk! He doubts me, I know it. He remembers! He knows. He's saying I'm fake!
I have to prove myself once and for all.

Consequences:
(Positive)

Instant gratification. I proved James wrong for doubting me. I obtained the respect/status I desired, confirmation of my manhood and re-established safety and security within myself.

Consequences:
(Negative)

I selfishly murdered Nelson Mayorga. I severely traumatized Nelson's fiancée Silvia, as she witnessed me murder her soon to be husband and father of their unborn child. I also traumatized their unborn child due to feeling the effects of such a terrifying moment, along with the entire Mayorga family.

I received a life sentence and was forced to face the reality of the indoctrinated lies I foolishly chose to believe.

Beliefs:

I believed in violence as a solution.

I believed being a Norteño was my identity.

I believed in objectifying human beings.

I believed Sureños were my enemies.

I believed in status and desired it for myself.

Needs:

I needed to murder Nelson to feel secure in my manhood.

I needed to obtain the status James and the other "OGs" held which I perceived to be sickly dependent on whether or not I was ready to shoot & kill.

I needed to eliminate the "threat" I felt from James' questions because I perceived them to be in reference to the molestation I suffered at 5 yrs old.

Only James knew such a secret because he was the one who molested me.

So, I desperately needed to prove to James that I was a man, and with all my warped beliefs, my perception of a "Man" was being able to kill.

"Reasons For My Request and Why"

B. Gonzales

COOR#F25927

I am requesting a commutation because I believe I have obtained the insight and maturity required to not only be granted parole, but to succeed on parole and to thrive as an asset to society.

I believe this wholeheartedly because it is who I have already become while here in prison and is a direct result of my remorse and dedication to making a living amends.

I began soul searching before any change of law or political perspective on Youth Offenders and our Mental Health ever came along, which I believe further reflects the depth of my sincerity.

As my environment (FVSP IV Fac-A) was recorded as "Most Violent NY" I was promoting peace & positivity by writing and performing songs approved by administration to be recorded and broadcasted to the whole institution since 2010.

I then began to share my insight with others, creating a space for individual expression by facilitating "Music Art Therapy" supported by the Director of Mental Health and receiving praise from the Warden himself, then going on to co-found the Art, Music and Poetry group (A.M.P.) as an official I.L.T.A.G. in 2016.

All while also maintaining participation in other Self-Help Groups such as NA, CGA, Anger Management and Victim Awareness.

I am fortunate enough for SB26C to allow me the opportunity for a Y.O.P. hearing in 2023, however, I believe it'd be remiss of me to not continue to do all I can to make it home to my family even sooner. →

Ezequiel Gonzalez

In 2007, 15-year-old Ezequiel Gonzalez was at a party with fellow gang members. He got into a fight and shot John Santana in the chest. Mr. Santana survived, but suffered several broken ribs and a punctured lung. On October 25, 2011, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Gonzalez to 23 years for attempted murder with a firearm, great bodily injury, and gang enhancements.

Mr. Gonzalez is now 26 years old and has spent 10 years in prison. During that time, he has dramatically turned his life around. Mr. Gonzalez got sober, stopped associating with gangs, and turned away from violence while incarcerated. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct while in prison – a significant accomplishment. In his application for clemency, Mr. Gonzalez wrote, "I have matured and changed my lifestyle...I have the tools needed to become a contributing member of society; tools I can use to help at-risk youth avoid making horrible choices that victimize society." He earned his GED and is currently taking college classes. He has participated in numerous self-help programs including Narcotics Anonymous, Celebrate Recovery, Moving Beyond Violence, and Victim Offenders Education. Mr. Gonzalez is active in an arts in corrections program, through which he mentors younger inmates. A correctional officer who worked with Mr. Gonzalez on the arts program commended him for his leadership and wrote, "He is the reason our Arts in Corrections class is so successful. Inmate Gonzalez E. is professional and is interested in seeing inmates learn to succeed when or if they get out of prison. . . . [He] really has a heart to see others succeed." Mr. Gonzalez has received positive work ratings, chaired a writer's group, and currently serves as a literacy tutor for other inmates. Mr. Gonzalez has also developed a strong plan to support himself following his release from prison.

Despite the serious pressures in prison and the lure of gangs and drugs, Mr. Gonzalez has rejected negative influences and demonstrated a commitment to rehabilitating himself. He is dedicated to self-improvement and helping those around him. For all of these reasons, I conclude that it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Gonzalez's sentence so he has an earlier opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ezequiel Gonzalez to make him eligible for a parole hearing by July 18, 2020.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Andrew Granger

In March 1980, Judith Barnett wanted to have her ex-husband, Howard Witkin, killed so that she could have full custody of their children. Andrew Granger, then 20 years old, was one of the men recruited to drive to California to kill Mr. Witkin. On March 20, 1980, Mr. Granger went to Mr. Witkin's door and shot him several times, killing him. On September 25, 1981, the Santa Clara County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Granger to life without the possibility of parole plus a four-year firearm enhancement.

Notably, Mr. Granger confessed to his role in this crime when he was interviewed by detectives. He said he was racked with guilt, and felt a moral obligation to testify against his co-defendants and did so. A prosecuting attorney in one of his crime partner's cases wrote a letter in support of Mr. Granger. He wrote, "In my 28 years as a prosecutor, I have never written a letter on behalf of a convicted murderer. Until now." The former prosecutor explained that Mr. Granger was an "extremely immature youth," who "truly regretted what he had done as a youth, and wanted to do whatever he could do make things right." He emphasized that Mr. Granger has now served almost 40 years in prison for this crime. And he urged clemency, saying, "I believe that justice has been served by the time he has spent in prison, and that further incarceration will serve no benefit or purpose."

Mr. Granger is now 58 years old and has been incarcerated for over 38 years. Despite serving all of these years without any possibility of parole, Mr. Granger has been dedicated to rehabilitation. He has only been disciplined for misconduct four times in nearly four decades. Mr. Granger has completed vocational training in sewing machine repair and carpentry. He has also participated in Alcoholics Anonymous, assisted with the start-up and coordination of the Electronics program at his prison, and participated in Arts in Corrections. He has also received exceptional work ratings and has earned praise from his supervisors.

A correctional officer who supervised Mr. Granger wrote, "Inmate Granger consistently aspires to a higher degree of job performance, and serves as an example to his fellow inmate workers. Inmate Granger has been utilized as a critical worker during periods of lockdowns and modified program, and has proven himself repeatedly to be a team player. I would strongly recommend inmate Granger to any future supervisor for any position within the institutional environment, or in any career he may pursue on the streets."

Mr. Granger committed a serious, violent crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his concerted efforts toward rehabilitation in prison. As a result, I believe that Mr. Granger has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Andrew Granger to 27 years to life.

1. Conviction Summary:

I have no previous criminal charges or convictions, misdemeanor or felony. Prior to my commitment offense, I only had moving violations / traffic citations. I am a "First Timer" in regards to my criminal history.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation.

In early March of nineteen eighty one (1981), I was approached by a childhood freind, Gary M. Oliver to be involved in a criminal enterprise of which he had become part of. Mr. Oliver told me that he had been approached by someone to kill another person. Mr. Oliver told me that he intended to drive to the state of California, and fullfill the "job" he had undertaken. Mr. Oliver asked me if I would be interested in making some money, and I responded that I would. Mr. Oliver told me that he only needed me to help him drive out to the state of California, and that he would in fact commit the murder.

I was reluctant at first, however, Mr. Oliver informed me that the intended victim was (supposedly) a "creep" and was known to have offered or provided drugs to his own minor children, and possibly even molested them as well.

Mr. Oliver was a childhood freind and confidant, and he (Mr. Oliver) was well aware that my late father Gideon Granger was a pedophile and that I had grown up under the umberella of a dysfunctional homelife. I harbored a great hatred for any person who harms innocents. Based on the information Mr. Oliver had given to me, I enjoined in the criminal enterprise. We purchased a vehicle (a Chevorlet - Chevell) and began driving to California. Approximately half way to our intended destination (San Jose, California) Mr. Oliver began to express doubts of his ability to follow through with the crime. Faced with the possibility of turning around and going home, and suffering the possible consequences of the unknown finacial backer of the crime, or pushing forward and completing the job some how, Mr. Oliver and I opted to continue to the state of California and complete the job which we had already taken a portion of payment. All the way to California, I continually told Mr. Oliver that he had gotten me into the situation, and it was up to him to do what he had put in motion.

2. Brief description of crime ..

When Mr. Oliver and I arrived in California, we initially wound up in the San Francisco area (due to misdirections) and once we found our way to the County of Santa Clara, we found the location of the residence of the intended victim, Mr. Howard L. Witkin. The man lived in a condominium in the city of Santa Clara, in a Cul Du Sac.

Fate took a turn, and the vehicle we were driving broke down, and we found ourselves stranded in the parking lot of a K-Mart on Fruitdale Avenue in San Jose. While milling around in the parking lot, trying desperately to determine what we would do, we met a young man and his girlfriend. The young man's name was Mr. Thomas Maciolic, and after speaking with him at length, a deal was struck where Mr. Maciolic would sell my partner Mr. Oliver and I an old pick-up truck and would assist us in doing a robbery (Mr. Oliver and I lied to Mr. Maciolic and told him we had come to California to rob a drug dealer.).

Late in the evening of March 23, 1980, Mr. Maciolic drove Mr. Oliver and I to the vicinity of the victim's home, and it was not until the last minute that it was decided, by myself, that I would have to be the one to go to the man's house and commit the crime. Mr. Maciolic dropped me off and I walked through back yards, armed with a firearm, a .22 calibre rifle (which I had brought with me as a 'back up weapon').

I made my way to Mr. Witkin's condominium and entered a small walkway by a wooden gate. I rang Mr. Witkin's doorbell, and stepped back into the shadows of the end of the walk. When Mr. Witkin answered his door, he stepped out into the light of his porch, and I closed my eyes and fired three (3) times. The bullets grazed Mr. Witkin across his mid section. He may have uttered something, an expletive or the like, and turned to go back the re-enter the home. As he went back in the home, and closed the door, I ran up to the front door, and paused for a moment.

2. Brief description of crime(...

In an instant, I made the decision to fire my weapon at the door. My thinking in the moment was that I could return to Michigan, and claim that I had tried to fulfill the obligation, but had missed my mark.

Tragically, what I did not know was that Mr. Witkin had not fled from the area directly in front of his door. Instead, he had placed his hands palms flat, on the door, in an attempt to keep the still unlocked door shut. The bullets passed through the door and struck Mr. Witkin, causing fatal wounds. Mr. Witkin fell in his own hallway, and died as a result my actions.

I immediately fled the area, and rejoined Mr. Oliver and Mr. Maciolic who were waiting in Mr. Maciolic's car a block or so away. Mr. Oliver and I stayed the night with Mr. Maciolic and his girlfriend, and the following day made telephone arrangements to have money sent via Western Union to give us the funds to purchase bus tickets and get home. At this time, neither Mr. Oliver or I actually knew if Mr. Witkin had even been hit or wounded.

Upon returning home, Mr. Oliver confirmed that it was already known in Michigan by the people who had paid the money, that Mr. Witkin had been shot and died of his wounds. It was not until then that I knew I had become a murderer.

A few months after the crime, I had been attempting to rebuild my life. I had a fiance and I had obtained work as a Potato Chip Truck Driver. I was picked up for questioning on June 5th of 1980, and after a short interview with the Michigan State Police and California Police, I made semi-culpible statements which would lead to my being officially arrested and charged with being part of the murder plot.

Once extradited to California, I cooperated with the authorities, and not only made statements which would condemn me, but I even made a video reenactment of the crime for the police.

2. Brief description of crime(s)....

I was charged with, tried for and convicted of the crimes of Murder in the First degree (P.C. §187), with the 'Special Circumstance' of Murder for Financial Gain, Conspiracy (P.C. §182) and the personal use of a firearm, to wit a rifle (P.C. §12022.5). After being found guilty at trial, I waived the 'Penalty Phase' and was sentenced to Life in Prison Without the Possibility of Parole, plus a two (2) year enhancement for the firearm violation. With respect to Count #2., the charge of Conspiracy, that count was stayed at sentencing and the stay was to become permanent once the first life term had been served.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation.

I take full responsibility for the killing of Mr. Howard L. Witkin. My aim and goal in seeking a commutation of my current term is based on the mitigating factors which are related to my youthful mental state at the time the crime took place, my willingness to cooperate with the authorities once I had been apprehended, and the efforts I have undertaken, since my incarceration to seek after and obtain rehabilitation.

When I entered the gates of San Quentin State Prison in November of 1981, I clearly recall thinking to myself that I would not allow those bleak walls to define how I would live my life from that point on.

I knew that I could not change any of the tragic events that led to my being in prison. The only thing I could change, was myself. I did not last long on the mainline at San Quentin. My problems started immediately stemming from the news that I was one of the individuals involved in the 'Witkin Murder Case' out of Santa Clara. I ended up lasting only eleven (11) days before being sent to administrative segregation (the 'Hole') based on safety and security issues.

In time, by Fate, I was allowed to be transferred to the Protective Housing Units, then located in the California Training Facility (CTF) at Soledad, California.

Beginning in the years I spent in those Protective Housing Units, I made every effort to recreate myself. To do away with the 'old me' and become the man I should have been all along.

In time, I transferred to another prison, the California Men's Colony (CMC) located near San Luis Obispo, California. While housed there in 1994, I was brought back to Santa Clara County to provide my testimony at the trial of Judith Barnett-Witkin-Singer. The ex-wife of the victim of my case. I testified as to my involvement, and provided the Court with the same truthful testimony as I had at my own trial in 1980/81.

The Deputy District Attorney who prosecuted Ms. Barnett-Witkin-Singer, is a man named Richard J. Titus. Mr. Titus, subsequent to my providing testimony at Ms. Barnett-Witkin-Singer's trial formed an opinion as to my character since incarceration. In 2001, Mr. Titus, who at the time was still in the employ of the County of Santa Clara as a prosecutor, drafted and issued a correspondence, detailing his knowledge and involvement in this case, and my previous cooperation with law enforcement. (A copy of this letter is attached to this package.)

Over the years, I continued to pursue my goal of attaining relief, and though a lay person, and self-taught, I began filing Petitions in the Courts. Late 2017, I reacquainted myself with Mr. Titus. One of my (now grown) Nephews made contact with Mr. Titus, and as a result, I was able to contact him by mail. Mr. Titus responded in a correspondence in January of 2018. In this letter, Mr. Titus agreed that the time was ripe to apply for a pardon (meaning commutation) from Governor Brown. (A copy of this letter is attached to this package.)

On May 8th, 2018, Mr. Titus codified his knowledge and opinions of my situation, and drafted a correspondence, reflecting these thoughts. (A copy of this letter is attached to this package.)

As stated at the beginning of this explanation, my mental state was not fully developed at the time I killed Mr. Howard L. Witkin. I was a twenty (20) year old youth, with the mind of a person socially inept, and cognitatively truncated. As a juvenile offender, I did not have the skills to make sound decisions with respect to the events that took place. This is simply a fact, and not presented to minimize my involvement, only mitigate the circumstances. Nothing can ever change my guilt or culpability for the crime itself. I may only ask that the entire scope of the matter be reviewed and granted consideration for relief.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation.

I believe that I should be afforded a commutation based on several factors. First and foremost, it is well established by recent studies that the mental state of persons, under the age of twenty five (25) is not so far advanced as to allow persons to make rational judgements. I was just turned twenty (20) years young when I committed the act which caused an innocent person to lose their life. I was a 'Juvenile Offender' and had no previous criminal record before this case. I was not an incorrigible person.

Secondly, since my arrest, conviction and incarceration, I have continually strived to maintain a manner of living based on following a course of right action, as opposed to the chaos and self-destructive life I led up until my confinement. My prison record is not spotless, but I have only been subjected to disciplinary actions a few times, and never engaged in violence or the pursuit of alcohol or drugs.

Thirdly, I have now served thirty eight (38) years behind bars for my tragic decision making. I honestly feel that now that I am nearly sixty (60) years old, and have matured and grown, become more educated (earning an Associate of Arts Degree early in my term) and following a spiritual life, I am no longer the immature, dysfunctional youth I was once so long ago.

I cannot state definitively that I 'should' be granted a commutation, that is in the hands of Governor Edmund G. Brown, and a much Higher Power. I can state that I am not the person I was thirty eight (38) years ago, and that, if granted the ability to gain relief from incarceration, I will live my life to the fullest, and work daily to be an example of what a person who seeks to follow a course of right action is supposed to be.

Charles Tyree Green

Charles Green was convicted of killing his coworker Harold Golden in a parking garage in 1982. On February 10, 1987, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Green to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a one-year deadly weapon enhancement.

Mr. Green is now 64 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 36 years. During that time, he has maintained an excellent record and has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence. He has only been disciplined five times during nearly four decades in prison. Mr. Green has participated in self-help programs including Victim Awareness, Relapse Prevention, and Denial Management. He has maintained a positive work record, and routinely receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. In the event of his release, Mr. Green's family is prepared to help him transition back into the community and provide him with the resources he needs. Additionally, two public defenders who have worked with Mr. Green support his application for clemency.

Additionally, Mr. Green's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. At the Board's meeting, a representative from the Alameda County District Attorney's Office opined that it would be appropriate to commute Mr. Green's sentence to allow him a chance at parole. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Green.

For all of these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Green's sentence so that he can make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Charles Tyree Green to a total of 36 years to life.

Name: Charles Tyree Green 3-136 Date of Birth: [REDACTED] 1954 Inmate ID: D50639

Address: PO Box 4000, Vacaville, California 95696 Facility California State Prison Solano

Conviction Summary:

List all prior convictions, including in any other states or countries. -
Offense: Murder	Date of offense(s): July 25, 1986
County of Conviction: Alameda	Sentences(s): Life without the Possibility of Parole

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

Charles was convicted of a crime that occurred in Oakland California in a parking garage that was open to the public in an unsecured dangerous section of downtown Oakland. The garage had homeless people and drug dealers and buyers wandering in and out of the garage, known to shelter in the corners of the garage at night and early evening. Charles worked at the garage as a janitor with the victim Mr. Golden the garage cashier. They worked together for years with no problems or arguments. Mr. Golden's work duties required him to close up the garage at night. The garage manager was a retired homicide detective for the Oakland Police Department. The manager would berate Charles in front of people and often call him to report to work on his off days. If Charles said he could not come into work, the manager threaten to fire him. The manager made out the work schedules. Prior to the murder the week of the murder Charles had been scheduled for five days -.

On February 11, 1982, Mr. Golden's body was found in the trunk of his car a block away from the garage. He had been stabbed multiple times and hit with an object. The trunk of the car had a voluminous amount of blood. There was no forensic evidence, no fingerprints, or DNA that belonged to Charles - nothing. After Mr. Golden was found the police failed to contact Charles, go to his home or impound his car. The police waited for Charles to report to work. They had ample time to investigate and search the garage, the lockers or collect evidence.

When Charles reported to work as scheduled the police was waiting for him. They asked him if he knew what had happen to Mr. Golden - he answered no. They asked him if he would answer questions down at the police department - he said yes. They told him they would drive him to police headquarters and promise to bring him back to work. Charles had never been in trouble so he had no reason to mistrust the police so he went with them. The police had a tape recorder in their car they could have taken a statement from Charles at the garage in the manager's office.

Charles is a trusting man with a diminished IQ. His mental disorder is a need to trust people and please authority. When Charles was leaving with the garage with the police he heard the garage manager say to the officers "I finally got that "Nigger"". Accustom to the manager's insults Charles failed to understand the brevity of the statement.

When Charles arrived at police headquarters the police locked him in an interrogation room with two detectives. One of the detectives - Sitterud a friend of the garage manager told Charles he would be free to leave anytime he was ready - to go. Charles was questioned without receiving his Miranda Warnings for 5 hours under intense police coercion and threats - they denied him bathroom relief. He asked to leave many times and the police told him no. Charles was locked up in an interrogation room a total of 12 hours without a bathroom break. Charles was unlawfully in police custody without being given his Miranda Rights.

During the interrogation Sitterud told Charles if he had nothing to hide he should give them permission to search his work locker. Charles gave his consent to search his work locker. He had nothing to hide. The locker was unlocked and accessible to anyone that wanted to look in it.

Detective Sitterud left Charles locked up in the interrogation room with another detective. While he supposedly went back to the garage to search the unlocked locker and the garage basement. When he returned to the interrogation room he told Charles he found the objects used to murder Mr. Golden in a brown bag in a dumpster outside of the garage and overalls in the unlocked locker with blood on the pant leg. It should be noted if the overalls been worn during the commission of this crime they would have been completely covered in blood.

The area where these items were found was open to the public. People wandered in and out of the garage area and customers parked in that area. Charles kept an extra pair of work overalls in his locker, and the janitorial supplies were accessible to anyone that needed them.

Sitterud was abusive and physically threatening. Charles asked him if he was in trouble. Confused and scared he asked if he could go home. Charles didn't know to ask for an attorney since he had never been in trouble. He had not been Mirandized.

When Sitterud returned from the garage he told Charles he knew he murdered Mr. Golden – Charles told him he did not commit the murder and ask to call home to talk with his Mother. His Mother was not home – he talked with his younger sister – who told him she would tell their Mother where he was. Charles answered the police questions and they told him for hours he was lying. They intentionally locked Charles in an interrogation room with no intention of releasing him – without probable cause all to elicit a false confession.

The Miranda Warning were given after the police promised he would be released if he admitted to the crime. Charles' told the police he was confused and he was trying to think – he him "if he was in trouble" He had no clue what was happening to him. Naïve and scared Charles believed and trusted the police. The police told him they were his friend and would let him go home if he admitted to killing Mr. Golden. Believing them Charles made an involuntary confession after police promises of release to go home. Charles did not appreciate the gravity of what was happening to him.

As soon as Charles signed the false confession Sitterud told the other detective we've got our "Nigger" the same thing the garage manager said when Charles left the garage. They Mirandized him after he signed the false confession - Sitterud told Charles "you're going to jail you're not going home but we'll visit you in jail because we're your friend".

The police resumed their coercive interrogating tactics leaving him in a windowless, locked interrogation room without a bathroom break until 10 p.m.

Charles' constitutional 4th 5th and 14th amendment rights were violated and his disability exploited. The Oakland polices' psychological coercion under the extreme, isolating conditions improperly forced him to confess to a crime he did not commit.

At the voluntariness hearing at trial Dr. Stein found Charles' confession was not voluntary but was the result of isolation and his innate mental capacities and psychological vulnerabilities and the polices' coercive techniques. The Oakland Police Department took advantage of Charles'. They detained a man with a disability him for more than 12 hours. They lied and made false promises in exchange for his false confession. The police acted illegally

Charles' fingerprints were never found on any of the objects the police said were used in the crime, nor were they found in or on victim's car. No DNA was found - the site was bloody and yet no blood was found on Charles' work boots or shoes. The police went to Charles' home but failed to conduct evidence gathering test to collect DNA evidence that would implicated Charles. The police did conduct evidence gathering on the victim, the victims' car and on his body. No DNA evidence belonging to Charles nor any fingerprints were found belonging to Charles. The police lied and tricked him into giving a false confession in exchange for him being released from an illegal imprisonment.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary)

Charles is an innocent man. Charles is not a violate person. The police never explored or investigated leads that someone else was responsible for Mr. Golden's murder. or followed these leads.

Prior to trial The Alameda County District Attorney's Office offered a plea bargain agreement of 20 years with the possibility of parole – Charles refused the pled agreement because he believed the truth would come out that trial that would prove him innocent of the crime.

Charles is a nonviolent man has served more than 30 years in prison peacefully. He works in the prison kitchen and as a janitor. He also counsels his fellow inmates. Charles has been in prison for more than half his life.

Charles' trial attorneys were not qualified to present him – Michael Ogul, a recent law school graduate and Howard Harpham an employment law contract attorney for the city of Albany had both been recently hired by the Alameda Public Defenders Office. Neither had defended a first degree murder case with special circumstances. Neither were competent to represent him.

Post sentencing on May 24, 1988, Michael Ogul filed a pro se litigant appeal for Charles with the California Court of Appeals. The appeal brief failed to include critical appealable trial errors and omissions. When attorney Ogul was questioned about the omissions in the appeal brief he told Charles' sister "you get what you pay for"

The District Attorney assigned to try the case had never tried a murder trial. In his opening statement to the jury he told the jury Charles had confessed to the murder. A mistrial should have resulted. The Judge assigned to the trial – was a newly appointed judge who had never tried a murder trial or any trial.

On October 8, 1993, Charles sought federal habeas corpus relief challenging his state conviction in Alameda County Superior Court No. 74716.

In 1995, Charles' mother hired and paid attorney Frank Prantil more than 15,000.00 to file a habeas petition for Charles. On March 6, 1995, Charles received notice that his appeal had been denied by the Ninth Circuit in Green v. James H. Gomez, Director of Department of Corrections of the State of California, case no. 9515901.

On March 6, 1995, Atty. Prantil filed a notice of appeal. The U.S. District Court issued a certificate of probable cause on May 9, 1995. After filing an opening brief in the Ninth Circuit, Prantil filed a motion to stay the appellate proceedings and to remand to the district court for an evidentiary hearing. The request to raise an ineffective assistance of counsel claim of trial counsel.

On September 29, 1995, the 9th circuit court of appeals denied the motion without prejudice to renew with an indication that the district court was willing to hear and make a finding on the motion to vacate the judgment.

On November 13, 1995, the US District Court issued an order expressing its "Willingness to Vacate the Judgment and Dismiss the Habeas Corpus Petition" The court order stated that the ineffective assistance claim appeared to be unexhausted and stated that the Court "would entertain a motion to vacate the judgment denying the petition and enter in its place an order of dismissal without prejudice of the mixed petition" See No. 95-15901, docket #17.

On November 20, 1995, the respondent filed a motion for oral argument in the Ninth Circuit. The respondent stated that he was filing a motion for remand to the district court without prejudice: with the understanding that the district court would dismiss the petition without prejudice so that the respondent could raise a Fourth Amendment claim before the California Supreme Court. On the same day, the respondent filed a second motion in the Ninth Circuit to remand the case to the district court on a limited basis and for a stay of the proceedings. In his motion, respondent asked the California Court of Appeals to remand the case to the U.S. District court so the district court could dismiss the petition without prejudice.

On March 7, 1996, the Ninth Circuit granted the motion and dismissed the appeal without prejudice. On June 5, 1996, the district court granted Charles' motion to vacate the judgment and dismiss the petition without prejudice so Charles could exhaust the additional challenge to the state court conviction.

On April 24 1996 before the district court had granted the motion to vacate the judgment and dismiss his petition the Anti-terrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (AEDPA) was signed into law. Because Charles' conviction was finalized before the AEDPA became effective the filing deadline for his federal habeas petition became April 23, 1997.

What this meant for Charles is he had a one year statute of limitation imposed and the time started April 25, 1996 the day after the enactment. Attorney Prantil told Charles his state habeas petition should be filed by June 4, 1997 instead of April 23, 1997. On that date Attorney Prantil filed a second state habeas petition which was denied on October 29, 1997. Attorney Prantil demanded more money from Mrs. Green Charles' mother to file a new habeas petition with the U.S. District Court. The case was given a new case no. 98-4237. The court dismissed the case as untimely. The federal case was not filed for more than a year after the California court denied the petition as untimely.

On September 5, 2000, the Ninth Circuit affirmed the dismissal on the grounds that it was untimely. Attorney Prantil received more money after demanding that Charles pay for another habeas brief. In 2001, Mrs. Green discovered that Attorney Prantil was shamming her after receiving information that the second federal petition was dismissed as untimely. Mrs. Green Charles' mother filed a State Bar complaint against Attorney Prantil.

On November 20, 2002, the State Bar of California filed a notice of disciplinary action based on Charles' case and another case. On January 10, 2006, after a trial the State Bar issued findings of fact and conclusions of law, finding that attorney Prantil acted incompetently in handling Charles case and unethically when he tried to convince Charles to withdraw his complaint with the State Bar. The court held that Charles had been denied his day in court and that Attorney Prantil should be disbarred.

In December 2006, the State Bar Court ordered Mrs. Green, Charles' mother (now 93 years old) be reimbursed the $14,500.00 she paid Attorney Prantil.

In January 2007, Mrs. Green retained Attorney John Balazs to review the record and represent Charles. On November 8, 2007, in light of the State Courts January 10, 2006 ruling and disbarment of attorney Prantil, on November 8, 2007 a 60(b) Federal Rule of Civil Procedure motion was filed with the US District Court for the Northern District of California and on January 31, 2008 a noticed for a hearing was filed by retained counsel John Balazs.

On March 19, 2008, U.S. District Judge, Claudia Wilken, granted the 60(b) motion for relief from the Court's 1996 order which vacated its 1995 judgment and dismissed his first federal habeas petition without prejudice. The court reinstated the order denying the 1993 petition on the merits and the judgment thereon, and the related certificate of probable cause filed in 1995.

The court noted that Charles' petition was now ripe for review on appeal under the pre-AEDPA standards. The Court deferred whether further briefing would be required by the Ninth Circuit and if Charles could not afford counsel on appeal, he could move for the appointment of counsel.

See attached: No. 93-3672 CW, C.A. No. 95-15901- Order Granting Petitioners Motion for Relief from the Court's Order Vacating Judgment and Dismissing Petition Without Prejudice; See also Order, May 9, 1995; Certificate of Probable Cause, No. C93-03672.

On March 31, 2008 a motion was filed to reinstate Charles' appeal no.95-15901 and filed new briefs. There was a new notice of appeal filed April 17, 2008 as a precautionary measure pending the Ninth Circuit's ruling the new notice of appeal was assigned no. 08-15949. The court consolidated the two appeal nos. 95-15901 and 08-15949.

On April 1, 2009, attorney John Balazs, submitted to the Ninth Circuit an Appellant Brief and request for oral argument

On January 13, 2010, the Ninth Circuit heard oral argument of the appeals. Mid-way through oral arguments for Charles Justice Kozinski said this case is too old and cut off Attorney Balazs. The court denied a rehearing. The court cut off John Balazs and denied Charles an opportunity for a fair trial or to be heard. There are no other avenues for justice that remain for Charles. This commutation of his sentence is his last result.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

Charles Mother is 94 years old. Her only wish is to see Charles a free man before she dies. She had no money at the time to hire an attorney for a proper defense of Charles and she is burden that when she did hire an attorney to appeal his conviction she was shamed. He is a nonviolent person and has conducted himself as a nonviolent during his entire incarceration. He does not belong to any gangs and only seeks peace and love of God. He has always been this way – and is not a jail house converse to God.

He was offered a 20 year plea bargain with parole at trial. He turned it down because he believed the court would see and find the truth – that he was innocent.

He has now served more than 30 years – more than half of his life in prison, and 10 more years than the DA originally offered him. The Green family respectfully request his sentence be commuted. Charles has served more than 30 years peacefully he was forced into a false confession. The commutation of his sentence would mean his 94 year old mother could rest in peace when she leaves this world. She is tormented by the fact she was unable to obtain an attorney for Charles at the time of his illegal arrest and that she too believed that the truth would come to light. She was duped by a slam artist attorney. An attorney that the State Bar of California disbarred.

Charles has suffered with ineffective incompetent attorneys at the trial level and the appellant level. Until 2008, when he was able to retain John Balasz – but Mr. Balasz was cut-off during oral argument when Ninth Circuit said the case was too old. The case may be old – but Charles is a man and he deserves mercy, justice and the protections of our United States Constitution. He is now barred from judicial redress. Clemency through commutation of his sentence is his and our family's only hope. Charles was poor, black with an IQ of 70 (disable). He has served more than 30 years - 10 years more than the plea agreement offered by the DA.

Jose Green

On January 31, 2013, armed with a handgun, Jose Green drove himself and a friend into rival gang territory where Mr. Green's friend fatally shot Farrell Smith. The pair had incorrectly identified Mr. Smith as a rival gang member. On October 26, 2015, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Green to 15 years to life.

Mr. Green was 17 years old when he participated in this murder. In his application for executive clemency, he expressed remorse for his crime stating, "I can only imagine the pain Farrell, his fiancée, family, and the community went through." Mr. Green said, "I am no longer that 17 year old that I was back then. . . I made a horrible, disgusting mistake that absolutely, without any doubt, will not happen again by my hands, by my leave, or with my participation."

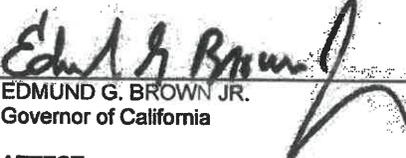

Mr. Green demonstrated his desire and willingness to put his life on a productive path by quickly embracing opportunities for self-improvement and rehabilitation. He dropped out of his gang and earned his high school diploma in 2013. In 2016, Mr. Green enrolled in college courses at Palo Verde College. He has completed computer-related vocational training and is now enrolled in a vocational masonry program. He has never been disciplined for violence in prison. Mr. Green has participated in self-help groups, including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Gang Awareness and Recovery, and Inside Out Writers' Group. He also participated in the Life's Too Short Youth Diversion Program. Mr. Green has the support of his immediate family, and a plan to live in transitional housing and utilize his trade skills upon his release.

Mr. Green was just 17 when he was involved in this senseless crime. In light of his efforts to change and his positive conduct in prison, Mr. Green has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jose Green to a total of 10 years to life.

Pg. 1, Q#2: I was first being charged with murder in the first degree up until October of the year 2015 where I pled no contest to 2nd degree murder. My crime was in complete violation of Penal Code § 187(a) and was not only unlawful but inhuman. A man by the name of Farrell Smith was shot and killed for no apparent reason. Although I may have not been the man behind the smoking gun, I might as well have been. Through recovery, I am gaining the understanding that I am just as guilty as he

Pg. 1, Q#3: I, Jose Romeo Green Jr., am requesting a commutation because I am no longer that 17 year old that I was back then. Yes, I haven't been incarcerated as long as most but who states how long one has to be in prison to change? My need to be a better person has come earlier than some simply based on empathy. I can only imagine the pain Farrell, his fiancé, family and the community went through. For me to be the cause of so much pain is what pains me most. I was raised better than that. I am paying for my life crime, but, personally, I don't believe that any of this time can bring closure to anyone. A man lost his life, a mother lost her son, a woman lost her lover, and children lost their father. No matter the sentence, they cannot get him back. I have been looking inside myself and I truly am changing. I think I can be of use to society instead of being a constant drain on the state. I made a horrible, disgusting mistake that absolutely, without any doubt, will not happen again by my hands, by my leave, or with my participation. All I request, humbly, is for the mercy that I should have shown Mr. Smith.

Pg. 1, Q#4: Briefly, I shouldn't be granted anything because of my sins and past actions. I simply don't deserve it. However, I want to be granted a commutation because I am not a menace to society. Back when I committed the murder of Farrell Smith, I was a troubled, lost boy who chose the wrong path but now I'm a 22 year old man who knows himself well enough to assure society that I will be a productive, law-abiding citizen. I, like yourself, am a human being and I'm 100% sure that a second chance will be all I need to show my growth from a boy to a man. My amends to all of my victims will not only be seen as true but will be carried with me all the days of my life.

Steven Green

On January 26, 1992, Steven Green and Frankie Aragon picked up 16-year-old Elizabeth Lozano and 13-year-old Tayde Vasquez. At some point during the evening, Ms. Lozano became upset with Ms. Vasquez and told Mr. Green that she wanted to assault Ms. Vasquez, steal her jewelry, and shoot her. Ms. Lozano asked Mr. Green for a gun, which Mr. Green provided. Ms. Lozano initiated a fight with Ms. Vasquez, then shot her twice, killing her. On August 7, 1992, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Green to life without the possibility of parole for first-degree murder plus a one-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Green has been incarcerated for over 26 years and is now 45 years old. Without minimizing the significance of his crime, Mr. Green told a Board investigator that he is seeking a commutation because he believes he has changed his life for the better. Mr. Green was 18 years old at the time of this crime and admits that he was actively involved with gangs. However, he has since demonstrated a sincere desire to turn his life around. Since being incarcerated, Mr. Green has dropped out of the gang and has never been disciplined for violence. He has earned his GED, six A.A. degrees, and a certificate in small business management. Mr. Green has also participated in self-help programming, including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Tools for Positive Decision Making, and Victim Awareness. He currently serves as Chairman on the Men's Advisory Committee.

Mr. Green has also earned the respect of staff members who interact with him on a daily basis. In 2018, an academic teacher commended Mr. Green on his "dedication to achieving educational goals and demonstrating tremendous personal change and growth through rehabilitation and education." Also, in 2018, a correctional officer commended Mr. Green on his leadership qualities, noting that he "has also shown a maturity that does not define criminal behavior." In 2013, the warden at Calipatria State Prison commended Mr. Green on his positive attitude towards staff and inmates and his role in creating the Institutional Athletic Organization. The warden wrote, "I have known Inmate Green, for approximately 13 years, and believe that he has not only worked hard to successfully rehabilitate himself through his own efforts, but also has assisted others in completing the mandatory stress and anger management course required to participate in this group." In 2009, a correctional officer commended Mr. Green on his participation in self-help programs and positive influence on other inmates, noting, "Although Inmate Green was a former gang member he has since relinquished all ties and affiliations, and has made a one hundred and eighty degree turn in his life style." Mr. Green has strong family and community support, including from his wife, friends, and non-profit organizations. More than 3,000 citizens have signed a petition supporting his release from prison.

Despite serving a sentence that offered him no hope of future release, Mr. Green has demonstrated a commitment to self improvement through education, rehabilitation, and community service. He is considered a model for other inmates by those who have seen his growth and maturity first hand. For these reasons, I believe Mr. Green has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Steven Green to a total of 26 years to life.

Tracy Lum, 46 S. Del Puerto Ave., Ste. B #106, Patterson, CA 95363 $5,500

2. Circumstances of the offense:

On January 26, 1992, Steven, was driving with three other friends, Gabriel Littlejohn, Frankie Aragon, Elizabeth Lozano (aka Dreamer) and the victim. (Preliminary Hearing Transcript, pp. 11-14 (Exhibit A) My Life Crime, p. 1 (Exhibit B).) At one point they stopped and while everyone else was outside of the car, the victim, a 13 year old girl, told Mr. Littlejohn that Dreamer was going to set up Steven and Aragon. (Exhibit A, pp. 14, 20.) Mr. Littlejohn told Steven what the victim had said. (Exhibit A, pp. 14-15.) Steven then confronted Ms. Lozano about this. (Exhibit A, pp. 15, 20; Exhibit B, p. 1.) They all got back in the car and drove off. (Exhibit A, p. 15; Exhibit B, p. 1.) They stopped again so Aragon could steal hubcaps from a VW bug for his car. (Exhibit A, pp. 15, 20; Exhibit B, p. 1.) While Aragon was stealing hub caps, Ms. Lozano told Steven that she wanted to rob the victim, maybe beat her up and take her shoes, make her walk home and maybe shoot her. (Exhibit A, pp. 20-22; Exhibit B, p. 1.) Steven told Ms. Lozano he did not want to do that. (Exhibit A, pp. 22-23; Exhibit B, p. 1.) Steven told Mr. Aragon Ms. Lozano's plan and Mr. Aragon also said he did not want to do that. (Exhibit A, p. 23; Exhibit B, p. 1.) Again they all got back in the car and drove to Mr. Littlejohn's residence and dropped him off. (Exhibit A, pp. 15-16, Exhibit B, p. 1.)

The remaining four went to a park, and Steven, Ms. Lozano and the victim walked down a nature trail. (Exhibit A, p. 23; Exhibit B, p. 2.) Ms. Lozano told Steven she wanted to go through with the plan and asked for the gun. (Exhibit A, p. 23; Exhibit B, p. 2.) Steven gave her the gun and Ms. Lozano told the victim to take off her rings. (Exhibit A, p. 23; Exhibit B, p. 2.) Once Ms. Lozano had the rings she started fighting with the victim and knocked her to the ground. (Exhibit A, pp. 23-24, 39; Exhibit B, p. 2.) Ms. Lozano then pulled out the gun and shot the victim twice in the head at point-blank range. (Exhibit A, p. 24; Exhibit B, p. 2; People v. Lozano, January 14, 2016 Opinion, p. 7 (Exhibit C).) Ms. Lozano lied to the detectives about her involvement in the murder when she was interviewed, stating that she was in the car when the victim was murdered. (Exhibit A, p. 33.)

Later, they went back to Mr. Littlejohn's residence and Ms. Lozano admitted shooting the victim. (Exhibit A, p. 30; Exhibit C, p. 7.) Foot prints consistent with the shoes and size of Ms. Lozano's feet were found at the murder scene. (Exhibit A, p. 40.)

Steven was 18 years old at the time of the crime. (Probation Officer's Report, p. 1 ([DOB: 10/1/73], p. 2 [Offense committed 1/26/92] (Exhibit D).) Steven's sentencing judge expressed his opinion that had the District Attorney sought the death penalty, the jury would not have given that sentence. (Sentencing Transcript, p. 12 (Exhibit E).) The judge also commented that the bailiff found Steven to be a good person and that he was fond of him. (Exhibit E, pp. 12-13.) The sentencing judge seemed to regret that he was obligated by law to impose a sentence of life without the possibility of parole and urged Steven to hope that a Governor or a change in law would intervene so that Steven would have an opportunity to be released from prison. (Exhibit E, pp. 13-14.) Although, he was pretty sure that the Youth Authority would not accept a person sentenced to life without, the judge personally made a call to see if there was anyway the Youth Authority could house Steven until he was 25 years old. (Exhibit E, p. 15.)

Elizabeth Lozano was 16 years old at the time of the crime and due to recent enactment of SB 394, she is now eligible for parole in February 2019 despite originally being sentenced to life without possibility of parole. (People v. Lozano, November 9, 2017 Opinion, pp. 4-5 (Exhibit F); Inmate Board Actions (Exhibit G).)

Steven takes full responsibility for his crime. (Statement of Responsibility (Exhibit H).) He has considerable remorse for the pain and suffering he has caused. (Remorse Letters (Exhibit I); Psychological Evaluation/Risk Assessment, p. 2 (Exhibit J).) Steven's juvenile record consists of an arrest for possession of spray paint and battery, but neither petition was sustained. (Exhibit D, p. 5.) He has a burglary charge that was sustained for which he received 30 days in juvenile hall. (Exhibit D, p. 5.)

4. Reasons Clemency should be granted:

Youth Offender Factors:

Under California law, a youth offender is a person who commits a crime before the age of 26. (Pen. Code § 3051, subd. (b).) "Scientific evidence on adolescence and young adult development and neuroscience shows that certain areas of the brain, particularly those affecting judgment and decision-making, do not develop until the early-to mid-20s." (Senate Committee on Public Safety Hearing on AB 1308, June 27, 2017, p. 3 (Exhibit K).) "Research has shown that the prefrontal cortex doesn't have nearly the functional capacity at age 18 as it does at 25." (Exhibit K, p. 3.) "The prefrontal cortex is responsible for a variety of important functions of the brain including: attention, complex planning, decision making, impulse control, logical thinking, organized thinking, personality development, risk management, and short-term memory." (Exhibit K, p. 3.) "These functions are highly relevant to criminal behavior and culpability." (Exhibit K, p. 3) Regarding youth offenders, the Legislature has found that "only a relatively small proportion of adolescents" who engage in illegal activity "develop entrenched patterns of problem behavior," and that "developments in psychology and brain science continue to show fundamental differences between juvenile and adult minds," including "parts of the brain involved in behavior control." The Legislature recognizes that youthfulness both lessens a juvenile's moral culpability and enhances the prospect that, as a youth matures into an adult and neurological development occurs, these individuals can become contributing members of society. (Senate Bill 260, p. 3 (Exhibit L.) Regarding youth offenders, the Legislature has found that "only a relatively small proportion of adolescents" who engage in illegal activity "develop entrenched patterns of problem behavior," and that "developments in psychology and brain science continue to show fundamental differences between juvenile and adult minds," including "parts of the brain involved in behavior control." The Legislature recognizes that youthfulness both lessens a juvenile's moral culpability and enhances the prospect that, as a youth matures into an adult and neurological development occurs, these individuals can become contributing members of society. (Exhibit L, p. 3.)

The United States Supreme Court has identified “three significant gaps between juveniles and adults.” (Miller v. Alabama (2012) 567 U.S. 460, 471.) “First, children have a lack of maturity and an underdeveloped sense of responsibility, leading to recklessness, impulsivity, and heedless risk-taking. (Ibid. quoting Roper v. Simmons (2005) 543 U.S. 551, 569 (Roper) (Internal quotation marks omitted.)) “Second, children are more vulnerable . . . to negative influences and outside pressures, including from their family and peers; they have limited control over their own environment and lack the ability to extricate themselves from horrific, crime-producing settings.” (Ibid. quoting Roper, supra, 543 U.S. at p. 569 (Internal quotation marks omitted.)) “And third, a child’s character is not as well formed as an adult’s; his traits are less fixed and his actions less likely to be evidence of irretrievable depravity.” (Ibid. quoting Roper, supra, 543 U.S. at p. 570 (Internal quotation marks omitted.))

Mr. Governor, Steven was only 18 years old at the time of the crime. (Exhibit D, pp. 1-2.) I ask that you keep the above factors in mind as you consider whether to afford Steven an opportunity to prove his rehabilitation and possibly obtain release from prison. Steven has gained insight into his past behavioral problems and has thoroughly addressed them. (Exhibit J, 13.)

Steven’s mother was a 14-year-old child when she became pregnant with him by a neighbor, and gave birth to him when she was only 15. (Exhibit J, p. 2.) In the early years of Steven’s life he was shuffled back-and-forth between his mom and grandparents. (Exhibit J, p. 2.) Due to these frequent moves in his life, young Steven developed the feeling that nobody wanted him and that he did not belong anywhere. (Causative Factors Which Led to Tayde Vasquez’s Murder, p. 1 (Exhibit M).) As a result of the frequent moves, Steven found it difficult to make friends and became a loner. (Exhibit M, p. 1.) These feeling were exacerbated by the fact that his biological father was absent from his life until he was in the 5th grade. (Exhibit M, p. 1.) His father only remained his Steven’s life for about six months when he was tragically killed when the gas truck he was driving flipped over, exploded and was engulfed in flames. (Exhibit H, p. 4; Exhibit M, p. 1.) His father’s sudden death left Steven with a deeper feeling that he was alone. (Exhibit M, p. 1.) As a result, Steven developed abandonment issues and low self-esteem, which contributed to his decision to join a gang. (Exhibit M, p. 1.)

Young Steven was also exposed to domestic violence throughout his childhood. (Exhibit J, p. 3.) His mother chose the men in her life poorly. (Exhibit M, pp. 1-2.) Almost all the men who came into and went out of Steven and his mother’s lives were physically abusive and criminal. (Exhibit M, pp. 1-2.) Steven witnessed his mother being savagely beaten by men numerous times. (Exhibit M, pp. 1-2.) Steven’s mother was also physically and emotionally abusive toward him and his sister. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 1-2.) His mother punched him, beat him with belts and destroyed any material thing that young Steven valued. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 1-2.) All of this caused Steven to develop emotional detachment and numbing, led to feelings of helplessness, depression and losing interest in things at which he excelled. (Exhibit J, p. 3.)

Young Steven was also exposed to criminal behavior to the point that it was normalized for him. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 2-3.) His mother and stepfather were drug dealers and instilled a distrust of authorities. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 2-3.) By the time he was in the fifth grade, his mother got him involved in assisting in her drugs deals. (Exhibit J, p. 3.) Steven learned from the example set by his mother and stepfather and began to steal to earn "pocket change." (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 2-3.) His mother never punished him for this behavior. (Exhibit M, pp. 2-3.)

Steven became calloused and emotionally detached and blamed himself for not being able to protect his mother from the abusive men that passed through her life. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 3-4.) He also developed an inferiority complex regarding his ethnicity due to being Mexican, but appearing to be Caucasian. (Exhibit J, p. 3; Exhibit M, pp. 3-4.)

Steven's stepfather was also a gang member and they lived in a gang area. (Exhibit M, p. 3.) Not surprisingly, Steven began associating with a gang and was officially "jumped in" in the 9th grade. (Exhibit J, p. 2-3.) He felt that the gang provided him stability that he lacked in his home life. (Exhibit J, p. 3.) He was eventually expelled from high school when his mother sent two gang members to pick him up from school because the school had a zero tolerance policy. (Exhibit J, pp. 3-4.)

Despite all the negative influences from his environment, Steven was not intentionally predatory toward others, was not an arsonist, habitual fighter, animal abuser or sexual offender. (Exhibit J, p. 4.) When he had his own car stolen from him at age 17, he stopped stealing because he developed empathy for how it felt to have your belongings stolen from you. (Exhibit J, p. 4.)

He tried various drugs and alcohol but did not like them and never became a substance abuser. (Exhibit J, pp. 3-4.) His mother got his sister to use drugs with her. (Exhibit J, p. 4.)

Dr. Switzer found that as a juvenile, Steven was "absolutely" "more vulnerable to negative influences and outside pressures, including [his] own family and peers" and had limited control over his own environment and lacked the ability to extricate himself from a horrific, crime producing setting. (Exhibit J, p. 14.) Dr. Switzer explained that being raised in "a chaotic, drug abusing and criminal family and environment"; being recruited by his mother to assist in drug dealing and his step father routinely sanctioning his stealing and exposing him to drugs was a major influence on Steven being involved in a gang and in this murder. (Exhibit J, p. 14.) Dr. Switzer concluded that "[g]iven the totality of his life and presentation it is unfathomable that he would have pursued such activities outside of that influence and setting." (Exhibit J, p. 14.)

Rehabilitation and Behavior In Prison:

During his 26 years in prison, Steven has rehabilitated himself through religion, self-help, education and work. In 1995, at age 22, he became a Muslim and left the gang life in 1997, at age 24 because the "moral map" within the Quran influenced him. (Exhibit J, p. 5; Letter to the Governor, p. 1 (Exhibit N).) Through various self-help programs, Steven has identified that causative factors that led to his crime and he has addressed each one. (Exhibit M.) Steven has spent his time in prison wisely by taking numerous self-help classes, earning six Associate's degrees, starting a rehabilitative program called Institutional Athletic Organization and volunteering his time to help others.

Relapse Prevention Plans:

Steven has utilized the above rehabilitative accomplishments to develop detailed relapse prevention plans for anger, stress and substance abuse. (Relapse Prevention Plans (Exhibit R); Exhibit J, p. 4.)

Prison Staff Accolades:

- 2013 – G. J. Janda, Warden (A), Calipatria State Prison: Steven has a “positive attitude towards staff and inmates, and his role in creating the institutional Athletic Organization (IAO) here at Calipatria State Prison. The IAO not only prepares inmates for reentry into society, but it also holds fundraisers and donates the proceeds to local elementary, junior high, and high schools for the purpose of construction and equipment for the sports facilities, and to local high school students in the form of scholarships. To this date, the IAO has donated over $35,000.00 to the local community. The purpose of the group is to provide an opportunity for all inmates to participate in a variety of organized sports leagues. The IAO promotes respectful social interaction, sportsmanship, and respect for authority with an unbiased harmony among all inmates regardless of one’s race, color, creed, or religion. Through the course of this group, Inmate Green, has dealt with hundreds of inmates of various ethnic backgrounds, as well as correctional staff on a daily bases, and he is a vital part of its success. I have known Inmate Green, for approximately 13 years, and believe that he has not only worked hard to successfully rehabilitate himself through his own efforts, but also has assisted others in completing the mandatory stress and anger management courses required to participate in this group. I believe that Inmate Green's positive programming is worth noting, therefore earning this acknowledgement.”
- 2013 – R. McColley, Correctional Supervisor Cook – I: Steven has a “his positive work ethic, and attitude while assigned to the Calipatria State Prison Facility "D" Kitchen. Inmate Green has had various job duties while assigned, and has always performed his duties responsibly, and effectively. Inmate Green is always willing to assist others when needed. It is my personal and professional observation that Inmate Green has shown a rare quality regarding his attitude, and work ethic therefore earning this acknowledgement.
- 2012 – G. Kastner, Correctional Officer: Steven has a “positive attitude towards staff and inmates. Green has displayed a willingness to help, and assist others whenever a task appears too much for just two hands. Inmate Green is a long standing member of the Institutional Athletic Organization (IAO), which is a sports based inmate leisure time/self-help group here at Calipatria State Prison. Over the past (6) six years, as Delta Facility observation officer, I have observed Inmate Green, interact with inmates from various races, backgrounds, and religions during these sports leagues. I have also observed Inmate Green, instruct, counsel, and resolve conflicts between inmates which could have [led] to violence during the heat of competition. It is my belief that Inmate Green, continues to work hard at successfully rehabilitating himself through his own efforts. I believe that Inmate Green's positive programming should be noted, and acknowledged therefore earning this laudatory chrono.”
- 2012 – E.S. Campos, Correctional Officer: Inmate Green has a “positive attitude, and work performance. Inmate Green is willing to help others without benefit to himself, and uses his time productively. I have known Inmate Green for approximately (12) twelve years, and he has been assigned under my supervision for approximately (7) seven years while assigned to the "D" Facility satellite kitchen. His work ethics are above average, and always completes his tasks in a timely manner. Over the years I have had the opportunity to discuss Green's case with him at length, and he has never shown anything but shame and remorse for the victim and the victim's family. This is a rare quality among most of the inmates which I have dealt with over the years as a correctional officer. I have seen Inmate Green put forth effort in rehabilitating himself through his own efforts. In my opinion as a correctional officer, I believe Inmate Green would make a smooth transition into society, and would be a productive member of his community. I believe Inmate Green should be strongly considered for a parole date."

2009 – J. Aguilar, Correctional Officer: commends Steven for "his positive programming." "I have had the opportunity to closely observe him over the past sixteen (16) years in social settings and his work assignments. Inmate GREEN treats everyone with common courtesy and respect. Inmate GREEN conducts his duties effectively and without complaint. I have observed inmate GREEN attend Self-Help Programs and helps the Volunteer Sponsors. Inmate GREEN is a positive influence for other Inmates and leads by example. After numerous discussions with Inmate GREEN, it is my belief that he has gained adequate insight into the nature of his committed offense. Although Inmate GREEN was a former gang member he has since relinquished all ties and affiliations, and has made a one hundred and eighty degree turn in his life style. I recommend that Inmate GREEN continue on his present course to rehabilitation."

Family Support:

Steven married his wife, Sutina, who has been his friend since 9th grade, in 2004. (Exhibit J, p. 4.) They have two children and she has three children from a prior marriage. (Exhibit J, p. 4.) His wife, children and grandfather are supportive of his release from prison and will support his transition back into society. (Exhibit J, pp. 11-12; Support Letters (Exhibit T).)

Community Support:

Numerous friends and community members have written letters supporting Steven's clemency petition. (Exhibit T.) In addition, over 2,700 community members have signed a petition supporting Steven's clemency petition. (Online Petition (Exhibit U), <https://www.change.org/p/help-steven-green-earn-a-second-chance-at-coming-home> as of April 8, 2018.)

Numerous non-profit organization committed to justice and prison reform, and rehabilitation have written letters supporting Steven's clemency petition. (Exhibit T, pp. 14-

Parole Plans:

Steven has developed extensive parole plans that include a transitional housing program, a support network and job offers. (Exhibit J, pp. 10-11; Parole Plans (Exhibit V); Job Offer (Exhibit W).) Steven has a supportive wife and children that will support his transition back into society. (Exhibit J, p. 11.)

Disciplinary History:

Steven has not committed an act of violence, nor used drugs or alcohol during his 26 years of incarceration. Throughout his entire incarceration, he has only been disciplined four times.

In 1995, Steven was disciplined for inciting others when he refused to remove his shoes during an unclothed body search following a riot. He takes responsibility for this and understands that he should have complied with the officer's order.

In 2005, he was disciplined for misuse of state property when hung a towel over the window in his cell door and used a sheet as a partition to allow privacy when he used the toilet while his cellmate was in the cell. Steven takes responsibility for this and never did this again.

In 2010, Steven was disciplined for refusing a direct order when he refused to tell a correctional officer who had let him back into the kitchen because he did not want to get involved in an issue between a correctional officer and non-custody prison staff. Steven takes responsibility for this and informed the staff member he would never repeat this behavior.

In 2012, Steven was disciplined for having possession of a cell phone. The cell phone belonged to his cellmate and was found inside an oatmeal box, which was inside a laundry bag. Steven's cellmate took responsibility for the cell phone, but Steven was found guilty of the rules violation based on the Hearing Officer's belief that he had knowledge of the existence of the cell phone.

(Exhibit J, pp. 5-8; Disciplinary Reports (Exhibit X); 115 Insight (Exhibit Y).)

Risk Assessment:

Taking all the above into consideration, Dr. Daisy Switzer, a forensic psychologist with 20 years experience, has rated Steven a low risk for violence or becoming involved in a new offense if released from prison, using the same risk assessment instruments that psychologist who prepare risk assessments for the Board of Parole Hearings use. (Exhibit J, p. 13-15; Resume of Daisy Switzer (Exhibit Z).)

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Arturo Guerrero

In January 2008, Arturo Guerrero robbed a gas station and fled. On April 14, 2011, the San Bernardino County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Guerrero to 10 years for robbery plus 5 years each for two prior felony enhancements – a total of 20 years.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Guerrero wrote that he has "dramatically changed for the better . . . for once I am acknowledging and accepting responsibility for my actions. Denying nothing found in the details/circumstances of this case. Only admitting everything and truly saying I'm sorry for having victimized the community." Mr. Guerrero further wrote that religion has changed "my thinking, my heart, and my way of living."

Mr. Guerrero has been incarcerated for close to 11 years and is now 42 years old. He has obtained three vocational training certificates. Mr. Guerrero has been housed in the Progressive Programming Facility since 2017, and has participated in self-help courses, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Domestic Violence Awareness. Mr. Guerrero's rehabilitation has been noted by correctional staff and sponsors. In June 2018, an Alcoholics Anonymous sponsor commended Mr. Guerrero for being a positive influence. In March 2018, a correctional officer commended Mr. Guerrero for his positive attitude, respect, and being a positive influence, writing that he was "always willing to help me and other building officers." In February 2018, a chaplain wrote "[Mr.] Guerrero is my clerk in the chapel. I hired him because of his good character. He has shown that he can be relied upon. He is a leader in our church and also a member of the choir. It is my professional opinion that these programs have and will be a tremendous help to him in his rehabilitation." Mr. Guerrero has the support of his wife and family. He aspires to become a drug counselor once released.

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Guerrero.

It is clear that Mr. Guerrero has dedicated his years in prison to becoming a better citizen, husband, and father. He has worked hard to gain the skills necessary to lead a productive life when released from prison. As a result, he has earned an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for release.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Arturo Guerrero to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

McNeece Ham

On August 16, 1992, McNeece Ham participated in an armed robbery with four others at the house of Saray Chhoeuth. During the robbery, one of Mr. Ham's friends shot Mr. Chhoeuth several times, killing him. On November 8, 1993, the Placer County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ham to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 1 year for a firearm enhancement.

While this was a very serious crime, Mr. Ham was not the shooter and was not involved in the struggle that led to Mr. Chhoeuth's death. Mr. Ham has now been incarcerated for more than 26 years. Remarkably, he has never been disciplined in prison. He has resided on an honor yard for 17 years. He has completed self-help classes, including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Anger Management, and Victim Awareness. Mr. Ham has also completed vocational training in office services. An instructor in the program noted that "Mr. Ham is able to work independently and maintains high productivity," commenting that Mr. Ham was "meticulous" in completing his assignments.

Many people sentenced to life without the possibility of parole give up hope and lose themselves in drugs, gangs, and violence. While serving that same sentence, Mr. Ham exhibited a commitment to rehabilitating himself. I understand that this crime was devastating to Mr. Chhoeuth's family members. I have read and considered the letter from his family expressing the pain caused by this heartbreaking loss and asking me to carefully weigh whether or not to give Mr. Ham an opportunity for parole. After serious consideration, I believe that Mr. Ham has transformed his life. Mr. Ham has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison, and I believe that he has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of McNeece Ham to a total of 26 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Two car with five people (Kan, Chea, Ly, Yang, and I) traveled from Fresno to a party in Sacramento. Two people in Kan's car and three people in my car. When arrived in Sacramento, Kan's car broke down. He did not have enough money to fix it, and he did not want to leave his car out there. When learned that a house has cashes, a robbery was planned. During the attempt robbery, Kan and Chea bumped into the victim on the side of the house who armed with a rifle. Both Kan and Chea also armed with a handgun. There was a struggle between them, and shoots were fire. Then, everybody fled. The victim died later. The jury found Chea as a shooter which resulted in the dead of the victim.

This is my first felony, and I was not a shooter. Now, I am 50 years old and have been incarcerated for 25 years. Since I were in prison, I have never received a "115 disciplinary writeup" for misconduct behavior. I have been working as a supporting services for the majority of my time in prison. I have earned 14 vocational certificates of completion. Also, I will be graduated at the end of Spring 2017 with two college degrees which are "Associate of Art in Science and Math" and "Associate of Science in Business" with a Business Certificate of Achievement. For all the above reasons, I please for a possible opportunity to be able to parole because I have been an exceptional inmate; therefore, my communication should be granted to "25 to life."

Todd Hess

In 1986, Todd Hess and his crime partner planned to rob a gas station. Mr. Hess went into the store and, during the robbery, shot gas station cashier Scott James, killing him. On November 24, 1987, the Ventura County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hess to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

When Mr. Hess applied for a commutation, he detailed the efforts he has undertaken to turn his life around and rehabilitate himself. He wrote, "I believe that after 32 years in prison, I have matured and have learned from my mistakes."

Mr. Hess is now 53 years old and has been incarcerated for over three decades. During that time, he has shown a remarkable commitment to living a productive life despite serving a sentence that offers him no hope of release. Mr. Hess earned his GED and took college classes. He has not been disciplined for misconduct in almost ten years, and has never been involved with gangs in prison. Mr. Hess routinely receives positive work ratings, and his supervisors have consistently commended him for his strong work ethic, positive attitude, and motivation. In 2018, a Prison Industry Authority supervisor wrote that Mr. Hess was an "exceptional worker" and was "conscientious, hardworking, diligent, and self-motivated." Another supervisor praised Mr. Hess and said, "As a result of his demonstrated work ethic, accumulated knowledge, and willingness to take on more responsibility Inmate Hess is currently assigned as a mechanic." In 2013, another supervisor recommended Mr. Hess for future work assignments and wrote, "He is a positive influence to those around him and an asset to this enterprise."

In light of Mr. Hess's transformation in prison and his commitment to rehabilitation, I believe he deserves an opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Todd Hess to a total of 32 years to life.

#2 Briefly describe the circumstance of the crime for which you are requesting commutation:

Myself and a guy I just met (Crime Partner) got stuck without gas money. The idea was hatch to rob the USA gas station for money and on gas. The clerk attempted to take the gun away from us and got shot and died. We took the money and left. My crime partner turned me in to the police the next day and testified at my trial.

#2 Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

At the time of my commitment to CDCR in 1987. I fell under Title 15, Division 2, Section 2816, which stated I was under an automatic review in or on 12-2017 by PBT. (See L.S.S. dated 1-5-88. In 1994 that Section was repealed. Now this inmate falls under Title 15, Division 2, Section 2817, which states I can file directly to the Governor after 30 years in CDCR. And every five years after that.

#51 Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I believe that after 32 years in prison I have grown as a person, I have matured and have learned from my mistakes. I am "not" the same person I was 32 years ago. I believe I "could be" a productive member of society if given a chance. I have been disciplinary free for a number of years. I have had "zero" points for years and worked my way down in levels as CDCR let me. Right now I'm a level II. I have finished school (GED) taken college classes, taught my computers and got a job as a clerk in the "Computer Assisted Instruction Lab. Next I got a job in the Television Studio and earned "Vocational Educational Certificates in all aspects of Television Studio Productions. Next, I was a clerk in the Law Library and became a good Law Library clerk. Next, I was assigned as a Plant Operations clerk and taught myself drafting and up-dated all blue-prints dealing which re-models at PBSP. In the same building I learned, carpentry, painting and finally become the Plumber for a number of years. Next, PIA, shoe & boot shortly, next PIA Laundry for awhile.

Next was PIA sewing. I learned to sew and make all clothing currently used by CDCR, Firefighters, Next I learned to fix sewing machines that dealt with production. Which brings me back to a sewing machine operator here at MCSP for over 1 1/2 years.

All jobs & supervisors have written my chrono's as to my work habits as well as learning. Chrono's should be in my C-File or I have copies of all.
Thank you for your time.

I would & pray you will give me "some" light and the small hope of something?

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jacob Wayne Hutchins

On May 16, 1998, Jacob Hutchins and fellow gang members decided to retaliate against a rival gang member, whose car they had been told was broken down with a flat tire. As the car in which Mr. Hutchins was riding drove by a group surrounding the other car, Mr. Hutchins shot multiple times into the group, hitting and killing Michael Arreguin. On July 12 and July 27, 2000, the Napa County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hutchins to 15 years to life for murder plus 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life.

Mr. Hutchins was 18 at the time of the crime and has now been incarcerated for over 20 years. In his clemency application, Mr. Hutchins wrote regarding the crime, "At the time, I was a teenage runaway, highly intoxicated on drugs and alcohol, and as a new member of this gang, I was willing to do anything to prove myself and be accepted." Mr. Hutchins told an investigator that he truly believes prison has served its purpose to make him see what he has done to his victims and the community. He stated that he is deeply sorry and has worked tirelessly to change as a person. He wants to reenter society and contribute to his family and the community.

In prison, Mr. Hutchins has disavowed any gang affiliation and dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. Mr. Hutchins participated in various self-help classes, including Narcotics Anonymous, Victim Awareness, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Criminal & Addictive Thinking. He has completed vocational training programs in office services and auto mechanics. Mr. Hutchins also received career preparation certificates in business literacy, management information systems, and information technology literacy. A vocational instructor wrote in 2017 regarding Mr. Hutchins, "I feel these groups have helped change his life and attitude to become a highly motivated and productive individual. . . . Mr. Hutchins has shown by his behavior and the manner in which he interacts with others, that he is committed to maintaining a positive change in his life, along with encouraging others to do the same and remain crime free." An instructor praised Mr. Hutchins's efforts in vocational auto mechanics, noting Mr. Hutchins "showed a sincere interest in learning as much as he could," and that Mr. Hutchins's attitude encouraged other students. The instructor noted that Mr. Hutchins "was always quick to offer assistance and helped other students when they had difficulties understanding," and that he "would be an asset to any work force."

Mr. Hutchins committed a very serious crime, but he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Hutchins has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jacob Wayne Hutchins to a total of 20 years to life.

Attachment # 2 : The circumstances of the crime...

On May 16, 1998, I, Jacob Hutchins, decided to go with eight gang members to retaliate against Garrett Elshire while he was broken down on the road with a flat tire. I believed that Mr. Elshire had vandalized Gonzalo Alcalas' mother's property and that he must pay for this. At the time, I was a teenage runaway, highly intoxicated on drugs and alcohol, and as a new member of this gang, I was willing to do anything to prove myself and be accepted.

When we found Mr. Elshire, I saw an opportunity to prove myself and, sadly, I intentionally shot to kill Mr. Elshire and everyone with him. Jose Marin drove past Mr. Elshire and I shot my gun eight times at everyone around his car. Michael Arreguin was shot one time and died from the injuries of my callous actions. We tried to get away but were all arrested within 24 hours. I lied and continued to deny involvement. I pled not guilty and after a trial the Napa County Superior Court found me guilty. On May 4, 2000, I was sentenced to 40 years to life (15 yrs. to Life for 2nd degree murder and 25 yrs. to Life for a gun enhancement for personal use of a firearm), a sentence I fully deserved.

I am so sorry for this horrible act and for all of the harms I caused Michael Arreguin, Garrett Elshire, the Arreguin family, and the entire community of Napa.

Attachment # 3: Why am I requesting a commutation?

After serving 19½+ years in prison, I have become a mature, responsible, and compassionate man who values life. I am not the same lost, 18 year old who murdered Mr. Arreguin, and my transformation expresses how deeply sorry I am for my crime. Incarceration for such a terrible crime has been shameful and humiliating but not once have I felt that my incarceration was unjust or undeserving. I committed a horrible crime that negatively impacted a whole community, especially the Arreguin family, and this shapes my mindset and life today.

Looking back, my life had become hopeless and I acted out in rebellion because I was hurt and I didn't know how to deal with it better. I felt rejected and picked on as a kid, my parents didn't give me sound teaching or attention, then they divorced and I began getting locked up at an early age. These factors strongly influenced me, causing me to feel fear, anxiety, anger, and self-hate and this shaped my incorrect thinking. The false beliefs created feelings of worthlessness and life felt meaningless so I began to seek pleasure in drugs and rebellion to cover up my pain. I did not have an identity or purpose. My parents' divorce was a major factor because I blamed my Mom for hurting my Dad and for destroying our family and this created so much anger inside me. Since I felt like I couldn't trust my own family, I tried to replace them with other troubled teenagers and I ... tried to fill the void with drugs. This led to repeatedly running away from home and lock up, where I felt like the only identity I had left was with criminals, gangs, and drug users. Ultimately, I ran away from Alabama to California and, without adult intervention, I quickly progressed into a lifestyle of drugs and crime.

Leading up to my crime, I was completely lost and using my problems to justify my self-centered pleasure-seeking. My judgements were so shallow and I did not value life enough to think clearly. I was drawn to the gang because they wanted to party and stay high like me and I am so ashamed to say I even became willing to be violent if it got me their acceptance and approval. This is how meaningless and trivial my life had become and how I could commit such a senseless crime against Michael Arreguin. I regret this ugly truth everyday because of the harm I caused to the Arreguins. I did not understand all of this before or have the knowledge, understanding, or thinking skills to stop it because of my immaturity and self-centered choices.

In no way am I saying this to justify or make excuses for my crime against Mr. Arreguin. I take full responsibility for all of my choices and actions. I am only showing I now have insight into how my immature, shallow thinking created bad habits that kept me trapped in a negative lifestyle and led to my senseless crime.

Today, I am completely different and I am doing everything I can to be accountable, responsible, and decent. I value life now and I have completely separated myself from drugs, gangs, and violence and I am no longer a drug addict, gang member, or criminal. I will never use drugs, associate with criminals or gang members, pick up a gun, or commit an act of violence again. Furthermore, I will always use all of my experience and the deep remorse in my heart to help free others from those destructive conditions.

I want to take this opportunity to apologize to Michael Arreguin and the Arreguin family. I am so terribly sorry for all the pain I caused on their entire family and it saddens my heart to think of all the agony they have lived with and continue to live with. I understand that no amount of apologies will ever be enough to bring Mr. Arreguin back. I will regret this for the rest of my life.

I also want to apologize to the community of Napa. I am very sorry for all of the fear, anger, sadness, pain, and heartache that I brought to such a peaceful community. I am fully responsible for these harms and I will live the rest of my life making amends.

Attachment # 4: Why should I be granted a commutation?

Considering the severity of my crime and the fact that a priceless life was taken by my reckless actions, I am terribly sorry today. It is prison that served to give me that insight and remorse. Coming to prison saved my life because it stopped me in my tracks and gave me an opportunity to see my self-destruction for what it was. Prison has allowed me to look deeply at the terrible consequences of my callous behavior, creating an enormous amount of remorse and regret that compelled me to change everything. Today, I am a new man whose life is meaningful and who values life, love, and relationships more than anything.

After receiving two write-ups in 2000, I made a decision to turn away from gangs and violence and I have avoided them ever since. Later, in 2006, I realized I still needed to change more and I began seeking help from God and from other positive people. I made a personal commitment to sobriety and redemption and my whole life truly started to change. It has been a hard, long road but today I face the past, taking full responsibility for everything, and I have worked tirelessly for years to turn my life around. I have not been perfect and in 2012 I received a write-up for gambling but I quickly learned from it and grew and I have not been disciplined for a single rule violation ever since. In fact, I used that incident to make the most of my time and I have been determined to not leave prison the same way I came in.

One of the great challenges of changing is the fact that it takes repetition over a sustained period of time. This lesson helped me to focus and to develop discipline in my thinking and behavior. My life has greatly improved as a result and I am now more responsible and caring than ever before. I have naturally matured with time to see life much differently and today I am the complete opposite of that reckless, impulsive, irresponsible teenager. Today I think before I act and I always consider others.

Regarding rehabilitation, I have taking advantage of every self-help and educational program I could including A.A., N.A., C.E.A., Victims Awareness & Impact classes, Breaking Barriers, G.O.G.I., Alternatives to Violence Project, We Care Youth Diversion Program, Anger Management, plus many more. I took many religious programs and learned through consistent Bible and self-help studies. I became a facilitator in Alternatives to Violence Project and helped facilitate Breaking Barriers, A.A., the Youth Diversion program, and Bible studies to help others. I sought help from counselors, mentors, and psychologists to get guidance so I could improve more as a person. I have excelled at my job assignments, completed two vocational classes, and have furthered my education by earning a associates degree in Biblical Studies from Onesimus Bible College. I am also a few units away from earning two associates degrees from Palo Verde

... College in Liberal Arts with an emphasis in Social & Behavior Science and in Business & Technology.

I continue to work everyday to improve as a person and to contribute to those around me because I am truly sorry for my crime and I want to do what's right today. I know that people can change because I am proof. Today, I am peaceful, educated, thoughtful, caring, and respectful of authority. I am a God-fearing man with a great sense of purpose which has given me a firm foundation with a positive outlook, a strong work ethic, and a heart of humility and gratitude.

My parole plans are solid with good transitional housing, a job, financial and emotional support from a strong support network of family, friends, and mentors, and a solid relapse prevention plan. All of these factors will contribute to my success in reentering society to become a respectable and productive citizen.

I know what I am asking comes with great responsibility and, if I am granted a commutation, I will have been shown great mercy. I will never forget this and will show my gratefulness by how I live the rest of my life making amends and doing my best to help others.

Thank you.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Alvaro Ibarra

On January 20, 2006, Alvaro Ibarra, a gang member, and his crime partner were returning from a drug deal when they saw a rival gang member across the street. The two ran up to the victim and confronted him. Mr. Ibarra punched the victim, then instructed his crime partner to shoot. The victim was shot once in the hip, but he survived. On August 3, 2007, the Monterey County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ibarra to 15 years to life for attempted murder plus a 25 year to life firearm enhancement.

Mr. Ibarra has now been incarcerated for over 12 years and is 31 years old. He has committed himself to his rehabilitation through his immediate disassociation from gangs and his dedication to self-improvement. In his application for clemency, Mr. Ibarra wrote, "I have changed in every aspect of my life (behaviorally, mentally, emotionally, spiritually, and educationally) and I sincerely regret all the harm that I have caused."

Indeed, in over a decade in prison, Mr. Ibarra has transformed his life. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. He earned his GED and completed vocational training in office services and computer literacy. Mr. Ibarra has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Anger Management, Criminal and Gang Members Anonymous, and Victim Awareness. He is currently a facilitator for Careless Youth Corrected by Lifer's Experiences. Mr. Ibarra's positive attitude and behavior have earned him praise from instructors, who wrote that he was "cooperative and motivated to learn" and "very eager to learn and very respectable."

Mr. Ibarra was an active participant in a very serious crime. However, since that time, Mr. Ibarra has disavowed any gang association and focused on his rehabilitation. As a result, I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is ready to be paroled.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Alvaro Ibarra to a total of 17 years to life.

EDMUND G. BROWN JR.

1. Conviction Summary:

List all prior convictions, including any in other states or countries.

Offense(s)	Date of Offense(s)	County of Conviction(s)	Sentence(s):
459 PC, Felony	7-22-2002	Monterey County	30 days (Juvenile Hall)
211 PC, Felony	6-4-2004	Monterey County	365 days (Youth Center)

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

I was convicted of premeditated Attempted Murder (664/187(a) PC, Felony) and Assault with a Firearm (245(a)(2) PC), Felony which were gang related. In addition, I was given a Gang enhancement (186.22(b)(1) PC) of 15 years to life and a Firearm enhancement (12022.53(d) PC) of 25 years to life. I was a gang member at the time (Age 19) and a participant in the commission of this crime however; I never personally used or discharged the firearm. What transpire was that I physically assaulted the victim by punching him and told my accomplice (who was never charge or been convicted of this crime) to shoot the victim for which I take full responsibility for. My accomplice then shot the victim once in the hip and we fled the scene. The crime was not something that was planned but something that was done on impulse.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

I am requesting a commutation because: 1) I never personally used or discharged the firearm 2) The crime of Attempted Murder was not premeditated but impulsive 3) the gang enhancement exceeds more time than the crime itself. Therefore, I am requesting that the Firearm enhancement be stricken (eliminated) and that the Premeditated Attempted Murder be changed (reduced) to Attempted Murder or great bodily injury, which would not be a life sentence. Also that the gang enhancement (15 years to life) be reduce. I am asking that my sentence be commuted according to the aforementioned and to what the Governor sees fit.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation (attach additional pages if necessary):

In no form or fashion am I minimizing what I did for I know I committed an awful crime against another person and because of that; I am now paying the consequences of my bad decisions and actions. However, the sentence I received can be considered too excessive. Therefore, the reasons why I should be granted a commutation are: 1) that the sentence was excessive 2) The Firearm enhancement should not apply since I did not personally use or discharged the firearm 3) The crime committed was not premeditated but impulsive 4) The gang enhancement exceeds more time than the crime itself 5) I have changed in every aspect of my life (behaviorally, mentally, emotionally, spiritually and educationally) and I sincerely regret all the harm that I have cause and 6) I appeal to your mercy Governor that I may be given a second opportunity at life by receiving a more appropriate sentence via your commutation.

5. If you have paid any money or given any gift to anyone to assist in the preparation of this application, list their name, address, and amount paid or given (required by Penal Code Section 4807.2):

Scott William Johnson

In May 1988, Scott Johnson, Devon Otte, and Ron Morton planned to rob John Johnston by setting up a fake drug deal. Mr. Otte drove Mr. Johnston to a remote area where Mr. Johnson and Mr. Morton were waiting. When Mr. Johnston arrived, Mr. Morton shot Mr. Johnston five times in the chest, killing him. On July 17, 1991, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Johnson to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a one year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Johnson is now 48 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 30 years – all of his adult life. He applied for a commutation of sentence based on his rehabilitation during his incarceration. In his application, he wrote, "During my incarceration I have sought every opportunity to rehabilitate myself, to get an education, and to give back to the community. I have left the scared, self-absorbed teenager behind and matured into a man who is disciplined, goal-oriented, and connected with the feelings and needs of others. I now have the tools that will enable me to be a productive member of society." In an interview with an investigator for the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Johnson stated that he does not want his life to be defined by this terrible crime; he hopes to be a productive member of society.

Mr. Johnson has only been disciplined two times during more than three decades of incarceration, and has never been involved in gangs or participated in violence in prison. He is currently working toward an A.A. degree in business administration. He has participated in self-help classes, including Anger Management, Conflict Resolution, and Turning Point. Mr. Johnson worked as a trainer for the POOCH program, in which inmates train service dogs for adoption. A manager for the POOCH program commended him for his work ethic and wrote, "Inmate Johnson is a knowledgeable, thoughtful dog trainer. . . . When he teaches our volunteers, he is patient and gives clear instructions that help them learn quickly." If he were to be released from prison, Mr. Johnson plans to live in transitional housing, and he will also receive support from his wife and mother.

Although he is serving a sentence that gave him no hope of release from prison, Mr. Johnson has dedicated himself to rehabilitation and has worked hard to turn his life around. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Johnson has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Scott Johnson to a total of 30 years to life.

The district attorney to implicate me in the crime in exchange for a sentence of twenty five (25) years to life.

At trial, Morton confessed to shooting to death a drug dealer named John Johnston. Otte testified that he (Otte) set up a drug deal with Johnston with the intent of robbing him of the money he was bringing to the drug deal. He also testified that he picked the victim up at his apartment and drove him to the location where the crime occurred. Both Morton and Otte testified that I helped plan, and was present when Morton shot and killed the victim. The jury rendered their verdict on June 22, 1991 and on July 17, 1991, I was sentenced to life without the possibility of parole.

Morton and Otte received sentences of twenty five (25) years to life. Both have since been granted parole.

for the acceptance of my peers. Remember when you did something stupid with your friends and your mother asked, "So if your friends jumped off a bridge would you?" I always answered "No", but the truth is I would have done anything to be liked.

As a teenager, I was impulsive and consumed with all things me. All of my thoughts and actions considered only my wants and needs, never those of others. I felt that everything should be given to me, like I was somehow entitled. Work hard, me? No, if there was a shortcut, I'd find it. Then one day, everything changed, I changed.

I was on the prison exercise yard, and out of the corner of my eye, I saw a commotion. As I focus my attention across the yard, I witnessed two inmates assault another and take his canteen. As the victim sat there stunned while medical staff was looking over him, I was sick to my stomach. Empathy, sympathy, anger; I felt them all. It was as if I was him. The fear of the assault, the embarrassment; I was furious at the two guys that did this. They were cowards. It was like a switch went off inside me. I'll never forget that day.

From that moment forward I was a different person. I became all too aware of how my actions have affected others. The irreparable harm I caused John's family and friends, my own family, my community, and society as a whole.

I sat up at night replaying my life. The opportunities squandered. The people I have hurt, and continue to hurt. All the times I just had to have those $100 sneakers, uncaring and oblivious to the fact that my father had to work a complete 8-hour shift to pay for them. Or the time I told my mother not to come to my Junior High graduation because I was embarrassed by her. Just to write that breaks my heart.

When I look back at the teenaged me, I'm horrified. How could I have done those things, treat people the way I did? I could never have imagined how my decisions 29 years ago would affect people I didn't even know or who weren't even born yet. The shame and guilt I feel can be suffocating. The teenage me would hardly have given any of this a second thought. The man that I am today is tortured by it.

During my incarceration I have sought every opportunity to rehabilitate myself, to get an education, and to give back to the community. I have left the scared, self-absorbed teenager behind and matured into a man who is disciplined, goal-oriented, and connected with the feelings and needs of others. I now have the tools that will enable me to be a productive member of society.

What I am requesting is that Governor Brown commute my sentence to the same sentence that Morton and Otte had received, twenty-five (25) years to life. This in no way would mean that I would ever be released from prison. What this would do is allow the parole board to continue to monitor my self-development and determine my suitability for parole.

It should be noted that Deputy Probation Officer Townsend also believed that a sentence of twenty-five (25) years to life was appropriate in this case. In a strongly worded sentence recommendation Townsend stated, "The probation officer feels that because the defendant did not pull the trigger that his sentence should not be more severe than the other defendant who did pull the trigger. "It seems unfair and inappropriate for this defendant to be punished more severely than the other two defendants."

He continues, "Furthermore, two important factors should also be taken into consideration at sentencing. This defendant was promoted a year early from high school because of his intelligence and his goal to attend medical school. While in college at age 17, he maintained a 3.3 grade point average while attending full time. Accordingly, these reasons suggest that the defendant could be amenable to rehabilitation during the course of his sentence." (Please see Attachment "A", Probation Officers Report, p.10.)

For the foregoing reasons, and all of the supporting documents contained in the attached exhibits, I humbly request that the Governor exercise his authority and commute my sentence of life without the possibility of parole.

Sincerely,

Scott Johnson

1) Helped raise almost twenty thousand dollars for the Catalyst Foundation.

While incarcerated I have become an accomplished painter. By donating my paintings to the Catalyst Foundation, they were able to auction them off, raising almost twenty thousand dollars. (please see Chrono dated 10/14/05, and letter from David Mashore, Catalyst Foundation.) (Attachment "B")

2) I have helped educate general population inmates in critical thinking, creative writing, drawing, painting, and yoga. (Please see letter from D.K. Downs, Associate Warden, CSP-LAC, dated February 10, 2006). (Attachment "C")

To fully train a service dog for placement with a client can take from 12 to 18 months. During that time "Stevie", the dog my co-trainer and I were entrusted to train, lived in the cell with us. The service dog curriculum consists of 32 cues (behaviors) ranging from the basics, (sit, wait, down) to more complex cues such as get, put, tug and push (cues used to have the dog put something in the trash can or open a drawer, place an item inside, and then close it).

On May 10th, 2017 I successfully completed the POOCH service dog training course given by Tender Loving Canines Assistance Dogs, and completed the training for service dog "Stevie." (Attachment "D")

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Kenneth Jordan

Between January and February 1980, Kenneth Jordan and his crime partner committed a string of robberies. During the commission of these robberies, Mr. Jordan shot and killed John Martin and Dwight Cousins. On June 5, 1981, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Jordan to two terms of life without the possibility of parole for murder, ten years for robbery, six years for firearm enhancements, and one year prior felony enhancement.

Mr. Jordan has now been incarcerated for close to 39 years and is 65 years old. In his application for clemency, Mr. Jordan wrote, "I am not the same person I was when I committed [these] crime[s] long ago. I know in my heart that I would never hurt or harm anyone again." Mr. Jordan has been housed on the Honor Yard since 2002 and has been discipline free for over a decade. For the past five years, Mr. Jordan has been employed as a disability program aide, routinely receiving above average work ratings. Mr. Jordan has also participated in self-help courses, including Victim Awareness, Alternatives to Violence, and Anger Management.

It is clear that during his incarceration, Mr. Jordan has improved himself and his remarkable transformation has been repeatedly noted by correctional staff. In 2018, a correctional lieutenant, who has known Mr. Jordan since 2001, commended him for his work with disabled and elderly inmates, writing, "[Mr.] Jordan has [made known] his continuing effort to rebuild his life and character to be accepted back into society as a hardworking and intelligent young man. I believe if ever released back to the community, [Mr.] Jordan has the work ethic and a skill set to keep him employed, ensuring that he would have something to offer society." In 2018, a correctional officer commended Mr. Jordan for his dedication to the success of the Progressive Programming Facility, writing, "[Mr. Jordan] leads by example and appears to be remorseful as well as genuine in his wanting to change. . . . Accordingly, I expect that [Mr.] Jordan would be able to transition successfully if released from custody." Another correctional officer acknowledged Mr. Jordan for his positive attitude and willingness to help others, writing, "It is my opinion that [Mr.] Jordan will be successful as he integrates back into society, and will have a positive impact on the community." Mr. Jordan also has the support of his brother and daughter, with whom he plans to live upon release.

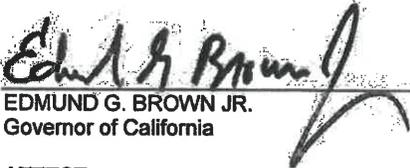

Additionally, Mr. Jordan's application has been reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Jordan.

Since committing these very cruel and senseless crimes, Mr. Jordan has become a role model for other inmates and has achieved positive goals in an extremely challenging environment, while serving a sentence that offers no life outside of prison. For these reasons, I believe is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that he can make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Kenneth Jordan to a total of 38 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Dear Governor Brown,

RE: PLEASE ADD TO MY APPLICATION FOR COMMUTATION FILE. I LEFT A FEW THINGS OUT THAT HAVE BEEN EATING AWAY IN MY MIND.

First, I was a substance abuser. I was raised around known criminal; I came to the United States in June of 1958 from Seoul Korea. The family that raised me did not know how to teach me discipline. Almost every one in my life has passed away. Aside from my daughter and my two grand kids, I am alone on this earth. I have no body concerned for my cause or for my freedom but myself. I will be 64 by the time you review my commutation file. I now know that I went down the path of disappointment and I have learned to accept responsibility for my actions.

I have learned to face that I was the cause of the situation I am in. I have worked on my Faith and morals during the many years that I have been in prison. I have learned to accept full responsibility for my crimes with Faith, and believe I have diligently worked on reforming myself. I conclude that I am ready for commutation.

My health is detereorating. I have Rheumatoid Arthritis, Hepititus-B, my vision is bad, and I have lost some memory faculties. I wish to share my last few years with my daughter and my two grand kids. I am an old, broken down man.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Jordan

InRe: COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

“This is who I was prior to prison”

I was an orphan from South Seoul, Korea. I came to the United States of America, on May 5, 1958. I was round or about five years of age and adopted by the Jordan family. The Jordan' struggled to raise me all ways disciplining me and making me to wear the same clothes daily. I did not speak or understand any English until I was eight years old. Schoolmates bullied me in elementary school from first through the sixth grades. My life turned upside down because I had to fight every time I stepped out of the house because my appearance was different from others. The only people interested in me or who treated me kindly was the street thugs or gang members. This I did not find out until later was because I was easily tricked and coerced into doing criminal acts due to my lack of knowledge and direction. I had never been sat down and talked to nor discussed such issues not even with my adopted parents. I longed for acceptance and approval from all the wrong people, especially from people who were career criminals or gang members. This led me down a path of destruction and resulted in life in prison.

“Who I am now”

I am now a sixty-four year old state prisoner. I have learned to take responsibility for my actions and omissions. I cowardly took the life of two human beings. I should have did something to save the life of Dwight Cousin and John Martin. I now understand the full ramifications of my senseless crime. I regret what I did and recognize that my actions were shameful, hurtful, and destructive which did cause devastating pain and hardships on Mr. Cousin and Mr. Martin's families.

I am truly remorseful to have caused such pain and suffering to their loved ones and friends.

~~I have worked on my faith and morals during my time in prison. My past cannot change,~~ but I can change the future by changing my actions today. This has allowed me to talk openly concerning my shortcomings. I have learnt much. In addition, I will be a humble servant to others as amends. I am passionate about my vision for the future. I am now a man and no longer a boy. I am no longer a threat to society and I know that I will be a model citizen.

I have changed bad habits by replacing them with good ones. Change is possible, willingness to believe in personal transformation is precious and I feel it is a miracle, a gift from God. Kenneth Hartman was my mentor and educator he showed me how to be a man and to be responsible for the action I take. I am now helping others to better themselves. I have been an ADA Medical Assistant for 5 years and help care for the elderly and disabled. I am entirely responsible and without excuse for committing the murder of two human beings. I was immature, selfish and had no regards for life. I now know the two lives I took create pain for the two families. I should have immediately turned myself in to the police or called 911.

I was not fully aware of what I needed to share concerning the questions asked in reference to commutation. However, I am taking A.A. now, along with complete self-help courses inclusive therapy and discussion-GOGI, Houses of Healing, Anger Management, and Personal Insight. I have signed up on the list for Personal Development, Victim Sensitivity Awareness, and Creating A Healing Society.

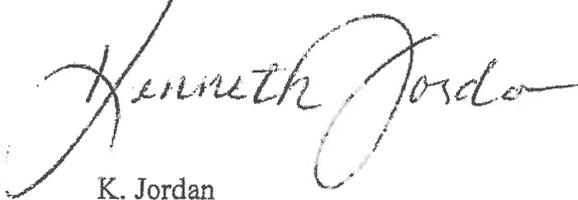

I have written remorse letters to the two families lives I have destroyed.

If given another chance and the opportunity in life, I will make sure to put forth 110 % effort all future endeavors. I will re-build into the community that I harmed trust, faith, and confidence.

You will be very satisfied in your decision to commute my sentence. Thank you for reading my life story.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Shawn Khalifa

On January 27, 2004, 15-year-old Shawn Khalifa agreed to participate with Mark Gardner, Juan Pena, and Fernando Rivera in what he thought would be the burglary of Hubert Love's house. Mr. Gardner and Mr. Khalifa initially waited outside, while Mr. Pena and Mr. Rivera went inside the house. Mr. Khalifa eventually entered the home and took some candy. It was then that he realized that Mr. Pena and Mr. Rivera had beaten Mr. Love severely, later resulting in his death. On December 21, 2007, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Khalifa to 25 years to life for murder.

While this was a very serious crime, Mr. Khalifa's role was limited to entering the house and stealing candy. Mr. Khalifa did not participate in the beating that resulted in Mr. Love's death and there is no indication that he anticipated that his crime partners would injure and kill Mr. Love. Mr. Khalifa was only 15 years old when he participated in this crime, and he had no prior criminal history. He is seeking a commutation based on his excessive sentence in relation to his culpability in this crime, his support in the community, and his positive programming in prison. Mr. Khalifa wrote in his application, "While incarcerated, I live as a positive example for others and if released I will do the same for the community."

Now 30, Mr. Khalifa has been incarcerated for half his life. During that time, he has earned a high school diploma and completed self-help classes, including Celebrate Recovery, Living With Others, Managing Anger, Changing Your Thinking, and Substance Abuse. Mr. Khalifa earned an achievement certificate in Alzheimer's Care and participated in vocational training programs for welding and office services. Mr. Khalifa composed a one-act play as part of the Arts in Corrections class and was commended in 2017 by a program sponsor for his participation as a playwright in the program. In 2015, a correctional officer commended Mr. Khalifa for saving the life of an inmate who was attempting suicide.

While Mr. Love's death was tragic and senseless, I believe that based on Mr. Khalifa's limited role in the crime, his age at the time, and his rehabilitation, that Mr. Khalifa has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Shawn Khalifa to a total of 15 years to life.

Circumstances of the Crime

I was two months passed my 15th birthday when the crime occurred. Mark Gardner age 17, and I went to a burglary being committed by a 16, and 18 year old. They entered the victims home through the front door and beat the elderly homeowner to death. Mark and I snuck into the backyard of the home unaware that the homeowner had been harmed. Mark knocked on the backdoor angering the 18 year old inside of the home. I began to leave the backyard but Mark stayed. Not wanting to leave Mark I rejoined him by the backdoor. The 18 year old opened the door and pulled me inside of the home by my shirt. He revealed a gun in his waistband and yelled at me, "Is this what you wanted to see?!" Referring to the injured homeowner. I cowardly stole candy from the victims home instead of calling 911 for help. I was found guilty of 1st degree felony murder and sentenced to 25 years to life.

I Believe I Was Overly Prosecuted

I was arrested two months passed my 15th birthday and charged with 1st degree murder; although I did not in fact murder, or know a murder would, or could be committed by one of my peers.

I was prosecuted under California's Felony Murder Rule and never given a reasonable chance to take responsibility for my actions. A life prison sentences in not a chance. At every stage of my incarceration there has been the label of murderer. I was convicted, sentenced, and housed in State Prison as a 1st degree murderer. But in fact it is known that I am not and never will be a murderer.

I should have done something to save a man's life. I did not. For this I deserve a punishment, but I honestly believe a life prison term is not appropriate for what my actions were.

Because I was prosecuted under the Felony Murder Rule, there was no consideration given at sentencing to; Youthfulness at time of offense, and limited participation in the offense. I received a mandatory sentence of 25 years to life. The harshest punishment available for a 15 year old defendant.

The Person I Am

During my incarceration I have refrained from having a criminal mentality. Although surrounded by many others who live with a criminal mentality, I dwell upon the many positive staff interactions I have had, to instill within myself a set of morals that cannot be corrupted.

Through positive living and actions, I have gained the support of my local community to the point of; when released I would be given the opportunity to speak at local high schools to warn of the dangers of criminal thinking.

Based upon my continued growth of positive character, and proven ability to maintain it throughout my entire incarceration, I believe I should be granted a commutation of sentence as I would truly be an asset to society.

While incarcerated I am often told by correctional officers, counselors, Doctors and other staff that my prison term is excessive for what my actions were. Many of them are impressed by the person I am. I know that I am a good person, and will be a good person while incarcerated and one day when released. It is my hope that you will give me the chance to improve (it), a chance that I have never been given.

I Should Be Granted A Commutation of Sentence

The most positive effect a commutation of sentence would have, is on my prison Term, and Program. I would have a realistic punishment for what my actions were. Energy could be rightfully spent on preparing myself for re-integration back into society; instead of an unjust prison term where I have to survive another decade in prison to be considered for release.

Today I have overwhelming support in the community. I have written and published positive books to warn struggling youth not to follow in my footsteps. I influence a web-site my sister runs pensideout.org that aspires to be a positive resource for youth and their parents. I've worked as an Assisted Care Giver, and currently work as a Teachers Aide in a lower functioning (E.O.P.) classroom, where I assist other inmates with Math and reading skills. I lead a life of service in prison and will do the same in the community.

When Released

I have the option of two homes to parole to. The first would be my mothers, and the second my sisters. Both homes are located in south Orange County where my current employment, and educational opportunities are located.

I will lead as normal a life as possible for a man who has been through the prison system. I am going to follow every law in the Penal Code. I will participate in community building and be of service. This is a fact.

For me to continue to spend 25 years to life in prison is a disservice to all parties involved. For this reason I humbly submit this Application For Executive Clemency.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Chan Lam

In December 2003, 17-year-old Chan Lam's girlfriend told him that Matthew Seivert had made racial comments about her and her father, and said that she wanted someone to beat him up. Mr. Lam and several friends went to a park to confront Mr. Seivert and blocked his car in. One of Mr. Lam's friends shot Mr. Seivert multiple times, killing him. On March 24, 2006, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Lam to 26 years to life for murder and a firearm enhancement.

In Mr. Lam's application for clemency, he wrote, "I am deeply ashamed of my actions, and I accept full responsibility for the pain and devastation I have caused. I will be forever remorseful not only to my victim, Matthew Seivert, but to his family and the community for the irreversible consequences of my conduct." Mr. Lam described the changes he has made in his life since coming to prison, and his desire to make amends for this crime. He wrote, "If given the chance, I will do whatever it takes to be an outstanding member of society and a positive influence in my community. I owe it to Matthew Seivert, his family, and friends. I owe it to everybody affected by my actions. I owe it to the community."

There is no doubt that Mr. Lam has made a significant transformation while in prison. He has been incarcerated for nearly 15 years and is now 32 years old. He dropped out of the gang, has never been involved with drugs or violence in prison, and notably, has never been disciplined for misconduct. Mr. Lam has instead participated in many rehabilitation programs. He has taken self-help classes including Victim Offender Education Group, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Violence Prevention, and also facilitates groups for his peers. Mr. Lam earned multiple A.A. and A.S. degrees, as well as a business certificate and several vocational certifications. He writes for the San Quentin News and currently works as a certified substance abuse counselor in the Addiction Recovery Counseling program at San Quentin. The director of that program supported Mr. Lam's commutation, and wrote, "I have found him to have extremely clear insight into what brought him into the system and how he plans to focus his life in the future. He continues to serve not only as an advocate of the recovery process, but as a role model to other male inmates as to what they can achieve. . . . He has my full support." A correctional officer who has worked for the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation for 21 years commended Mr. Lam for his work ethic and wrote, "I believe Inmate Lam to be reliable and he will be a responsible member of any community when he is given opportunity to parole." Numerous other correctional officers, staff members, and volunteers have praised Mr. Lam for his positive behavior and attitude. Mr. Lam has been offered an internship as an addiction counselor at a recovery program in Berkeley.

Mr. Lam participated in a senseless and tragic crime when he was just 17 years old. In the years since, he has demonstrated sincere remorse for his actions and dedicated himself to living without violence and serving others. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is ready to be paroled.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Chan Lam to a total of 16 years to life.

Keith Wattley
Executive Director

Dear Governor Brown:

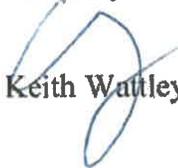

I represent Chan Venh ("John") Lam, and I submit the attached Petition for Commutation on John's behalf. John was 17 years old at the time he participated in the murder of Matthew Sievert, for which he was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to a term of 25 years-life. He now seeks a commutation of his conviction and sentence to second-degree murder so that he may be eligible for parole consideration ten years earlier.

As an attorney who has represented hundreds of prisoners appearing before the Board of Parole Hearings, I have no doubt that John is suitable for parole. This is particularly true in light of the fact that prisoners, like John, who were under the age of 18 at the time of their crimes are afforded special parole consideration under the new Youth Offender Parole Laws. In terms of educational, vocational and self-help accomplishments, John's case provides the best example of what is possible when young people acknowledge and take responsibility for the tragic decisions they made and commit themselves to transformation and making up for the harm they caused. I can think of very few clients in my 18 years in this field who have shown more genuine and dramatic transformation than John Lam.

His petition for executive clemency should be granted for three reasons. First, John has accepted full responsibility for his crime, identified the factors that led him to commit this offense, and expressed profound remorse for his role in the victim's death. Second, several mitigating factors weigh heavily in favor of executive clemency, including John's youth and immaturity at the time of the offense, and the fact that John was not the shooter. Third and finally, John has worked tirelessly to better himself in prison through the achievement of major educational milestones, the completion of extensive vocational training, and leadership of many self-help programs. Over the course of his incarceration, John has demonstrated that he is a profoundly changed man who is ready to re-enter society, and to become a conscientious, dependable, and productive member of his community.

For all these reasons, as spelled out more fully in the attached Petition and accompanying exhibits, I strongly urge you to commute John's sentence to 15 years-to-life.

Sincerely,

Keith Wattley

16 I. INTRODUCTION TO PETITION FOR COMMUTATION

17 In December 2003, nineteen-year-old Matthew Seivert was lured to Tahoe Park in Elk 18 Grove, California by his ex-girlfriend, Nicole Carroll, and attacked by a group of twelve youths. He 19 died of gunshot wounds the following morning. Chan Vehn ("John") Lam, who was seventeen years
20 old at the time and had only one prior arrest, confessed to his involvement in Mr. Seivert's killing at 21 the time of his arrest on January 7, 2004. In 2005, John was found guilty of first degree murder and 22 sentenced as an adult to twenty-five years to life, plus a one-year enhancement because a firearm
23 was used in the crime. He is currently serving his sentence at San Quentin State Prison. As of 24 August 2017, John has served more than thirteen years of his sentence. At the time of his 25 sentencing, he was not projected to be eligible for parole until 2030. Nevertheless, the attached
26 timeline of his activities while in custody shows that he committed himself to changing his life from 27 the very beginning of his incarceration.

1 This Petition requests that John Lam's sentence and conviction be commuted to fifteen
2 years to life for second degree murder, which will make him eligible for parole consideration
3 within the next year.¹ Under the California State Constitution and state law, the Governor, on 4 conditions the Governor deems proper, has authority to grant a reprieve, pardon, and 5 commutation.² The Governor's commutation power traces back to the English Common Law
6 and is a "broad" power traditionally vested in the Governor, not the courts.³ It is separate from,
7 and independent of, the Legislature's power to define punishment.⁴ For the reasons discussed in 8 this Petition, John is deserving of a commutation of his sentence from twenty-five years to life to 9 fifteen years to life.

10 This Petition describes the events leading up to Mr. Seivert's death, as well as the events of 11 the last thirteen years. It will explore John Lam's childhood, his relationship with the other young 12 people involved in the crime, the facts surrounding Mr. Seivert's murder, and John's trial and 13 sentencing. It will also outline the advances in scientific understanding and jurisprudence regarding 14 youth offenders since John's trial. Finally, it will tell the story of John's life in prison, detailing his 15 personal growth, education, accomplishments, and life goals. This Petition will illustrate the 16 extraordinary rehabilitation and accountability John has demonstrated.

17 In light of the many circumstances discussed in this Petition, I respectfully request that you 18 commute John's sentence.

19 20 II. JOHN'S CHILDHOOD

21 John Lam was born on [REDACTED] 1986 in Sacramento, California. He is the youngest of five 22 children. His parents and older siblings immigrated to the United States from Hong Kong in

24 ¹ Given the nature of the crime in this case, a commutation to manslaughter would also be 25 warranted.

1 1981. After the Vietnam War, his family fled to Hong Kong and lived in the refugee camp for a 2 couple of years. John was living with his parents and siblings at the time of the crime. Although
3 he had love and support at home, growing up in Sacramento was not easy. Both of John's 4 parents worked long hours picking fruits in the fields and other labor intensive side jobs to 5 support the family. This meant that they were not home to supervise him as often as they would 6 have liked to be. Growing up, he witnessed verbal and physical conflict between his parents, and 7 suicidal threats by his mother. His uncle, who struggled with addiction and was in and out of 8 jail, lived in the home and was a source of instability and conflict. These early childhood
9 experiences left John feeling inadequate and seeking control.⁵

10 John began middle school around the time that his uncle moved into the home. During his 11 first week of school, he was approached by several gang members who picked a fight with him
12 and ultimately attacked him. Out of fear of being labeled a snitch, he did not report the incident
13 to the school. Instead, John began skipping class to avoid being bullied. He found solace in a 14 group of Asian immigrant peers who were also truant from school. There, John found a sense of 15 belonging and control. These peers became close friends and, together, they began engaging in 16 petty crime.⁶ When he was fourteen years old, John was arrested for unlawful possession of a 17 firearm and served three months in juvenile detention.⁷

18 To separate him from this negative peer group in Sacramento, John's parents moved his 19 family to nearby Elk Grove, California shortly after his release. At Elk Grove High School, John 20 enjoyed school, had an exemplary attendance record, and maintained a 3.0 GPA. He worked 21 from age fourteen to the time of his arrest at age seventeen at McDonald's, Water World, and 22 then Albertson's. At the time of John's arrest, he had worked twenty-eight hours/week as a 23 courtesy clerk at Albertson's for approximately one year. While he appeared, on the surface, to 24 be doing well, he was internally profoundly troubled. He continued to associate with friends who

1 centered their behavior and camaraderie around illegal activities.⁸ These friends were his
2 codefendants in his life crime.

3 Shortly before the crime, John's best friend committed suicide. This tragic event rocked
4 John to his very core and left him feeling angry, lonely, and depressed.⁹

6 III. JOHN'S RELATIONSHIP WITH HIS CO-DEFENDANTS

7 Even after John moved to Elk Grove in high school, he remained close friends with a 8 group of young men who engaged in criminal activity. They got into fights, jumped people, and 9 carried weapons.¹⁰

10 John knew Nicole Carroll and Matthew Seivert from Elk Grove High School. Though he 11 had a crush on Nicole early on, she had chosen to date Matthew Seivert instead of him, before
12 moving to Los Angeles to live with her mother.¹¹

15 IV. THE MURDER OF MATTHEW SEIVERT

16 On the afternoon of December 23, 2003, Nicole Carroll vented to John about Matthew, 17 claiming that he had made disparaging and racist remarks about Asians to her father, who is 18 Japanese. John responded by offering to beat Matthew up to teach him a lesson. He felt that 19 doing so would prove his worth to Nicole.¹² That evening, he called his friends, who then
20 contacted others, until a dozen or so other young men had agreed to help. They met at a boy
21 named Voong's house and discussed the plan. Killing or shooting Mr. Seivert was not explicitly 22 discussed. Their plan was to wait until Mr. Seivert was at Tahoe Park with Nicole, and then to

1 get out of their cars and beat him up. They were all going to come from different directions to
2 trap him.¹³

3 That night, Nicole made plans to meet Mr. Seivert at Tahoe Park. At around 12:30am,
4 Mr. Seivert left his home and drove his mother's car to the park. He and Nicole spoke for a few
5 minutes, and then he got in his car to leave. Nicole called John and stated, "He is leaving right
6 now. Go get him." When Mr. Seivert started to drive off, John drove to the passenger side of the 7 Mr. Seivert's vehicle to block him in. Hung Thieu Ly, one of the youths in the group, got out of 8 his car and shot the victim multiple times. At that point, everyone rushed back in their cars and 9 drove a way. Everyone met back at Voong's house except for Ly, who was dropped off.¹⁴ John 10 was very upset at the time, and immediately blamed the others for not sticking to the plan.¹⁵

11 12 V. ARRESTS AND CONFESSIONS OF JOHN AND CO-DEFENDANTS

13 In the early morning hours of December 24, 2003, Sacramento Police Officers ("SPD")
14 responded to the area of Tahoe Park "regarding suspicious circumstances and sounds of several 15 shots heard from the general vicinity of the park."¹⁶ The officers drove around the park, but 16 located no people or vehicles. Within minutes, the SPD received another call reporting a traffic
17 collision into a fence on 8th Avenue, near Tahoe Park. Police officers and emergency personnel
18 responded, located Matthew Seivert, and transported him to the U.C. Davis Medical Center. Mr.
19 Seivert had sustained gunshot wounds to the head and chest.¹⁷

20 That afternoon, detectives spoke with Mr. Seivert's mother in the Intensive Care waiting 21 room of the U.C. Davis Medical Center. She indicated that her son's ex-girlfriend, Nicole 22 Carroll, had called him the night before at around 7:00 or 8:00 p.m. Nicole called again close to

1 midnight and spoke with Mr. Seivert. At around 12:30 a.m., he left in his mother's car and said
2 that he would be back in twenty minutes. He and Nicole had dated about two years prior, but
3 Nicole had moved to Los Angeles over a year before to live with her mother. She was in 4 Sacramento visiting her father over the holidays. Mr. Seivert's mother said she called his cell
5 phone a few times at around 1:05 a.m. and could not understand what was said on the line, so
6 called again and the phone was not answered. At around 1:30 am she went to Nicole's father's 7 home and Nicole's older sister told her that Nicole was at the mall and had not seen Mr. Seivert.
8 Police contacted Nicole on December 24, 2003. She denied any knowledge of the victim being 9 shot. Mr. Seivert died the next day, December 25, 2003. No statement was ever obtained from 10 him.¹⁸

11 Two days later, On December 27, 2003, detectives contacted John Lam. He 12 acknowledged that he knew Mr. Seivert from Hiram Johnson High School and that he was a 13 friend of Nicole Carroll. He said that he was with Nicole Carroll on the day of the shooting, but 14 not at Tahoe Park. He stated that he had not heard about the victim's death until the detective
15 told him.¹⁹

16 On January 6, 2004, Nicole Carroll's stepmother became suspicious of her, contacted the 17 police, and placed a pretext call with Nicole. During the call, Nicole admitted to being at the 18 scene and indicated that the plan was not to shoot or kill Mr. Seivert. She placed John Lam and 19 at least eight or nine other people, whose names she did not know, at the scene. Nicole Carroll
20 and John Lam were arrested on January 7, 2004. Officers went to John's residence with search 21 warrants and found an unloaded .357 caliber revolver and a T-shirt that had writing associated 22 with the Oriental Boys. It was later determined that the revolver was not involved in the shooting
23 and the T-shirt was found to have belonged to one of John's brothers.²⁰

1 When John was taken into custody and confronted with information regarding his
2 involvement in the murder, he initially denied involvement. However, within a matter of hours,
3 John confessed to his role in Mr. Seivert's murder. He acknowledged that his friend, Hung
4 Thieu Ly, was the person who shot Mr. Seivert, and that while this was not part of the plan, he
5 knew that Ly had a gun. Incidentally, even the Sentencing Judge acknowledged that the original
6 intention was not to kill Mr. Seivert.

8 VI. JOHN'S TRIAL AND SENTENCING

9 John Lam was charged with murder and tried with four other co-defendants: Nicole
10 Carroll; Hung Ly; Jimmy Chi Cooc; and John Dich. The other youths present during the crime
11 were granted immunity in exchange for their testimony.²¹ The Deputy District Attorney relied on 12 a theory of first degree murder by means of lying in wait, showing the defendants acted in 13 wanton and willful disregard for the victim's life and acted in a manner likely to cause the 14 victim's death.²²

15 The jury found all five defendants guilty of violation of Section 187(a) of the California
16 Penal Code (Murder, First Degree), and found true the special circumstances that the shooter, 17 Hung Thieu Ly, intentionally killed the victim while lying in wait.²³ Mr. Ly was sentenced to 18 Life Without the Possibility of Parole. John and co-defendants Jimmy Chi Cooc, John Dich, and 19 Nicole Melissa Carroll were sentenced to twenty-five years to life.

22 VII. JOHN'S PRIOR CRIMINAL HISTORY

23 John has only one misdemeanor violation for being minor in possession of a firearm, 24 arising from a 2001 arrest after officers responded to the scene of a stolen vehicle stop. During a

26 ²¹ See Exhibit C, page 14.

1 search of the vehicle, the officers recovered three firearms, two of which were determined to 2 have been reported stolen. John was a passenger in the car and, when questioned, admitted to
3 having possession of a stolen weapon.²⁴

4 5 VIII. JOHN'S INCARCERATION

6 John awaited trial in juvenile detention from January 7, 2004 to May 7, 2005, his 7 eighteenth birthday, at which point he was transferred to the Sacramento County Jail.

9 On March 3, 2006, John was transferred to the California Department of Corrections and 10 Rehabilitation (CDCR) at SATF Corcoran. In his time at CDCR, John has actively pursued 11 opportunities for education, vocational training, leadership, community involvement, and work.
12 He has found hope in his ability to learn, grow, and become a better person.²⁵

13 John's Education and Vocational Training

14 John graduated with his high school diploma on August 3, 2007 from Tulare Lake Adult 15 School at SATF Corcoran.²⁶ Within one month, he was actively pursuing higher education by 16 enrolling at Coastline Community College. Between August 2007 and December 2009, John 17 took courses in everything from Business to Marine Sciences for a full academic year, 18 maintained a 3.9 GPA, and made the honor roll every single quarter.²⁷ John was not able to 19 complete his Associates Degree as early as he had hoped because CDCR stopped proctoring 20 Coastline Community College Distance Learning courses after the state budget cuts in 21 December of 2009.

22 Upon receiving notification of the education program's ending, John immediately began 23 contacting other distance learning programs to pursue his education. In January of 2010, John

1 enrolled in Blackstone Career Institute and subsequently completed the thirty-one lessons
2 required to obtain a Legal Assistant/Paralegal Diploma.²⁸ Again, John maintained honor roll
3 grades throughout his studies. In January of 2011, John completed Blackstone Career Institute's
4 Criminal Law and Procedure certificate program.²⁹

5 When Coastline Community College resumed its services in 2011, John re-enrolled. He 6 received four Associate's Degrees with honors, as well as a Business Certificate, from 7 Coastline.³⁰ He then began applying to college programs around the country. He was accepted to 8 the Extended Studies Business Administration/General Business BS degree program at Adams
9 State University, where he enrolled in Business Statistics and Macroeconomics Principles.³¹ He 10 has also completed numerous college courses at Patten University at San Quentin.

11 In several laudatory chronos throughout 2014, Kara Union, the Program Coordinator of 12 the Prison University Project at San Quentin, wrote that "Mr. Lam should be commended for his 13 academic accomplishments and for his commitment to earning an education."³² John will 14 continue pursuing his Bachelor's Degree in prison and, if given the opportunity, upon release.

16 John has also committed himself to the vocational goal of becoming an alcohol and drug
17 addiction counselor. In August of 2013, he earned a Certificate of Achievement for successfully 18 completing the Addiction Recovery Counseling Program at San Quentin.³³ In July of 2016, he 19 was certified by the Addiction Counselor Certification Board of California as an Addictions
20 Treatment Intern.³⁴ Recently, he applied to be a certified drug counselor with the California

3 John's Self-Help Programming

4 As evidenced by the enclosed list of self-help certificates, chronos, and achievements,
5 John has consistently devoted himself to his religious and spiritual education. In January 2010,
6 he earned several diplomas for completion of the Voice of Prophecy bible courses. He
7 subsequently enrolled in courses with the Rock of Ages Prison Ministry Discipleship Institute,
8 the American Bible Academy, the Gospel Echoes Team, the Good News Jail & Prison Ministry
9 Bible Correspondence Course, the ECS Prison Ministry of Northern California, and Source of 10 Light Schools.³⁶

11 He has also completed numerous violence-prevention and insight-building programs that 12 have allowed him to process the grave consequences of his life crime. These include workshops,
13 classes, and curricula through Men of Standards, Inside Solutions, New Leaf, Project IMPACT
14 (Incarcerated Men Putting Away Childish Things), ROOTS (Restoring Our Original True 15 Selves), and GRIP (Guiding Rage Into Power), among others.³⁷

16 John is an active participant and skilled facilitator in Criminals and Gangmembers
17 Anonymous ("CGA").³⁸ As a member of CGA, John is required not only to abide by strict 18 ethical guidelines,³⁹ but he is responsible for maintaining these guidelines and principles in his 19 role as facilitator. Vivienne Florendo, San Quentin CGA Chief Sponsor, wrote in her letter of 20 support that John "has demonstrated an ability to interact and communicate effectively with 21 individuals of all races, backgrounds, religions, and cultures." According to Ms. Florendo, John

1 “is to be commended for his commitment to self-improvement and helping others by learning
2 and applying the principles that promote peace in the community.”⁴⁰

3 John does not participate in these programs as a platitude. He does so out of a desire to 4 reckon with his violent past and move forward into a peaceful and productive future. His many 5 laudatory chronos and commendations in these programs are a testament to his earnest zeal for 6 self-improvement.

7 John’s Leadership and Community Involvement

9 At CDCR, John discovered his deep interest in philanthropy, charitable giving, and the 10 process of living his amends by making the world a better place. In that vein, he has spent a 11 majority of his time on projects with Kid C.A.T. (Creating Awareness Together), a group of 12 juvenile lifers who engage in community service work. Because of John’s commitment to the 13 principles and practices of Kid C.A.T., he was given the JoAnne C. McKinerney Award and 14 named Kid C.A.T. Member of the Year. In his letter accompanying the award, the CEO of Kid
15 C.A.T. wrote that John has “a giving heart, a courageous spirit, and a driving force that allows 16 [him] to create and inspire change.” He praised John’s “growth this year, not only as a member
17 of Kid C.A.T. but also as a human being.”⁴¹

18 John has also put his money where his mouth is, donating generously to organizations
19 that support worthy causes. He is especially committed to groups that support youth, including
20 World Vision and the Salvation Army.⁴²

21 John has further demonstrated his leadership and vision by writing for the San Quentin
22 News, and by actively participating in the newspaper’s forums with elected and community
23 leaders, including San Francisco District Attorney George Gascon, San Francisco Sheriff Ross

1 Mirkarimi, and Congresswoman Jackie Speier. In September of 2016, John earned a Certificate
2 of Appreciation in recognition of his writing, support, and contributions to the newspaper.⁴³

3 Although many of John's opportunities for programming arose when he was transferred 4 to San Quentin State Prison in 2012, he embarked on his journey of personal growth and 5 emotional transformation long before then. As early as February of 2004, Sacramento Juvenile 6 Center Chaplain, Carol Holmquist, praised John for his openness and honesty. It is her opinion
7 that "John is a young man with much potential. He understands the consequences of poor
8 choices and I believe he is very capable of being a productive citizen, a good student, and a
9 person who has a lot to offer others." She further noted, "For me, this is high praise. I sincerely
10 believe in John and have high hopes for his future."⁴⁴

11 John's Work Experience

12 John has worked consistently during his time at CDCR, seizing every possible
13 opportunity for vocational training, employment, and other productive uses of his time. He was 14 assigned to his first job as a building porter on November 10, 2007, and worked in that position 15 until March 2008. Since then, John has taken opportunities to work at ABE (Adult Basic 16 Education) III, as a medically disabled assistant, dining hall line server, and carpenter. He 17 successfully completed the National Center for Construction Education and Research's
18 ("NCCER") Contren Learning Series program, and was credentialed by the NCCER Registry.⁴⁵

19 As evidenced by his letters of support, John has earned the high praise of his supervisors
20 at the Maintenance Vocational Building (MVB) at San Quentin. Kevin Kierce, John's Plumbing
21 Shop Supervisor, who knew John for the two and a half years that he worked as a Plant 22 Operations Clerk, wrote in 2015 that John "conduct(s) himself with integrity, humility, and 23 honesty."⁴⁶

1 Correctional Officer K.A Davis described John as a “bright intelligent, respectful
2 individual” who “takes pride in his position as the unit clerk.” Officer Davis further described 3 John as “a self-starter, capable of working independently with the confidence and experience to 4 handle any assignments he’s given thoroughly and completely.” Officer Davis even offered to 5 appear in person on John’s behalf before the Board of Parole Hearings.⁴⁷

6 A group of staff members and supervisors from the prison carpenter shop also wrote a
7 letter of support on John’s behalf, in which they praised his work ethic and initiative. They wrote
8 that “[f]or the past two years that he has worked in M.V.B ... he took it upon himself to clean 9 the staff bathroom in our shop everyday which he is not assigned to, because he noticed a lack of 10 workers. He has carried himself with personal integrity and honesty, and we believe that he 11 would be an asset to any place he works and certainly an asset to society, should he get the 12 chance to be paroled one day.”⁴⁸

13 Maturity, professionalism, honesty, and integrity were common themes in John’s 14 vocational recommendations. David Akers, a pest control technician at San Quentin, said it best 15 when he stated in his letter, “Should I find myself in a position to recommend him, trust him, or 16 vouch for his honesty, I would not hesitate to do so.”⁴⁹

17 John’s Disciplinary History

18 A review of John’s records while incarcerated shows that he has never been disciplined
19 for misconduct.

20 IX. JOHN’S SUPPORT NETWORK

21 Today, several respected community members who work with young people and know
22 John personally consider him to be a gifted, intelligent and promising young man. They have 23 written letters in support of John’s request for commutation. John’s support network includes 24 school administrators, teachers, persons in community outreach, leaders of non-profit

1 organizations, counselors, and other valued members of the community. This petition highlights
2 the words and experiences of these supporters, including: Elizabeth Calvin, Senior Advocate at 3 Human Rights Watch; Scott Budnick, Founder and President of the Anti-Recidivism Coalition;
4 and several of John's former teachers, including Tamiko Broms, Lydia Cruz, and Patricia Tran.
5 Each came to know John through close personal experience.

6 As noted in the cover letter accompanying this petition, Ms. Calvin's and Mr. Budnick's
7 descriptions of John are particularly meaningful, as both have devoted their careers to working 8 with incarcerated young people. Ms. Calvin noted that, "From my first communication with him
9 (John) it was evident that he was striving to be introspective and honest. However, when I
10 compare his 2009 answers to the man he is today, the change is remarkable. He has greatly 11 matured and grown over the years. He is now a person unafraid to accept responsibility for the 12 pain he caused."⁵⁰ Mr. Budnick highlighted John's commitment to community service by noting 13 that "John has created groups to give back to society, and has motivated countless inmates to 14 change and give back in similar ways."⁵¹

15 At the time of this writing, John has been incarcerated for over thirteen years. During this 16 time, he has undertaken immense personal examination and achieved remarkable growth through 17 the guidance of his mentors and the help of therapy, education, and community involvement.
18 The people and mentors that John associates with today reflect his values and character.

19 John is fortunate to have plentiful resources available to him outside of prison, which will 20 guarantee his successful transition back to society. These resources include: housing, emotional, 21 financial, and transportation support from his nurturing family; eight separate offers of 22 employment, including one from Scott Budnick at ARC; and an internship offer with Elizabeth 23 Calvin at Human Rights Watch.

1 X. DEVELOPMENTS IN UNDERSTANDING YOUTHFUL OFFENDERS

2 In the many years since the court’s ruling that John should be sentenced to twenty-five years
3 to life, even though he was only 17 years old at the time of the crime, the United States Supreme
4 Court issued several important decisions that have changed the way courts treat and sentence
5 juveniles. These decisions include Roper v. Simmons (ruling that juveniles cannot be sentenced to 6 the death), Graham v. Florida (juveniles cannot be sentenced to life without parole for non-
7 homicide crimes), and Miller v. Arizona (juveniles cannot be sentenced to mandatory life without 8 parole for homicide crimes). Roper and Graham established that children are constitutionally 9 different from adults for sentencing purposes, and Miller applied this principle to crimes involving a 10 homicide.⁵²

11 These decisions were based on the Court’s review of sociological, neurological, and other
12 scientific research providing evidence that juveniles possess unique characteristics. Because children
13 have lessened culpability, the Court reasoned, they are less deserving of the most serious forms of 14 punishment.⁵³ The majority opinion in Roper found that the distinctive attributes of youth diminish 15 the penological justifications for imposing the harshest sentences on juvenile offenders, even when 16 they commit terrible crimes.

17 In deciding Roper, Miller, and Graham, the Court relied on key research in juvenile 18 development that established the following facts:

- 19 • Juveniles have a “lack of maturity and an “underdeveloped sense of 20 responsibility,” which often results in recklessness, impulsivity, and “ill-
21 considered actions and decisions.”⁵⁴
22 • Juveniles’ personalities are not as well formed as those of adults.⁵⁵
23 • Juveniles have limited control over their environment.⁵⁶

Alabama, 567 U.S. 460 (2012).

27 ⁵⁴ Id. at 569.

28 ⁵⁵ Id. at 570.

⁵⁶ Id. at 569.

- 1 • Juveniles are more vulnerable “to negative influences and outside pressures,”
- 2 including peer pressure.⁵⁷
- 3 • Juveniles lack the ability to extricate themselves from crime-producing settings.⁵⁸
- 4 • Juveniles have “[d]ifficulty in weighing long-term consequences.”⁵⁹

5 The Supreme Court has also cited scientific evidence showing that youth are more capable 6 of change and rehabilitation, because their character and identity are not yet defined. In Roper, the 7 Court found that “it is less supportable to conclude that even a heinous crime committed by a
8 juvenile is evidence of irretrievably depraved character.”⁶⁰ The court in Roper went on to note that 9 “[t]he relevance of youth as a mitigating factor derives from the fact that the signature qualities of 10 youth are transient; as individuals mature the impetuous and recklessness that may dominate in 11 younger years can subside.”⁶¹

12 These Supreme Court decisions have required state courts and legislatures to take a new 13 look at extreme criminal sentences imposed on young people. Consistent with U.S. Supreme 14 Court holdings, California state jurisprudence has recognized the difference between children
15 and adults for sentencing purposes.⁶² The California legislature also took steps to address the 16 courts’ concerns about the harsh consequences of long-term, extreme sentences for children
17 when it passed Senate Bill 9 (California Fair Sentencing for Youth Act) and Senate Bills 260
18 and 261 (Youth Offender Parole Hearings). SB 260 includes an explicit statement 19 acknowledging the emerging research on the developmental differences between adolescent and 20 adult brains.

28 ⁶² People v. Caballero, 55 Cal.4th 262 (Cal. 2012); People v. Gutierrez, 58 Cal.4th 1354
(Cal. 2014); People v. Franklin, 63 Cal.4th 261(Cal. 2016).

1 While these cases and legislative developments do not directly control the outcome of this
2 Petition, they help illustrate the nature of John's case and they counsel an approach that recognizes
3 his capacity to change. John and the other teenagers present at Tahoe Park on December 23
4 demonstrated all the hallmark characteristics of youth. They acted with a "lack of maturity,"⁶³ an
5 "underdeveloped sense of responsibility,"⁶⁴ and exhibited "difficulty in weighing long-term
6 consequences."⁶⁵ John associated with a crime-prone peer group because of "negative influences and 7 outside pressures."⁶⁶

8 However, as the Supreme Court's recent cases have emphasized, John's inability to 9 adequately consider the consequences of his actions was not remarkable; it was an inherent 10 characteristic of his youth. It was also entirely consistent with the scientific evidence regarding 11 juvenile development that the Supreme Court relied on to differentiate juvenile from adult 12 sentencing.

13 Roper, Graham and Miller provide the correct framework by which to judge the culpability
14 of juveniles. This framework did not exist at the time the court issued its order of judgment and 15 sentence in John's case. Viewing John's case in light of this framework helps demystify his actions
16 and motivations in this terrible crime. The evidence shows that his acts were not those of a monster, 17 but rather those of a misled, impulsive boy. Today, John is no longer that boy. He has grown into a 18 confident, empathetic and motivated man.

20 XI. CONCLUSION

21 This Petition and the relief sought are entirely consistent with the current state of the law
22 and developments in brain science that are crucial to both the letter and spirit of California's new 23 youth offender parole laws. While this case involves tragic and unnecessary damage to Mr.

1 Seivert, his family, and the five young people sentenced to life in prison, this Petition also tells a 2 success story.

3 John is a source of hope and inspiration to many, but he is also a real thirty-one year-old
4 man with boundless potential. The first exhibit attached to this Petition is a letter from John to 5 Governor Brown. In his letter, he describes his life before incarceration and his crime, as well as 6 the work he has done in prison to better himself and to help others. John also lays out his hopes
7 for the future. This Petition gives the Governor's office the opportunity to allow John's resilient 8 spirit and good works to flourish in society.

9 John is worthy of the extraordinary act of commutation. He is fully rehabilitated and 10 presents no risk to the community; therefore, his sentence should be commuted to fifteen years-
11 life, affording him the opportunity to go before the Board of Parole Hearings within the next 12 year and demonstrate his suitability for release on parole.

Travis Larimer

In 2001, Travis Larimer and his friends started following a car they suspected was occupied by rival gang members. Someone in Mr. Larimer's car opened fire at the car, killing Henry Gomez. During the shooting, Mr. Gomez's passengers fled. Melvin Comejo was shot multiple times as he ran, Raul Guzman broke his arm, and Alberto Herrera sprained his ankle. On July 30, 2004, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Larimer to 42 years to life for murder, attempted murder, and a gang enhancement.

When Mr. Larimer applied for clemency, he emphasized his transformation in prison. He wrote, "I am not the same person who was arrested in 2001." He described reflecting on his past decisions and continued, "The classes I've taken have helped me to gain insights into my crimes, myself, and others. I am a new person and know that I will be a valuable asset to society."

Mr. Larimer is now 38 years old and has been in prison for almost 17 years. During that time, he has only been disciplined four times for misconduct. He reported that he got sober and has not been involved with any gang activity during his incarceration. Rather than falling prey to gangs and drugs in prison as so many others do, Mr. Larimer focused on participating in positive activities and turning his life around. He earned several A.A. degrees from Coastline Community College, and made the President's List in 2017 due to his excellent grades. Mr. Larimer also completed vocational training. He has participated in many self-help programs including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Overcoming Addiction, Alternatives to Violence, and Anger Management.

Mr. Larimer has also received praise from many staff members who know him well. A clinical social worker who taught Mr. Larimer in a sociology class praised his work and wrote, "In my class Travis was a leader, an excellent student, and a person who demonstrated maturity and a true interest in learning." A professor reported, "Mr. Larimer is a very respectful and humble personality that always participates in classroom discussions and exemplifies all of the ideal traits of a student taking a junior college course. . . . I am optimistic he will continue his success in anything related to academics and personal growth." In 2018, a correctional officer commended Mr. Larimer for his positive behavior and wrote, "My observations have led me to believe he is motivated and committed to the hard work needed to reform himself."

When Mr. Larimer was a young man, he was wrapped up in gang activity and recklessly participated in this tragic crime. However, since then, he has turned away from his former negative life and has instead worked hard to become a mature, educated, responsible man. I believe Mr. Larimer has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Travis Larimer to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jason Lee

In late September 1982, Jason Lee unsuccessfully attempted to rob Sie Dourk Kim, a gas station attendant. Several days later, Mr. Lee returned to the gas station and shot Mr. Kim in the back of the neck, killing him. He then removed approximately $400 from the cash register and another $100 from the back room. On July 1, 1985, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Lee to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus four years for the attempted robbery and a firearm enhancement.

Mr. Lee has been incarcerated for nearly 36 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Lee wrote, "I was 23 when I committed this utterly senseless crime, and appeal to you that I am not the same person that I was more than three decades ago." Mr. Lee explained that he committed this crime because he felt like a failure and saw an easy way to get money for his alcohol and gambling addictions.

Mr. Lee is now 59 years old and has demonstrated a desire to "help society rather than subtracting" because "he wants to do something good before he goes." Over the years, his work ethic has been commended and rated excellent. In his current role as an adult caregiver to elderly and disabled inmates, Mr. Lee states "he does whatever he can to help out." He has also provided clerical support to facilitate several Men for Honor programs, including Helping Youth Offenders Understand Their Harm; Victim Sensitivity Awareness; and New Choices, Different Directions. Mr. Lee has also worked to better himself. He completed a vocational drafting program and lived on a positive programming facility for seven years. Mr. Lee participated in rehabilitative programs such as Celebrate Recovery, Houses of Healing, and Victim Awareness. He has avoided gangs entirely, has never been disciplined for alcohol or drugs, and has not been violent in more than 25 years. Recently, a volunteer lauded Mr. Lee, writing, "I have witnessed his profound growth and the positive growth he promotes in others."

Mr. Lee committed a very serious crime, which undoubtedly devastated Mr. Kim's family and community. However, over the last several decades, he has shown remorse for his crime, sought to give back to his community, and worked to rehabilitate himself. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Lee has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jason Lee to a total of 35 years to life.

- more than three decades ago.

I immigrated to the U.S.A. from South Korea in 1976 with my family; father, mother and a younger brother. I was an immature 17, and had serious trouble adjusting. I did not understand or speak English, could not communicate with anyone outside the family. And worst of all, I failed to fill the role of an older son that my family desperately needed. My relationship with my father became strained. The academic challenges were beyond my capabilities and I began to stay away from home and hung out with individuals who like myself felt we were failures.

It was in this state of recklessness and dysfunction that I committed a crime of which I am deeply ashamed.

To my great remorse, there's no way I can make up for the pain and sufferings I have caused to the victim's family and also my family. Immediately after the conviction I was informed by my brother that the victim's family contacted my own through a pastor to let me know that they forgave me. I will eternally be grateful for that and it mark the beginning of my rehabilitation and new path. To this day, I have never had an opportunity to face them to say how sorry I am. If the victim's family will let me, I would like to meet the family members of the victim and tell them how sorry I am for depriving a son, father and a husband.

My father passed away at 65 in 1997, in my 12th year of incarceration, and I am certain my imprisonment contributed to his early passing. My mother is 83 and visits me when she can, and has remained supportive throughout, as have my other family members. I have been married to my wife, Valeree, for 26 years, and she and mother say they will come back to Korea with me if I am released. My brother says he'll set up an American burger restaurant for us to run. I am not a U.S. citizen and deportation is certain if I am paroled. I am positive I shall be an asset to the community that I settle in in Korea. I recognize that I committed a horrendous and senseless and I take full responsibility.

My sentence is Life Without Possibility of Parole. I humbly appeal to you ^{to} commute my sentence to 25-to-Life, which would give me an opportunity to go before the Board for them to assess whether I deserve a chance of parole.

From a level IV-180 facility I moved to a "270", then to the "Progressive Program Facility" at Lancaster (CSP-LAC, A-Yard), from there to level III, and finally to a level II yard designated as one of the new "Programming Facility" here at California Health Care Facility.

I am proud to have arrived here, since it shows I have met all the criteria placement in an environment where a good record is essential. My record would show that I have never been involved in a violent incident or drug activity, even though I have been in high-security environment where both were prevalent. I have managed to complete two vocational classes: Drafting, and Silk Screen, when they were offered to Lwop inmates. It is my sincere intention to continue with my spiritual rehabilitation and self-improvement as long as I am able. Again, I am respectfully asking for a commutation to a sentence that would allow me a chance to parole, instead of the Lwop sentence that currently gives me no chance. My plea is truthful, and from the heart.

Fernando Lizarraga

In 1993, Fernando Lizarraga and his crime partner went near rival gang territory and asked Eileen Fuentes and Celia Luquin if they belonged to a rival gang. They said no. Mr. Lizarraga yelled out the name of his gang, and someone outside yelled the name of a rival gang. Mr. Lizarraga pulled out a gun and started firing. He shot Ms. Fuentes and Ms. Luquin, killing them. On June 27, 1995, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Lizarraga to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Lizarraga emphasized how much he has changed since his conviction, and showed sincere regret for his actions. Mr. Lizarraga wrote, "At twenty, I believed I was a man but through much self-reflection I now notice all the childish and irresponsible choices I made to show me otherwise." He continued, "I am deeply ashamed by my actions and am truly sorry for the harm and pain I inflicted [on] Celia, Eileen, their families, my community and all of society." Mr. Lizarraga applied for a commutation seeking the opportunity to appear before the parole board and "demonstrate my sincere desire to change and serve the communities I caused so much harm to."

Mr. Lizarraga is now 45 years old and has been in prison for more than 25 years. Despite serving a sentence that gave him no hope of being released in the future, he has demonstrated a commitment to turning his life around. Mr. Lizarraga stopped associating with gang members and has only been disciplined once in the past two decades in prison. He is pursuing self-help programs including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous. Mr. Lizarraga has maintained a positive work record and routinely receives above average work ratings from his supervisors. Mr. Lizarraga has a plan in place in the event of his release – he will live in a transitional housing facility and find a job to support himself. Mr. Lizarraga's parents and brother have also offered him housing, financial support, and help adjusting to life outside prison.

As a young man, Mr. Lizarraga was immersed in the gang lifestyle and committed this tragic crime as a result. Since coming to prison, he has left gangs and violence behind and has dedicated himself to rehabilitation. For these reasons, Mr. Lizarraga has earned an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Fernando Lizarraga to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. BRIEF CIRCUMSTANCE OF THE CRIME:

On July 16, 1995 I filed a timely notice of appeal which was affirmed by the court of Appeals on April 30, 1996.

On Sunday morning April 24, 1993 around 1:00A.M., Ramon Ruiz, Vincent Lara, and I drove into rival gang territory which resulted in the deaths of eleven year old [REDACTED] and fourteen year old [REDACTED] during a gang retaliation shooting.

I was charged with two counts of murder in violation of Penal Code Section 187 Subdivision(a) while personally using a gun in violation of Penal Code Section 12022.5 Subdivision(a). I was further charged with a multiple murder special circumstance pursuant to penal Code Section 190.2 Subdivision(a)(3).

3. EXPLAIN WHY YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION:

incorrigible because of my L.W.O.P. sentence.

I am currently housed at CSP-Solano Level II which is currently one of California's leading prisons on rehabilitation. Being exposed to the wide ranging self help programs available here has inspired me to make the change and grow into a better person. Due to my sentence, I am currently restricted from attending all L.T.o.p. and vocational classes due to my security concerns.

If commutation is granted, it would lessen my custody restrictions and allow me the opportunity to take full advantage of the vast programs Solano has to offer regarding self improvement and prepare me to maybe earn my release one day.

4. EXPLAIN WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED A COMMUTATION:

The causitive factors of my crime involved having roots to a neighborhood that was dominated by criminal gang activity. This contributed to my need to carry a gun which sadly ended with the tragic murders of two young girls. Despite all the chaos I experienced in my early years, preceding my crime I was determined to walk a more virtuos and superior path than most of my childhood friends. I was born and raised in South Central Los Angeles and I made the poor decision to associate with gang members to keep myself safe in such hostile environment. I now attend the Crim^linals & Gang Anononymous support group and through their guidande I no longer hold those same warped beliefs running with a gang promotes.

In 1990, my mother relocated her family to Ariz^lona to distance her children away from what she considered a war zone. My two brothers were heavily involved with gangs at that time. My membership with the gang was never very active. In Arizona I graduated from Mesa High Scho^l in 1991. I then pursued that by earning an Associates Degree in Electronics from Phoenix Institute of Technology in 1993. Having those educational peruits allowed me to structure my time apporpr^lately and stay out of trouble. My crime happened to occur on my first weekend back in California after graduating from P.I.T. in Arizona.

I was twenty years old at the time of crime and not able to weigh the consequences of my actions. This lead me to act recklessly due to impulsivity and immature judgement. Legislation has now passed recognizing these hallmark features of youth but have through whatever reason not included the L.W.O.P. population. The totality of my prison and street record demonstrates I do not fall under the stigma of irreparable and beyond redemption.

I strive and am determined to rehabilitate myself. At twenty, I believed I was a man but through much self-reflection I now notic^e all the childish and irresponsible choices I made to show me otherwise. I am no longer that immature youngster who was eager for approval from those I mistook for friends and have learned to recognize and overcome those warped beliefs that lifestyle imposed on me.

I have consistently programed positively by keeping it respectful with staff and inmates alike. L.W.O.P.s have a limited limited employment opportunities in prison but when possible I have held positive employment by fullfilling all my duties and responsibilities and being eager to work. I am always well liked by staff and supervisors and would get recognized and recommened for assignments by them only to be impeded for advancement because of my L.W.O.P. sentence. Only on one occasion did the Warden approve me for a gate pass for an assignment at PIA Optical where I excelled in my duties.

With these reasons in mind, I would like to add that I am deeply ashamed by my actions and am truly sorry for the harm and pain I inflicted [REDACTED], [REDACTED], their families, my community and all of society. I am only asking for the opportunity to come before the board and be able to demonstrate my sincere desire to change and serve the communities I caused so much harm to.

Eric Lockhart

On May 15, 2000, Eric Lockhart participated in the robbery and murder of Gerald Brown. Mr. Lockhart's crime partner lured Mr. Brown out of his home at which point Mr. Lockhart and another crime partner robbed and shot Mr. Brown in the chest and forearm, killing him. Mr. Lockhart was arrested eight days later. On December 12, 2003, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Lockhart to life without the possibility of parole for first degree murder.

Mr. Lockhart is now 56 years old and has been incarcerated for over 18 years. He is seeking a commutation based on his rehabilitation. During an interview with the Board, Mr. Lockhart stated, "I believe I can be a great help to society . . . to my family. I know I made a bad choice. I feel I deserve another chance . . . by proving myself as a model inmate."

Despite his lengthy incarceration, Mr. Lockhart has never been disciplined for misconduct and has avoided substance abuse and gangs in prison. He has participated in self-help programming including Narcotics Anonymous, Getting Out by Going In, and Anger Management. In 2016, an anger management sponsor commended Mr. Lockhart on his diligence, professionalism, and dedication to self-help programming. Mr. Lockhart has also taken steps to improve educationally and has earned his GED and an A.A. in Biblical Studies from Summit Bible College. He has been commended for his dedication to his work and for his commitment to vocational training. He has completed vocational training programs and is certified as an Engine Technician by the Engine Training Council, a Network Cable Technician by C-Tech Associates, and as a Customer Service Specialist by the Electronics Technicians Association International. Also in 2016, a carpentry shop supervisor wrote that Mr. Lockhart "has proven to be honest, professional, and diligent in his work duties. . . . He is respectful to both staff and inmates and will help in any capacity without being asked to do so." In 2014, a vocational instructor commended Mr. Lockhart on his professionalism and participation in his vocational building maintenance class.

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Lockhart.

I believe that Mr. Lockhart has taken the necessary steps toward self-improvement and has shown dedication through positive efforts in his rehabilitation and is no longer the man he was when he committed this crime. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence to allow him to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

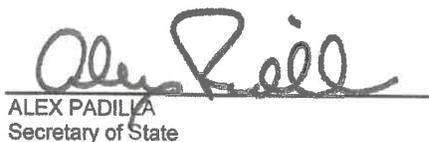

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Eric Lockhart to a total of 22 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Explain why you are requesting commutation

I am requesting a commutation for these various impediments to my rehabilitation productivity:

I procured one college Degree; AA Degree in Theology (8) eight Vocation certificates; I have successfully passed the (EETC) certification test in Four Stroke engine; and TWO Stroke engine; Electronics Technicians Association(ETA) as a certified Customer Service Specialist; (C-TECH) Network Cabling copper-based systems, Leviton certified Installer; (C-TECH) Network cabling Specialist; (NCCER) Core curriculum in the standardized craft Training Program; Vocational Building Maintenance NCCER Construction Technology. Also I procured my High School Equivalency Certificate and several certificates in self help groups.

Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I Eric Lockhart respectfully beseech you Honorable Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. to grant this commutation of sentence.

Governor Brown it has been a lengthy journey on this road of rehabilitation, extremely arduous at times, incredibly illuminating spiritually and Intellectually.

My quest for change initiated long before the current prison reform acts, various senate Bills and Elderly programs, etcetera. In 2015 I was transferred to NORTH KERN STATE PRISON, I enrolled at SUMMIT BIBLE COLLEGE a fully accredited Bible College, located in Bakersfield CA, SEE: CDCR-128B (REV.4174) and grades.

I had long ago made up my mind that no abstacle would impede my development. Throughout my years incarcerated in CDCR I took every opportunity granted to me to participate in a vocational trade, SEE (EETC) certificates dated OCT 10, 2016 and AUG 26, 2016; (NCCER) certificates dated AUG 27, 2014, DEC 19,2013; (C-TECH) certificate dated 2013; (ETA) certificate dated MAY 23, 2013. I have consistently held employment, I have a tremendous work history.

Since I have been incarcerated I have taken the initiative and mentored the younger inmates and strived to be a role model to all. SEE; Laudatory General Chrono dated JAN 14, 2014; JULY 13. 2016 and work supervisors reports. Also SEE; self-help General Chronos; Anger Management dated OCT 13, 2016, AUG 3, 2016; (NA) dated JAN 12 2014 thur MARCH 2015; Parenting Education Program dated MARCH 28, 2008; (E.D.G.E.) dated JAN 6, 2008, and (GOGI) dated FEB 28, 2017.

It is without doubt California is at the forefront of prisoner rehabilitation, currently L.W.O.P.P inmates will have the opportunity to go to level II prisons.

If commutation is granted I would have a better chance to transfer to San Quentin and petition, beg, plead for acceptance into the "computer code program courses" and Business and computer related "The Last Mile Program".

If commutation is granted and ultimately I am granted parole I would apply for "Mentorship Peer Counseling Program and programs that helps at risk youths, availble exclusively at San Quentin State Prison, presently L.W.O.P.P are excluded from these profound programs.

The at risk youth program coincides enormously with my training in the E.D.G.E program(EDUCATION, DIVERSION, & GOALS TO ENDEAVOR.

I was a member at KERN VALLEY STATE PRISON in DELANO, CA IN 2007 as the The Follow-up Coordinator. My duties were;

1. I was responsible for preparation and distribution of all forms paperwork regarding the continuing progress of E.D.G.E.'S youth.
2. I was responsible in keeping a file of records concerning the follow-up process.
3. I was empowered to work with staff, guests, and sponsors in the performance of their duties.
4. I was responsible for screening all incoming and outgoing correspondence between youth and E.D.G.E. members.
5. I was directly answerable to the Executive Committee and the General Membership.

My ultimate goal, with the knowledge acquired from these programs, I want to get involved with job training primarily via apprenticeships for the at risk youths. This would be a grand opportunity to give back to the Great State of California and just as important, assisting wayward youths,

PURPOSE:

1. To initiate and develop projects, prison counseling workshops, educational seminars, and lectures that assist young people in overcoming anti-social behavior.
2. To constructively utilize individual experiences of convicted felons in our inter-relationship with troubled youths.
3. To train and equip E.D.G.E. members on an individual and group level in using their life experiences to assist youths with their problems.
4. To initiate and maintain communication with the general public, law enforcement agencies, and youth-oriented groups and individuals for the purpose of disseminating information about E.D.G.E. and soliciting project participation for E.D.G.E. involvement.

Hung Thieu Ly

In December 2003, 19-year-old Hung Ly's friend recruited him and several others to help beat up Matthew Seivert. They believed that Mr. Seivert had made racial comments about a mutual friend and her father. Mr. Ly and his friends went to a park, confronted Mr. Seivert, and blocked his car in. Mr. Ly pulled out a gun and fired multiple shots, killing Mr. Seivert. On March 24, 2006, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ly to life without the possibility of parole for murder, plus a 25 years to life firearm enhancement.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Ly described the remorse he feels for participating in this crime and his determination to turn his life around. He wrote, "I came into prison lost, careless, and hopeless. I have since awoken and have accepted full responsibility for unjustly murdering Matthew Seivert. I have been diligently working on restoring my life and addressing all my unresolved issues that caused me to be so unpredictable in the past." Mr. Ly continued, "If ever given a second chance at freedom, I plan on dedicating my life to serving my community."

During his incarceration, Mr. Ly has demonstrated a sincere dedication to rehabilitation. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct in nearly 15 years in prison, and has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence. He participated in multiple self-help programs including Anger Management, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Victim Awareness, and Getting Out by Going In. Mr. Ly has also worked hard to further his education by earning his GED, as well as a career readiness certificate from Baylor University. Staff members who have closely supervised Mr. Ly have commended him for his positive behavior and attitude. In 2016, a correctional officer wrote, "In my opinion, when Ly is granted parole, he will become a productive law-abiding citizen who would not have trouble reintegrating back into society." Another correctional officer praised Mr. Ly's work ethic and wrote, "Ly has attended numerous [groups] offered at this facility on a regular basis for self-improvement and rehabilitation. In my opinion, Ly would be a successful member of society if released. He is to be commended for his efforts of becoming an honest, responsible, and law-abiding individual." Yet another officer described Mr. Ly as a "model inmate" and wrote that his good behavior "assures me that Inmate Ly is in the process of becoming an honest and responsible individual." Mr. Ly has a solid plan in place in the event of his release, and his family members have offered him housing, help finding a job, and support as he adjusts to life outside prison.

When he was a young man, Mr. Ly participated in a very serious crime that left a lasting impact on Mr. Seivert's loved ones. However, when Mr. Ly came to prison, he turned away from negative influences and instead dedicated himself to making amends and becoming a productive member of society. For these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole in the years ahead.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Hung Thieu Ly to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Kevion Lyman

On March 31, 1997, Kevion Lyman and James Russel invited James Davis and Anthony Nash to Mr. Russel's home under the pretense of selling the pair some marijuana. Mr. Lyman pulled out a gun and ordered Mr. Davis and Mr. Nash to the ground while Mr. Russel searched the men for cash. A struggle ensued between Mr. Russel and Mr. Davis, who was armed. Mr. Lyman then shot Mr. Davis, killing him. On March 13, 1998, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Lyman to life without the possibility of parole for first-degree murder plus a one-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Lyman has been incarcerated for 21 years and is now 48 years old. During his investigation by the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Lyman said, "I am trying to give back and do things in a positive and more productive way . . . I am not the same person who I was then." Mr. Lyman also stated, "I don't deserve a commutation because of the crime I committed, but I would like a chance to prove that I can do better." He has shown a determination to change for the better. In over two decades of incarceration, Mr. Lyman has never been disciplined for gangs, drugs, or violence. Even before he had any reason to believe that he had a chance for release, he began participating in self-help programs. Mr. Lyman has actively participated in groups such as Victim Awareness, Positive Decision Making, New Choices/ Different Directions, Houses of Healing, and Men for Honor. He lived on the Progressive Programming Facility for several years, and routinely receives positive work ratings. Just this year, he was commended by a correctional staff member who described Mr. Lyman as "hard-working, resourceful, motivated, and a self-starter." The supervisor wrote, "I believe that if given the opportunity, he would become a productive and law-abiding citizen to any community outside of prison."

Mr. Lyman has also worked to contribute to the well-being of others. He regularly supports charitable causes, including by donating funds to a class for students with special needs, and organizations supporting survivors of crime. Mr. Lyman also writes letters to struggling and at-risk youth. If released, he plans to continue his work with troubled youth. Mr. Lyman will be supported by a network of family and friends. He has already been offered immediate access to employment via a non-profit organization that teaches community members life management skills such as computer training and financial literacy.

Mr. Lyman's crime was undeniably senseless. But I believe that his efforts to change and make amends support his request for an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Kevion Lyman to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Larry Martinez

In 1981, Larry Martinez tried to rob a liquor store where Carlos Braga worked. During a struggle, Mr. Braga shot Mr. Martinez, and Mr. Martinez stabbed Mr. Braga multiple times, killing him. On February 28, 1986, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Martinez to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Martinez requested an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings based on his rehabilitation. He wrote, "I am so ashamed and remorseful for taking the life of Mr. Braga. I cannot even begin to imagine the heartache and suffering . . . the loved ones of Mr. Braga endured." In an interview with a Board investigator, Mr. Martinez reported that he started using drugs at age 14. At 17, he began using heroin, and quickly became a daily user. Mr. Martinez explained that he was looking for money to support his drug addiction when he committed this crime.

Mr. Martinez has now been incarcerated for over 37 years and is 70 years old. During nearly four decades, he has never been disciplined for misconduct in prison and has shown an admirable commitment to turning his life around. He reported that he has been sober since coming to prison. Mr. Martinez has participated in self-help programs, including Narcotics Anonymous, Alcoholics Anonymous, and Alternatives to Violence. He has lived on an honor yard since 2010. Mr. Martinez has maintained a positive work record and regularly receives above average ratings from his supervisors, who have commended him for his hard work and good attitude.

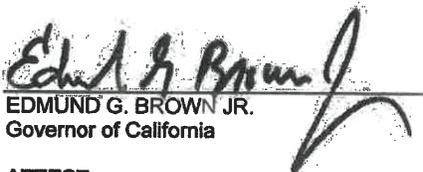

Most importantly, the warden of the prison where Mr. Martinez has been housed for many years has personally recommended him for commutation. Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Martinez.

I do not discount the seriousness of the crime that Mr. Martinez committed, and the ongoing pain that Mr. Braga's family has experienced as a result of his senseless death. But I cannot overlook Mr. Martinez's many years of good behavior and his dedication to sobriety. I believe he should have the opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Larry Martinez to a total of 37 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

4. PROVIDE A BRIEF STATEMENT EXPLAINING WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED A PARDON OR COMMUTATION.

I AM 68 YEARS OLD, 35 YEARS IN PRISON (DISCIPLINARY FREE), ONE YEAR IN REMISSION OF CANCER AND 20% HEART ABNORMAL. MY FAMILY WORRIES ABOUT ME. I AM SO ASHAMED AND REMORSEFUL FOR TAKING THE LIFE OF MR. BRAGA. I CAN NOT EVEN BEGIN TO IMAGINE OF THE HEARTACHE AND SUFFERING... THAT THE LOVED ONES OF MR. BRAGA HAVE ENDURED. I OFTEN WONDER WHY MR. BRAGA DIED AND NOT I; ONLY GOD KNOWS.

Esequiel Melgoza

In 2001, Esequiel Melgoza and his friend got into a gang-related confrontation with Esteban Arias. Later that day, Mr. Melgoza drove up to Mr. Arias and his friend fired multiple shots at him. Mr. Arias was shot in the forearm and was grazed on his shoulder by another shot, but survived. On April 9, 2004, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Melgoza to 15 years to life for attempted murder, plus an additional 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life in prison.

Mr. Melgoza applied for clemency based on his rehabilitation. In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, he reported that he started hanging out with gang members, fighting, and using drugs and alcohol as a teenager. He explained that when he came to prison, he began to understand the impact of his actions, and realized that he needed to make a serious change in his life.

Mr. Melgoza is now 38 years old and has been incarcerated for 17 years. He dropped out of his gang, got sober, and has not been involved in violence since committing this crime. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct during nearly two decades in prison. Mr. Melgoza has instead dedicated himself to self-improvement and serving others. He earned his GED and is currently pursuing his A.A. degree. He has participated in numerous self-help classes including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Anger Management, Malachi Dads, and Barrios Unidos. Mr. Melgoza currently works as an aide for disabled inmates and hospice patients, and routinely receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. In 2018, a correctional officer who has supervised Mr. Melgoza for five years praised him for going above and beyond when caring for sick and terminally ill inmates. The officer wrote, "Melgoza often spends time just talking with these inmate patients as they are often alone and bed ridden. It is clear that he does this with no alternative motives other than just genuine kindness and respect for others. . . . It is in my opinion that given the chance to parole, Melgoza will have a positive effect on society, the ability to give back to the community and continue to help others." A social worker commended Mr. Melgoza for his work as a caretaker and wrote, "Mr. Melgoza is a positive role model and leader on the Medical Unit. He maintains a humble attitude, a good sense of humor, and is empathic with everyone. It has been a pleasure to know Esequiel Melgoza." A nursing assistant reported that Mr. Melgoza "takes great strides to improve himself and stands out among other inmates. He is a role model to fellow inmates as to what it takes to be a contributing positive person in society."

In the investigator's interview, Mr. Melgoza reported that he had seen other men like him come to prison and continue their involvement in gangs, drugs, and violence. He said, "I thank God that He opened my eyes and my heart to see that you can have a better life, and even start while you're in prison." Mr. Melgoza has demonstrated a clear commitment to transforming himself and helping those around him. He has earned an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Esequiel Melgoza to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

day I was transferred to state Prison, I've committed myself to completing my education, getting involved in self-help groups, college courses, giving back and making amends. So my request for a commutation is for the opportunity to go to the Board of Parole Hearing sooner than my expected date (2025) to present myself as the responsible and mature person that I have developed into throughout my rehabilitation process and show that I am now a good asset to society and my family.

Not just physical, but mental, emotional, and spiritual. I impacted them financially with medical expenses and caused trouble and disruption to my community as a whole.

At the end of 2002, I made a crucial decision in my life to change. Not understanding how, yet certain I wanted something better in my life. Many things played a part in my decision, and my change began with my renouncing the gang I once represented with pride. In 2004, I was sentenced and transferred to state Prison. In Level 4, Substance Abuse Treatment Facility (S.A.T.F.), I took the opportunities that were presented to me to go back to school and complete my education and take a vocation, (office Service Class). And through my commitment to change and the help of God, I've stayed disciplinary free. I am now currently in C.T.F. - Central, a level 2 and I am involved in groups and programs that have given me the opportunity and privilege to give back and make amends. I facilitate a group that deals with manhood, fatherhood, and being a husband, called "Malachi Dad's". I have the privilege and honor to help men with disabilities, by serving them with care, patience, mercy, empathy and by valuing their lives. I love the man I am today contrary to the man I was in 2001.

I know I can be a great asset to society and to my family. And I sincerely believe my character, conduct, values and way I've lived during my rehabilitation testifies to the new person that I am today. COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jose Nampula

On May 1, 2008, 18-year-old Jose Nampula waited outside of Esteban Aispuro's home to confront him about a gang-related shooting. Mr. Aispuro arrived home along with Robert Alvarran and Carl Vandusen and approached Mr. Nampula. Mr. Nampula pulled out his gun and fired multiple rounds. Mr. Aispuro was hit in the wrist and abdomen, and Mr. Alvarran was struck in the back. Both survived their injuries. On January 12, 2012, the San Bernardino County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Nampula to 15 years to life for each attempted murder plus 50 years to life for two firearm enhancements – a total of 80 years to life.

Mr. Nampula has been incarcerated for 10 years. He has committed himself to his rehabilitation through his disassociation from gangs and his dedication to self-improvement. Mr. Nampula seeks a commutation based on his age at the time of the crime and his subsequent rehabilitation. In his application, he wrote, "I'm sorry that it has taken me to enter self-help groups to learn the amount of pain and hatred that I've bestowed in my community when I committed this crime. . . . I am requesting commutation because I have matured, I sought to better myself almost immediately after my arrest, [and] I've made steady progress to learn about myself."

Mr. Nampula has never been disciplined for any misconduct during his incarceration. He earned his GED and is currently taking college classes. Mr. Nampula also completed vocational training in office services, and has obtained multiple certifications in Microsoft. In 2018, one of his vocational instructors wrote, "Inmate Nampula demonstrates a respectful and positive attitude. He is an intelligent individual who has used his time in prison to better himself. In my opinion, inmate Nampula has the knowledge, skills, and the ability to excel in his community upon release and will be a productive member of society and an excellent employee." Mr. Nampula has participated in self-help programs, including Alternatives to Violence, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Anger Management. He plans to live in transitional housing, and his family is ready to help him upon his release from prison.

I acknowledge Mr. Nampula committed a very serious crime. However, he has set himself apart through his exceptional conduct in prison and his willingness to separate himself from gangs. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jose Nampula to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting commutation

Sometime after midnight on May 1, 2008, Carl Vandusen was driving with his friends, Robert Alvarran and Esteban Aispuro. When they passed Esteban's house they saw someone standing on the front yard of Esteban's home. Esteban got out of the car, jumped the fence, and approached within a couple of feet of the man in the yard. The man said "I'm looking for Steven." Esteban replied, "I'm Steven." The man said "I got something for you," and pulled a gun and fired at Esteban first and then at Robert at which point Robert had ran out the car, both of them fell to the ground. One of the shots severed Robert Alverran's spine the injury rendered him paraplegic. Esteban received a gunshot to his wrist and abdomen. When the man were laying on the ground Robert heard Esteban yell "it was Chino form the Flats"

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation

I have now exhausted all the possible legal remedies that were available to me. I committed crimes that lead me to multiple life sentences, (a total of 80 years to life imprisonment) when I was only 18 years old, I received the life sentence when I was 21 years of age. At the time of the crime I could not by any means say that I was even half the person I am today. I was immature, I honestly thought that no matter I was not going to get caught, I had no rational sense, or even perhaps the minor idea of the gravity of the act I committed, I didn't even stop to think about the severity of what I did.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted commutation:

Prior to my incarceration I never gave it a second thought to wonder whether what I was doing was hurting anyone. I'm requesting commutation because I am deeply regretful for haven been so dim. Now I realize how wrong I was, how even graffiti can be said to hurt someone. I realize that putting graffiti in someone's business cause them to spend money in order to repair that damage, money that to a small business owner could be money spent on his family. The crime I committed was much graver then that but if I could have known then what I know now, it is unlikely that I would ever come to commit such a heinous act. If I could have known that level of suffering that I would cause not only the victim but his family and my family as well, I see no way that I could possibly commit the same crime again. There's no scenario in which I see myself doing the things that got me here in the first place, or even venturing down the road that put me in the place where I see myself obligated to act in an unacceptable manner.

In short, I am requesting commutation because I have matured, I sought to better myself almost immediately after my arrest, I've made steady progress to learn about myself and the deficient in me. Most of it is has been done on my own, and it has rapidly became clear that I had been involved in what can only be considered destructive behavior. In those days I was so desperate to grow up that I missed the point entirely and I fail to see that growing up takes time and doing things that are reckless and dangerous didn't make me a grown up. Hurting people did not make me a man. And the fact that I can see that now shows that I have now mature to a state where I am in complete control of my action. I am requesting commutation of sentence because I think I can be a productive and responsible member of society.

My time incarcerated has thought me about the importance of life and how precious it is. How caring about life doesn't just mean caring about your own life but about all those that surround us, about humanity at large. I'm sorry that it has taken me to enter self-help groups to learn the amount of pain and hatred that I've bestowed in my community when I committed this crime, as a matter of pride I don't like to admit it but I was simply too young to fully understand the full extent of what I was doing and for a long time I kept ignoring how wrong it was for me to have committed this crime. I deserve commutation of my sentence because of the level of growth that I have come to. Because of the progress I have made that now makes me capable of showing how regretful I am over what I did. Everywhere I have been, I have aimed at bettering myself, in every prison I've sign-up for groups but it wasn't until Ironwood that I was after much waiting and for a long time all I could do is read books that would help me gain some insight into me, a lot of this involved reading psychology and philosophy books. I've began doing deep self-analysis sometime in 2010, after reading Plato's "Symposium", and Sigmund Freud's writing "On Dreams". I learned to question everything about my situation and my beliefs, then I notice how many things about life as I knew it did not make sense. I saw the wrong in my upbringing, even that, that my parents would say that makes me stronger. I notice how insensitive I had been about the pain in others. How delusional I had been to think that I've always known better. I now realize how irresponsible I had been through my entire life and how self-righteous it would be of me to continue thinking that I could go on down the same path doing things my way. To think that I could continue with my twisted beliefs and not end-up the same way as I am now would be even more irresponsible than it was to be a teen thinking I could take on the entire world. I should be granted commutation because even though I was 18, legally an adult, I was not mature enough to be trusted with making adult like decision. Now it's a different story. Now I know that wrong is wrong even if you can get away with it, and getting away with wrong doing doesn't make it right.

I still got a few semesters to complete the credits towards my degree, I have already completed a vocation, but I really want to get this college degree. The truth is that I wanted to get this done for a long time but I don't really have anyone that could support me with the books. That's why I was glad to come to Ironwood State Prison for the college program with Palo Verde, now I'm near done with that. It's been here at Ironwood that I've been able to do most of the self-help groups that I have certificates for. The waiting list is extensive for most groups but I've sign-up for what I can. So far I've done I-for Sight, and Criminals and Gangs Anonymous(CGA) and Alternative to violence Program- Basic(AVP), Alternative to Violence Program- Advance(AVP), I was in IPEP but I was unable to complete it because the group hours change and it conflicted with my working hours. I've also done Anger Management through Creative Options an outside organization. I did their course through the mail. Presently I am also enrolled in The Urban Ministry Institute (TUMI). I should be granted commutation because of the effort I have put into bettering myself, because I've have given no reason to believe that I have not become a better person. I have improved greatly since my incarceration and I am sure I can reassure you that I am now a better person, that I can prove I can be a functioning member of our society. I'm Know that I can show that I can be a productive and responsible member of our society.

David Negrete

In 2008, 16-year-old David Negrete and several fellow gang members confronted Deryon Williams and Kevin Carr about their gang status. Later, Mr. Negrete and his crime partners returned to the scene with a gun and Mr. Negrete opened fire, hitting Mr. Williams, who survived. On October 20, 2008, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Negrete to 14 years to life for two counts of attempted murder plus an additional 45 years to life in firearm enhancements – a total of 59 years to life.

Mr. Negrete applied for a commutation of sentence based on his age at the time of the crime and his subsequent rehabilitation. He is now 26 years old and has been incarcerated for 10 years. In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Negrete reported that he started using drugs when he was just nine years old. When he was 12 years old, his friend was murdered by a rival gang, and Mr. Negrete responded by dedicating himself to his gang and increasing his drug use. After he was incarcerated for this crime, Mr. Negrete realized that he needed to profoundly change his life. He dropped out of the gang, stopped using drugs, and has never been violent in prison.

Instead, Mr. Negrete has focused on rehabilitation and self-improvement. He earned his GED and has maintained a positive work record. He has participated in multiple self-help courses including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Victim Impact, Cage Your Rage, and Alternatives to Violence. Mr. Negrete currently participates in and facilitates a juvenile diversion program that prepares inmates to reach out to at-risk youth in the community to share their stories and discourage them from making the same mistakes. In 2017, the program's sponsor wrote, "Mr. Negrete is to be commended for standing out and participating in a program designed to help with rehabilitation. It is a pleasure to have him in the group." Mr. Negrete's commutation is supported by the Loyola Law School's Juvenile Innocence and Fair Sentencing Clinic, which has pledged to help Mr. Negrete transition back into the community if he is released. Mr. Negrete also has the support of his fiancée, and plans to continue working with juvenile offenders and helping them steer clear of gangs and criminal activity.

Based on his conduct in prison and his dedication to self-improvement, I believe Mr. Negrete has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of David Negrete to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Dear Governor Brown:

I am the attorney for Mr. David Negrete (CDC No. G36715). On behalf of Mr. Negrete, I am petitioning you to commute his sentence. Mr. Negrete is sincerely remorseful for the crime that led to his incarceration. Now an adult, he realizes how his thoughtless conduct as an adolescent caused a widening circle of destruction, from the adolescent who suffered a gunshot wound from Mr. Negrete's co-defendant, to the neighborhood surrounding him, and finally, his family. Mr. Negrete has matured dramatically in prison. He deeply regrets the choices he made on that day, and fully understands the gravity of his offense.

On October 20, 2008, Mr. Negrete, the non-shooter in a non-homicide offense, received an exceptionally long sentence for a juvenile: two consecutive life terms plus a consecutive term of 25 years to life, plus a consecutive term of 20 years. He was 16 years old at the time of the crime.

Mr. Negrete's childhood was chaotic, characterized by absent parents, frequent dislocations, both inside and outside the country, and an environment dominated by gang influences. Because his parents' absence, Mr. Negrete spent much of his adolescence under the supervision of his uncles and cousins who were active gang members. At age 16, like most children, he lacked the judgment and maturity to reject his own family situation and its gang involvement.

Mr. Negrete has matured rapidly in prison, and has made substantial strides towards rehabilitation. As detailed in the attached exhibits, he has made serious and successful efforts to improve himself, has obtained the education he gave up outside prison walls, and made himself into a successful and functioning adult who poses no risk to society. Accordingly, Mr. Negrete respectfully requests that you commute his sentence of life plus 45 years to a sentence of 15 years to life, a sentence that reflects his level of culpability as a non-shooter involved in a non-homicide offense.

For the reasons stated in this letter brief, I now petition your office for clemency on behalf of Mr. Negrete, and formally request a commutation of sentence.

I. CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE LIFE CRIME

According to the official appellate opinion on this case:

On January 23, 2008, Mr. Negrete and his friends Jorge Abeica, Angel Isarraras, and Miriam Simental, stopped at a gas station at the corner of Long Beach Boulevard and Magnolia Street in Lynwood. The gas station was in Lynwood Paragon and Banning Street gang territory, and within a mile of the Santa Block Crips' territory. While they were pumping gas, two young African-American men approached them: Deryon Williams and Kevin Carr, associates of the Santana Block Crips. Mr. Negrete, Isarraras, and Abeica are Latino. Williams asked Isarraras for some money. Isarraras said, "What the Lynwood Paragon life like?" and Carr responded "How is Santana life?" These were well-established gang challenges. Mr. Negrete also claimed "LVP," which meant "Lynwood Varrio Paragon." Abeica said, "Oh, let's fuck them up." At some point, Carr either showed or pretended to show Isarraras a gun, and the others backed off. Williams and Carr then walked away. Isarraras, Simental, Abeica, and Mr. Negrete got back into the SUV and drove off. Someone said, "Let's go get the strap," (slang for gun) to which Mr. Negrete replied, "It's at my house." They drove to Mr. Negrete's house where he retrieved the gun. It is customary gang practice that the youngest member of the gang keep custody of weapons, to assist senior members in avoiding culpability later. (See Exhibit A, Court of Appeal Opinion, People v. Abeica, Case B211600; Exhibit B, Abstract of Judgment dated October 21, 2008).

The four drove until they found Carr and Williams again. The SUV stopped in the middle of the street. Isarraras claims that Carr and/or Williams first fired at them. He admitted to taking the gun from Mr. Negrete before both jumped out of the vehicle. A number of shots were exchanged. Williams was hit by one of the bullets, which passed just above his pelvis and exited through his left hemiscrotum. At no point during the commitment offense did Mr. Negrete fire a weapon. (Id.)

After the shooting, Abeica drove Mr. Negrete back to his apartment, where he dropped off the gun. While they were driving Miriam home, the police stopped the SUV. Isarraras, Simental, Abeica, and Mr. Negrete were still in the car. Isarraras, Abeica, and Mr. Negrete were arrested. Later that day, the police recovered the revolver from Mr. Negrete's apartment. At trial, Mr. Negrete did not present any evidence in his own defense, due, in part, to his inability as an immature adolescent to assist his attorney in his own defense. (Id.)

II. DAVID NEGRETE'S REASONS FOR REQUESTING COMMUTATION

Mr. Negrete has been incarcerated since he was 16 years old, and has spent more than 10 years in prison. He has matured dramatically and manifestly altered his life priorities. He takes full responsibility for his crime and the mistakes he made as a young adolescent, and as a young adult adjusting to life in prison. Mr. Negrete recognizes the harms he inflicted extend beyond the victim to encompass the victim's family, and the larger community he put at risk. This recognition and remorse has led him to dedicate his time in prison to helping as many people as he can. Mr. Negrete counsels at-risk youth and maintains his sobriety through both regular attendance at AA/NA meetings and informally sponsoring others. Because of his a) continued growth in prison; b) commitment to serving others; c) youth and family circumstances at the time of the crime; d) reduced culpability as a non-shooter, in a non-homicide offense, where only one person was injured; and e) overall length of his sentence, Mr. Negrete is requesting a commutation of his sentence to 15 years to life.

III. REASONS THAT DAVID NEGRETE'S SENTENCE SHOULD BE COMMUTED

A. REHABILITATION

Mr. Negrete has rehabilitated himself in many important ways. First, he disassociated from prison gangs many years ago, and has similarly disassociated from all family members involved in criminal activity. Second, he continues to offer himself as a mentor for younger inmates at risk of being gang-involved, showing them they have alternative paths, and demonstrating that there is life after gang membership. Through his work with the Youth Offender Parole Program, Mr. Negrete has made many important contributions. There, he counsels youths who, like himself, were tried as adults and then aged out of Juvenile Hall. Mr. Negrete recognizes that these immature new arrivals are particularly vulnerable to prison gang involvement. As someone who disassociated while incarcerated, he is a great role model for these young prisoners. Additionally, Mr. Negrete provides insight to at-risk youth through the "Life Is Too Short Youth Diversion Program." This group meets once a week for two hours, and brings juvenile offenders to Ironwood to hear from inmates about the life-altering ramifications of their poor choices. These youths gravitate to Mr. Negrete, because of his credibility as a former gang member, but also because of his gentle demeanor. Mr. Negrete is thankful for the privilege of helping youths that find themselves in the same situation he was in, and he uses the mentorship as an opportunity for self-reflection. His self-help sponsor has commended Mr. Negrete for his high level of participation, and has stated "It is a pleasure having him in the group." (See Exhibit C; Positive Chronos and Certificates).

Additionally, Mr. Negrete's consistent involvement in self-help classes – including academic and vocational education, Anger Management, Victim Awareness, Alcoholics Anonymous, and Narcotics Anonymous -- indicate a likelihood of success in the future. (Id.) He has been commended for becoming a positive role model to his peers in the recovery groups. Mr. Negrete has participated in the State Prison's Third and Fourth Annual Walk-a-Thon, helping to raise money for the Blythe Cancer Resource Center, which assists local cancer patients and their families. These endeavors demonstrate that Mr. Negrete has evolved from being someone immature and self-focused to someone genuinely desiring to contribute in a variety of ways. These ongoing efforts have also helped him process traumatic events – both those he experienced and those he caused.

B. DAVID NEGRETE'S LIFE CIRCUMSTANCES LEADING UP TO THE CRIME¹

Mr. Negrete's family circumstances during his childhood and adolescence were tumultuous and abusive, and normalized gang affiliation. From infancy, his father was involved in criminal activity and largely absent, partly because of frequent prison terms. His household was overcrowded: he lived with his grandmother, mother, two siblings, two sets of aunts and uncles, and his cousins, all in one house. As a child, it did not take him long to realize the popping sounds he heard at night were gunfire. Mr. Negrete's sister Karen was severely impaired, and unable to communicate verbally, although she communicate by touch and eye movement with her brother. Because of Karen, DCFS visited their home often. Mr. Negrete and his siblings were coached by their mother to always say everything was fine – though he was never sufficiently parented and sorely lacked affection and emotional nurturing throughout his life.

When Mr. Negrete was five, his mother picked up the entire family and moved them to Mexico after she robbed a McDonald's. Months later, when they were living in Mexico, Mr. Negrete's mother abruptly took his brother back to the U.S. and left Mr. Negrete in Mexico to care for his disabled sister with his grandmother. Roughly four months later, his father decided to bring Mr. Negrete and his sister back across the border from Mexico, carrying a jacket full of illegal drugs. At the border, his father was arrested and his sister was taken into DCFS custody. The border guards told Mr. Negrete to call an adult to pick him up. He called his aunt's house. His mother answered. She agreed to pick Mr. Negrete up, but dropped him off at an aunt's house rather than keeping him.

When Mr. Negrete was seven years old, his mother moved out of the neighborhood and took his two siblings – his sister and an older brother – but left him with his aunt and gang-involved uncles. After Mr. Negrete got into a fight at school at age eight, one of his uncles told him to “never come back a loser.” Mr. Negrete deeply internalized this lesson, and it heavily influenced his future behavior and gang involvement.

During adolescence, Mr. Negrete idolized his gang-member uncles. When Mr. Negrete asked to join his uncles' gang, he was told to join Banning Street Gang instead because its territory was closer to Mr. Negrete's mother's home. Mr. Negrete stopped going to school and began spending his time drinking and smoking marijuana and crystal methamphetamine with members of Banning Street. Mr. Negrete found acceptance in the gang and became its youngest member at age 13.

C. THE SIGNIFICANCE OF MR. NEGRETE'S AGE AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME

Mr. Negrete was 16 at the time he committed this crime. Courts have consistently seen youthful age as a mitigating factor in guilt and in sentencing. In Roper v. Simmons, 543 U.S. 551 (2005), the United States Supreme Court found that, even in the most serious murder cases, youthful offenders cannot with reliability be classified among the worst offenders. (Id. at 569). As compared to adults, young offenders have a “lack of maturity and an underdeveloped sense of responsibility,” and so “are more vulnerable or susceptible to negative influences and outside pressure,” because their character is “not as well formed.” (Id. at 569-70). Five years later in Graham v. Florida, 560 U.S. 48 (2010), the Supreme Court went further in its analysis and recognized that the same differences between youths and adults are relevant to the constitutionality of sentences, and banned life without the possibility of parole (LWOP) for juveniles who commit non-homicide offenses, because such sentences were deemed to be cruel and unusual punishments. (Id. at 73-75.) The Court repeated Roper's reasoning that because youthful offenders have reduced culpability, they are in most instances undeserving of the most severe punishments. (Id. at 75). Finally, the California Supreme Court extended Graham's holding to a sentence common in California: functional LWOP for non-homicide crimes, concluding that such sentences are per se unconstitutional. (People v. Caballero, 55 Cal.4th 262, 268-69 (2012)).

These cases alone entitled Mr. Negrete to sentencing relief, and his attorneys filed a Caballero petition in 2013. However, the California Legislature, recognizing the magnitude of having tens of thousands of young people serving long sentences, created the Youth Offender Parole Hearing in 2014 to address this problem. Juvenile offenders – and now many young adult offenders – are entitled to early hearings, at which they have the opportunity to prove that they are ready to reenter society, 15, 20 or 25 years into their sentence.

The dates of these hearings, however, do not reflect the individualized culpability of each youthful offender – a requirement under the Graham-Miller-Montgomery line of cases. (See, e.g., People v. Gutierrez, 58 Cal.4th 1354, 1378 (2014) (“[I]mposition of the harshest punishment on a juvenile requires individualized sentencing that takes into account an offender’s ‘youth (and all that accompanies it)’”) quoting Miller v. Alabama, 132 S.Ct. 2455, 2464, 2469 (2012)) (emphasis added).

A “one-size-fits-all” parole scheme cannot comport with these individualized sentencing requirements. For example, the fact that Mr. Negrete was 16 years of age at the time of his crime, the fact that he faced persistent neglect as a child and was unable to escape the gang ties of his closest family members, the fact that he was a non-shooter in a non-homicide crime, and the fact that he has made tremendous strides in maturity and rehabilitation, should be reflected in his parole eligibility date, not merely his parole hearing. To illustrate the disproportionality of Mr. Negrete's current sentence, under law, a person with no mitigating circumstances, who committed multiple murders at age 25 and has made no progress while incarcerated will nonetheless get a Youth Offender Parole Hearing at precisely the same time as Mr. Negrete: 25 years. In fact, juvenile offenders who committed special circumstances homicide will also receive a parole hearing at 25 years. Although Mr. Negrete's excellent record of rehabilitation, which should be considered at his parole hearing, will give him a better chance of achieving eventual release, his individual mitigating circumstances allow for an advancement of his parole hearing to earlier than 25 years.

As the U.S. Supreme Court recognized in Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390, 415 (1993) “[e]xecutive clemency has provided the ‘fail safe’ in our criminal justice system.” Although in Herrera, the death penalty was at issue, it is generally accepted that executive clemency is an appropriate remedy for an unjust sentence, especially when there is no other remedy at law. This is the case for Mr. Negrete. Though Youth Offender Parole Hearings are an important step in addressing the widespread injustice of disproportionate sentences for young offenders – sentences the Supreme Court recognized are cruel and unusual, individual youthful offenders deserve additional relief.

Mr. Negrete is precisely one of those youthful offenders. Had he been charged today, he would have received a transfer hearing pursuant to Proposition 57, where his background and immaturity could have been explored and considered. (Welf. & Inst. Code § 707(b).) The judge would have had the discretion to reduce or strike his gang and weapon enhancements, and generally make his sentence more proportional to his culpability. (Pen. Code § 12022.5(c).) But in 2008, as a child facing multiple life sentences, Mr. Negrete had none of these protections. In fact, no evidence was presented in his defense at the original trial. He was guilty, and fully culpable, by association. Nor did he have a proper sentencing hearing, during which he could present mitigation evidence. The law at the time, and the resulting sentences, are now unconstitutional. Requiring Mr. Negrete to serve 25 years of his sentence before having any opportunity at parole, is too long a delay. It is a manifest injustice, and one well within gubernatorial powers to correct.

For all the above reasons – including Mr. Negrete's family circumstances and inescapable gang involvement; his reduced culpability as a non-shooter in a non-homicide offense; the impulsivity and poor judgment of his youth; and Mr. Negrete's inability to participate in his own defense – a reduction in sentence is appropriate and just. On behalf of Mr. Negrete, I respectfully request a commutation of his sentence.

D. POST-RELEASE PLANS AND COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Mr. Negrete has been preparing for life beyond prison for over a decade. He has seized all available opportunities for vocational training and rehabilitative guidance, and remains committed to equipping himself with all skills needed for a successful parole. (See Exhibit C, Positive Chronos and Certificates). Mr. Negrete has earned his GED and is on the waiting list for classes in both plumbing and carpentry. He continues to provide peer support to both incarcerated juveniles and those enrolled in the Life Is Too Short Diversion Program.

Mr. Negrete has also matured in his personal life. He has recently become engaged, and is committed to being the best possible father to his fiancée's five-year-old son. Mr. Negrete's fiancée has a full time-job as a counselor at Juvenile Hall, and also works for her uncle's construction company. She attends school, and fully supports Mr. Negrete's commitment to sobriety. Upon parole, Mr. Negrete knows he must maintain a strict sense of focus and self-discipline. Following his time in transitional housing, Mr. Negrete plans to be a consistent presence, both for his family, as well as for at-risk youth. Mr. Negrete knows all too well the harms created by an absent father. He is never going to make those mistakes. He has wrestled with the harms inflicted by abandonment and emotional withdrawal for over ten years. Given the chance, he will be an excellent father to a son who currently has none. Mr. Negrete will also have consistent support both from Chaplain Javier Stauring, the former Co-Director of the L.A. Archdiocese Office of Restorative Justice, and Executive Director of Healing Dialogue and Action, as well as Scott Budnick, the Founder and President of the Anti-Recidivism Coalition. These men recommended Mr. Negrete to Loyola's Juvenile Innocence and Fair Sentencing (JIFS) Clinic, and are heavily invested both in seeking justice for Mr. Negrete and in his future success. (See Exhibit D, David Negrete Writings)

Because Mr. Negrete is a client of Loyola Law School's JIFS Clinic, he will have ongoing and multi-faceted support throughout his reentry and beyond. For this reason, JIFS clients have an incredible track record of success and meaningful productivity. The JIFS Clinic, one of three clinics at Loyola Law School's Center for Juvenile Law & Policy, is committed to the Center's founding ideal of "holistic representation," which means that the Clinic, its students and attorneys, are not just committed to obtaining Mr. Negrete's release, but to his successful reintegration into society. In the past, law students from the JIFS Clinic have helped clients locate transitional housing, obtain identification documents, find jobs, and connect with family members. JIFS students have accompanied clients to their parole appointments, transitional housing placements, and substance abuse groups. Additionally, because of its connection to the juvenile justice community, the JIFS Clinic often works with at-risk youth, and can offer Mr. Negrete the opportunity to work with juvenile offenders, counseling them and helping them avoid gangs and criminal activity. The JIFS Clinic will connect Mr. Negrete with all necessary resources, services, and support systems he needs in order to become the man he was meant to be, but never had the chance to manifest.

IV. CONCLUSION

Mr. Negrete will never forget the crime that put him in prison. He takes full responsibility for participating in the commitment offense, and the resulting harms it caused. He is ashamed of his actions and deeply sorry for committing this immature and impulsive crime. In the 10 years that Mr. Negrete has been incarcerated, he has matured, received an education, obtained practical job training, and pursued every available opportunity to serve others. For the reasons stated above, justice is best served by granting Mr. Negrete clemency and a commutation of his sentence.

On behalf of Mr. Negrete and his new family, I respectfully ask that his sentence be commuted to 15 years to life. Thank you in advance for your thoughtful attention to this matter.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Joanna Neidiffer

In September 1983, Joanna Neidiffer conspired with Richard Cruz, with whom she had begun an affair, to kill her husband, Walter Neidiffer. While the Neidiffers were jogging in the park, Mr. Cruz jumped from the bushes and shot Mr. Neidiffer in the back. On December 6, 1988, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Neidiffer to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a one year firearm enhancement.

Ms. Neidiffer is now 57 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 34 years. In her application for clemency, Ms. Neidiffer states that she was a selfish, impulsive, and rash person. She wrote, "I gave no thought to the consequences of my behavior or how it could affect others around me. Today I live my life the exact opposite."

During more than three decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Ms. Neidiffer has been dedicated to transforming her life. She has been disciplined only once. She earned two vocational training certifications and receives exceptional work ratings. She states that her passion is serving as a hospice volunteer, where she provides support to fellow inmates who are diagnosed with serious and terminal illnesses. Ms. Neidiffer has also taken advantage of multiple self-help programs, including Beyond Violence, Picking up the Pieces, The Purpose Driven Life, and Life Scripting.

Through her positive attitude and behavior, Ms. Neidiffer has earned the respect of the staff members and volunteers who interact with her on a regular basis. In 2018, a hospice volunteer wrote, "[Ms. Neidiffer] is caring, compassionate, and reliable. I feel her experience has prepared her to be a valuable member of society when released." In 2012, a chaplain who has known Ms. Neidiffer for over a decade commended her for her rehabilitation and wrote, "Ms. Neidiffer is held in high esteem for her consistent interest and inclination toward the welfare of those around her... [She] preserves a positive attitude and, I feel, would be an asset in whatever community she re-enters."

Ms. Neidiffer played a significant role in a very serious crime. However, it is clear that she has distinguished herself by her exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Ms. Neidiffer has earned the opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Joanna Neidiffer to a total of 35 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Curtis Norris

In 2008, upset about a previous argument in county jail, 19-year-old Curtis Norris shot Edward Dismukes multiple times, killing him. On April 29, 2011, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Norris to 15 years to life for murder plus a 25-to-life firearm enhancement, a total term of 40 years to life in prison.

Mr. Norris applied for a commutation of sentence based on his rehabilitation. In his application, he described how he has learned new skills during his time in prison and has gained an understanding of his responsibilities to his community. Mr. Norris wrote, "I don't expect anyone to forget about what I've done. But I am asking for a second chance to do things right." He continued, "I am a rehabilitated, mature, young man and secure in who I am. With my second chance, I will put my all into doing things right." Mr. Norris had a hard time in his youth after his father died in a car accident when he was 3 and after he was essentially abandoned by his drug-addicted mother. He struggled in school and started using drugs at a very young age. Since entering prison, Mr. Norris has made drastic changes. He said, "I've made it a point to educate myself in every way possible." He told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, "My mindset has changed dramatically," and explained that he now thinks of others, recognizes the importance of family and helping others, and now sees the world in a different way. He said, "I feel like I am more than what I did to get into prison. At the time of my crime, I wasn't in the right mind. Now, I'm in a better mind state; I'm more determined and focused."

Mr. Norris is now 29 years old and has made admirable strides to turning his life around. He has only been disciplined twice during more than a decade in prison, and has not been involved in gangs, drugs, or violence. He earned his GED in 2018. Mr. Norris has taken advantage of many self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Anger Management, Victim Awareness, and Alternatives to Violence. Since 2015, Mr. Norris has been involved with the Delancey Street Project, where he is focused on sobriety and where he and a group of inmates help each other work to transform their lives. Mr. Norris has a solid plan in place in the event of his release. He wants to commit to the intensive residential program at Delancey Street to ensure he has the skills necessary to succeed in the community before going to live with his grandmother and seek employment in construction.

It is clear that Mr. Norris has made a commitment to becoming a productive member of the community. I believe that he should have an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that they can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Curtis Norris to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation

On September 16, 2008 I was with my then girl friend latoya estrada on our way to get some marijuana. Prior to this, we had been drinking, and using drugs. while trying to find the house we drove by MR. Edward Dismuke riding a bike. I then yelled aggressively at him, and in response he reached for something. Then I started to shoot, with the belief he was reaching for a gun. I was then apprehended the next day. It later came out he had a knife with a broke tip, and not a gun. I was later found guilty of second degree murder.

3. Explain why you are requesting a Commutation?

The reason I'm requesting a Commutation of my Sentence is because I believe I should receive a Second Chance to do things right. Mentally, I believe I've grown Substantially from the 19 year old boy I Came to Jail as. Since then, I've taken many Significant Classes that gave me tools and taught me how to apply them in life. "Anger management" taught me that anger is a Secondary emotion to Cover up other emotions. "Victim Awareness" taught me the power of empathy. "Parenting inside out" gave me the tools to have the ability to be the best father I can be. It taught me the importance of Communication and positive reinforcement, which I'm praying for the chance to apply. "Alternative to Violence (A.V.P)" taught me to be open to try new things and to feel good about doing it. Violence is not the answer to everything. "Relapse Prevention" gave me a clear understanding of relapse and the different forms of it. To also form a plan to prevent it. "Man Up" Helped me to develop my Character and to understand my responsibility to myself, family, friends, and to my Community. "Insight" which I am Currently in, is helping me to understand the thoughts behind my actions. Last but not least, "Delaney Street honors program" which I am also Currently in, have taught me alot. There are two phrases that will forever be close to my heart. One, "Act as if" which means, act as if you're a decent person and you will become a decent person. The second one is, "we will never be able to control the action of another person, we can only control the way we respond." I've always Chosend the easy ways in life which was always the wrong way. I'm now Challenging myself to take the hard way, which I now believe is the right way. Life is not always easy, but it's better when you found peace within yourself. When I was younger, I was blessed with the opportunity to be apart of the first group of kids to open up Oakland Military Institute (O.M.I.). I've now been blessed to be apart of the first group of 25 men, to open up the Delaney Street Honors Program here in Solano. I want you to know I live with regret for what I've done. I feel ashamed of myself when I think about what I've done. Not a day goes by without me asking God to forgive me. It hurts me deeply when I think of the pain I've caused Mr. Dismuke and his family. I take full responsibility for my actions, and have no excuses for what I have done. I will forever live with the shame I brought to my family last name. With the many mistakes I've made in life, I pray I can help lead the youth into a different direction. I don't expect anyone to forget about what I've done. But I am asking for a second chance to do things right. I respectfully, thank you for your time, consideration and for leading California as our governor. May God bless you.

4 Provide a brief Statement explaining why you should be granted a Commutation

I feel I should be granted this Opportunity because of the positive Steps I've been taking to Change since my incarceration. I have not received any violent write ups, and I've made it a point to educate myself in everyway possible. Construction is a trade I am going to Pursue in life. I believe it coincide with my Change. I had to break down my old thoughts, morals, and beliefs. Then rebuild myself with a Stronger foundation to stand on. With this foundation, I believe I can make a difference to those around me. I am no longer the Immature boy with low self esteem who act out to feel better about his self. I am a rehabilitated, mature, young man, and is secure in who I am. with my Second Chance, I will put my all into doing things right and I stand by my word.

Zina Pacheco

Zina Pacheco and Jesse Morales had been dating the same woman and got into several fights over the course of a few days. On October 20, 1998, Ms. Pacheco and a friend approached Mr. Morales at a trailer. Ms. Pacheco's friend opened fire, killing Mr. Morales and injuring another man. On October 22, 1999, the San Bernardino County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Pacheco to 26 years to life for murder and a firearm enhancement.

Since committing this crime, Ms. Pacheco has demonstrated a commitment to transforming herself and leaving violence behind. In her application for clemency, she wrote, "I am requesting a commutation because I am not the same person today that committed this heinous murder twenty years ago." She continued, "I believe I can make a positive difference if allowed a second chance. My passion is sobriety and I demonstrate that daily to the ladies still struggling in addiction." Ms. Pacheco is now 57 years old and has only been disciplined once during her lengthy incarceration. She has gotten sober and participated in numerous self-help programs including Narcotics Anonymous, Relapse Prevention, Restorative Justice, and Anger Management. Ms. Pacheco has maintained a positive work record and routinely receives above average ratings from her supervisors, who have commended her work ethic and dedication.

Ms. Pacheco has also earned praise from correctional staff members. In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Ms. Pacheco for five years wrote, "I have observed Ms. Pacheco's growth and development as she continues her participation in self-help groups. She is trustworthy and reliable. . . . It is my opinion Ms. Pacheco will be a productive member of society upon release." Another correctional officer praised Ms. Pacheco's cooperative attitude and reported, "I have seen her continued growth and determination to be a role model to others. I believe that Pacheco would be very successful upon release." Ms. Pacheco has participated in charitable events and lived in an honor unit since 2016. She has a solid plan in place for her release from prison, including transitional housing, a relapse prevention plan, and a support system of family members and friends who have pledged to help her adjust to life back in the community.

Before coming to prison, Ms. Pacheco was mired in drugs, which ultimately led to her participation in this senseless crime. But since then, she has shown an admirable commitment to sobriety and self-improvement. It is clear that she has worked hard to turn her life around and become a role model for others. For these reasons, Ms. Pacheco has earned an earlier opportunity to make her case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Zina Pacheco to a total of 20 years to life.

② I was in a relationship with Monicã Santos. Her ex boyfriend found out about us and threatened my life. The situation turned into a jealous mess. On 10-20-1998, I murdered Jessie Morales. I was arrested the same day and charged with PC187 and PC12022 (firearm).

③ I am requesting a commutation because I am not the same person today that committed this heinous murder twenty years ago. I have utilized my time in prison to better myself and to change the negative behavior patterns into positive ones. Today, I know what healthy coping strategies are and I am able to deal with difficult situations with ease. I maintain healthy boundaries and help fellow inmates deal with negative emotions. I give back by being of service in my community and in my housing unit. I believe I can make a positive difference if allowed a second chance. My passion is sobriety and I demonstrate that clearly to the ladies still struggling in addiction.

④ I believe in my heart that I can make a positive difference in the world by telling my story of pain and murder and how this can be turned into a positive ripple effect. I choose to honor Jessie Morales' life by making better decisions daily. Taking full accountability for the pain and suffering that I have caused, has enabled me to grow into the woman I was suppose to be all along. I know, if given a second chance

I would help women that struggle in dysfunctional relationships. I would tell them my story, help educate them about their choices, and ultimately live a better quality of life. I have been incarcerated for 20 years and am definitely a much better person than when I came in to the prison system. CDCR has attached the 'R' to the end of CDC for a reason. I have worked hard to address the causative factors that caused my behaviors. I believe I deserve a second chance at freedom.

Claude Earl Palmer

On October 22, 1981, Claude Palmer and James Earl Smith robbed a vacuum store, and Mr. Smith shot and injured Geertuida Porter, the owner of the store. On October 25, 1981, Mr. Palmer and Mr. Smith attempted to rob a gas station, and the station attendant Miguel Ramirez was killed. On August 30, 1983, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Palmer to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Palmer is now 63 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 37 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Palmer explained how he came to commit this crime and expressed hope for his future. He wrote, "I chose a destructive path for myself and others." He continued, "I am a very different man today. I want another chance to clean up what I can with my wife, children, grandchildren and family. The things of the past and that old behavior has died to me."

Mr. Palmer has been incarcerated for almost four decades with no hope for parole. Rather than succumbing to gangs, drugs, or violence in his decades in prison, he has been committed to changing his life. Mr. Palmer has only been disciplined three times for misconduct, and has not had a rules violation in over 20 years. He resided on an honor yard for ten years and completed self-help classes in Substance Abuse, Alcoholics Anonymous, Veterans Group, and Anger Management. Mr. Palmer worked for the California Prison Industry Authority laundry department for many years, completed vocational training in industrial health and safety, and received good work ratings from his supervisors. In 2014, two supervisors commended Mr. Palmer on his work ethic and noted that he "has worked at various positions making every effort to learn all aspects of the industry."

I note that Mr. Palmer suffered a stroke three years ago and currently has several serious health conditions, including a seizure disorder, an enlarged heart, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, and a partially paralyzed foot. Mr. Palmer also has family he hopes to return to. In the event of his release, Mr. Palmer plans to live with his sister and reunite with his wife of 39 years, three children, and two step-children. Mr. Palmer wrote in his application regarding his rehabilitation and plans for the future, "Time and education have both played a huge part in my transformation. I know I'd go home, help my family, live quietly, and make the best out of my remaining years."

Mr. Palmer committed two very serious crimes, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself through his exemplary conduct in prison. For this reason, I believe that Mr. Palmer has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Claude Earl Palmer to a total of 37 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Alfredo Perez, Jr.

On March 18, 1994, Mr. Perez and a friend stole merchandise from an auto parts store. As they began to drive away from the area, store employee Fred Sanchez reached into the vehicle Mr. Perez was driving to retrieve the stolen item. Mr. Perez put the vehicle into reverse, then drove forward. Mr. Sanchez eventually pulled his arm free and thankfully suffered only minor injuries. On May 4, 1995, the Fresno County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Perez to 25 years to life for assault with force likely to produce great bodily injury and two years for prior prison terms – a total term of 27 years to life. In 2014, Mr. Perez was resentenced to 10 years and released from prison. At the time of his release, the Fresno County Superior Court found that Mr. Perez did not pose an unreasonable risk to public safety. Four years later, Mr. Perez was ordered to return to prison to serve the remainder of his sentence following a California Supreme Court finding that Mr. Perez was ineligible for the relief he was granted.

Mr. Perez seeks a commutation of sentence based on his rehabilitation. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "Upon release, I went to work, remarried my wife, and cared for my terminally ill father." Mr. Perez continued, "I took the granting of my petition for release seriously. I have maintained gainful employment, rebuilt my family and provided for them. I have also been a productive, law-abiding citizen. I have proven that I am neither a burden nor a risk to society and hope to continue as such through your good graces."

Indeed, Mr. Perez had no subsequent arrests, held a job, and supported his wife and family following his original release from prison. Several family members and community members wrote letters in support of his clemency application, noting Mr. Perez's turnaround and commitment to his family. Prior to his return to prison, Mr. Perez gave up his full-time employment to serve as primary caregiver for his terminally ill daughter, who is in hospice care. Mr. Perez's wife wrote, "Upon his release four years ago, [my husband] has been an amazing contributor. . . . He has changed his life around with the grace of God and family by his side." Mr. Perez's son wrote, "My father has become a better man and has exceeded our expectations of becoming a better father and a wonderful grandfather, as well as a great husband to my mother." Mr. Perez's youngest daughter wrote, "My dad continues to be a hard worker, a great family man, an awesome provider, and does everything to help his wife, children, and grandchildren with our every need." The Superior Court Judge who presided over Mr. Perez's case told a Board investigator that Mr. Perez has done well in the community and does not appear to represent a danger to the public.

Additionally, Mr. Perez's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. At the en banc meeting, 12 people, including Mr. Perez's wife and children, spoke in support of clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Perez.

Upon his release in 2014, Mr. Perez demonstrated that he had turned his life around. I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Perez's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Alfredo Perez, Jr. to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Dominic Rodriguez

In 2004, 18-year-old Dominic Rodriguez was driving when his friend opened fire on several members of a rival gang, hitting Ro euth Korm. Mr. Korm survived his injuries. On July 25, 2005, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Rodriguez to 5 years for shooting from a vehicle plus an additional 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 30 years to life in prison.

Mr. Rodriguez is now 32 years old and has been incarcerated for 14 years. In that time, he has made strides toward transforming his life. He reported that he joined his gang when he was just 11 years old, and dropped out after his conviction for this crime. Since then, he has avoided gang activity and steered clear of drugs and alcohol. Mr. Rodriguez earned his GED and a certificate of career readiness from Baylor University, and is currently taking college classes. He has a positive work record and routinely receives above average to exceptional ratings from his supervisors. Mr. Rodriguez has participated in many self-help programs including Pathways to Freedom, Insight, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Victims Workshop, and has facilitated several classes. He has also received accolades from staff members, including a youth offender resource officer who commended Mr. Rodriguez for his "exemplary conduct" and wrote, "It is my opinion that Rodriguez has successfully rehabilitated himself and would prove to be a productive member in his community if granted a commutation."

In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Rodriguez spoke movingly about how experiencing loss in his own life helped him understand the impact that his actions had on those he targeted for the gang. He reiterated that since dropping out of his gang, he has changed his priorities and worked hard to show those changes through his actions. During his incarceration, Mr. Rodriguez has demonstrated that he is committed to his new path forward. I believe he deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Dominic Rodriguez to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Lorenzo Ross

On July 15, 2008, Lorenzo Ross acted as a lookout while Tyshawn Lewis and Joel Arnold robbed Rosa Hernandez of $1000 at gunpoint in her apartment. Ms. Hernandez, her boyfriend Christopher Torres, and her brother Gerald Hernandez were all assaulted during the course of the robbery. On June 25, 2010, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ross to 30 years to life for two counts of robbery plus an additional 20 years to life for firearm enhancements.

Mr. Ross has been incarcerated for 10 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Ross wrote, "I want an opportunity to go out into society and contribute something positive to my community. [A]t the time of my incarceration, I was a lost teenager. . . . I had no grasp of how detrimental the choices I made could be." He wrote that he applied for a commutation because "my actions at 19 years old on July 15, 2008, is a reflection of who I was then but not who I am today, nor who I will be for the next 50 years."

During the decade Mr. Ross has spent in prison, he has been dedicated to transforming his life. He earned his GED and completed vocational training in office services and auto body repair. An instructor in vocational auto body wrote in 2014 that Mr. Ross was an "outstanding student, applied his time well, asked a lot of questions, and inspired others." Mr. Ross has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Narcotics Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, Criminals & Gang Members Anonymous, and Victim Awareness. Mr. Ross also participated in a Youth Offender Mentoring Program in 2018 and was commended by the Anti-Recidivism Coalition for his active participation and "willingness to learn how to become an effective mentor, and making a positive contribution to his environment." A group sponsor noted in 2017 that Mr. Ross "has been an enthusiastic participant while working through issues in anger management classes, freely expressing himself during group discussions, and contributing positive criticism toward personal development topics."

Given Mr. Ross's efforts at rehabilitation in prison, I believe that he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

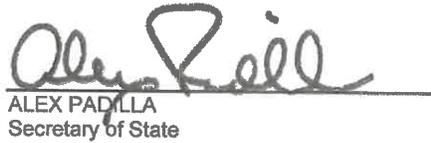

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Lorenzo Ross to a total of 15 years to life.

Question 2

At 3:00 a.m. Me, Arnold and a third person named KP I met Threw Arnold approached Rosa Hernandez house and knocked on her door with intentions to rob her. As her brother Geraldo opened the door he was punched in the face by KP and pushed to the ground. Arnold and KP went into the bedroom. I was standing at the front door halfway in halfway out. My job was to watch the door. Seconds later Rosa entered the living room and was pushed against the couch by Arnold. I entered the room to help Arnold she screamed and fought and I ran.

Question 3

I want an opportunity to go out into society and contribute something positive to my community at the time of my incarceration I was a lost teenager I do not say this trying to belittle my actions or make an excuse but to simply state where I was at in my life at this time. I had no grasp of how detrimental the choices I make could be. I am filing for a Commutation of Sentence because my actions at 19 years old on July 15, 2008 is a reflection of who I was then but not who I am today, nor who I will be for the next 50 years.

Question 4

I know that I took something from Rosa Hernandez, Geraldo Hernandez, and Christopher Torres not just money but a sense of normalcy, security, whatever sentimental value that were tied to their property. I took their peace, right to liberty and happiness. For the above reasons I don't consider myself entitled to a Commutation of Sentence but I want the opportunity to show that I'm not the person I was when this crime was committed and would like to be consider for a Commutation of Sentence.

It was a time in my life when I didn't have respect for anything or anyone. I had no regard for the destruction I was causing on other people's lives as well as my own. I didn't care about my life and it played a major factor on why I lived a reckless and careless life not caring or taking the time to acknowledge that I was destroying everything in my path. My life, other people lives, my family, my community. I didn't know at 19yrs old that one action could harm so many people lives. Lives of people I knew lives of people I don't know and will never know.

During my duration of my incarceration I have matured and grew. I know now that the life I was living was not a healthy lifestyle and nothing good could come from living that way. I know that I could never take back the pain and harm I caused Rosa Hernandez, Geraldo Hernandez, and Christopher Torres that horrible night. But I could make amends by changing my life. I know now that my actions hurt my family my community and the ripple effects last for years to come an action that takes 5 minutes to commit can change generations. Me at 19 years old I didn't understand the effects of my actions.

During my whole 9 years of incarceration I have worked hard on rehabilitating myself so that I can not only be ready for society but a productive person to society. Along the way the more I worked on rehabilitating myself the harder it became the more layers I had to pull back to look into myself. Prior to my incarceration at 19yrs I had no skills or job experiences, since my incarceration I have obtained my GED, completed Auto Body Repair & Refurnishing Vocational. I am a certified Microsoft Specialist for word and I currently enrolled in Microsoft Offices Services & Related Technologies Vocational I obtained the Auto Body Repair trade because I want to go into this field and open my own shop and be a positive and productive asset to the community. Computers are also something that I have a lot interest in, and it is vital part of the world to as well as the future and that played a big part in me pursuing the Office Services Vocational I am also enrolled in Palo Verde College and I'm pursuing an AA degree with a major in business.

I have completed numerous self-help groups and their all helpful and insightful but there's a couple that help me out the most. Criminal Gangs Anonymous (CGA) it helped me with the knowledge understanding and insight that I never had prior to the self-help group. The group helped me to deal with and identify with the feeling I felt and triggers that lead me up to joining a gang as well as understanding the root of my emotion and mind state at the time of me being an active participate in the gang lifestyle. CGA opened my eyes and help me to destroy all the false beliefs and misconception I had about criminal gang lifestyle and gave me the proper strength and tools to move forward and the leave my past lifestyle behind me and live a positive and criminal gang free life.

Addiction Consoling Program (ACP) was another self-help group that really helped me. ACP taught me that my lifestyle was an addiction and that a lifestyle can be an addiction and with an addiction you have to work daily with it, it can't be fixed overnight. It takes strength, discipline, hard work dedication, strong support system and the will power daily to overcome your addiction.

Alternative to Violence (AVP) is another self-help group that made a positive impact on me. AVP helped me to understand that anger is a normal emotion, but it a proper way to funnel your anger when you become angry that doesn't have to invoke violence on others such as positive self- talk , compromise and be patient and persistent when seeking justice. Those are some tools I use today when faced with anger and conflict.

I want to give back to my community in anyway positive from helping mentor the youth, to coaching youth basketball team. Just showing my community and society that people can change. I have played a part in hurting people lives; now I want to play apart in helping people lives. I know I can never take back the pain, heartache, terror that I inflicted upon Rosa, Geraldo, Christopher that awful night, but today as an 29 year old I live everyday with the regret, remorse and most of all the shame of my 19 year old self and my actions that I used that night July 15,2008.

Sem Saepanh

In 2009, Sem Saepanh and his brother got into a fight with Kwame Cunningham and another man. After the fight, Mr. Saepanh drove by and fired shots from a car, hitting Mr. Cunningham and bystander Britney Rudolph. Both victims survived their injuries. On January 4, 2010, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Saepanh to 6 years and 8 months for discharging a firearm plus an additional 50 years to life for firearm enhancements.

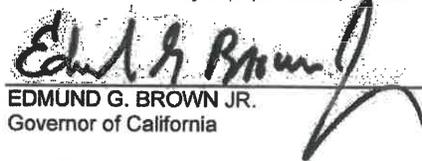

Mr. Saepanh has now been incarcerated for 9 years. In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Saepanh reported that during that time, he has matured, maintained his sobriety, and focused on being a good role model for his daughter. Indeed, Mr. Saepanh has maintained an excellent record in prison. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct. He stopped associating with gangs and has participated in self-help programs, including Getting Out by Going In, Alternatives to Violence and Nonviolent Conflict Resolution. Mr. Saepanh completed a vocational program in computer literacy and plans to start taking college classes. In 2018, Mr. Saepanh's correctional counselor reported that he is hard-working, avoids trouble, and has been rehabilitated. A correctional officer who has worked in Mr. Saepanh's housing unit for several years reported that he stays out of trouble and shows good character. Both staff members believed that Mr. Saepanh was a good candidate for a commutation of sentence. If released, Mr. Saepanh plans to live with his parents, and has job opportunities in construction and landscaping.

Despite his very lengthy sentence, Mr. Saepanh came to prison and turned his life around – he stopped associating with gang members, stayed away from drugs and alcohol, and dedicated himself to rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Sem Saepanh to a total of 15 years to life.

ARGUMENT

I.

APPLICANT WAS DEPRIVED OF DUE PROCESS WHEN THE TRIAL COURT COMMITTED REVERSIBLE ERROR IN ADMITTING EVIDENCE OF APPELLANT'S GANG AFFILIATION TO SHOW MOTIVE. THIS CASE CALLS OUT FOR CLEMENCY, COMMUTATION OF CURRENT SENTENCE, OR PARDON.

Have you sought relief from the courts?

See page 1, of this Application for Clemency I have Exhausted all of my State appeals my Petition for Review was denied on April 13, 2011 and my last day for filing my federal habeas corpus petition in the federal dist Ct would of been July 12, 2012 , therefore I have no adeguate remedy remaining except for this Application for Clemency.

1 A. Introduction

2 Over defense objection, the trial court allowed the 3 prosecution to elicit testimony from gang expert of appellant's
4 gang affiliation for the limited purpose of showing motive.
5 (1 R.T. pp.85-86.) There was no gang enhancement charged under 6 section 186.22, as the expert acknowledged that appellant's "gang"
7 had not committed any of the statutory predicate crimes that would 8 qualify it as a criminal street gang under California law. (2 R.T.
9 p.406.) This evidence was irrelevant and not admissible under 10 any exception. The prejudicial effect of this testimony compels
11 reversal of appellant's convictions by clemency.

12 B. The Standard of Review

13 Ordinarily a trial court's "exercise of discretion under 14 Evidence Code section 352 will not be disturbed on appeal unless 15 the court clearly abused its discretion, e.g., when the 16 prejudicial effect of the evidence clearly outweighed its 17 probative value." (People v. Jennings (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 1301, 18 1314-1315.) However where there are no factual question, an 19 appeal presents exclusively a question of law, which the court
20 will review de novo. (In re Alberto (2002) 102 Cal.App.4th 421, 21 426; People v. Culp (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1270, 1281.)

22 Here, the facts introduced subject to this issue are not 23 realistically in dispute. Therefore, appellant would argue that 24 independent review is appropriate.

1 C. The Court Committed Reversible Error in Admitting
2 Evidence of Appellant's Gang Affiliation.

3 1. The Applicable Law

4 While "evidence of a person's character or a trait of his 5 or her character (whether in the form of an opinion, evidence of 6 reputation, or evidence of specific instances of his or her
7 conduct) is inadmissible when offered to prove his or her conduct
8 on a specified occasion" (Evid. Code § 1101, subd.(a)), such 9 evidence is admissible "when relevant to prove some fact (such as 10 motive....) other than his or her disposition to commit such an 11 act." (Evid. Code § 1101, subd.(b).)

12 However, only relevant evidence may be admitted at trial.
13 (Evid. Code § 350; Witkin, California Evidence, (1986 3d ed.)
14 § 290, p.259.) The court has no discretion to admit irrelevant
15 evidence. (People v. Babbitt (1988) 45 Cal.3d 660, 681.) Evidence
16 is relevant if it tends to prove a disputed intermediate or 17 ultimate fact of consequence. (Evid. Code § 210; People v. Hill
18 (1992) 3 Cal.4th 959, 987.)

19 Evidence Code section 352 states: "The court in its 20 discretion may exclude evidence if its probative value is 21 substantially outweighed by the probability that its admission will 22 (a) necessitate undue consumption of time or (b) create substantial 23 danger of undue prejudice, of confusing the issues, or of 24 misleading the jury." In cases not involving the gang enhancement,
25 the California Supreme Court has held that evidence of gang 26 membership is potentially prejudicial and should not be admitted if 27 its probative value is minimal. (People v. Cardenas (1982) 31 Cal.

Application for Clemency

P-4-B

1 3d 897, 904-905.)

2 In Cardenas, there was an abundance of evidence that the 3 appellant and his defense witnesses lived in the same neighborhood,
4 had the same circle of friends, and all belonged to the 5 San Gabriel Boys Club where they played basketball. "On the basis
6 of this evidence, there could have been no doubt in the jurors'
7 minds that appellant and his male witnesses were neighborhood
8 friends. The fact that appellant and the witnesses were also 9 members of the Flores gang was cumulative and added little to 10 further the prosecution's objective of showing that the witnesses
11 were biased because of their close association with appellant."
12 (People v. Cardenas, supra, 31 Cal.3d 897,904.) The California
13 Supreme Court held that under these circumstances "the trial court
14 abused its discretion by allowing the prosecution to introduce 15 evidence that appellant and his witnesses were affiliated with the 16 El Monte Flores youth gang." (Ibid.)"Admission of the evidence of 17 common gang membership constituted an abuse of the trial court's 18 discretion under Evidence Code section 352." (Id.at p.905.) The 19 rationale of the decision was that "[n]ot only did the common gang
20 membership evidence have limited probative value, but its admission
21 created a substantial danger of undue prejudice." (Id. at pp. 904-
22 905.) The court noted that "[i]n Southern California, Chicano
23 youth gangs have received widespread media publicity for their 24 purported criminal activities" and that there was a "real danger
25 that the jury would improperly infer that appellant had a criminal 26 disposition" because he was a member of a youth gang. (Id.at p.905.)

27 "Evidence of gang membership is considered prejudicial

Application for Clemency

P-4-C

1 because it tends to establish criminal disposition." (People v.
2 Pinholster (1992) 1 Cal.4th 865; 945.) "When offered by the
3 prosecution, we have condemned the introduction of evidence of 4 gang membership impact." (People v. Cox (1991)53 Cal.3d 618, 660;
5 People v. Maestas (1993)20 Cal.App.4th 1482, 1498.)

6 2. The Admission of the Gang Affiliation Testimony
7 Was an Abuse of Discretion

8 While California courts have sometimes said that a court 9 has abused its discretion when its actions "exceeded the bounds of 10 reason" (Shamblin v. Brattain (1988) 44 Cal.3d 474, 478), this 11 pejorative boilerplate is misleading. "Abuse [of discretion] is 12 not limited to such an extreme case." (Department of Parks and 13 Recreation v. State Personal Bd. (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 813, n. 3.)

14 "Unlike the substantial evidence rule, which measures the 15 quantum of proof adduced in the proceedings below, the abuse of 16 discretion standard measures whether, given the established
17 evidence, the lower court's action "falls within the permissible 18 range of options set by the legal criteria." (Dorman v. DWLC Corp.
19 (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 1808, 1815.) "[T]he trial court's 20 discretion is limited by applicable legal principles." (People v.
21 Ex Rel Department of Corporations v. Speedee Oil Change Systems, 22 Inc. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1135, 1144.) As Justice Cardoza said in 23 dissent in Panama Refining Co. v. Ryan (1935) 293 U.S. 388, 440
24 [55 S.Ct. 241, 79 L.Ed. 446], discretion may not be "unconfined
25 vagrant," but must be "canalized within banks to keep it from 26 overflowing."

27 It has sometimes been said that discretion has been abused

Application for Clemency

P-4-D

1 only when the trial court's ruling is arbitrary, whimsical, or 2 capricious. (E.g., People v. Linkenauger (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th
3 1603, 1614; People v. Branch (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 274, 282.)
4 However, as this court has noted: "This pejorative boilerplate is 5 misleading since it implies that in every case in which a trial
6 court is reversed for an abuse of discretion its action was 7 utterly irrational. Although irrationality is beyond the legal 8 pale it does not mark the legal boundaries which fence in 9 discretion." (City of Sacramento v. Drew (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d
10 1287, 1297.) As this court also pointed out in that case, the 11 scope of discretion always resides in the particular law being 12 applied, and an action that transgresses the confines of the 13 applicable principles of law is outside the scope of discretion
14 and therefore an abuse of discretion. (Ibid.) And as a more 15 recent case notes, a court's discretion is subject to the 16 limitations of the legal principles governing the subject of its 17 actions and to reversal where no reasonable basis for the action
18 is shown. (People v. Jacobs (2007) 156 Cal.App.4th 728, 738.)
19 Thus, a "court abuses its discretion when it acts contrary to law."
20 (In re Anthony M. (2007) 156 Cal.App.4th 1010, 1016.)

21 Here the trial court acted contrary to law. Prior to the 22 admission of the gang evidence to the jury, the court held an 23 Evidence Code section 402 hearing. Fan was the prosecution's
24 gang expert and testified, as might be expected, that the Polk
25 Street Boys was an Asian Crip gang and that appellant was a member.
26 (2 R.T.p. 401.) However, "[I]t is not so simply because 'an expert 27 says it is so.'" (Merrell Dow Pharm., Inc. v. Havner (Tex. 2007)

Application for Clemency

P-4-E

1 953 S.W.2d 706, 712.)

2 A "criminal street gang" is defined under the California
3 law as "any ongoing organization, association, or group of three 4 or more persons, whether formal or informal, having as one of its 5 primary activities the commission of one or more of the criminal 6 acts enumerated in [subdivision (e)], having a common name or 7 common identifying sign or symbol, and whose members individually
8 or collectively engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal 9 gang activity." (§ 186.22, subd.(f).) The acts set forth in 10 subdivision (e) include murder, burglary, and other felonies.

11 Therefore, the "criminal street gang" component of the 12 statute requires proof of three essential elements: "(1) that 13 there be an 'ongoing' association involving three or more
14 participants, having a 'common name or common identifying sign or 15 symbol'; (2) that the group has as one of its 'primary activities'
16 the commission of one or more specified crimes; and (3) the group's 17 members either separately or as a group 'have engaged in a pattern
18 of criminal gang activity. [Citation.]" (People v. Vy (2004) 122
19 Cal.App.4th 1209, 1222.)

20 Here, however, Fan had to acknowledge that the Polk Street
21 Boys gang had not committed any of the crimes enumerated in section
22 186.22, subdivision (e), and therefore did not meet the statutory 23 definition of a criminal street gang. (2 R.T.pp. 406-407.)
24 Therefore, while Fan told the jury the highly prejudicial evidence 25 that the two gangs in question don't get along and react to 26 insults with violence (see generally 2 R.T.pp. 437-443) the 27 evidence adduced at the earlier hearing established that one of

Application for Clemency

P-4-F

1 the "gangs" didn't meet the statutory criteria of a gang at all.
2 There was no evidence presented as to whether the other "gang"
3 met the statutory criteria either.

4 In addition, Fan's opinion that this shooting occurred as a
5 result of gang retaliation was not strongly borne out by the 6 evidence presented. This incident started when Ricky said "why
7 you wearing all this blue" to Sem while inside the mall.
8 According to Michael that was "disrespected." (1 R.T.pp. 238-239)
9 There was no expansion of this testimony that would allow this 10 jury to understand why such a statement was "disrespectful."
11 Nobody explained, for instance, that this statement was a gang 12 challenge of some sort; it could just have easily been an 13 insulting comment as to how appellant matched his clothes that had 14 no gang context.

15 The incident escalated when several Asians got into a 16 scuffle with several Blacks. Robert said that the incident started 17 when one of the Asians was "looking at me kind of weird." He also 18 stated that no member of his group was wearing any colors or 19 showing any gang tattoos. (1 R.T.pp. 182-183.) Again, the jury
20 recieved no evidence that this scuffle was gang related. There
21 was no testimony that anyone involved said anything about a gang, 22 or showed any gang signs. There was no testimony that any of the 23 Blacks knew any of the Asians or vice versa. There was no way to 24 identify the Black youths as being gang members.

25 Therefore it appears the motive for the shooting began with 26 an incident involving some sort of insulting language, that 27 escalated into a scuffle between two different racial groups who

Application for Clemency

P-4-G

1 didn't know each other. In the absence of any evidence of gang
2 signs or someone claiming one gang or another, it was an abuse of 3 discretion to admit highly prejudicial gang evidence. "When 4 offered by the prosecution, we have condemned the introduction of 5 evidence of gang membership if only tangentially relevant, given
6 its highly inflammatory impact." (People v. Cox, supra, 53 Cal.3d
7 618, 660; People v. Maestas, supra, 20 Cal. App. 4th 1482, 1498.)

8 D. Prejudice

9 In determining the appropriate standard of harmful error
10 analysis to apply in this case, it is noted that the beyond-a-
11 reasonable-doubt standard of Chapman v. California (1967) 386 U.S.
12 18, 24 [87 S. Ct. 824, 17 L.Ed.2d 705] applies to prejudicial-
13 error analysis for federal constitutional errors, while the Watson
14 standard of reasonable probability that the result would have been 15 more favorable, absent the error (People v. Watson (1956) 46 Cal.
16 2d 818, 835-836), applies to prejudicial-error analysis for errors
17 of state law. (People v. Boyette (2002) 29 Cal. 4th 381, 428.

18 "[T]he admission of evidence, even if erroneous under state
19 law, results in a due process violation only if it makes the trial
20 fundamentally unfair." (People v. Partida (2005) 37 Cal. 4th 228, 21 439.) To determine whether an evidentiary ruling denied defendant
22 due process of law, "the presence or absence of a state law
23 violation is largely beside the point" because "failure to comply 24 with the state's rules of evidence is neither a necessary nor a 25 sufficient basis" for granting relief on federal due process
26 grounds. (Jammal v. Van de Kamp (9th Cir. 1991) 926 F.2d 918, 27 919-920.)

Application for Clemency

P-4-H

1 To prove a deprivation of federal due process rights,
2 appellant must satisfy a high constitutional standard to show that
3 the erroneous admission of evidence resulted in an unfair trial.
4 "Only if there are no permissible inferences the jury may draw
5 from the evidence can its admission violate due process. Even 6 then, the evidence must "be of such quality as necessarily 7 prevents a fair trial." [Citation.] Only under such 8 circumstances can it be inferred that the jury must have used the 9 evidence for an improper purpose." (Jammal v. Van de Kamp, supra, 10 926 F.2d at p. 920.) "The dispositive issue is whether the trial
11 court committed an error which rendered the trial "so "arbitrary
12 and fundamentally unfair" that it violated federal due process.'
13 [Citations.]" (Reiger v. Christensen (9th Cir. 1986) 789 F.2d 1425, 14 1430.)

15 The prosecution clearly implied that appellant was a person
16 of bad character by describing him as a gang member that was 17 compelled to respond with violence to any incident considered
18 "disrespectful." (2 R.T. p. 443.) As noted, appellant's "gang"
19 didn't even meet the statutory criteria for a criminal street gang
20 and there was no evidence introduced that this was a gang related 21 incident as opposed to an argument between two different racial 22 groups. The prosecution tried to paint this incident as a "gang"
23 crime, but the evidence presented did not support his theory.
24 This improper testimony rendered appellant's trial fundamentally 25 unfair because of the highly inflammatory nature of gang
26 testimony.

27 Because respondent was the beneficiary of the error, the Application for Clemency

P-4-I

1 burden falls upon it to prove "beyond a reasonable doubt" that the
2 error did not affect the result. Moreover, "beyond a reasonable
3 doubt" is the equivalent of a "subjective state of near certitude"
4 (Cf. Victor v. Nebraska (1994) 511 U.S. 1, 15[114 S.Ct. 1239, 127
5 L.Ed.2d 583]; Jackson v. Virginia (1979) 443 U.S. 307, 315[99 S.Ct.
6 2781, 61 L.Ed.2d 560].) Here, respondent cannot carry such a
7 heavy burden.

8 Because of the hurried nature of the shooting, it was 9 possible that Brittany and Michael were mistaken in their 10 identification of appellant as the shooter. Both of them were 11 shown appellant, standing alone, and asked if he looked familiar.
12 (2 R.T.pp. 314, 380.) While appellant was heavily tattooed all
13 over his body (2 R.T.p. 359), and Michael stated that the shooter
14 had tattoos on his arms and chest (1 R.T.p. 232), Michael did not 15 say that he recognized appellant's particular tattoos. A field
16 show up of only one person, such as what was utilized here, is 17 less reliable than a group lineup because a person needs
18 alternative people to view and reject, particularly when the 19 identification is made between members of different races. This 20 difficulty is recognized in CALCRIM no. 315, given to the jury in 21 this case (1 C.T. p. 225), which acknowledges certain factors 22 affecting the reliability of eyewitness identification such as:

- 23 * Did the witness know or have contact with the defendant
24 before the event? (There was no evidence the parties 25 knew each other.)
- 26 * What were the circumstances affecting the witness's
27 ability to observe, such as lighting, weather conditions,

Application for Clemency

P-4-J

1 obstructions, distance, and duration of observation?

2 (This was a very quick incident.)

3 * Was the witness under stress when he or she made the 4 observation? (In shooting, the targets of the shooting
5 are certainly under stress.)

6 * Was the witness asked to pick the perpetrator out of a
7 group? (No.)

8 * Are the witness and the defendant of different races?
9 (Yes.)

10 The courts have made similar observations. The United 11 States Supreme Court has recognized that "the vagaries of 12 eyewitness identification are well-known; the annals of criminal 13 law are rife with instances of mistaken identification." (United 14 States v. Wade (1967) 388 U.S. 218, 228, [87 S.Ct. 1926, 18 L.Ed.2d 15 1149].) The court noted "the high incidence of miscarriage of 16 justice" caused by such mistaken identifications, and warned that 17 "the dangers for the suspect are particularly grave when the 18 witness' opportunity for observation was insubstantial, and thus 19 his susceptibility to suggestion the greatest." (Id. at pp. 228, 20 229.)

21 Distinguished federal judges have echoed and amplified.
22 these warnings. thus in Jackson v. Fogg (2d Cir. 1978) 589 F.2d 23 108, Judge Lumbard observed that "[C]enturies of experience in the 24 administration of criminal justice have shown that convictions
25 based solely on testimony that identifies a defendant previously 26 unknown to the witness is highly suspect. Of all the various 27 kinds of evidence it is the least reliable, especially where

Application for Clemency

P-4-K

1 unsupported by corroborating evidence." (Id..atp. 112.)

2 Some of the reasons for that unreliability were discussed
3 by Judge (later Solicitor General) McCree in United States v.
4 Russell (6th Cir. 1976) 532 F.2d 1063, 1066: "There is a great
5 potential for misidentification when a witness identifies a 6 stranger based solely upon a single brief observation, and this 7 risk is increased when the observation was made at a time of 8 stress or excitement....[T]his danger is inherent in every 9 identification of this kind,..." As Judge McCree noted, "This 10 problem is important because of all the evidence that may be 11 present to a jury, a witness' in-court statement that 'he is the 12 one' is probably the most dramatic and persuasive." (Id.at:p.1067)
13 It certainly was here.

14 The California Supreme Court addressed the subject of 15 psychological factors that can affect the accuracy of eyewitness
16 identifications in People v. McDonald (1984) 37 Cal.3d 351,
17 overruled on other grounds in People v. Mendoza (2000) 23 Cal.4th
18 896. Although the particular issue in that case was the 19 admissibility of expert testimony on such factors, much of that 20 analysis is relevant here. The court recognized, together with 21 distinguished federal courts, that eyewitness identifications are 22 often unreliable, particularly when a witness identifies a stranger
23 on the basis of a single brief observation made in fear or under 24 stress. (People v. McDonald, supra, 37 Cal.3d 351 at pp.363-364.)

25 Numerous empirical studies have found that certain 26 psychological factors inherent in the observer or the event can 27 adversely affect the accuracy of eyewitness identification, and

P-4-L

1 some of those factors "may be known only to some jurors, or may be 2 imperfectly understood by many, or may be contrary to the 3 intuitive beliefs of most." (People v. McDonald, supra, 37 Cal.3d
4 351 at p. 368) Such factors include "the lack of correlation
5 between the degree of confidence an eyewitness expresses in his 6 identification and the accuracy of that identification." (Id. at 7 pp. 368, 369.)

8 Appellant is not arguing that the identification must have 9 been wrong. He is instead arguing that the identification may 10 have been wrong; it is the respondent's burden to show beyond a 11 reasonable doubt that the identification was correct.

12 All of the witnesses agreed that there was more than one
13 person inside the gray Four Runner. While it was not disputed 14 that the shots came from the Four Runner, it is possible that they 15 came from someone other than appellant. Wilson found gunshot
16 residue on the driver's side of the vehicle. (2 R.T. p. 427.)
17 There was no gunshot residue testing done on the passenger side of 18 the vehicle. (2 R.T. p. 395.) While the shots may have come from 19 the driver's side window, they may have been fired by the 20 passenger leaning across. Again, appellant is not arguing that 21 this scenario is correct. He is instead arguing that this 22 might be correct; it is the respondent's burden to show beyond a 23 reasonable doubt that the scenario is incorrect. It therefore 24 cannot be said beyond a reasonable doubt that the error did not 25 affect the outcome.

26 Even under the lesser Watson standard, reversal is 27 warranted because it is reasonably probable that appellant would

Application for Clemency

P-4-M

1 have received a more favorable verdict if the improper evidence
2 had not been admitted. The Supreme Court has also "made clear that 3 a 'probability' in this context does not mean more likely than not,
4 but merely a reasonable chance, more than an abstract possibility.'
5 (College Hospital, Inc. v. Superior Court (1994) 8 Cal.4th 704, 715,
6 italics original, boldface added, citing People v. Watson, supra,
7 46 Cal.2d at p.837, and Strickland v. Washington (1984) 466 U.S.
8 668, 693-694, 698 [104 S. Ct. 2052, 80 L.Ed.2d 674].) The evidence
9 of appellant's gang affiliation placed a pall over the trial. It
10 is reasonably probable that had the jury not heard the improper
11 evidence, coupled with the very real possibility of a mistaken
12 identification and/or the possibility of another occupant in the 13 vehicle firing the shots, they would have been more inclined to 14 favor appellant with their verdict.

17 The court prejudicially erred in admitting evidence of 18 involvement in gangs for the purpose of showing motive where no
19 gang enhancement was charged and the evidence was more prejudicial
20 than probative.

21 Appellant therefore respectfully requests that the Governor
22 exercise the power to grant an AMNESTY, PARDON, OR REPRIEVE, OR TO 23 COMMUTE APPELLANT'S SENTENCE, BY what is called executive clemency.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Ernesto Sandoval

Ernesto Sandoval was in an on-again, off-again relationship with Lorraine Venegas when they devised a plan in the summer of 1992 to kill her abusive husband, Conrado Venegas. While Mr. Venegas was sleeping in his bedroom, Mr. Sandoval approached him and shot him in the chest and head, killing him. On October 10, 1995, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Sandoval to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Sandoval has now been incarcerated for more than 26 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Sandoval wrote, "I am no longer the same person that committed that horrendous crime, since I have been in prison, I have worked on my rehabilitation." Mr. Sandoval continued, "I believe in the human spirit, and that I have matured and grown responsibly and I am an example that positive change and redemption are possible."

During over a quarter century in prison with no possibility of parole, Mr. Sandoval has been dedicated to transforming his life. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct. He earned his GED and multiple certificates of proficiency from the California Prison Industry Authority. Mr. Sandoval has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Victim Awareness, Houses of Healing, Men For Honor, and Surviving and Thriving. Mr. Sandoval has participated in the Lifers Support Group and Bible Study. He has lived on an honor yard since 2009.

Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Sandoval has earned the respect of the staff members and prison volunteers who see him on a regular basis. In 2017, a chaplain commended Mr. Sandoval for his work with the Protestant program. The chaplain wrote, "He has been a leader and teacher in our Spanish chapel program for 11 years. He has led men in our chapel program in the path of rehabilitation through word and example." In 2013, 2014, and 2016, superintendents with the Prison Industry Authority wrote, "[Mr.] Sandoval has worked at various positions making every effort to learn all aspects of the industry." In 2012, a PIA supervisor commended Mr. Sandoval for his good attitude and work habits. While working towards earning his GED, an instructor noted that Mr. Sandoval "has excellent work habits and skills. He is a hard worker who strives toward academic perfection. Inmate Sandoval relates well to his peers and is a peacemaker. The goals which he sets for himself are remarkable."

Although he is serving a sentence that gave him no hope of release from prison, Mr. Sandoval has dedicated himself to rehabilitation and has worked hard to set a positive example for his peers. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Sandoval has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ernesto Sandoval to a total of 26 years to life.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Robert Sandoval

On September 23, 2006, Robert Sandoval was at a restaurant with his cousin when a fight broke out. When Mr. Sandoval saw that his friend was involved in the fight, he retrieved a weapon from his truck and fired into the air, then into the crowd. Christopher Inouye was shot in the neck and killed; Clair Chang was wounded, but survived. On January 9, 2008, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Sandoval to 15 years to life for murder, 4 years for mayhem plus an additional 50 years to life for firearm enhancements.

Mr. Sandoval has now been incarcerated for 12 years. Mr. Sandoval wrote in his application for clemency, "Prison has transformed my life. It actually saved me from self-destruction and a distorted belief system. It was here where I admitted I was an alcoholic. I have been sober since the night of my crime. I have disassociated from all forms [of] deviant and anti-social behavior. I have been disciplinary-free during my time in prison." He continued, "My remorse has fostered a desire to give back to the community I took so much from."

Mr. Sandoval has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct. He earned three A.A. degrees and completed vocational training in computer literacy. Mr. Sandoval has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Anger Management, Alternatives to Violence, Breaking Barriers, and Victim Awareness. From 2016-2017, Mr. Sandoval participated in the Reaching Out Challenging Kids Youth Diversion Program.

Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Sandoval has earned the respect of the staff members and prison volunteers who see him on a regular basis. In 2018, an academic instructor commended Mr. Sandoval on his work tutoring other inmates for their GEDs. The instructor wrote, "He's been instrumental in being able to assist me with tutoring and motivating the students in the classroom. [Mr.] Sandoval is self-motivated, professional, and his persistence is reflected by his tenacity to work. . . . His positive attitude and desire to see the students succeed is appreciated. I do not doubt that he will be successful in the future." In 2017, a college coordinator wrote, "Mr. Sandoval has a reputation for excellent work, dependability, and honest service. . . . His fluent language skills in both English and Spanish have allowed him to serve a diverse population of inmate students and guide them to success. He has also been instrumental in starting our English as a Second Language (ESL) program on B yard." In 2017, a correctional counselor praised Mr. Sandoval's work in the Youth Offender program and noted, "Mr. Sandoval has demonstrated the qualities of genuine change. He [should] be commended for his positive programming and efforts in giving back to his community." In 2016, a correctional officer wrote regarding Mr. Sandoval's work, "[H]e has always displayed a strong work ethic, communication and problem solving skills. This position of trust has proven him trustworthy, diligent, professional, and courteous while performing his job duties." The officer continued, "His transparency is reflective of the change CDCR offers through rehabilitation. He consistently motivates and encourages others to pursue vocational and educational achievement." In 2016, a correctional sergeant wrote, "Mr. Sandoval has demonstrated a consistent pattern of change that epitomizes the objectives of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation. Mr. Sandoval should be commended for this positive programming and desire to give back."

Mr. Sandoval committed a reckless and callous crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Sandoval has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Robert Sandoval to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Response to Question #2:

Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a pardon or commutation

(The following description of my life crime is how I remember the horrific night. In no way will I ever be able to right this wrong. I take full responsibility for murdering Mr. Christopher Inouye and causing great bodily injury to Mr. Clair Chang. I believe in full transparency in both what is and is not on the record. This is how I remember it.)

On September 22, 2006, I got off work early (approx. 10 p.m.) due to a scheduling mix-up. I worked for a security firm called the Los Angeles Housing Authority where I was an armed security officer. Our primary responsibility was to patrol private apartment complexes and report any unusual/criminal activity to the local authorities. I understand that as an armed officer my responsibility includes ensuring that I drop off my weapon immediately after work. I made an irresponsible decision not to do so. Instead, I went to my cousin Ralph's house (mom's first cousin), picked him up, and went to two bars before meeting up with my friend and co-worker, Christopher Navarro, at the TGI Friday's in the City of Industry. I was going to drop off checks to Navarro prior to going out of town. Prior to us meeting up with our group, Ralph and I went to an Irish Pub, and a bar called Katie Jake's in the city of West Covina. I consumed approximately 2-3 drinks at either restaurant, approx. 1½ -2 hours before arriving at TGI Friday's. In addition to Chris, his sister Stephanie and her friend were already at the restaurant when Ralph and I arrived at about 12:30 a.m.

I was at the TGI Friday's for about 45 minutes to an hour and consumed several more alcohol drinks before the last call was made and our group decided to leave. We were hanging out in the parking lot by our vehicles when I saw a group of people coming out from the emergency exit of the patio-section of the restaurant. They were all fighting and beating up on a guy (later identified as Caesar Alvarado). Ralph suggested that we should help. I agreed. (I saw this as an opportunity to play cop and hero.) As Ralph and Chris ran to the crowd of people fighting, I ran to my truck and grabbed my gun that I use for work (a very reckless and callous decision; I should have dialed 911). I took my gun from the extended-cab area of my truck, loaded it, and fired two shots into the air (extreme negligence and disregard for human life). I then stuck my gun into my back pant pocket and ran into the crowd (reckless). As I ran into the crowd I was struck in the neck with a solid object. I hunched over, and as I stood up I saw someone coming towards me and believed he was the one who hit me in the neck (later identified as Mr. Clair Chang-mayhem victim). I callously shot Mr. Chang in the groin where he later suffered the reconstruction of his penis, the loss of his left testicle, and stitches behind his thigh. (After being struck in the neck, I believed Mr. Chang was coming after me, so I aimed for his leg, to stop him, and shot him. Mr. Chang was an innocent bystander trying to stop the fight. I was very cowardly and showed no regard for human life.) Within the line-of-sight of where Mr. Chang was standing I saw my friend, Christopher Navarro, being beaten by what appeared to be the original crowd of people coming out of the restaurant. I saw a man without a shirt (later identified as Mr. Christopher Inouye-murder victim) stomping on my friend Chris' head. At the time I felt that I had to do something to stop the beating so I shot Mr. Inouye (I should have dialed 911 or ran to him and push him off). This shot struck Mr. Inouye in the right carotid artery and he later died from his injuries). After I fired these two shots I ran to my truck and left the scene with Ralph. I originally told investigators that I had thought I heard other gun shots which was the reason why I left, but I didn't. I lied in an effort to build a plausible story as to why I left the scene. I dropped Ralph off at his home in Azusa and went home. During the drive home I received a phone call from my friend Chris and he said he thought someone died. I immediately thought of what I was going to do, and what I was going to say. At the time, I didn't want to believe or accept responsibility for having murdered someone (Mr. Inouye).

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Robert M. Sandoval (G-06189)

I arrived home shortly after dropping off Ralph and put my gun in my gym bag that was located in the living room. My friend Chris arrived at my house about a half hour later. We talked about what happened at the restaurant and what we should do. As I was trying to shake off my drunkenness (irresponsible), we agreed that we had to say something. During this conversation I noticed police cars pulling to the stop sign at the corner of the block with only their parking lights on. I knew that they were coming for me. Several police cars pulled up to the front of my house (parents' house) and took us into custody at gun-point.

During the course of the preliminary investigation, I lied about having my gun on me at all that night, how many shots I fired, and my involvement in any shooting. I lied because I did not want to take responsibility for my criminal, callous, and heinous actions (coward). I lied because I was scared of accepting the fact that I murdered someone (Mr. Inouye). I lied because I thought that by doing so I would be let go and I would be able to still make the concert in Las Vegas (immaturity and disregard for human life). (Not on the record: I asked the deputy who transported me to the sub-station if he thought I would still make the concert. He said he didn't think so.*) I compulsively lied because I hoped that by doing so my story would be believed and that I could get away with these crimes.

While being interviewed in the sub-station by two homicide detectives, I continued to lie about how many shots I fired. I did not want to take responsibility. During the trial, I minimized my responsibility by saying that I shot Mr. Inouye because I thought I had saw a shiny object in his waistband. I lied again. I was dishonest because I wanted to paint myself in a favorable light in order to get away with murdering Mr. Inouye, causing great bodily injury (mayhem) to Mr. Chang, and provide a more believable defense in hopes of being found not guilty. I was devastatingly wrong.

Robert M. Sandoval (G-06189)

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Petition for Commutation

Robert M. Sandoval (G-06189)

Response to Question #3:

Explain why you are requesting a pardon or commutation

I am humbly presenting my petition for commutation before the honorable Governor of the State of California, Edmund G. Brown Jr. In light of my current programming and changes that I have made as a man over the course of almost 12 years of incarceration, I respectfully believe that my current case factors qualify for a review of my program and/or C-File. I understand that I do not deserve any form of relief for the heinous crimes that I committed, so I am placing myself at the mercy of the office of the governor.

In 2008 I was rightfully tried and convicted for second-degree murder on Mr. Christopher Inouye, and mayhem on Mr. Clair Chang. My sentence included 15 years to life, plus a 25 to life weapon enhancement on the murder; and 4 years, plus a 25 to life weapon enhancement on the mayhem. My sentence was ran consecutive and totaled a 69 year to life sentence, a sentence I appropriately deserve.

When I was first sentenced, I was convinced that the system (jury) clearly got the conviction wrong. I believed that the criminal justice system was broken. My mentality was focused on how the system could allow so many career criminals 'off the hook' and sentence me, a first time offender who was just beginning the application process with the sheriff's department, to almost three-quarters of a century. Today, I am in full agreement with the law and my sentence.

I was twenty-one years old when I committed my life crimes. I was a police explorer for several years and worked as an armed security officer. My career goal was to work in the law enforcement field. What I failed to address during this time were the underlying causative factors that contributed to my state of mind leading up to my life crimes. As a result of having been an explorer, working for the Downtown Center Business Improvement District as a security officer, and the security firm, Los Angeles Housing Authority, I developed an authoritarian attitude. I falsely believed that it was my 'job' to take control of any situation. I struggled with who I thought I was versus who I really was. I was not a police officer but in my mind I thought I was. I had an unhealthy need for acceptance due to low self-esteem and insecurities. I desired to fit in somewhere. I dealt with life stressors much the same way as I watched others in my family do—suppress it with alcohol and violence.

Prison has transformed my life. It actually saved me from self-destruction and a distorted belief system. It was here where I admitted I was an alcoholic. I have been sober since the night of my life crime. I have disassociated from all forms deviant and anti-social behavior. I have been disciplinary-free during my time in prison. (I received one write-up while housed in the county jail-2007.—see Disciplinary History) It was on a level IV yard, Calipatria State Prison (2008), where I began my self-help programming. I earned a certificate from Global University as a Certified Minister Level I. I also committed to, and completed, the three and a half year program in Christian Leadership Studies with The Urban Ministry Institute (TUMI). It was on a level III yard, Ironwood State Prison, where I upgraded my education. I earned three Associate in Arts Degrees with an emphasis in: Social & Behavioral Sciences, Arts & Humanities, and American Studies. I also desired to have a deeper understanding of my own addiction with alcohol so I began the Alcohol & Drug Studies program at Palo Verde Community College. I earned a Certificate of Career Preparation in Alcohol & Drug Studies Specialist I, and Alcohol & Drug Studies Specialist II. I am also on course to completing the entire ADS program this semester (Spring 2018) that will earn me the Certificate of Achievement in Alcohol & Drug Studies. Subsequently, I will be studying and preparing for the California Administration of Alcohol & Drug Educators (CAADE) exam for Certified Addictions Treatment Counselor (CATC). I recognize today that alcohol wasn't the problem. It was the vice that was used to cope with the underlying problem—me. This information is presented with the utmost respect, regard, and humility for Mr. Inouye, Mr. Chang, their families, and the community of the City of Industry.

Petition for Commutation

My remorse has fostered a desire to give back to the community I took so much from. I have actively participated in many events/groups that contributed to the local community. For example, the Veterans Group of Ironwood sponsored a Cancer Walk-A-Thon for the Blythe Cancer Resource Center several years in a row. I participated not only as a donor, but as a participant who helped with the preparation of the event. All donations were donated to the Blythe Cancer Resource Center. I also participated in many food sales where the profits made were donated to a variety of charitable organizations. On one occasion, during Ironwood X-Fest—an event organized by the Training Center, San Diego—I conducted an on-camera interview where I spoke on my experiences with the TUMI program, and how self-help programs contributed to my rehabilitation. (See: YouTube.com, Prison Wisdom --Robert) During my involvement with these sorts of events I have felt the most human. Today I feel like I have a purpose in life, a direction, and a calling. That purpose is to live a life of service.

I had the privilege of being the chairman of the Life's Too Short Youth Diversion program at Ironwood State Prison. Here, we shared with the local youth about our life crimes, our upbringing, and the causative factors that led us to prison. But one of my biggest achievements that I am most proud of thus far is co-founding the Reaching Out Challenging Kids (ROCK) Youth Diversion Program at Chuckawalla Valley State Prison (pending prospective approval). I understand the importance of reaching out to kids at a critical age in their life to address topics that I was too afraid or inexperienced to talk about. We provide a safe environment to have a dialogue with 'at-risk' youth about the issues plaguing American schools such as violence, bullying, abuse, domestic violence, alcohol/substance abuse, etc. As I have had the opportunity to participate in this type of program, I will create a type of outreach team/organization that travels to different schools, puts on assemblies, and addresses these same topics to not only our youth, but their parents and guardians, as well.

I have resolved, Mr. Governor, to create no more victims. I am committed to living a life of sobriety, transparency, honesty, and helping eradicate violence in all its forms. My living amends is focused on serving my community in honor of Mr. Christopher Inouye and Mr. Clair Chang. I am forever indebted to pursuing justice and peace, and ensuring that our next generation of leaders, peace officers, doctors, lawyers, judges, legislators, governors have a safer community to live in. Mr. Governor, I understand that I will spend the rest of my life atoning for my crimes. I am fully prepared to deal with any obstacle in a pro-social and non-violent way.

Finally, Mr. Governor, I can assure you that I am no longer that twenty-one year old immature young man that struggled with low self-esteem, insecurities, addiction, and self-centered thinking. The man I am today is unidentifiable from the person that was sitting in the back seat of a police cruiser almost twelve years ago asking the deputy if he was going to still make the concert. After murdering Mr. Inouye and seriously injuring Mr. Chang, I realized how foolish, cowardly, heinous, and careless I was. Today, I value life, hard work, honesty, and integrity. I have worked tirelessly to address the causative factors that contributed to my life crime. I understand the severity of my crimes, the magnitude of the damage its caused, and the indelible scar I left not only on my victims and their families/friends, but an entire community. Thank you very much Mr. Governor for your time, consideration, and opportunity to present my petition to you.

Robert M. Sandoval (G-06189)

Response to Question #4:

Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon or commutation

This response is submitted with the utmost humility and regard, and with my victims and their families in mind. There is no legitimate cause or reason for me to deserve anything but what the State of California has sentenced me to. I am petitioning the Office of the Governor of the State of California for commutation based on who I was at the time of my life crime versus who I am today. I believe that prison has served its purpose. It has made me realize the gravity of my crime and led me to search for those factors that helped create my warped belief system.

Since the advent of my sentence, I have taken many self-help programs that have addressed my substance abuse, and face that ugly person I was at the time of my life crime. I have upgraded my education which has improved my self-esteem and self-worth, and has also broadened my worldview. I earned three Associate in Arts degrees and a Certificate of Achievement in the field of Alcohol & Drug Studies. In my almost twelve years of sobriety, I was inspired by the desire to understand my own alcohol abuse and I am committed and indebted to life-long recovery from all forms of addiction. As part of my living amends, I will give back to my community by pursuing a career in the Alcohol & Drug Counseling field.

While housed on level-four, level-three, and level-two facilities I've remained disciplinary-free. I have dedicated my time to assisting other inmates in removing themselves from high-risk situations by speaking with them and staff. In honor of Mr. Inouye and Mr. Chang, I presented and co-founded the Reaching Out Challenging Kids Youth Diversion Program here at Chuckawalla Valley State Prison (approved-pending implementation logistics). This program will supplement an existing program with a representative from the Riverside County District Attorney's Office. It focuses on deterring our youth from living a life of social deviancy and is dedicated to all victims of crime.

Mr. Governor, I respectfully submit that if I were sentenced today, current legislation would permit the court to impose or stay my weapon enhancements. In my case, it was imposed as a matter of law, and rightfully so. Conversely, had this legislation been in effect at sentencing, the court would have had the discretion to strike my weapon enhancements, adjusting my YEPD date to 9/23/21. Unfortunately, this legislation is not retroactive (SB-620). I know that prison has made an amazing transformation in my life. I know that I can be a great asset to the world community and have a significant impact on many lives if I were granted commutation to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings to determine suitability sooner. Mr. Governor, we are living in a time where the expression 'all hands on deck' hasn't been more true, more real, and more needed than it is today. I can contribute to the community in more ways and on a much larger scale than I can from my current position. My zeal and motivation to participate and create a program while incarcerated demonstrates that I can be an asset, instead of a burden, on our community. I believe I am rightfully incarcerated for my heinous and reckless crimes, but I am humbly asking for your mercy, and supplicating that you take these outlined points into consideration when making your determination for commutation. I respect any decision you make and thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

Gilbert Scott

In 1997, 18-year-old Gilbert Scott and his brother robbed their acquaintance Eva Lopyan at gunpoint in her home. Mr. Scott tied Ms. Lopyan up and stole money and drugs from her. Several days later, Mr. Scott went into a convenience store and shot the clerk, Bhoj Gurong. Mr. Scott took money from the register, and Mr. Gurong died from his injuries. On March 17, 1998, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Scott to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 14 years for robbery and two firearm enhancements.

Mr. Scott seeks a commutation based on his rehabilitation. In his application for clemency and an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Scott described his tumultuous upbringing. His home life was marred by physical abuse and drug use. By age 14, he had joined a gang and was abusing drugs and alcohol. Mr. Scott explained that after coming to prison, he realized that he needed to make a serious change in his life. He wrote, "One I started this journey, my goals were sobriety, separation from gang, education, rehabilitation, and freedom."

Mr. Scott is now 40 years old and has shown an admirable commitment to turning his life around during more than two decades in prison. He got out of the gang and has never been disciplined for drug or alcohol use. Mr. Scott earned four A.A. degrees from Palo Verde College, and made the Dean's List. He participated in numerous self-help programs including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Anger Management, and Alternatives to Violence. Mr. Scott participates in a program that counsels young offenders who come to prison. In 2017, the coordinator of the program commended Mr. Scott for his hard work, and wrote, "Scott has demonstrated his ability to not only connect with those with addiction/anger issues, but is able to provide them a method to understand their problem(s)...He has proven that he is vital not only in the day-to-day operations of the Youthful Offender [Program, but also to] the growth of this program." Mr. Scott also works for a Braille transcription program, where his supervisor has praised his "exceptional skill" and the quality of his work.

Mr. Scott has a solid plan in place in the event of his release; he plans to live in transitional housing and continue building stronger relationships with his family members. He reported that he hopes to be able to continue to give back to the community if released.

Based on his dedication to self-improvement, I believe that Mr. Scott has earned an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that they can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Gilbert Scott to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

The choices I've made in society and continued to make in prison all revert back to a scared and lonely little boy looking for guidance. My early years as a youth my parents separated which left a gaping hole I connected the guidance received by both my parents towards my cognitive behavior. Over the years that lack of guidance, love, and positive reinforcements was sought towards the gangs and street life. Never once did I think about the affects my consequences was going to have on my family, friends, community, as well as myself physically, emotionally, and financially. Everyone connected to me from the Gurung family, the officers connected with my case, and even the person reading this right now is being affected by my actions. That broad understanding with the empathy thats connected with it is what I'm trying to change to a positive. I'm coming up on five years RVR clean, seven years separated from the gang life style, and clean & sober since 2003. Once I started this journey, my goals were sobriety, separation from gang, education, rehabilitation, and freedom. I feel like I've done everything I could to change myself into the person my family, friends, and community could look up to given the chance.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

I'm respectfully requesting a commutation of my LWOP sentence to allow me the opportunity to present myself in front of Board Hearing. I'm a first termer who has taken strides towards understanding and correcting my character defects, as well as where my emotional disconnection stemmed from. Once I decided to change who I was to who I want to be, I took strides to achieve just that. In 2013 I earned my GED, I earned four AA degrees in 2016, countless chrono's and certificates for self-help groups, as well as mentoring the youth and everyone else. I genuinely and honestly believe that I can do more good for my family, friends, community, as well as my continued Positive growth in society than I can incarcerated. Given a second chance I would be a success story to the CDC Rehabilitation Program.

David Maurice Smith

From 2000-2001, David Smith defrauded 12 people of a total of approximately $16,000. On February 27, 2015, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Smith to 250 years to life for 10 counts of grand theft of personal property over $400.

Mr. Smith is now 58 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 17 years. He has received only one rule violation, almost 15 years ago. He applied for a commutation of sentence based on the non-violent nature of his crimes and the drug addiction underlying his criminal behavior, which he has worked to address in prison. Mr. Smith has been commended for his active participation in Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous. In 2017, an Alcoholics Anonymous sponsor praised Mr. Smith for his "insight and effort," writing that Mr. Smith "has shown attentiveness to the program and has displayed a commitment to his recovery." Two sponsors wrote in 2016, "In all aspects, David is to be commended for his unbroken and active involvement in this program, and his quest for redemption."

Mr. Smith has also earned the support of correctional staff, who commended him for his attitude and work ethic. In 2014, a correctional officer wrote, "He is highly motivated and an intelligent individual. He is willing and ready to do any task without complaint. I would recommend him to anyone as a very good worker." The officer continued, "I have always found him to interact exceptionally with staff and inmates alike. . . . He is unique in that he truly has a desire to improve himself through the betterment of others. His lengthy imprisonment and rehabilitation accomplishments have provided him with the tools he needs for a successful transition back into society." Another correctional officer wrote in 2014, "Through the course of his incarceration, Mr. Smith has readily attempted to improve and rehabilitate himself and assisted others through every means available in becoming a law-abiding citizen." The officer continued, "I find a sincere and positive individual who is adamant in his programming and rehabilitative efforts. I believe he possesses all the necessary tools to function productively in society."

Mr. Smith also has received support from elected officials, including former Senator Carol Liu and Assemblymember Chris Holden, who wrote, "Given the facts of Mr. Smith's case, his continuous efforts in rehabilitating, and the level of support demonstrated from his community, we believe his request for a commutation of sentence is reasonable." In April 2018, Assemblymember Holden wrote again in support of clemency for Mr. Smith in light of his ongoing serious medical issues. He wrote, "Mr. Smith is terminally ill, suffering from pulmonary adenocarcinoma, or lung cancer. We pray that Mr. Smith will not endure this alone." Assemblymember Holden also emphasized that "Mr. Smith has no record of physical violence in his criminal history and continues to be a model inmate while serving his time."

Additionally, Mr. Smith's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. At the meeting, Mr. Smith's brother, a retired lieutenant with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, spoke in support of clemency. He stated that the family is committed to providing care for Mr. Smith, including employment and housing upon his release. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith's crimes were serious; however, based on his conduct in prison, his dedication to self-improvement, and his cancer diagnosis, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Smith's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of David Maurice Smith to release him on parole.

DOB: [REDACTED] 59

Address: P. O. Box 128, Chino Ca. 91710

Facility: Chino State Prison

1. Conviction Summary:

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crimes(s) for which you are requesting commutation.

My third strike conviction includes twelve (12) counts of grand theft, against 12 elderly victims. I used the local phonebook to find, and identify my victims by name. I then called them on the telephone, pretending to be a relative or friend needing money. I told them I was sending a friend to pick up money, but it was I that arrived to collect it. The money taken from my victims was intended to support my heroin addiction.

I've never used any type of weapon at any time during the commission of my crimes, nor have I ever threatened, or instilled any fear of bodily harm upon anyone. My two prior strike offenses were two counts of burglary, where on two prior occasions, I entered a person's home, by way of their invitation, in order to receive money. I have never broken into, nor forcefully entered any business or residence.

The combined theft for my third-strike conviction totaled $16,700. The thefts ranged in values of $600-$1200, per victim. Following my arrest, $8,600.00 was seized, and later ordered by the court to be repaid, disbursed among the victims. This reduced the combined theft total from all victims to $8,100.00.

I was sentenced to 25-years-to-life, twelve (12) times, one life sentence on each count. My combined prison sentence was 300 years. Due to the recent passage of Proposition 47, and its related law changes, two (2) counts of grand theft that resulted in life sentences, have now been reduced from felonies to misdemeanors, (involved less than $950.00). My sentence was subsequently reduced by two (2) life terms. My total sentence has been reduced by fifty (50) years, to 250 years. I am currently serving multiple life sentences at California Men's Correctional Facility, at Chino, California.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

It is my belief I qualify for resentencing under both California's Prop 36, and Prop 47, for the following reasons:

1. My criminal history is non-violent and was motivated by my drug addiction.
2. My third-strike convictions are neither serious nor violent. I have never possessed or used any weapon, violence, or fear during the commission of any crimes.
3. I've never owned or used a firearm, and have never broken into anyone's residence or business. Though it is still classified as burglary, my first two burglaries, each counting as a strike, involved me stepping through the front door, after being invited in by my crime victims, to receive money.
4. I believe that I received one of the harshest sentences handed down for the crime of grand theft, based on the fact that one of the victims in a similar case, having the same method of operation, is the parent of a Superior Court judge. (See Exhibit 1, Police Report of a crime for which I did not commit and was never convicted of).
5. Though the above case involving the judge's parent was never filed against me, the police report (Exhibit 1), was filed, under seal, and entered into evidence against me during the course of my resentencing hearing. It appeared during my Proposition 36 hearing, a hearing designed to determine my suitability for resentencing and possible release. My current attorney Nancy Tetreault, who currently represents me in appeal, confirmed the inappropriate use of the police report. She concludes that its only purpose was to remind the court that someone, using a similar motive, had similarly victimized the parents of a fellow superior court judge.

In conclusion, the judge hearing my Prop 36 trial determined (1) I have not been rehabilitated, (2) I have not completed educational courses, (3) I am still a violent criminal who poses a danger to society, and (4) I am unsuitable for Prop 36 resentencing/release.

It is my prayer that based upon my true record, the Governor will find no grounds for such a determination.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I've made mistakes in my life, perhaps the biggest beginning at age 14, when my addiction to heroin began. Since then, I have disappointed so many, including my mother, father, and nine siblings. I have also afflicted economic, and emotional pain upon my victims. I also owe an apology to society in general, for the significant fiscal burden I continue to place on California taxpayers. To all, I am very remorseful, and offer my deepest apologies for my choices.

I also let myself down. The many goals and dreams for my life have gone unfulfilled. I sometimes enter into long discussions with fellow inmates, about my past errors, trying to give the same advice that I once ignored, about the value of education and hard work. Through my mistakes, I urge others to aim higher than I did, not making the same mistakes that I made.

While at Calipatria State Prison, I volunteered as a "big-brother" type, for fellow inmates. I was given an opportunity to interact with younger inmates, an experience I truly enjoyed. I was later transferred, and since that time, I have not found a similar program.

Since my third Strike conviction, I credit my oldest brother, a retired lieutenant for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, for playing an important role in helping me turn my life around. He, along with other family, friends, prison staff, fellow inmates, and my past victims, has helped me become a better person. This along with my more than 15 years clean and sober has given me the strength to live a crime free life.

I am not a violent person, and avoid conflict at all cost. Since my 2001, incarceration, I have received only one write-up (disciplinary 115), which was received for "excessive contact" with my wife during one of my first visits, a rule broken out of unawareness. I try hard to follow all rules. As a result of my good behavior, I consistently score the lowest possible prison points allowable to a lifer.

I always maintain excellent relationships with correctional staff, and have been recognized with CHRONO's by the below correctional staff: (See Exhibit 2, CHRONO's).

Correctional Officer S. Galindo - My work supervisor for quite some time, states that I "interact exceptionally well with staff and inmates alike," and I "demonstrate the ability to follow established policies, and procedures." Officer Galindo identified me as "unique, in that he demonstrates a desire to improve himself through the betterment of others. He adds, "my lengthy imprisonment and rehabilitation accomplishments have provided me the tools needed for a successful transition back into society."

Officer Galindo is correct; it is my desire to give back by helping others.

Correctional Officer P. Martinez - He identified me as "self-motivated and excellent worker." He adds that I "make a continuous effort to improve my performance, adhere to policies and procedures," and commends me for my "non-stop effort to counsel inmates against drug use." Officer Martinez through his years of interaction with me believes I "possess the necessary tools to function productively in society, and respectfully recommends I be given serious consideration for release."

Officer Martinez is correct; discussing with fellow inmates the value of drug free living is very important and therapeutic for all concerned.

My brother owns two successful small businesses, and has offered me a full-time position. He plans to provide all needed job training. I will be working and growing around my family, who has deep concerns for my success. The family also owns a multi-unit apartment building, located less than a mile from the business. There are family members working in the business, and living in the same housing complex. (See Exhibit 3, letter of commitment from my brother, Wilbert Smith Ph.D.).

In anticipation of the 2012 vote on Proposition 36, I began preparation for resentencing and possible release. It was and still is my plan to continue my volunteer efforts to provide advise and counsel to others. I reached out, to a number of entities, and received favorable responses.

I was accepted to join the Pasadena/Altadena Reintegration Council Assistance Program (PARC). Not only will I use their services personally, but I will also train to counsel ex-offenders. (See Exhibit 4, February 2013, a request and subsequent welcome letter from assistant police chief and founder of the PARC).

I'm 56 years old, drug free, with only law abiding and productive goals remaining for my life. To further prepare to meet my goal to counsel and help others, I contacted my community pastor, in hopes of joining a church having a youth and prison ministry. Encouraged by the passage of proposition 36, I wrote a letter to Reverend John Bledsoe, local pastor and president of the Pasadena Alliance of Ministers. Reverend Bledsoe was encouraging and welcoming. He saw the value of my firsthand message. (See Exhibit 5, January 2013, letter of support from Rev. Bledsoe).

I am very proud of my 15-year sobriety, and will never return to any form of drug addiction. To further help me achieve this goal, I have established a strong family relationship with Dr. Lynn Harris-Henderson, a licensed clinical psychiatrist, social worker, and instructor in the graduate school of social work at California State University Dominguez Hills. Dr. Harris-Henderson has pledged to me counseling, evaluation, and other needed transitional support. (SEE Exhibit 6, commitment letter from Dr. Harris-Henderson).

For 15 years, I dreamed of the day I could ask for, and be granted an opportunity for another chance. I believe I have the psychological capacity, and needed support networks to confidently reenter society. I will have employment, housing, excellent family support that includes my children and grandchildren, along with immediate access to clinical services. This will greatly enhance my already present self-determination to make something better of my life.

Governor Brown, I can and will live within society's rules, and pray for the opportunity to prove it. Please strongly consider the views expressed by correctional officers that so kindly went out of their way to recommend my resentencing under the intent and spirit of Prop 36. I know in my heart that I am no longer a danger to society. Instead, I am prepared to make a contribution to society, living as a tax-contributor, and not as a tax-dependent.

I thank Governor Brown for considering my request.

William Lewis Smith, Jr.

On November 17, 1990, William Smith and Kenneth White robbed Ronald Burton, then Mr. White shot Mr. Burton several times, killing him. On November 22, 1991, the San Diego County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Smith to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus two years for prior prison term enhancements.

In his application for commutation, Mr. White expressed deep regret for his actions. He wrote that through his programming in prison, "I have gain[ed] [an] understanding and [am] finally able to see the impact I had on the victim, his family, and [o]n the community." He emphasized that he is a different person today at 53 years old than he was when he committed this crime at the age of 25. He wrote, "I am in continuous therapy and rehabilitation, finally I am gaining my humanity I lost many years ago."

Mr. Smith has been incarcerated for nearly 28 years, and there is no doubt that Mr. Smith has made a serious transformation within prison. Mr. Smith has resided on the honor yard for over 10 years and earned his GED in 2014. Mr. Smith routinely receives exceptional work ratings and participated in self-help programs, including Narcotics Anonymous and Alcoholics Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, Anger Management, Creative Conflict Resolution, and Victim Sensitivity.

Mr. Smith has earned the recognition of institutional staff, many of whom have commended him for his positive rehabilitation and were supportive of release. Debbie Asuncion, the former warden at the prison in Lancaster, recommended a commutation of sentence for Mr. Smith. In 2017, two correctional officers and a supervisor wrote to commend Mr. Smith on his work ethic, respect towards staff, and positive attitude. In 2017, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Smith "has shown a great deal of self-reliance ... on a continuous path of change." A cook who has supervised Mr. Smith for 13 years wrote in 2017 that Mr. Smith "has displayed great effort and knowledge on his assigned duties at all times" and "expresses a positive attitude towards all CDCR staff and is respectful at all times." The supervisor stated, "I strongly believe due to my observation of Smith's work ethics and attitude, that in the event he is released back to society, Smith will abide by the law and be a model citizen."

Additionally, Mr. Smith's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Smith.

For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Smith has earned the opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of William Lewis Smith, Jr. to a total of 28 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Brandita Taliano

In 1991, Brandita Taliano was working as a prostitute when Dennis Dawley asked her to come to his house to stage a burglary in exchange for drugs or money. When she arrived, Ms. Taliano ransacked the house and saw Mr. Dawley's wife laying on the ground. Mr. Dawley held his wife down and ordered Ms. Taliano to hit her in the head. Ms. Taliano complied and later fled in the victim's car. Ms. Taliano has admitted hitting her once. On June 6, 1997, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Taliano to life without the possibility of parole for first degree murder.

Ms. Taliano is now 63 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 23 years. Her conduct in prison has been exemplary and she has expressed deep remorse for her crime. Ms. Taliano has only been disciplined twice for misconduct and has never been involved in drugs or violence. She has earned a GED and four A.A. degrees – in General Studies, American Studies, Social and Behavioral Science, and Business. Ms. Taliano has also participated in several self-help programs, including Narcotics Anonymous, Celebrate Recovery, Anger Management, and Helping Others With Life Skills. In 2017, a professor emerita from California State University Fresno supported Ms. Taliano's commutation and wrote that she "has shown tremendous initiative in developing programs and activities that serve the entire [prison] community as she has traveled her own path to rehabilitation."

Ms. Taliano has also received numerous commendations from correctional staff who noted her positive behavior and attitude. In 2016, a correctional lieutenant who had known Ms. Taliano for six years praised her positive attitude and wrote, "I have seen positive behavior changes take place and she has exceeded the requirements by CDCR as documented in her file. . . . Inmate Taliano has shown she is capable of handling any obstacle that may come her way, and she is to be commended for her accomplishments." Also in 2016, a correctional captain wrote, "I have known Inmate Taliano for approximately 18 years now. . . . Taliano is conscientious about her own rehabilitation and is always will[ing] to help teach other inmates. . . . Inmate Taliano is to be commended for her dedication in helping others and in her personal growth." In 2017, a correctional counselor stated that Ms. Taliano is trustworthy, cooperative, and polite."

Additionally, Ms. Taliano's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Ms. Taliano.

Ms. Taliano has made significant efforts over the last 23 years to improve herself and has proven that she has changed her life from the person who committed this vicious crime and used drugs to solve her problems. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce her sentence to allow her to make her case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Brandita Taliano to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

INTRODUCTION

1. Brandita Agnes Taliano, appearing in pro per, respectfully applies to Governor Jerry Brown, Jr., for a commutation of sentence from life without the possibility of parole, to 25-years to life with the possibility of parole, or be pardoned, pursuant to Penal Code § 4800.¹

2. Ms. Taliano is in her 21st year of incarceration. She has a lengthy arrest and criminal record. The undersigned is not sure if she even listed all the arrests and convictions within. On the other hand, the undersigned is absolutely sure that Ms. Taliano has never committed any felonious violence during her criminal acts, whatsoever, absent the commitment offense, which is also questionable. That is the foundation of the application. In addition, she has demonstrated good conduct, has arguably an unusual term of sentence and other causes that support of granting this application.

PARTIES AND JURISDICTION

3. The Parties: Ms. Taliano is currently confined at Central California Women's Facility, in Chowchilla California, in Madera County.

4. Derral Adams is currently the Warden that has custody.

5. Jurisdiction: The Governor has jurisdiction to grant this application pursuant to § 8, of Article V, of the California Constitution and § 4800.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

6. Current Conviction Summary: On April 16, 1997, Ms. Taliano was convicted of first degree murder (§ 187), with special circumstances for financial gain (§ 190.2, (a)(1), plus conspiracy to commit murder (§182, (a)(1), in Los Angeles County Superior Court, #PA0020032. This crime occurred on April 16-17, 1991. (Exh.1:1, 1997 Probation Officer's Report.)

7. Prior Criminal History: Ms. Taliano's history reflects arrests and convictions in Los Angeles County from 1981 to 1993. April 4, 1981, convicted of forgery and possession of forged notes, resulting in 3-years probation; February 2, 1988, convicted of forgery, resulting in 24-months probation and 45-days in jail; June 8, 1988, convicted of possession of drugs, resulting in 24-months probation and 45-days jail; September 27, 1988 and December 9, 1988, convicted of prostitution, resulting in 24-months probation and 60-days jail; February 15, 1989, convicted of under the influence controlled substance, resulting in 24-months probation and 120-days jail; July 12, 1989, convicted of misdemeanor battery, resulting in 24-months probation and 45-days in jail; (Exh.1:8.) May 4, 1990, convicted of prostitution, resulting in 120-days jail; July 17, 1990, convicted of under the influence controlled substance, resulting in 180-days jail; January 9, 1991, convicted of false I.D. to peace officer, resulting in 180-days jail; July 13, 1991, convicted of receiving stolen property, resulting in 3-years state prison suspended, 3-years probation, 90-days jail; June 25, 1993, convicted of petty theft with prior, resulting in 16-months state prison sentence starting on April 7, 1994. (Id. at 9.)

8. Circumstances Of The Crime: During the 1950's, Dennis Roland Dawley married Joan, his childhood sweetheart. They lived together for 35 years, during which time they raised two daughters. In 1991, after Joan had inherited a substantial sum of money, Dawley decided to kill Joan. To that end, Dawley and Ms. Taliano, a heroin-addicted prostitute with a lengthy criminal record, tried unsuccessfully to hire someone to kill Joan. When those efforts failed, Taliano bludgeoned Joan to death. In 1995, Dawley and Ms. Taliano were jointly charged with Joan's murder, and a jury thereafter found them both guilty of first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder, with financial gain special circumstance allegations found true. The jury convicted Dawley of solicitation of murder, but acquitted Taliano of that charge, and rejected the death penalty as to both defendants. Dawley and Ms. Taliano were sentenced to state prison for life without the possibility of parole, plus an additional term. (Exh.2:2, January 28, 1999, Appellate Court Opinion.)

9. Post Conviction Behavior: Ms. Taliano was received into the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) on July 10, 1997. (Exh.3:1, Institution Staff Recommendation Summary (ISRS) and Classification Documents.) In 1997, her classification score started at 77-points in a Level IV facility with Close-B-Custody. (Id. at 2; and see In re Player (2007) 146 Cal.App.4th 813, 823-24, for a good summary of the classification system.) Since 2006, her classification score was reduced to zero points, she was housed in a Level III facility, with Medium-A-Custody and a Mandatory Minimum Placement Score of 36. (Id. at 4 and 5.) These are the least restrictive levels of points, housing and custody based on her circumstances.

10. The ISRS also documents no holds, warrants or detainers; no psychiatric, psychological problems; no escape, arson or sex offense history. Ms. Taliano's drugs of choice were heroin and cocaine intravenously. Her daily habit was $300 and she has been clean and sober since 1993. She is a nondrinker and is lacking in work skills/history. (Exh.3:1.) In addition, she has "no record of serious disciplinary problems." (Id. at 2.)

11. Disciplinary History: Ms. Taliano has a very minimal disciplinary record. She received two CDCR-128As,² one in 1998, for a verbal altercation, and one in 2002, for an altered pillow. (Exh.4:1, Disciplinary History.) In 2003, she received an Administrative CDCR-115³ for possession of a laxative. (Id. at 2.) In 2011, she received a Serious CDCR-115⁴ for possession of confidential information in her desk. (Id. at 3.) There are no disciplinary infractions for violence, dangerous behavior or substance abuse.

12. Work History: Ms. Taliano has a very long and productive work history in prison. Spanning from 1998-2016 reflects two important employment positions with CDCR as a clerk for the Captain and Lieutenant. She has never been removed from a job due to behavioral issues, and her Work Supervisor's Reports have consistently reflected above average to exceptional ratings. (Exh.5, Work History.) Most recently, one Lieutenant wrote a sparkling laudatory chrono which reflects: "Inmate Taliano is currently assigned as an A-Facility Lieutenant's Clerk. Taliano is a very knowledgeable and competent clerk. She has vast knowledge of the Title 15. With her prior work with the Women's Advisory Council (WAC) she has good-knowledge of the -day-to-day- workings of the institution and problem-solving. She is an excellent clerk and is an asset to us as a Lt. Clerk. Taliano has also made herself available during unassigned hours and days off, when other clerks were unavailable to report to work to help and also train newly assigned clerks. She reports to work on time and finishes work quickly and accurately." (Id. at 3.)

13. Certificates, Chronos, Letters and Memos: Ms. Taliano has earned a plethora of certifications, chronos, letters of appreciation and memorandums, while incarcerated spanning from 1999-2016. This exhibit is probably lacking in some early documents. (Exh.6, Certificates, Chronos, Letters and Memos.) Of important note, in 2000, Dina Bacci documents volunteer work on the part of Ms. Taliano and Captain Wong commends her for "dedication" to her job. In 2001, P.J. Eby praises her again for work. In 2002, she was randomly drug tested with negative results. In 2003, she received 40-hours of training in Total Quality Management Team. In 2004, she received a pristine laudatory chrono from Lieutenant Maciel reflecting her performance exceeds "all expectations." In 2005, D. Shublin has observed her for two years and documents her continued exemplary behavior. In 2006, she participated in a fundraiser. In 2007, she enrolled into college. 2008, documents her "GED." In 2009, she earned her first "Bible Study Certificate." In 2010, she received a diploma from Feather River College. In 2011, her accomplishments ballooned to one full page including completing "Anger Management." 2012, reflects two full pages of rehabilitation. In 2013, over one full page of rehabilitation with a “Low” CSRA⁵ score. In 2014, CEO Roy Mabry commends her for youth work. In 2015, the list goes on with a heartfelt letter from Jerry McNerney, member of “Congress of the United States,” acknowledging her hard work with “youth.” In 2016, she graduated from Victim Offender Education Group. There are over 500 pages of rehabilitation within this exhibit that are equal too, or, far better than most lifers who appear for parole hearings.

14. Alternatives To Violence Project Letter: On June 30, 2016, Stephen Matchett wrote a letter to Ms. Taliano regarding her AVP rehabilitation “since 2006.” He writes, “Upon Ms. Taliano's release, she will be welcome and encouraged to become part of a local AVP facilitator council in her area and to facilitate community workshops with teams anywhere in the state, where, as a representative of the formerly incarcerated, she will be able to make an especially valuable contribution to participants understanding of the difference AVP makes to people inside. AVP/California or the local group will cover her travel and other workshop expenses, as we do with all our volunteers.” (Exh.7, June 30, 2016, Alternatives To Violence Project Letter.)

15. Ms. Taliano now turns to the Governor for relief.

⁵ California Static Risk Assessment. This assessment is the lowest risk of danger to the public. (15 CCR § 3768.1.)

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Ms. Taliano respectfully requests the Governor grant this application for a commutation of sentence from life without the possibility of parole, to 25-years to life with the possibility of parole, or be pardoned, based on this application and in the interests of justice.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES
GENERAL LEGAL PRINCIPLES

Under the California Constitution, the Governor's power of commutation or pardon extends equally to all prisoners. (California Constitution Art. V, § 8.) Article V, section 8, provides in full: "Subject to application procedures provided by statute, the Governor, on conditions the Governor deems proper, may grant a reprieve, pardon, and commutation, after sentence, except in case of impeachment. The Governor shall report to the Legislature each reprieve, pardon, and commutation granted, stating the pertinent facts and the reasons for granting it. The Governor may not grant a pardon or commutation to a person twice convicted of a felony except on recommendation of the Supreme Court, 4 judges concurring."

Similarly, a defendant petitioning for habeas corpus to obtain the exercise of discretion under § 1385 (judge or magistrate may order action dismissed in furtherance of justice), must be given all the procedural rights and remedies inherent in the type of probation and judgment hearing afforded to an un-sentenced defendant; she is entitled to a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances that bear upon the issues as those issues exist at the time of the hearing of the application to exercise discretion in her favor. (People v. Warren (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 676, 689.)

36¹⁰ and Proposition 47¹¹ reforms. This current change of direction regarding criminal sentences is parallel and compelling with this application.

I

MS. TALIANO SHOULD BE GRANTED A COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE, OR PARDON BY THE GOVERNOR, BECAUSE SHE HAS DEMONSTRATED GOOD CONDUCT, HAS ARGUABLY AN UNUSUAL TERM OF SENTENCE AND OTHER CAUSES IN SUPPORT OF THIS APPLICATION

A. Good Conduct.

Within this application, there are many facts that support a commutation of sentence, or pardon, keeping in mind that a commutation of sentence to 25-years to life with the possibility of parole, DOES NOT, automatically release Ms. Taliano. Indeed, she still has to convince the Board of Parole Hearings that she is not currently dangerous which is no easy task in California. The undersigned is very familiar with the Board and knows from research and knowledge that the Board does not “willy-nilly grant parole.”¹²

Taking a cursory look at Ms. Taliano’s exemplary record following her conviction in connection with the relevant parole unsuitability and suitability criteria finds that virtually all of them support a conclusion that she is not “currently dangerous,” absent “immutable factors.”

¹⁰ “Proposition 36, passed by the voters in November 2012, revised the State’s three-strikes law to permit resentencing for qualifying third-strike inmates whose third strike was not serious or violent. As of March 11, 2015, approximately 2,047 third-strike inmates have been released.” (See Board’s website for “Defendants’ March 2015 Status & Benchmark Report In Response To February 10, 2014 Order.”)

¹¹ “Proposition 47, the ballot initiative passed by California voters on November 4, 2014, reduces certain drug possession felonies to misdemeanors. It also requires misdemeanor sentencing for petty theft, receiving stolen property and forging/writing bad checks when the amount involved is $950 or less.” (See Board website for Proposition 47.)

¹² The Board does not “willy-nilly” grant parole. (In re Loresch (2010) 183 Cal.App.4th 150, 164, [“The public is entitled to presume, and our experience has shown, that the Board takes its job seriously and does not ‘willy-nilly’ grant parole. For the most part, the Board is made up of persons with law enforcement experience.”].)

“[T]he Penal Code and corresponding regulations establish that the fundamental consideration in parole decisions is public safety” (In re Lawrence (2008) 44 Cal.4th 1181, 1205.) California Code of Regulations, title 15, section 2402 applies to inmates whose commitment offenses occurred on or after November 8, 1978. Subdivision (b) directs the Board to consider “[a]ll relevant, reliable information available to the panel” including “the circumstances of the prisoner’s social history; past and present mental state; past criminal history, including involvement in other criminal misconduct which is reliably documented; the base and other commitment offenses, including behavior before, during and after the crime; past and present attitude toward the crime; any conditions of treatment or control, including the use of special conditions under which the prisoner may safely be released to the community; and any other information which bears on the prisoner’s suitability for release.” (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 15, § 2402, subd. (b).)

Subdivision (c) sets forth a nonexclusive list of circumstances tending to show unsuitability for parole, including an especially heinous, atrocious or cruel manner of perpetrating the commitment offense; a previous record of violence; an unstable social history; commission of sadistic sexual offenses; a lengthy history of severe mental problems related to the offense; and the commission of serious misconduct while incarcerated. (Id., § 2402, subd. (c).)

Subdivision (d) sets forth a nonexclusive list of circumstances tending to show suitability for parole, including the absence of a juvenile record, a reasonably stable social history, signs of remorse, significant life stress as a cause of the commitment offense, battered woman syndrome (BWS), absence of a significant history of violent crime, the inmate’s age, realistic plans for the future or marketable skills, and activities during incarceration indicating “an enhanced ability to function within the law upon release.” (Id., § 2402, subd. (d).)

Regarding the unsuitability factors in Cal. Code Regs., tit. 15, § 2402, subdivision (c), finds only the crime facts, an immutable factor, are unfavorable to Ms. Taliano’s case. She absolutely admits that the crime was especially heinous, atrocious or cruel within the meaning of the regulations.

“But however horrible the crime, it is an insufficient basis for the denial of parole unless there is an evidence-based, rational nexus between the offense and present behavior.” (In re Hunter (2012) 205 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1538, citing, In re Lawrence (2008) 44 Cal.4th 1181, 1210, 1227; see also In re Lee (2006) 143 Cal.App.4th 1400, 1412, [“Lee’s crimes have little, if any, predictive value for future criminality. Simply from the passing of time, Lee’s crimes almost 20 years ago have lost much of their usefulness in foreseeing the likelihood of future offenses than if he had committed them five or 10 years ago.”].)

On the positive side of the unsuitability factors, she has no previous record of inflicting serious injury on a victim; lacks an unstable social history; no evidence of sadistic sexual offenses; or any history of severe mental problems related to the offense; or committed any serious misconduct which supports a conclusion of current danger.

Concerning the suitability factors in Cal. Code Regs., tit. 15, § 2402, subdivision (d), finds virtually all of them support a conclusion that Ms. Taliano is not “currently dangerous.” She does not have a juvenile record of assaulting others; a stable social history experiencing reasonable relationships with others; shown signs of remorse to the undersigned; lacks any significant history of violent crime; her age-61 reduces the probability of recidivism; stress at the time of the crime applies because of her addiction to drugs and the way Dawley dangled drugs in front of her to help him; BWS will never apply; plus, she has enhanced her ability to function within the law upon release as reflected by her rehabilitation and laudatory chronos from CDCR staff attesting to her positive behavior. Ms. Taliano’s exemplary behavior in prison is a factor supporting this application. There is not a shred of evidence that she is the same person in 1991.

Equally important, there is no rational nexus to her drug addiction problem at the time of the crime because she has been clean and sober since 1993, 23-years. She has been randomly drug tested with negative results.

B. Unusual Term of Sentence.

Ms. Taliano would like to point the Governor to other familiar cases to demonstrate that her sentence is arguably an unusual term of sentence when compared to others who already have paroled.

Searching cases from around 1979 finds two distinct cases in support. Comparing Ms. Taliano's current sentence and crimes, to death row first degree murder, finds In re Stanworth (1982) 33 Cal.3d 176, 178, and In re Fain (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 540, 543. Both Stanworth and Fain served less time and paroled for more egregious offenses thanks to the pendulum of justice swinging back to leniency in the 70's for death row crimes being converted to life with parole;¹³ and the change in the parole statute from "may" be granted parole to "shall" normally be granted. (§ 3041.)

In 1966, Stanworth was sentenced to death following his plea of guilty to two counts of first degree murder. He also pled guilty in the same proceeding to counts charging aggravated and simple kidnaping, forcible rape, oral copulation, and robbery. The convictions followed a series of crimes involving the brutal murders and abuse of multiple victims. Stanworth's method of operation was to prey on women, produce a knife, tie their hands behind their back with piano or insulated wire, rape them, and then on two occasions he murdered them. (In re Stanworth (1969) 71 Cal.2d 820, 823-827.) He paroled in 1983.

In 1967, Fain was convicted of murder, rape, sex perversion, kidnaping and attempted kidnaping. In 1969, he was additionally convicted of escape from prison, robbery and kidnaping. Fain had served more than 15 years of a life term in state prison for the aforesaid crimes and paroled. The details of his violent history and numerous criminal encounters reflect in part that high school students gathered to sign each other's yearbooks and celebrate graduation. Two girls and one male driver were returning home at midnight when a car driven by Fain blinked its lights on and off. The male driver believing it was a friend stopped the car. Fain walked towards the driver side and killed him with a shotgun blast fired at short range. He then ordered the two girls to get into his car, took them into the woods and repeatedly raped them. (People v. Fain (1969) 70 Cal.2d 588, 592-593.) This enumeration could be extended, but the cases cited are sufficient to establish that Taliano's sentence is unusual as compared above.

Similarly, more current cases that were eligible for parole, and paroled already, provide facts that are equally or more "heinous" than the facts reflected by Ms. Taliano's case. (See e.g., In re Gaul (2009) 170 Cal.App.4th 20, 25, [Gaul pled guilty to murder for hire of James Bernstein for $5,000. Gaul and a second man, Darrell Edwards, drove Bernstein to a secluded area, purportedly to steal some cocaine. Edwards grabbed the victim from behind while Gaul slammed on the brakes. Bernstein struggled and managed to get out of the car. Both Gaul and Edwards fought with Bernstein and eventually strangled him. They dumped the body in a remote location, where it was not discovered until nearly one month later.]; In re Copley (2011) 196 Cal.App.4th 427, 430, [Copley and his friend "Crotty" agreed to rob an intoxicated man they had met at a billiard parlor. During the course of the robbery, Crotty beat and stabbed the man, killing him.]; In re Aguilar (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 1479, 1483-1484, [the trailer in which Aguilar resided with his wife Roberta was destroyed by a fire. Roberta suffered second and third degree burns over 90 percent of her body. She died two months later after suffering through numerous skin grafts, seven major surgeries and amputation of her right forearm. Roberta told paramedics, her treating physician and others that Aguilar had started the fire. A witness stated Aguilar approached the trailer at 4:00 a.m., shortly before he heard Roberta's horrifying screams. An arson investigator testified that the fire had been deliberately set. A paramedic and the treating physician each testified that Roberta appeared to have been splashed with flammable liquid.])

Finally, in 2014, James Sternbergh, D-64079, was granted parole and released by the Governor for first degree murder after serving 27-years. (Exh.8, Excerpts From July 29, 2014, Parole Hearing Transcript And Decision.) Sternbergh and his accomplice

“flipped a coin” about “who was going to do it.” (Id. at 65.) Sternbergh lost the flip and beat his victim to death with a claw hammer 24-times. (Id. at 66-67.) They “wrapped him up in a sheet” and buried him in a “shallow grave.” (Id. at 67-68.)

Also in 2014, Alton Villamar, J-53515, was granted parole and released by the Governor for first degree murder after serving 20-years. (Exh.9, Excerpts From September 5, 2014, Parole Hearing Transcript And Decision.) Villamar was “convicted for the Washington murder.” (Id. at 141.) He was also involved in multiple “robberies and the other murder” which he was not convicted for some unknown reason. (Ibid.)

In sum, the point of this argument is to demonstrate that the facts of Ms. Taliano’s crimes, as reflected in context with the above, is an unusual sentence and supports a conclusion of granting this application.

C. Other Causes.

Other causes for granting this application finds multiple reasons. First, granting this application falls under Elderly Parole considerations because she is 60-years old. She is not getting any younger and with age comes more medical problems and expense.

Second, there is also no evidence of any substance abuse or gang problems which is a major problem for the prison population in some form or another. Yet, Ms. Taliano participated in substance abuse and rehabilitation programs to learn the pitfalls of these problems. There is no evidence of any psychological problems because CDCR staff would have reported it, plus, her chronos and memorandums describe a very stable and productive inmate who is willing to help out when needed.

Third, and not to go unmentioned, is Ms. Taliano never worked in society as reflected by the ISRS. However, her work record in prison is remarkable. She has held high ranking clerk positions with the Captain and Lieutenant for nearly 20-years. The work supervisor’s reports on her work performance are above average to exceptional. The laudatory chronos reflect an extraordinary change in her demeanor and work ethics.

Fourth, the violence and danger to society is absent in this case after 25-years. There is no evidence she was ever a violent person by nature and her CSRA score is low.

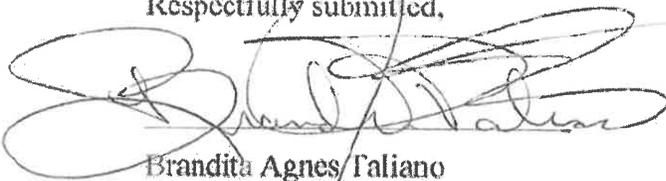

CONCLUSION

“Consideration of postconviction behavior is not an act of mercy, grace or forgiveness as [reflected by the Warren court.] Rather, consideration of such evidence merely strengthens the [Governor’s] ability to fit the punishment to the crime and the particular defendant,” as in Ms. Taliano’s case. (People v. Warren, supra, 179 Cal.App.3d at 692.) During her incarceration, Ms. Taliano has benefitted from her engagement in rehabilitation opportunities and has demonstrated consistent impulse control and behavioral stability. She has not engaged in any overt violence or aggression and has incurred no serious rule violations during her incarceration that supports a conclusion of current danger. Her self-help programming efforts serve as “overwhelming evidence” that she is rehabilitated. (See Lawrence, supra, 44 Cal.4th at 1191.) As such, it does appear that Ms. Taliano’s age and maturity have had a mitigating effect on her risk for violence. She will likely require minimal intervention or supervision strategies designed to manage risk beyond those normally provided by parole authorities and accessible to parolees.

Based on all the foregoing reasons, Ms. Taliano humbly and respectfully requests the Governor grant this application for a commutation of sentence from life without the possibility of parole, to 25-years to life with the possibility of parole, or be pardoned, based on this application and in the interests of justice. Ms. Taliano’s case is the exception. Give her a chance to prove herself to the Board which is no easy task.

Executed on: 1/17/2017, at Chowchilla, California, in Madera County.

Billy Ray Talk

On November 3, 1977, 18-year-old Billy Ray Talk, his wife Karen Parsons, her sister, and Karen's step-father planned to rob Karen's father, Floyd Smith. Mr. Talk wanted money to support Karen's infant son and attacked Mr. Smith with the handle of a hammer, killing him. He then stole approximately $500 from Mr. Smith. On May 18, 1978, the Butte County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Talk to life without the possibility of parole.

Mr. Talk has been incarcerated for 41 years. In prison, Mr. Talk has distinguished himself through his positive programming and work record. Mr. Talk has only been disciplined twice in over forty years of incarceration, and has never committed any violence while incarcerated. Mr. Talk has participated in various self-help groups, including Non-Violent Conflict Resolution, Anger Management, and Victim Impact.

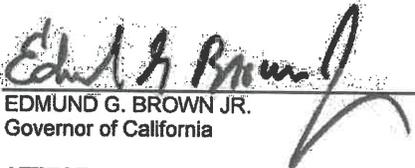

Mr. Talk's commitment to his work has earned him the respect and praise of institutional staff. In 2018, a supervisor commended Mr. Talk on his work with the California Prison Industry Authority (Cal PIA), noting that he was recognized as employee of the month on three separate occasions. She wrote, "Inmate Talk is an organized, self-motivated, and responsible worker who is able to resolve production problems in a timely manner. These attributes have served Cal PIA well and will positively serve any future employer, Cal PIA or otherwise." She concluded, "If given an opportunity to parole, Inmate Talk would be an asset to society and I am willing to wholeheartedly endorse any consideration for his parole." In 2017, a supervisor commended Mr. Talk on his lack of disciplinary history, positive programming, and work ethic. He wrote, "I have observed inmate Talk to be a hard worker and respectful to all Cal PIA staff and fellow offender workers. He demonstrates a positive attitude at all times. Inmate Talk is a program success story and is an asset to the facility [a]nd Cal PIA." In 2018, a supervisor commended Mr. Talk on his work ethic and leadership skills. He noted, "Mr. Talk always handled himself in a very professional manner dealing with all inmates and all staff. He never shied away from leadership positions or labor intensive jobs." In 2018, a correctional officer who has worked with Mr. Talk daily wrote that he "handles his responsibilities and duties in an exemplary manner. He consistently meets deadlines, is very organized, works extremely hard, and is always on task." The officer wrote, "Among his peers, Mr. Talk has a positive attitude, is always willing to offer assistance, and shows strong leadership skills." The officer concluded, "If given the opportunity, I would hire/supervise him again and would recommend him in any job position."

Mr. Talk came to prison for committing a terrible crime when he was 18 years old, over four decades ago. Since that time, he has demonstrated a sincere commitment to his rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Talk has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Billy Ray Talk to a total of 41 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 2018.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The applicant Billy Ray Talk was accused in information filed January 24, 1978 by the District Attorney of Butte County of murder with a special circumstance of being in the commission of robbery (Pen. Code, 187 & 190.2 (3) (1) in count one, of robbery and intentional infliction great body injury and use of a deadly weapon. (Pen. Code, Section 211) in count two, and of burglary and intentional infliction of great body injury and use of a deadly weapon (Pen. Code, Section 459) in count three. An amended information containing the same charges was filed on March 15, 1978. The Crimes were allegedly committed on Floyd Smith November 3, 1977.

Mr. Talk was arraigned in the superior court on January 26, 1978. He was rearranged on March 15, 1978. Jury selection began on March 27, 1978. On April 14, 1978, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree a finding the special circumstance alleged were true a verdict of guilty of robbery with a finding of intentional infliction of great bodily injury and use of a deadly weapon. On April 17, 1978 the jury determined the penalty on count one to be life without possibility of parole rather than death. On May 18, 1978, Mr. Talk's motion for a new trial was denied and he was sentence to state prison for life without possibility of parole on count one and for a total of eight years on count two consecutive with seven years on count three. Counts two and three were stayed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. Prosecution

Billy Talk, an eighteen year old, and Karen Smith, a sixteen year old, lived in the home of David and Anita Mistal in Oroville. They had a baby. Karen was the daughter of Floyd ("Pete") Smith. Also living with the Mistal's was Christina Smith, a twelve year old daughter of Floyd Smith. She and Donald Parsons, a thirty five year old man, had been living at the Mistals for about three weeks. Parsons was the stepfather of Karen and Christina. Billy, Karen and their baby had been living at the Mistals for about two days on November 3, 1977.

Floyd Smith, who was 62 years old, lived by himself in Oroville. He was employed as the manager of a number of apartments surrounding his residence. He would collect the rent which Norman Stevenson, a representative of Chico Property Management which owned the apartments, would pick up a couple of times a month. Stevenson would normally drop by Smith's several times in the early part of the month so Smith would not have large sums of money around. Smith kept the money in a cigar box until paying it to Stevenson.

According to a Statement given to the police by Billy Talk, he and Karen went to Smith's house on Friday to take the money. Smith went to the store to buy some food, and Billy and Karen searched for the money unsuccessfully. Smith returned and began fixing dinner. Billy and Karen were seated at a table in the kitchen area. Billy saw a box which had a hammer and a broom in it. He took the hammer out of the box and sat down. He did this because he would not have been able to knock Smith out with his fist. When Smith was facing away, Billy got up, walked over and hit Smith with the hammer. Smith fell down and got up. Billy hit him again; Smith hit the stove and fell against the refrigerator to the floor. Billy used the hammer to tear off Smith's back pocket and took Smith's wallet. Billy did not think he had killed Smith, according to his statement. Billy and Karen then left. He took the hammer which he later threw over a fence.

Karen and Billy had been taken to Smith's by Donald Parsons. They walked to a bowling alley to meet Parsons. Near the bowling alley, Billy put the wallet in a drainage pipe. Billy later took the police to the location of the hammer and to that of the wallet. The police found the hammer and the wallet. When arrested, Billy denied being under the influence of drinking drugs or dope. He stated he knew what he was doing. Smith's body was found by Stevenson when he broke into the house after Smith did not appear for several days. Smith died from brain swelling due to several blows to the head.

B. Defense.

Billy admitted he and Karen had planned to take the rent receipts from Smith. Parsons took them to Smith's house, but he did not go to the door. Smith let Billy, Karen, Christina and the baby into the house. After they sat for a while, Smith left to get food. Karen and Billy searched but found no money in the box. Smith returned and started cooking dinner. Billy and Karen walked into the kitchen and sat at the table. As they were sitting, Billy saw the hammer in the box with other items. Karen kept looking at him. They had previously decided to knock Smith out and take his money. Billy asked Karen if she was ready. She said yes. Billy went up to Smith, who was stirring corn on the stove and hit him twice on the head with the handle portion of the hammer. He used the claw of the hammer to rip out Smith's back pocket and took the wallet. He, Karen, Christina, and the baby then got together and walked out. They left the door open five or six inches. Billy threw the hammer into some bushes and hid the money and wallet in a pipe by the bowling alley.

They went to the Mistral house where Parsons asked if they had done it. They told him they had and what had happened. They gave Parsons $150 of the money. Billy showed Parsons where the hammer was and then returned to the Mistral's house.

Dominique Tanks

On December 2, 2004, 16-year-old Dominique Tanks planned to rob a grocery store. Mr. Tanks and security guard Noe Fernandez exchanged gunfire. Mr. Tanks struck Mr. Fernandez multiple times, killing him. On January 12, 2007, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Tanks to 25 years to life for first degree murder plus a 25 years to life firearm enhancement, a total term of 50 years to life.

He is now 30 years old and has been incarcerated for over 13 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Tanks stated he felt unwanted and abandoned by his family and looked to gangs for acceptance. He wrote, "I became dangerously selfish and was only concerned with myself and my gang. I gave little to no thought to how much my actions would affect others . . . I allowed my unchecked anger to create a violent person." Mr. Tanks acknowledged, however, "the man I am today is a stark contrast to the immature and impulsive 16-year-old teenager I was once . . . [and] I intend to continue to be of service to others."

In prison, Mr. Tanks has demonstrated his commitment to transforming his life. He has never been disciplined for violence. Mr. Tanks earned his high school diploma in juvenile hall while awaiting his trial, and is currently enrolled in community college courses. Mr. Tanks has worked as a braille transcriber since 2015. He was commended by a braille coordinator who wrote, "Mr. Tanks comes to work every day with a good attitude, ready to work, [and] is always respectful and considerate with others." He has also taken advantage of many self-help programs, including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Addiction Counseling Program, Alternatives to Violence, and Victim Awareness. He serves as a mentor for youth offenders, an Addiction Counselor, and has tutored other inmates in the education program in the prison. He has a plan for re-entry, including transitional housing, transportation, and continuing to improve his education.

Mr. Tanks has earned the respect of staff members through his behavior and mentorship of other inmates. In 2018, a support group sponsor wrote that Mr. Tanks "displays many great leadership traits . . . is passionate about the classes he teaches . . . and is sincere with his efforts when trying to help fellow inmates better themselves." That same year, an Education Officer commended him for his exemplary conduct and wrote, "The nature in which he enthusiastically fulfills his roles is encouraging to other inmates with their pursuit of a positive transformation. . . . It is my opinion that Mr. Tanks has achieved rehabilitation."

Mr. Tanks committed a senseless crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation. For all of these reasons, I believe Mr. Tanks deserves an earlier opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Dominique Tanks to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This section to be completed by the District Attorney only.

I, Barbara Woelf #D, District Attorney of the County of Los Angeles, do hereby acknowledge receipt of notice from Dominique Tanks, that he/she intends to apply to the Governor of the State of California for a commutation of sentence.

Signed Barbara Woelf

Date 11/28/17

District Attorney: Please Return this Notice to the Governor's Office, Attn: Legal Affairs, State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814.

2) Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

The following is a statement of the facts to the background of the case as documented by the California Court of Appeal, Second Appellate District, Division One, in case No. NA065616:

On the night of December 2, 2004, defendant exchanged gunfire with security guard Noe Fernandez outside of the grocery store that employed Fernandez. Fernandez suffered two bullet wounds and died. Defendant, who was 16 years old, was shot three times on the legs and once in the abdomen. Ballistics evidence, recordings from security cameras, eyewitness testimony, clothing and bullets found in the car in which defendant arrived at the hospital, and defendant's own statement and testimony established defendant's identity as the person who shot Fernandez. (Defendant attempted to tell—and have his girlfriend tell—the police a false story about being shot during a road rage incident.)

Ilalia Benfield, who was dating defendant at the time of the shooting, testified that defendant once told her he was a member of a Crips gang in Long Beach. In defendant's bedroom the police found a newspaper article referring to gang members who had been killed. Someone had written on the article and circled several of the photos included in the article, including that of John Butler. Officers found in defendant's room a separate photograph of Butler wearing a Pittsburgh Steelers hat and making a gang hand sign. They also found a photograph of defendant in which he was making a Rollin' 20's Crips gang hand sign and photograph of other people making hand signs for the same gang. Officers also found a Pittsburgh Steelers jersey in defendant's room. The prosecution's gang expert testified that the Rollin' 20's Crips gang identified with the colors of black and yellow, and that they often wore Pittsburgh Steelers garb. The expert had never encountered defendant and could find no information in any police database indicating defendant was a gang member or associate. Nonetheless, the expert opined that defendant either was a member or was going on his first mission to become a member of the Rollin' 20's Crips gang and that the charged crime was gang-related within the meaning of Penal Code section 186.22, (b). (All further statutory references pertain to the Penal Code unless otherwise specified.)

Defendant testified that he was at the scene of the shooting to meet a girl. The gun he was carrying in his waistband dropped down inside his jeans and ultimately fell out on the ground. Defendant reached to pick up the gun and Fernandez shot him. Defendant tried to flee, but Fernandez kept firing, so defendant returned fire. Defendant denied that he was a gang member.

Defendant's original trial resulted in hung jury and a mistrial.

The jury at the retrial convicted defendant of first degree murder and found that in the commission of the offense, defendant personally and intentionally fired a gun, causing death (12022.53, subd. (d)). The jury found that a gang enhancement allegation was not true. The court sentenced defendant to prison for 50 years to life.

In my attempt to avoid taking responsibility I lied on many occasions regarding the circumstances of my crime. The following are lies I've stated pertaining to my crime, followed by the truth:

- Lie: I am not gang member. Truth: I was, at that time, a member of the Rollin' 20's Crip gang.
- Lie: I was there to meet a girl. Truth: I was not there to meet anyone, I was looking to rob someone.
- Lie: It was self-defense. Truth: It was not, Mr. Fernandez was defending himself.
- Lie: Mr. Fernandez shot first. Truth: I shot first.
- Lie: I found the gun in an ally. Truth: It was given to me by John Butler, at that time, a fellow gang member.

3) Explain why you are requesting commutation:

I am respectfully requesting commutation to be evaluated and allow the process to determine my level of rehabilitation and suitability. I have exhausted other avenues and no longer seeking relief from the courts. I presented arguments to the courts to be judged on a legal perspective. This process only perpetuated my lies and attempts to avoid responsibility. Now I seek to be judged for the man I am today.

4) Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

Even with my intensive rehabilitative efforts and personal growth, I do not believe I am afforded the entitlement of declaring what I "should" be granted. However, it is those efforts and growth that I plead for commutation.

I was only 16 years old when I committed my crime and although I understood what I did was wrong, it was not until years later that I began to truly understand the impact of my crime. It is this understanding that filled me with the burden of shame, guilt, and regret. That burden spurred my maturing and growth. It is during my growth that I began to stop maintaining my lies about myself and my crime. I realized that continuing my lies are further causing harm to Noe Fernandez, to his wife, Maria Delgado, his two children and grandchild. Since then, I have worked passionately to address my character defects and reestablish a healthy belief system. It is my shame, guilt, and regret that has motivated me to identify, challenge, and eradicate defective values and principles I held. All in my effort to improve as a person, to ensure my destructive actions are never repeated.

In my young childhood, I was exposed to violence inside and outside of the home that became normalized. This did not begin to manifest until I was 9 years old, at this time my mother was physically abusive to me. After she suffered a nervous breakdown, my father came to take me away from her. I felt he was my hero, coming to rescue me and take me to live with him. But, he just handed me over to my auntie. This made me feel unwanted and abandoned. I developed low self-esteem and expressed these deficiencies with anger, aggression, and rebelliousness. Worsening my impulsiveness.

I pursued the acceptance from others that often shared similar problems. Searching to achieve meaning for my life and acceptance-seeking, led me to gangs. I began to replace the values my family taught me with the immoral ones of the gang culture in my attempt to obtain their acceptance. I allowed these corrupt set of beliefs combined with my unchecked anger to create a violent person. I became dangerously selfish and was only concerned with myself and my gang. I gave little to no thought, to how my actions would affect others. These factors allowed me to think it was acceptable to murder an innocence man.

My actions are unforgivable. No amount of atonement or good deeds can erase the pain and trauma I've caused Noe Fernandez, his wife, Maria Delgado, their two children and grandchildren. For that purpose, I have made a commitment to live a lifestyle of giving back. First I had to change my thinking, behavior, and my gang and criminal lifestyle. It started with distancing myself from the gang, then finally, completely severing gang ties. I could not truly honor my commitment to a life of giving and service, if I still belonged to the gang that taught me destructive beliefs that contributed to me harming people, including murdering Mr. Fernandez.

Currently, I serve my community through the Ironwood Braille Program, as a Braille Transcriber certified by the U.S. Library of Congress. I Convert textbooks into braille to assist the blind and visually impaired California Community College students. I also volunteer as a Core Mentor Coordinator in the Youth Offender Program (YOP). Helping Youth Offenders with their academic goals, self-help rehabilitative groups, and being an example of disassociating from gangs and programing in a positive way. Aiding them in their recovery and rehabilitation is my moral obligation. I have been a negative example in my past, now I need to serve as a positive one.

I further serve as a facilitator for the following self-help rehabilitative groups: Alternative to Violence Project (AVP) California, Addiction Counseling Program (ACP), Community Based Art Program (CBAP), Getting Out by Going In (GOGI), I-4-Sight (I4S), and Lifer's Activity Group (LAG).

I am also a student enrolled at Palo Verde College. I have two semesters left to complete to receive my Associate of Arts degree, majoring in Social and Behavior Science. In addition, I am a few classes away from receiving my Alcohol and Drug Studies (ADS) Specialist I and Specialist II Certifications. With these academic credentials I am going to be a counselor for those suffering from substance abuse and/or destructive behavior.

To further my education and volunteer work, I have accepted the invitation from Associate Professor Annie Buckley of Cal. State University of San Bernardino (CSUSB), to come to the campus as a guest teacher for the Community-based Art program (CBA). She has encouraged and offered me her support with enrolling at CSUSB if I am paroled. (Please see attached letter of support.)

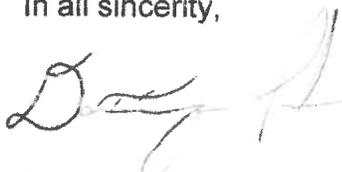

Before I became a mentor, facilitator, and counselor I had to make significant changes within myself. Those profound changes empowered me to demonstrate to others the new healthy principles by which I live. The man I am today is a stark contrast to the immature and impulsive 16 year old teenager I once was. I intend to continue to be of service for others, helping to stem the generational cycle of violence and abuse, which I personally have been affected by and contributed to.

If you are kind enough to grant me mercy, I will continue on to give back to society for the rest of my life.

Thank you in advance for taking the time to consider my commutation. Additionally, thank you for everything you have done to reform our criminal justice system. Your actions have inspired many prisoners to change their lives.

Please see the following attachments: Support letters, Chronos, Certificates, College letters and report cards.

In all sincerity,

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Ismael Ray Tarazon

On November 22, 1983, Ismael Tarazon confronted Robert Serna about money Mr. Serna owed him for drugs, and the two fought. Later in the day, Mr. Tarazon saw Mr. Serna walking with Clemente Sanchez. Mr. Tarazon asked Mr. Serna if he had the money he owed him for drugs, then opened fire on Mr. Serna and Mr. Sanchez, killing them both. On December 7, 1984, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Tarazon to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Tarazon has now been incarcerated for almost 35 years. During over three decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Mr. Tarazon has been dedicated to transforming his life. He has not been disciplined for misconduct in over 23 years, and has never been disciplined for any violence in prison. Mr. Tarazon has resided on an honor yard since 2011. An associate warden wrote in 2018 that, "Mr. Tarazon has never received any serious rules violations while residing on the [honor yard] and has taken every opportunity to change for the better." Mr. Tarazon has participated in the Progressive Arts Program since its inception and has donated artwork to various charitable organizations through the program. Mr. Tarazon is also a military veteran and took the initiative to reestablish the Veterans Embracing Troops Group at his prison in Lancaster. Through the group, Mr. Tarazon has worked to raise money for donations for troops overseas, local homeless veterans, and other organizations. As a correctional sergeant wrote in 2018, Mr. Tarazon "has been the driving force behind countless fundraisers."

Mr. Tarazon receives excellent work ratings and commendations from correctional staff. In 2018, an associate warden who supervises Mr. Tarazon's work as a clerk wrote that Mr. Tarazon "has gained a reputation of being responsible and diligent. He is very dedicated to his job and is called upon often to assist [other] inmate workers." A correctional sergeant who supervised Mr. Tarazon noted, "He has integrity, is reliable, responsible, and dependable." The sergeant stated, "I would recommend Tarazon for any future job as well as any inside or outside employment. Tarazon also demonstrated great character skills and sound demeanor." In 2018, a correctional lieutenant wrote that Mr. Tarazon "has made it known of his continuing effort to rebuild his life and character to be accepted back into society as a hardworking and intelligent man. Tarazon always performs his work with a great attitude and he is extremely proficient from the time he starts his job until it is completed." In 2018, a Muslim chaplain who has known Mr. Tarazon for over a decade wrote, "Mr. Tarazon stands out as an individual who takes pride in himself, his work, and as an adviser to other students. Mr. Tarazon strives to find ways to give back to the local community and his fellow veterans within the prison setting, as well as those in the outside community who are in need."

Mr. Tarazon committed a very serious crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Tarazon has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ismael Ray Tarazon to a total of 35 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

The following pages that I have can be helpful information, which can be useful into my innocence, are as follows:

1. Preliminary Investigation Report of November 22, 1983; page 2, number five (5) witness is me. I was taken from the crime scene as a witness to the police station. I could have not run in either direction away as the witness testified.
2. The OCB Crash Witness interview form (11-22-83) and 12-01-1983) of Joseph Anthony Verdugo (describes the shooter wearing a hooded sweatshirt with a Green-Army jacket over that night.
OCB Crash witness interview form (11-22-83) of Ray Tarazon (me), witness clothing description: Brown shoes, Blue Corduroy pants, and Blue Plaid shirt. It is not physically possible that I could have changed clothes that fast. Also, there is no written report or anybody mentioning that I changed clothes at the crime scene.
3. My Military Records of travel and reporter Transcript (pgs. 213-214). The witness says he met me back in 1978-79, but according to my military records, he did not. Witness Verdugo states, I knew Tank, Carlos and Gato when I was growing up in the neighborhood. I had not met with him at anytime prior to the shooting. This witness falsely testified that he met me. The period of time which he states, that we met I was stationed overseas (in Germany). This individual was not in any branch of military or even in Germany, Fort Hood, Texas and or Fort Knox, Kentucky places that I've been to leaving California in 1977, when I was seventeen years old.
4. The Report (1989-90) of the Los Angeles Grand Jury. This is how funds were funded for Jail House Informants. Witness Verdugo comes out on this list and got paid $975.00 dollars under the Witness Protection Program and this took place prior to the Preliminary hearing on 12-23-1983. There was no need for him to get protection from me as I didn't even know where this individual lives, as for the simple reason that we never met eye to eye or even prior to me going into the military. During trial it was asked of both witnesses, if they had any plea bargain or any agreement for testifying and both stated; no, to which was a lie. I may have found one other witness that was there at the scene of the crime/shooting, which may contradict the witness testimony. Also, I may have a witness that actually was picked up by the shooters and went to celebrate the shooting.

6. The Examination Reports of all ballistic, fingerprints on the shell cases, gun parts, and blood/stains of the green army jacket. Also paraffin test/ballistic reports are all they have in the two pages that are enclosed. None of these pages have my name on them, and I do believe that the fingerprint card of Gavino Herrera is the actual shooter.

To whom it may concern,

I, Ismael Ray Tarazón am a first term sentenced to Life Without the Possibility of Parole. I have been incarcerated for the past thirty-four (34) years for a crime I did not commit. I was in the military for six (6) years, got out and tried to go to college but the schools told that I was two (2) weeks too late to enroll and to come back in the Fall, so in the meantime I found a job working as a security guard. On the night of the murders, as I was walking with a girl, one of the witness saw me and her, he pulled over and told me don't go down there two guys got shot. as me and the girl were walking down on Lorena Street, I came upon the two bodies that were laying on the floor and kneel down next to my brother-in-law, as he was still breathing. I tried to give him assistance at which time the paramedics got there and took over in assisting him. I did not shoot anybody, I did not have a gun that night, because I was not working and I did not run north like one witness states or like the other one states that I run east with a smoking gun in my hand. Yes, I was taken to the police station as a witness like the others from the crime scene to get interviewed. However, Prosecutor Christopher Darden the D.A. for O.J. Simpson was the one that prosecuted my case as when he was first started as a D.A., and crossed me up with two witnesses, that falsely testified against me. One got paid $975.00 dollars for his false testimony. The other one at first was charged for the murders too, but never got prosecuted for them and there was a third person also that was charged but wasn't prosecuted either. The D.A. used my military background to get a conviction and the used of false testimony.

Now, during my stay in the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, I have grown and acquired a Vocational Trade in Silk-Screening, College certificates in Art from California State University San Bernardino, and have accomplished fundraisers for Veterans groups (Blue Star Mothers, Wounded Heroes of America, Operation Gratitude and among other Charities). I strives to find ways to give back to the local community and my fellow veterans within the prison setting as well as those in the outside community who are in need.

Although serving a long sentence that carried no possibility of parole. I've stayed away from drugs, gangs and violence more than three decades in prison. I've put efforts towards self-rehabilitation and have many documented accomplishments. I have provided an impressive level of effort and skill to the position of Lead Clerk. If released from custody, I could transition successfully back into the community and be a model citizen.

Thank you for your consideration and for your support.

Sincerely,

Ismael Ray Tarazon D00536

I am a first term sentenced to Life Without the Possibility of Parole. I have been incarcerated for the past thirty-four years for a crime I did not commit. The Prosecutor in my case used my military background to get conviction and also used false testimony. I have acquired a Vocational Trade (Silk-Screening), College certificates in Art from California State University San Bernardino, and have accomplished fundraisers for Veterans groups and other Charities. Although serving a long sentence that carried no possibility of parole. I've stayed away from drugs, gangs and violence more than three decades in prison. The following statement of information with attachments are some facts that my trial attorney did not use in my trial. If he would have used some of this information to argue the case maybe the outcome of the case would have been of a different verdict. However, I've put efforts towards self-rehabilitation and have many documented accomplishments. I have provided an impressive level of effort and skill to the position of Lead Clerk. Case Information

On the day of November 22, 1983, my day started by Carlos Quirarte and his homeboy (Winito) coming over to my house at about 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon to see what I was doing. It was my day off from work and I was sleeping, as I just had gotten off a fifteen hour shift. I told Carlos, let me wash up and in the meantime go get us something to drink. This was the first time that I met Carlos' homeboy Winito. We kicked it around the house until about 6:30 or a little later that evening. We then walked over to some girls house over by the library on Percy Street. On the way to the girls house, we stopped at the liquor store to buy some quarts of beer. When we met up with the girls, I introduced Carlos and Rudy (Winito) to the girls and we went up the street from where the girls lived to drink and kick it with them. It was pass 8:00 o'clock when we ran out of beer, so we left the girls at their house and told them we'll be back we're going to buy some more. As we were walking towards the liquor store we could see through the banks parking lot and observed that the L.A.P.D had at least ten (10) guys up against the wall of Frank's liquor store.

So, instead of going over to the liquor store right away, I mentioned to Carlos and Rudy lets go over to the telephones at the '76' gas station that was across the street from the bank. I got on the phone and called Debbie. Debbie, lives two blocks from where I making the phone call on Siskiyou Street. While, I was talking to Debbie I asked Carlos if he would go to the liquor store and get us something to drink while I'm on the phone. I handed Carlos the money and he left with Rudy to the liquor store. I waited for them to come back but they didn't return. So, as I was talking with Debbie I told her, that I was at the gas station and that I would be over to see her, but I would be stopping at the liquor store first. I started to walk towards the liquor store and at the stop light on Whittier & Spence, across the street I saw a girl coming up on Spence Street, so as I crossed the street and at the corner I asked her, what's your name and said Sandra, she also stated; "I know your brother, he's my old man's friend" and as we were talking and walking towards the liquor store. I asked her why was she by herself at this time at night? She told me that she had gotten into an argument with her old man and that she was going to the liquor store to buy a couple of things and that he was coming up the other way on Lorena Street. As we were walking towards the liquor store I noticed in the McDonald's parking lot that my brother-in-law's car was parked in there. I looked around for him and he was nowhere to be found. Sandra and I entered the liquor store and got our things, and as I paid for both of us, I looked up at the clock on the wall and the time read 8:50 p.m. We exit the store and where walking up towards Lorena Street, and about halfway up Carlos and a carload of his homeboys pulled over and Carlos said; "Tank don't go down there two people just got shot." I didn't hear him that good, so I got closer to the car and asked him; "What did you say? And once again, he told me don't go down there two guys just got shot." I said ok, so Sandra and I started walking towards Lorena again because she was going home and I was going to Debbie's house and that's why we were going in that direction.

As Sandra and I were walking down on Lorena Street, we came upon the two bodies, and when I looked down at them, I noticed that it was my brother-in-law laying on his back and the other guy was a friend of mine (Clemente). Clemente was not breathing, but my brother-in-law was still breathing a little bit, as I was kneeling next to him, I started to unbutton his suit to see what was wrong with him and if I could give him any kind of assistance, because I was taught First-Aid in the military. Within a few minutes the paramedics were there and took over. I then walked across the street to where the security guards at the Taco Truck and asked them what had happen? They answered me by stating; "that they only seen the guys running away." I asked them, why didn't you go after them, but as being a security guard myself. I've was trained not leave your post, because it could be a diversion. As I was with the security guards an L.A.P.D. Officer (don't recall who or his name) came over and started to ask me who I was and I told him that one of those guys that got shot was my brother-in-law, so he then put me in the police car and took me down to the police station as a witness and got interviewed.

On that same day, earlier in the day or on that evening before the shooting occurred, I was nowhere near those trash bins or by the laundry mat drinking beer with four other guys, as the L.A.P.D's informant (Joseph Verdugo) stated. Also, Joseph said that I met him in 1978 or '79, this is not true, because in all reality I never met this person. I have my military records to proof that when he says I he met me, I was stationed in Germany (refer to attachment 'A'). I was overseas from 1978 to 1980. Joseph also states, "that I ran north from the crime scene." How could I run from the crime scene, if I was taken down to the police station as a witness from the crime scene (The Preliminary Investigation Report has me as witness #5)(ref to attachment 'B'). Joseph also mentions that the shooter was wearing a hooded gray sweatshirt with an army green jacket over. However, when I was taken to the police station to get interviewed by the Detective. The Detective as the interview started, he wrote down on the interview what I was wearing that night. All I can say is that I am not David Copperfield to change clothes that quick, especially when I didn't leave the crime scene or run in two different directions.

The D.A.'s other witness, which was Carlos Quirarte (the one that told me not to go down there because two guys had just got shot) stated, "that while we were at the girls house and he (Carlos) was sitting on the porch with one of the girls, my brother-in-law and Clemente showed up and that my brother-in-law and I got into an argument over by the corner of the library (Percy and Spence Street). The girls house is about two or three doors up from the corner and across the street from the library. Carlos stated; "that the argument between my brother-in-law and I was about drugs and money." That is a false statement, because my brother-in-law and Clemente never came over to where we were. I believe my brother-in-law didn't even know where I was at the time. I later found out that my brother-in-law was celebrating with some other guys that lived in the opposite direction from where we were with girls. Carlos stated, that when we (him & I) were walking down on Lorena Street (not true) that we ran into my brother-in-law and Clemente at the corner of Siskiyou and Lorena Street, and that we started to argue again and he walked away. He was across the street by the corner and phone booth, he heard the gun shots. When he turned around, he states that he saw me holding a smoking gun in my hand and that I ran east on Siskiyou Street (remember he was in a car with his homeboys, he and Rudy did not return back to the gas station from the liquor store).

Hypothetical of speech, how could one person run in two different directions at the same time? (refer to attachment 'C', crime scene diagram) Who is telling the true? Not both of them, both witnesses falsely testified. Carlos states; that I ran east from the crime scene and Joseph the other witness states; that I ran north. How can this be, as I've mentioned before, I was taken to the police station from the crime scene as a witness. Carlos was not around the shooting or crime scene, because Carlos went home and as he states; my sister's boyfriend wanted to go get some beer at the market, and the market is on Whittier Blvd., so to get there they had to go up on Lorena Street. Carlos also stated; that they wanted to go check out what was happening up by the Taco truck (meaning the shooting). As Carlos and his homeboys were going to the market they passed by the crime scene to get to the market on Whittier Blvd., that's when he saw me on Whittier Blvd. with the Sandra not far from Lorena Street and that when he told me not to go down there, because two guys had just got shot. How could Carlos be across the street from the crime scene and see me with a smoking gun in my hand and stated that I ran east. He was not there, he was down at his neighborhood with his homeboys when this shooting accorded.

The D.A.'s main witness, Joseph Verdugo stated; "that Robert and Clemente were leaning up against the fence when he passed by, as to when I was talking with them we were face to face." Verdugo also states; "that he was about four to five feet away from Serna (Robert) and Sanchez (Clemente) when he heard someone yell, I'm going to get you" and "Do you remember me?" The problem with the statement: "Do you remember me," is that when rationally applied to the identification situation as in this case, it would seem to indicate to a rational trier of fact, that the two were strangers who may have had a prior run-in. Yet supposed, while Robert and I if we did have a prior run-in / argument about a drug transaction or something to that affect, Robert and Clemente are no strangers to me. Verdugo heard gunshots, moaning and footsteps, he attempted to turn around to see what was going on and when he was turning, someone pushed him on his right shoulder and he almost fell but he caught his balance on the tree and that's when Sanchez was falling to the ground on his back (supposedly this guy that brushed up on him was Gato. Gato was not there at all or by the trash bins drinking beers, he was across town in the city of West Covina). I believe Joseph does not even know Gato like he says he does. A lady friend of mine that talks to him has asked him that question, if he was there, and he has answered her "No!"

The Coroner's autopsy report reads; that Robert, my brother-in-law was shot from toe to head, left to right and back to front. The witness states, that they were falling on their backs and I was face to face with them. I was not there when they got shot and if one was face to face with them and they were falling on their backs, that means then were shot in the front to be falling on their backs. So why, do they have the gunshot wounds back to front?

My trial attorney did not use my military records, Preliminary Investigation Report, autopsy reports, etc., to contradict the witnesses false testimony. Or the interview page when I was taken to the police station, that documents, what I was wearing that night and it contradicts what he says; that I was wearing a Hooded sweatshirt with a Green-Army jacket (refer to attachment 'D', Interview Sheet). The Preliminary investigation report, has the sculptures of the two suspects (150-160lbs. / 5'7" to 5'8" and the other 160-170lbs. 5'8" to 5'9"). I am totally different in height and weight and build wise. I've always been a heavy person and at the height of 5'10". The two suspects are of a thinner shorter build (weight/height). The four (4) shell cases that were found at the crime scene do not have finger prints on them, but there is a coke bottle with finger prints that was found with the shell casings. The finger prints on the coke bottle are not mine. They'll belong to the person that did the shooting (ref to attachment 'E', Finger prints and name). There are finger prints cards available and none of them have my name on them. I have recently found out that Joseph Verdugo was a paid informant under the witness protection program, and this is how the informants get paid through the Witness Protection Program. Joseph Verdugo was a paid informant for the L.A.P.D. He received payment of $975.00, a day before the preliminary hearing (refer to attachment 'F', Witness Protection List and partial Grand Jury). The L.A.P.D and the D.A. failed to disclose this information to us before, during or after the trial, that Joseph got paid for being an informant (This is a Brady violation). They have mentioned that there was no plea bargains or deals (refer to attachment 'G', Proof of the D.A. stating that there were no plea bargains offered).

Carlos Quirarte's interview on December 7, 1983, while in custody he was being held on a unrelated charge, and was rebooked for the murders (refer to attachment 'H', Arrest Reports). When he was being interrogated, he was under the influence and was not in the right state of mind when making his statements to the detectives. When he states that On the night of the murder, I was with "Ray" at Johnson's market on Whittier Blvd near Lorena Street, he went home and he did not come back to where I was on the phone. When he was at his house, he came back up Lorena Street to go to the market with Danny (his sister's boyfriend) to buy some beer. This was when he told me don't go down there two guys got shot (refer to attachment 'I', Witnesses).

Also, the package containing miscellaneous parts, which were pistol parts, these pistol parts were PROPERTY BOOKED TO: Robert Serna, DATE BOOKED: 11-22-1983 the day of the shooting. Robert Serna was the deceased and they were booked to him on 11-22-1983 (refer to attachment 'J', Los Angeles Police Department Firearms and Explosive Analyzed Evidence report). Therefore, when the Detective stated that they found them in the Red Tackle Box with my social security card inside the red box, on December 7, 1983, when they served the search warrant and arrest me, is a false statement, it is in black and white. On the same date 11-22-83, the clothing report states that No bullet holes were located in the clothing. If Robert Serna the deceased got shot in the left hip area and lower left back area, there should have been holes in the clothing (ref to attachment 'J-1', Los Angeles Police Department Firearms and Explosive Analyzed Evidence report).

At sentencing, my attorney motion the court for a New Trial because of a witness that couldn't be found during trial. A week prior to sentencing my mom had found that one witness (a security guard) that was there in the area of the shooting. This witness was at the New trial motion and sentencing. His testimony was collaborating with the other security guard that testified during trial. The Judge denied the motion and stated: "Yes, Mr. Beaudion's testimony collaborates with the other security guard, but I'm not going to grant the motion, and if I'm wrong we'll be back one day and do this all over again."

Timothy Thompson

In 1996, 21-year-old Timothy Thompson approached Salvador Espinoza on the street. Mr. Thompson pretended to have a gun and demanded money. Mr. Espinoza handed over $2.00, and Mr. Thompson fled. On November 4, 1998, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Thompson to 25 years to life for robbery, plus a 5-year prior felony enhancement – a total term of 30 years to life in prison.

Mr. Thompson is now 44 years old and has been incarcerated for over 22 years. In that time, he has developed an impressive record of rehabilitation. He has advanced his education, earning both an A.A. degree and an A.S. degree. He is currently enrolled in a vocational certification program, and has participated in self-help groups. Mr. Thompson also completed the Last Mile program, which provides inmates with career and entrepreneurial training, as well as mentorship and job placement when they are released. The co-founder of the program supported Mr. Thompson's application for clemency and described him as a "top performer in the program" with "an excellent work ethic." He pledged to give Mr. Thompson his full support upon release, and wrote, "I strongly believe that given the opportunity for release, Tim Thompson will become a contributing member of our business community." Mr. Thompson has also received commendations from numerous people involved in San Quentin's education programs. A UC Berkeley instructor who volunteers with the Prison University Project supported Mr. Thompson's commutation and wrote, "I have every confidence that he will not only not reoffend, but will follow through on his plans to give back to his community and be a force for good in the lives he touches." A college preparatory instructor wrote, "From all the time I have spent with Tim, I have experienced him to be kind, compassionate, hard-working, and driven to succeed. I can say with full certainty that Tim's presence would benefit any community and that he deserves to offer his gifts to society at large."

In 2018, a judge from the Los Angeles County Superior Court supported Mr. Thompson's commutation, writing that Mr. Thompson "appears to be an excellent candidate for commutation," explaining, "He appears to be a different man than the perhaps drug-fueled street robber of his youth. He has bettered himself. He has gotten an education. He has demonstrated his concern for and caring for others. To me, that seems to be the goal we all say we are seeking when we talk about rehabilitation, and when we say that rehabilitation is an important objective of our system." The judge also noted that if this crime were committed today, "it is likely that the District Attorney would strike one of the prior convictions in the interests of justice, and offer to resolve this case for something less – perhaps significantly less – than the 22 years that Mr. Thompson has served." He concluded that Mr. Thompson "seems as likely as any who I have encountered to continue the positive trajectory he has established in over two decades in prison, and to contribute in a positive way to his community. If this man is not deserving of a commutation, and another chance in life, who is?"

Additionally, Mr. Thompson's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Thompson.

For all of these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Thompson's sentence so that he can be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Timothy Thompson to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

I was arrested about one hour later and charged with a single count of robbery in the second degree. It was later determined that I was eligible for prosecution under California's three strikes law; this stemmed from the fact that I had been convicted of three (3) prior attempted robberies in 1992. I committed these crimes when I was 17 years old, however I was prosecuted as an adult and sentenced to four years and four months in the California Youth Authority. While preparing for trial in the current case, the judge dismissed the three prior attempted robberies and I received the maximum five (5) year sentence allowed by law for robbery in the second degree. In 1997, the appellate court reversed the trial court's decision to dismiss the three prior attempted robberies and I was then returned to the trial court for resentencing. In 1998, I was subsequently sentenced to 30 years to life. This sentence included 25 years to life under the three strikes law plus a five (5) year serious felony prior conviction enhancement.

(sometime in our home) to support this insidious addiction. When I was 16 years old, she was murdered by a man that picked her up off the street and solicited sex from her for money.

When I was about 12 years old I joined the neighborhood gang. I realize now that many factors precipitated this mistake. For one, many of my family members and friends were already in a gang. Also the financial situation in my household had deteriorated to the point where basic essentials like food, heat, and electricity were becoming more and more consistently absent; the gang provided me with financial means from drug sells and other criminal activity. Mainly though I now understand that I joined a gang because I was angry and I had come to despise who I was, where I came from, and the future that I faced.

No circumstances in my life, no matter how challenging justifies the things that I did to my community, however all of the experiences in my life now enables me to understand why my vies on life became so distorted. I was attempting to make adult decisions using a child's understanding of the world. Recently, science has been used in the legal realm to show that the brain does not fully mature until at least age 23, but the lack of positive influence in my life kept me from becoming a real man and thinking like an adult, well into my early 30s. Fortunately now at the age of 43, if given the chance I can use my experience, knowledge, and education to be an asset and affect positive change in the same community I once helped tear down.

I would like to use my life as an example to discourage our next generation from developing the same self-loathing behavior that led me to my current state. I believe that society needs more examples of change and second chances because all human beings (especially when young) inevitably make mistakes.

Part of this mentoring that I advocate for is to utilize my training in computer coding/programming and entrepreneurship to teach these 21st century skills to those youth most at risk of falling through the cracks. I would like to accomplish this by implementing a 501 c(3) non-profit organization. I have submitted a copy of the grant proposal and plan explaining how I can achieve this (attached to this petition).

If I am fortunate enough to have this petition granted I know that I can use my last years on this earth to have a positive impact on the world. In short I want to prove that people can change for the better in the worst of situations.

Reason not to grow up and so I could continue with the negative behavior that had ruined my life for so long.

Over the last decade plus, new Tim has gained a new perspective on what it means to be a good human being worthy of a place in society. I have found this better person through years of self-reflection, self-achievements, and helping others discover the satisfaction of accomplishing their goals. If I may, I would like to briefly point out some of these achievements.

1. I have earned an Associates of Arts degree from Patten University sponsored by the Prison University Project at San Quentin state prison.
2. I have earned a second Associates in Science degree (in business) from Coastline Community College via a distance learning program. In addition I also have a separate business certificate through the same program.
3. I am a graduate of an entrepreneur program sponsored by the Las Mile organization here at San Quentin prison. This six month program trained me to create a viable start-up online business that helps non-recruited, college, student athletes find athletic scholarships for college. This includes a comprehensive business plan (which I have submitted a copy of), a one-minute and five-minute presentation for pitching investors, and a guaranteed internship from the founders of TLM Chris Redlitz and Beverly Parenti, at a TLM affiliated company upon release from prison.
4. I participated in the inaugural class of the first ever, six month computer coding course offered in California prisons, here at San Quentin. I have since become knowledgeable in five (5) different computer programming languages.
5. Currently I am the assigned clerk and a volunteer tutor for the Academic Peer Education Project; this is a GED Prep program where inmates possessing a college degree are teamed with outside volunteer career educators (teachers and professors) to teach inmates/students literacy writing and math in preparation for the GED exam.

6. Over the past four semesters I have been a volunteer teaching assistant for the Prison University Project, the onsite college program here at San Quentin prison. My duties include leading class discussions, administrative duties like taking attendance, and tutoring students outside of class in essay writing.
7. I am currently part of a public policy workshop co-sponsored by the Ella Baker Center for Human Rights and the Prison University Project, where students are learning the legislative process.
8. I am currently a volunteer participant for a teacher training program for the Prison University Project. Graduates of the college program help train the volunteer teachers on issues such as how to motivate new students, how to effectively communicate with new students, and what skills are most effective teaching college curriculum inside of a prison.
9. I have completed several self-help programs since being incarcerated.
10. I have completed 102 total college units with a 3.45 GPA and a 3.19 GPA from two separate collegiate institutions.
11. Through Project Rebound, an organization that assist newly released prisoners with admission to San Francisco State University, I plan to enroll in SFSU and complete my bachelor's degree in computer engineering upon release.

Alberto Torres

On February 5, 1999, Alberto Torres shot and killed Juan Atrisco, who was on Mr. Torres' property causing a disturbance in the middle of the night. On November 19, 1999, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Torres to 15 years to life for second degree murder, plus a consecutive 25 years to life term for personally discharging a firearm. Mr. Torres' sentence enhancement for personally discharging a firearm has been commuted from an indeterminate term of 25 years to life in prison to a determinate term of 10 years.

Mr. Torres is now 64 years old and has been incarcerated for over 19 years. He reported that he grew up in the village of Santa Ines in Michoacán, Mexico, where he slept on a dirt floor and lived without electricity. Mr. Torres came to the United States in 1971, where he found work on a ranch in Sonoma picking grapes, cherries, and apples. He worked 8 to 10 hours a day and even on weekends for just $.90 an hour. He eventually became a U.S. citizen in 1996, and saved enough money to buy property in Courtland. He reported that he was in fear of his and his family's lives when he shot at and killed Mr. Atrisco near his property.

Mr. Torres has made significant strides while in prison. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct, has never associated with gangs, and has avoided drugs and alcohol. Mr. Torres earned a vocational certification in landscape maintenance and worked as a landscaper and computer literacy clerk. He took advantage of self-help programs such as Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Project Reach for Education Achievement and Change with Help. In 2016, a volunteer program instructor wrote, "Mr. Torres has evolved in prison," and is "accepting of his responsibility and accountability, and has empathy." In 2014, an instructor wrote that Mr. Torres was "diligent, productive, and motivated." The Sacramento County District Attorney wrote that Mr. Torres "appears to have fully embraced the educational, vocational, and rehabilitative opportunities available to him over the years." Mr. Torres reported that upon his release, he plans to live with his family and has a job offer.

For all the foregoing reasons, I believe Mr. Torres has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so that they can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

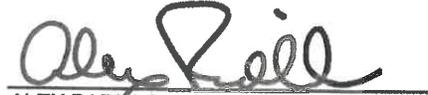

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Alberto Torres to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Thomas Wheelock

In 1997, Thomas Wheelock worked as a guard for an armored truck company. In late November, while working second shift, Mr. Wheelock shot and killed his colleague, Rodrigo Cortez, before stealing approximately $300,000 from the truck. Mr. Wheelock was apprehended in Utah a few days later. On November 1, 2001, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Wheelock to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Wheelock has been incarcerated for nearly 21 years and is now 41 years old. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "I am no longer the lost twenty year old kid who committed a horrible crime. At the time I was uneducated, immature, filled with self-hate and loathing. I could never take responsibility for any of my actions." He explained that he is seeking a commutation because, "I have spent my prison sentence changing who I was and working to become a better person. . . . I will continue to spend the rest of my life atoning for what I did."

Indeed, over the past two decades, Mr. Wheelock has never been violent, and has been disciplined for misconduct only twice. He has avoided gangs and drugs, and instead focused on furthering his education. Mr. Wheelock has earned three A.A. degrees and is one of very few prisoners enrolled in a bachelor's degree program at California State University, Los Angeles. He made and donated hats, scarves, and booties for the Women's Clinic of Antelope Valley, Keep Them Warm, and Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk-A-Thon, and pet clothing and toys for Karma Rescue. Mr. Wheelock also actively participates in self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Paws for Life, and Turning Point.

Over the years, Mr. Wheelock's efforts to better himself have been lauded by numerous staff. In 2004, a supervisor wrote that he "excels in problem solving." Later, a supervisor reported that Mr. Wheelock donated his time to solicit, collect, organize, and file books for the library, and encouraged other inmates to use the library. He was also commended for his volunteer work refurbishing a housing unit, stating, "Wheelock displayed an outstanding work ethic, a very positive attitude, and a willingness to work alongside other inmates and staff in a helpful and cooperative manner." In 2017, a supervising cook wrote, "What I observed of Wheelock was exemplary behavior . . . he has proven himself to be conscientious and diligent in his assigned tasks. . . . I would not mind if Wheelock moved in next door to me." In 2018, a correctional lieutenant stated, "with Wheelock's work ethic and dedication I feel that he will be an asset once being granted parole."

Given Mr. Wheelock's commitment to his rehabilitation despite having no incentive of possible release, I believe that he has earned the opportunity to make his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Thomas Wheelock to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

2. It was the first and last time that I have ever hurt anyone in anger. I can remember being so scared, that I decided to just run away and grab whatever was in the truck at the time. My anger and my insecurities brought me to that horrible time in my life. I was arrested five days later and I fully cooperated with the police officers. For the first time in my life, I finally wanted to take responsibility for my actions. I was given the sentence of Life without the possibility of parole.
3. I have spent my prison sentence changing who I was and working to become a better person. I have zero issues with violence since I have come to prison. I am no longer the lost and immature kid that I once was. At the beginning of my sentenced I became involved with self-help groups, meditation, and I started working on my education. All of my life I have been intimidated by education. I have always felt that I was not good enough or not smart enough. I had to change this corrosive mind-set. I enrolled in Coastline Community College and I am proud to say that I will be graduating with not just one degree, But four degrees. I will have a Degree in Science and Math, American Studies, Arts and Humanities, and Social and Behavioral Sciences. I will graduate with those Degrees in Spring 2018. I am also proud to say that I am also enrolled in the Bachelor Program at CSULA. I have matured and I have learned how to love myself. My family is amazed at the changes that I have made. It is so important to me to continue improving so that I can make a difference in not only my life, but others as well.

If my sentenced is commuted I will continue my education at CSULA, where I plan on getting my Master's Degree, they will also help me with housing and a job. I want to be a positive member of the community. I really want to help others and help anyone in need. I never want anyone to make the same horrible mistakes that I made. No matter what is decided, I will continue to improve myself and others. Thank you for your time in this matter.

Walter "Earlonne" Woods

In 1997, Walter Woods and several other men tried to rob Noel Castley-Wright outside his home. Mr. Woods pointed a gun at Mr. Castley-Wright, and one of his crime partners sprayed him with pepper spray. On March 30, 1999, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Woods to 31 years to life for attempted robbery, and prior felony and firearm enhancements.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Woods described his dedication to rehabilitation and wrote, "I have made profound changes in the way I think and behave. Now, instead of being a threat to public safety, I have become an asset." He continued, "[M]y life going forward will be dedicated to working with young people to ensure that they do not pursue a criminal lifestyle as I did."

Mr. Woods is now 47 years old and has been incarcerated for 20 years. In that time, he has demonstrated his commitment to turning his life around and leaving violence behind. He has only been disciplined three times during more than two decades of incarceration. Mr. Woods earned his GED and completed several vocational training programs. He has participated in self-help groups including Narcotics Anonymous, Restorative Justice, and Creative Conflict Resolution. Mr. Woods has worked in the San Quentin media program for several years, and co-produces Ear Hustle, a widely-distributed podcast about life inside San Quentin.

Mr. Woods has earned accolades from members of the correctional staff and many volunteers for his positive attitude and behavior. He has been commended for being a strong leader who has made significant contributions to self-help groups. In 2017, a staff psychologist supported a commutation for Mr. Woods, writing, "Mr. Woods is a poster child for the efficacy of prison reform." His podcast co-producer Nigel Poor is a professor at CSU-Sacramento. She supported Mr. Woods' commutation and wrote, "I have absolutely no doubt that, were Mr. Woods [released], he not only would not reoffend, but would lead a very productive life and he would use his skills to the betterment of the community." Another podcast producer supported Mr. Woods' commutation and wrote, "From both a personal and professional perspective, I believe Earlonne will continue to educate, enlighten and enrich the lives of his peers at San Quentin, and the many, many people who listen faithfully to Ear Hustle." A correctional officer wrote, "I believe Inmate Woods possesses the necessary quality to be a responsible citizen in society." And a correctional lieutenant praised Mr. Woods' transformation and wrote, "The man who committed these unfortunate crimes against his community is not the same man that is coming before you today for consideration. Mr. Woods has matured in prison and gained valuable relevant skills and confidence that will serve him well in life beyond the walls of a prison."

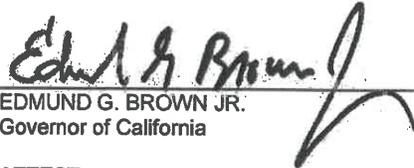

Additionally, Mr. Woods' application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Woods. His commutation is also supported by members of his family, who have offered him housing, financial support, and help readjusting to life in the community.

Mr. Woods has clearly shown that he is no longer the man he was when he committed this crime. Instead of remaining mired in criminal activity, he worked hard to improve himself and contribute to the community around him. He has set a positive example for his peers and, through his podcast, has shared meaningful stories from those inside prison. For all of these reasons, I believe that Mr. Woods is ready to be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Walter "Earlonne" Woods to release him on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

rehabilitative efforts, I obtained a job with San Quentin Television, from which I learned audio/video production skills. I subsequently co-created and co-host Ear Hustle (earhustlesq.com), a podcast that's produced at San Quentin State Prison. Ear Hustle has given me firsthand insight into what it means to work hard at a professional level and the commitment needed to make a project a success. To date our first 10 episode season has been downloaded over 6.6 million times, which put us in the top 1% of the Podcast industry. Some of my best moments with Ear Hustle are when high school teachers and college professors visit/write and tell us that they are using our episodes in the classroom or when parents contact us to say that they listen to the show with their children and discuss them. It's through these interactions that I see the positive ripple effects my work is having upon others and that gives me hope and purpose.

In wanting to help lower the recidivism rates of incarcerated men, I wanted to make sure that the men knew that there are organizations that willing to help them with their transition back into society. When I paroled in 1995 I paroled homeless and didn't know these type of organizations existed. I saw a glaring need for reentry programs for men who were paroling from San Quentin to my community in Los Angeles. This need prompted me to create Project L.A. which connects prisoners with an organization called Jericho Vocational Service Center (JVSC) in Los Angeles, California. JVSC provides a 90 day after care with parolees to match their skill set. JVSC has provided housing and transportation for parolees upon their release. Many of Project L.A. members that paroled went on to receive the benefits of JVSC.

Additionally, I have participated in many self-help groups and the Transformative Justice Symposium. The symposium, held in partnership with Human Rights Watch, Healing Dialogue & Action and Restore Justice, aimed at healing survivors of crime. Both prosecutors and politicians attended the event.

Also, I have completed TRUST (Teaching Responsibility Utilizing Sociological Training) Facilitator Workshop, Restorative Justice, Creative Conflict Resolutions Program, Hope for Strikers, No More Tears - A Response To Violence, Narcotics Anonymous, and Project LA self help groups.

Plus, as an audio/television producer I was essential in filming and editing TEDx San Quentin which had 22 Talks and has been seen by millions of people around the world. I am also a member of the San Quentin Northern California Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalist.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation: (cont.)

of my co-defendant Furman Little.

When I first went to prison at 17, I returned to society 23 years old but with the same mentality and no GED or marketable skills. Acknowledging that, I made a conscience decision to do better and apply myself this time around. Thus I have participated in many positive programs. I started by examining my own mental and emotional processes and I've come to recognize the causative factors leading to my anti-social behavior and criminal actions. I started taking advantage of the opportunities that CDCR has provided for me with self help programming as well as marketable trades. Starting with receiving my GED and participating in the Creative Conflict Resolutions Program in Centinela State Prison in 2002.

I then studied Auto Paint 1 in Centinela State Prison. There I learned Shop and Site Safety, Business Management, Paint Mixing Ratios, Graphics, Custom Finishing, and Refurbishing. I wanted to excel so I graduated to Auto Paint 2. Then I advanced to Auto Body & Fender, where I learned how to restore Automobiles and Mobile Homes from the frame up. I spent six years with this trade.

Understanding that coming back to prison is not an option for me. I continued to study in marketable trades that interest me such as Graphic Arts for Publishing. There I acquired knowledgeable skills using computer software, Design Principles, Digital Design & Layout, publishing forms and documents for the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation and other organizations. My drive to master the trade encouraged me to reach the next level. I joined Graphic Arts Offset Print Technology where I learned how to skillfully operate four color printing machinery, Platemaking, Film Assembly, Print Shop Management, Job Preparation, and Small Business Management.

At San Quentin I participated in a victim impact program called No More Tears. It was there I became aware of the harm I've caused to my community. I listened to mothers speaking of losing their children violently to gangs which made me realize the ripple effect of my actions and how far reaching my criminal behavior extended. I have also been invited to participate in several restorative justice symposiums where I sat in intimate circles with survivors of crime, sharing stories of crime impact. I was compelled to apologize to the survivors sitting in my circle because I was embarrassed by my previous criminal acts. I realized the gravity of trauma a robbery can cause. I learned that in robbing someone, I stole not only their possessions, I stole their security. I reflected on my victims and I am truly remorseful for the harm that I inflicted on Mr. and Mrs. Castley-Wright, their family, and the community as a whole.

I now understand my obligation to contribute to society and I have already started doing so with the creation of Project LA and Ear Hustle. It is safe to grant me a commutation because I am no longer a threat to public safety. I have grown up mentally and I now possess the skill set to succeed in a few different vocational trades that I've listed above. I also have organizations like Jericho Vocational Services Center to assist me in my immediate needs as well as my family and friends who are my positive support system that's going to assist me in housing, clothing, transportation, and any resources that I need. I also have future employment opportunities with Radiotopia from PRX based on the podcasting skills I've learned here at San Quentin State Prison.

I am deeply sorry for the harm I caused to Mr. Castley-Wright and his wife. I stole their right to feel safe in the community and I apologize for that. If I am granted a Commutation or elimination of sentence my life going forward will be dedicated to working with young people to ensure that they do not pursue a criminal lifestyle as I did.

Jose Francisco Zapata

In December 2009, Jose Zapata arranged to sell a gun to Jonathan Gonzales and Julio Serrano. During the sale, Mr. Zapata shot and killed Mr. Gonzales and injured Mr. Serrano. On December 3, 2013, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Zapata to 25 years to life for murder and 15 years to life for attempted murder, plus 50 years to life for firearm enhancements – a total term of 90 years to life.

Mr. Zapata was 17 years old when he committed this crime and he has now been incarcerated for close to 9 years. In his application, he recognized, "I made a serious mistake that landed me in prison for 90 years to life, this terrible wrong has affected the victim's family, my family, society, and my future. There [are] truly no words I can say to express my sincere, godly remorse."

Despite being given such a lengthy sentence, Mr. Zapata has never been disciplined in prison and dissociated from gangs early in his incarceration. In addition to his spotless behavioral record, he earned his GED and a certificate in Paralegal Studies. He has resided on the Progressive Programming Facility since 2017 and has taken self-help courses, including Getting Out by Going In, Reform Anonymous, Helping Youth, and Victim Sensitivity Awareness. Of his rehabilitation, Mr. Zapata wrote, "During my incarceration I have learned about self-help, theology, the law, and business, completing various...for the first time I was able to see and admit my wrongs and failures something I could not do in the past. I knew then I had a purpose in life to serve, beyond my current circumstances." Mr. Zapata plans to pursue his education and focus on mentoring youth in the community. He has been accepted to transitional housing and has strong family support.

Mr. Zapata's rehabilitation has been noticed by prison staff. A former instructor wrote, "[Mr. Zapata] is purposeful, trustworthy, and compassionate. [He] is well-rounded physically, academically, and spiritually. He has learned self-discipline, how to take correction, and how to be supportive from a variety of activities in school and out, at work, on campus, in after school activities, and in church work. It is difficult to find anything negative to share, for he handles stress well and pours his heart into everything he does." A sponsor from his victim sensitivity class wrote, "Mr. Zapata has made every effort possible to correct his action and prove himself worthy of a second chance."

There is no doubt that Mr. Zapata committed a senseless crime at a very young age. Since that time, he has made a credible commitment to changing his life and has taken full responsibility for his crime. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jose Zapata to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st Day of November, 2018.

Application for Commutation of Sentence

2. On Dec. 8, 2009 Zapata shot Jonathan Gonzalez and Julio Serrano in the City of Santa Fe Springs during a street deal gone bad. Gonzalez died from the gunshot wounds, while Serrano survived sustaining two bullet wounds to his body. Zapata was 17 years old at the time of these offenses.

On Dec. 11, 2009 a felony complaint was filed against Zapata alleging one count of murder and one count of attempted murder. In addition to the substantive charges the people also alleged several allegations including a gang and discharge of a fire arm allegation.

On June 16, 2010 an amended complaint was filed alleging as to count one Zapata committed the murder of Gonzalez while engaged in the commission of a robbery and carjacking. It was further alleged that Zapata was an active participant in a criminal street gang and the murder was carried out to further the activities of the gang.

Zapata was held to answer on these charges and allegations, on Oct. 7, 2010. On Oct. 4, 2013 Zapata was convicted on all counts and allegations by a jury and was sentenced to 90 to life in prison, while co-defendant Rodriguez was acquitted.

3. Zapata was a minor at the time he committed these offenses and was automatically tried as an adult, without the benefit of a juvenile court fitness hearing to determine if he was suitable to be treated under the juvenile court system.

In Nov. 2016, ballot measure Prop. 57 was successfully passed in California by the majority of voters, and a portion dealt with juvenile justice reform, reverting the law back to before Prop. 21 of (2000). Where the juvenile court judge assessed the youths record, background, charges and mitigating circumstances before deciding where the case was to be tried, thus giving youth offenders a greater opportunity for reform, rehabilitation and release.

Zapata could have proven amendability under the juvenile court system if he had been given the proper opportunity, due to his age, background, record, and other mitigating facts and evidence.

Application for Commutation of Sentence

3. Today, the law makes it harder for Zapata to attempt to seek relief under Prop. 57 given his age and conviction, in addition the silence of the retroactive aspects of the law.

Zapata could have been dealt with under the juvenile court system and sentenced to juvenile life, being released at the age of (25) upon his showing of reform and rehabilitation, during his incarceration.

Zapata now pleads with the honorable Governor of the State of California, Edmund G. Brown Jr., holding the highest seat of office in the State to request mercy, grace and a second chance, in a way of a clemency and commutation of my sentence.

The reason for my request deals with the juvenile fitness hearing that could have helped me in my court proceedings or the determination of my sentence. I am grateful that you and your administration backed the passing of Prop. 57 and are for prison reform.

As I mentioned earlier some aspects of the ballot are not applicable to me, this is why I now petition you Governor Brown.

ATTACHMENT "D";

Application for Commutation of Sentence

4. Zapata respectfully seeks this commutation of his sentence by the Governor and submits this petition, because he has taken great stride in the rehabilitation measure to show his full reform efforts, mentally, physically and spiritually, giving a just cause for consideration of time served under juvenile life.

It is within the Governor's discretion to order a clemency or commutation of sentence, when it is apparent that prior behavior is no longer a present state, and the degree of reform appeases the Governor, showing that Zapata's conduct no longer poses an eminent danger to society or its citizens overall.

Zapata has put forth his ability to show his rehabilitation through educational and self-help certificates and letters of acknowledgment of support, please see exhibit ATTACHMENT (A) - (D) Exhibits.

During my incarceration I have learned about self help, theology, the law and text book business completing various courses, but my main focus has been on the Lord. As I learned, for the first time I was able to see and admit my wrong's and failures something I could not do in the past. I knew then I had a purpose in life to serve, beyond my current circumstances.

I am a firm believer in the Bible and it has been the light unto my path, my moral compass while in here and the source of my life.

I have applied myself to become a studious person, with an open heart and mind having love for all people, cause I wasn't always like this so I learned to be by the Grace of the Almighty.

I made a serious mistake that landed me in prison for (90) years to life, this terrible wrong has affected the victims family, my family, society and my future. There's truly no words I can say to express my sincere godly remorse and repentance.

I can do nothing to compensate for what I've done, no good I will ever do can replace a valuable life that was taken.

I stand forgiven before a merciful GOD, but guilty before my community and the state of California for the wrong actions I committed.

CONTINUING SHEET, QUESTION 4

I believe in second chances with an honest heart. I humbly request for this opportunity to be considered for a commutation of my sentence. Whether I'm the first or last individual you may do this for under these circumstances, I plead for mercy by the blood of Jesus the LORD my Redeemer.

During my incarceration I have stood away from trouble no 115's or anything of that sort. I have practiced Psalms 119:9 that say; How can a young man cleanse his way, by taking heed according to your word. I give Jesus all the glory for my transformation and change of heart, cause without Him I would not be courageous enough to be petitioning you for this clemency.

I am sure there is no more delightful truth to a man of GOD, than that of Christ's absolute Sovereignty. I am glad theres no such thing as a random occurrence, that nothing is left to itself but Christ everywhere has say. If I thought that there was a devil in hell Christ did not govern, I should be afraid that devil would destroy me.

If I thought there was a circumstance on earth, which Christ did not rule-over, I should fear that circumstance would ruin me. If there were an angel in heaven that was not one of Yahweh's subjects, I should tremble even at him.

But since Christ is King of Kings and I am his poor servant, one whom he loves, I can give Him all my cares, for He cares for me and I can lean on Him for my soul has full repose, confidence and security. That whatever decision is rendered by His will for this season in my life, His will be done not mine.

While the Justice System has cast me off, the Lord has chosen to invest in me, society has looked at me to be worst than dirt on the ground.

Yet even the dirt has a purpose, consider the grain of dirt at the bottom of the ocean, a worthless piece of dirt to many but not to the oyster. When it finds its way into an oyster shell it goes through an incubation process a transformation where it gets made into a magnificent pearl, from worthless dirt to a valuable gem.

Just like that grain of dirt tucked away in that oyster shell, the darkest and hardest moments in life can be the greatest moments in life because one can discover who they truly are, what they were created to be, what their value is and their place in this life.

I will close this petition with who I am today, the rehabilitated Jose Zapata in the form of my personal statement.

I have eight years experience dealing with ministry and four years in the paralegal field. I have completed various courses on the Bible, a few self help and one paralegal studies. I serve as a mentor and as a faith leader.

As you may have seen I haven't always been on the straight path, I've been incarcerated as a teenager and am serving time for this current offense, a childhood mistake something I am very sorry for and deeply regret.

Growing up I had ambitions of being an entrepreneur like my father, to help the less fortunate. However some difficult

ATTACHMENT "D"

CONTINUING SHEET, QUESTION 4

Circumstances arose when my father took his own life and shot my mother when I was seven.

I grew up without a father figure, no male role model this led me to make bad decisions affecting the course of my teenage life.

Although I wish I could undo my past I am sincerely grateful for gaining the lessons I've learned, my entire life has been transformed. Now I attend church services, I am a student of Defy Ventures a selective fellowship program that is training me for a management and leadership position, I also coach others to reach their best potential making a positive difference with those I come in contact with.

Today, I am confident of who I am and the decisions I make, I can be trusted because over the years I've trained myself to be responsible, serve others and excel in performance.

I know most persons you grant clemency or commute their sentence may not have had as serious or violent crimes or those persons have been incarcerated 20 to 30 years.

I have learned valuable experiences having matured, respecting life and persons.

I am truly grateful for this wonderful opportunity to plead for your gracious mercy in your consideration of my commutation of my sentence. Thank you for your time and service to the state of California.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Patrick Acuna

On December 21, 1992, 19-year-old Patrick Acuna and Simon Caceres, both of whom were armed, entered a mini mart in Los Angeles to commit a robbery. While Mr. Acuna served as a lookout, Mr. Caceres shot the clerk, Seung Kim, in the chest, killing him. Mr. Caceres then reached into the cash register and took money, before both men fled. On August 19, 1996, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Acuna to life without the possibility of parole for murder and one year for the robbery, with an additional year for the enhancement, to run concurrently with the life sentence.

Mr. Acuna is now 45 years old and has been incarcerated for 25 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Acuna expressed sincere remorse for his role in the crime and wrote, "I deeply regret the senseless murder of Mr. Kim." He continued, "Although my recovery is never-ending, I have reformed." Mr. Acuna wrote that he would like the chance to prove that he is worthy of release and can be a productive member of society. During more than two and a half decades in prison with no possibility of parole, Mr. Acuna has worked to transform his life. He earned his GED and an A.A. degree in Social and Behavioral Science. Mr. Acuna has participated in and facilitated multiple self-help programs, including Anger Management, Substance Abuse and Relapse Prevention, Criminal Lifestyle and Addiction, and Building Blocks for Turnaround. He also completed vocational training in carpentry, laundry, and construction.

Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Acuna has earned the respect of the staff members and prison volunteers who interact with him on a regular basis. In 2016, a carpentry instructor commended Mr. Acuna on his work as a teacher's aide and noted that he "demonstrates a high level of retained knowledge in the course work and has been instrumental in many students' progression in their education and certifications." In 2012, a California Prison Industry Authority supervisor wrote regarding Mr. Acuna's work: "[He] has proven himself, diligent, self-motivated, and quick to learn. His working attitude toward others remains positive and helpful." In 2011, a housing officer who supervised Mr. Acuna for several years wrote that he "has always conducted himself as a model inmate and complied with all orders by both custody and free staff in an expeditious, courteous, and respectful manner." Also in 2011, a maintenance supervisor wrote that Mr. Acuna "has consistently shown up on his off days to learn and work. He has shown [himself] to be self-motivated and have the desire to learn. He completes the tasks assigned to him. He uses good social skills in his interactions with those he works with and [maintains his] good character while working and learning. He has shown [his ability] to work well with staff and other inmates." In 2010, a work supervisor commended Mr. Acuna on being a diligent and punctual worker and wrote that Mr. Acuna "continually pushes himself to learn more. He has mastered every department and has always given 110%."

Mr. Acuna participated in a senseless crime at a young age. But for many years since then, he has demonstrated his commitment to rehabilitation and desire to become a productive citizen. Therefore, I believe Mr. Acuna has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Patrick Acuna to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

211 PC (Second Degree Robbery)
Special Allegation per §12022.5(A)/12022(A)(1) PC
190.2(A)(17) PC

On: 12/21/92, Mr. Seung Kim (Age: 40) was murdered during the robbery of his store, The Milk Mart; located at [REDACTED] Street, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Kim was shot and killed during the commission of a robbery while he heroically defended his store. I stood outside while my co-defendant entered the Milk Mart; my role was to serve as a lookout. After Mr. Kim had been wounded my co-defendant and I fled on foot to an awaiting vehical.

Although I did not call for help nor did I come forward to report this crime, I was cooperative with the authorities upon arrest. I had no idea that anyone was going to die and, if I had, I would have never participated. I deeply regret the senseless murder of Mr. Kim.

ATTACHMENT LETTER-B

During my incarceration I have accomplished much despite never expecting to be released.

Restitution Utilizing my prison wages, I have made donations to various charitable organizations: The Koreatown Youth & Community Center (located in Los Angeles); St. Jude Children's Research Hospital; and, Grassroots International. Also, I've donated time/beadwork to Beads For Babies (Craftwork that is distributed to hospitalized children) and Soaring Eagles (A community outreach center that teaches Native American dance to inner-city youth).

Self-Help I have participated in a number of self-help programs and Inmate activity groups geared toward rehabilitation: Anger Management; Victim Awareness; Conflict Resolution; Changing Within as Executive Vice-president and Secretary of the organization (AIDS youth in a prison setting). Currently, I participate in Criminals & Gangmembers Anonymous as a member of the Ethics Committee; I am a member and Executive Secretary of The Men's Advisory Council (An elected body that serves as liaison between the Inmate population and the prison Administration); and, I am a long-standing member of the Native American Spiritual Circle, of which I serve as an Executive Body member and as Lodge Leader (Inmate Minister).

Education While incarcerated I've earned a High School Equivalency and an Associates Degree [w/ Honors] in Social and Behavioral Sciences. I've since used my education by acting as a volunteer tutor to GED students.

Employment I have held continuous employment since 04/04/98. For the last four years I have worked for the Prison Industry Authority (PIA), Laundry factory #61. While with the Laundry I have become a certified Customer Service Specialist and mastered many positions; most notably, Lead Clerk, Chemical Technician, Maintenance Leadperson, and Lead Safety Committee Representative [Safety Reviewer].

Attachment Letter C.

WHY I DESERVE CLEMENCY:

A Commutation to Life with the possibility of parole.

As a Life Without Parole (LWOP) inmate I have no incentive to make positive change or any sort of amends. The Board of Prison Terms (BPT) and all they require: i.e., GED, Self-help, Remorse, Clean-time, etc., is of no consequence to me. Neither do I face BPT nor am I required to give account for my Life-crime. Yet, despite lacking the hope of freedom, I have made the decision to better myself by earnestly seeking rehabilitation.

A man, Mr. Seung Kim--Husband, Father & Provider--was selfishly murdered in an act of petty greed. He bleed to death on the cold floor of his market four days before Christmas. There is nothing I can do, no amount of certificates, awards or laudatory letters can ever allow me to be so arrogant as to foster the notion that I "deserve" anything beyond my current station. Out of respect for Mr. Kim, The Kim family and the community I victimized I can never be so bold as to make the presumption of deservedness.

I have come to peace with the young delinquent I once was-- a confused and insecure teenager who stood in front of the First Street Milk Mart on a chilly December night. As I stood look out, not some five feet away, on the other side of a thin wall that was heavily plastered with Budweiser and Coors advertisements Mr. Kim was shot and killed. Even though I did not pull the trigger I recognize and fully accept my role without minimizing personal culpability.

I have trudged the long road of recovery without guide or incentive to become a good man. I have pulled together the fragments of a fractured adolescence and forged them into a work of substance, of value and of integrity. I entered the belly of the beast as a child and have emerged a decent human being whose life is rooted by understanding and spiritual principles.

I have become a light of hope to my peers; a living example that they, too, can make wholesome choices and redeem themselves. I have risen above my past, transcended my environment and defied the status quo. I am a new man; one of good character and moral conduct.

I deeply regret the senseless murder of Mr. Kim. I would have never been a participant that night had I known that anyone was to die as a result of my actions. I am ashamed as I think of his wife and children; staggered by the thought of the multitude of victims that I've created through a failure to respect personal property--I beg pardon of them all.

As I devote myself to a life of amends, it is my sincere hope that Mr. Kim can see me now--know the Patrick Angel Acuna of today--and forgive me . . . I believe he can; I believe him kind; and, I believe he has.

Although my recovery is never-ending, I have reformed. That is why I deserve clemency.

I am rehabilitation.

Eric Alvarado

In March 2002, 17-year-old Eric Alvarado participated in a shootout with a rival gang. An 8-year-old bystander was shot and injured during the confrontation. On August 27, 2003, the Monterey County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Alvarado to 15 years to life for attempted murder plus a 25-to-life firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life in prison.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Alvarado described the significant changes he has made in his life since participating in this crime. He wrote, "Since my incarceration, I have used the time to address the immature and destructive 17-year-old gang member mentality I once had." Mr. Alvarado continued, "I believe that I have grown into a mature adult that understands the impact of his destructive choice and that has made the choice to add value to others by being a servant towards them."

Mr. Alvarado is now 34 years old and has been incarcerated for 15 years. During that time, he has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence, and has only been disciplined twice for misconduct. Instead, Mr. Alvarado has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He earned his GED and is currently enrolled in college classes. He has participated in and facilitated numerous self-help programs including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, Anger Management, and Getting Out by Going In. Mr. Alvarado has received excellent work ratings from his supervisors, including for his current assignment as a caregiver for ill and disabled inmates. In 2018, a nursing assistant praised Mr. Alvarado's work ethic and wrote, "While assisting disabled inmates he is understanding, patient, and kind. It is my observation that Alvarado has dedicated himself to turning his life around and giving back to others."

Mr. Alvarado is also a member of a juvenile deterrent program that provides prison tours and counseling for at-risk youth. The coordinator for the program wrote in 2018, "Mr. Alvarado personally gave testimony to the irresponsible choices, distorted beliefs, and harmful behaviors that led to his incarceration, as well as the impact his actions had on his victims, and society. More importantly he shared with these youths his current reflections on these actions, and his remorse. Mr. Alvarado should be commended for his work with these youths and for his commitment to community service." Additionally, Mr. Alvarado has prepared a solid plan for his release – he will live in transitional housing; find a job that uses his current skills as a medical caretaker, and continue to pursue his education.

Although he faced a lengthy sentence at a young age, Mr. Alvarado has shown a serious commitment to self-improvement and serving others during his time in prison. He has demonstrated that he is no longer the same teenager who committed this senseless crime. For all of these reasons, I believe that Mr. Alvarado has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Eric Alvarado to a total of 15 years to life.

EDMUND G. BROWN JR.

38 revolver, pointed it at Daniel M., and pulled the trigger, but the gun failed to discharge. At that moment, Daniel M., Jose S., and Andrew M. fled the area. Luis V. and I left to his apartment.

Time had passed while me and Luis V. were on the porch of his second floor apartment; a white car with 5 individuals in it arrived and called us. Daniel S. got off the vehicle and told us what had occurred to them driving home. He stated that they encountered a group of nortenos near a bike path, when the group started flashing gang signs and Jose S. flashed a shotgun. The driver, Edurado S., quickly turned the vehicle around and headed toward Luis V's apartment.

After Daniel S. told us what just occurred to them, we told Benito and Angel (Daniel S. and Luis V's brother) to get off the vehicle; whereupon Luis V. and I armed with a 22. rifle and the 38. revolver, got in the vehicle.

We headed directly toward the bike path. As we got near, Edurado S. did a U-turn and parked with the engine running. Everyone, Guillermo V., Daniel S., Luis V., and I, got off the vehicle and walked toward the bike path. When we got on the bike path, we encountered 3 young boys walking in our direction. Daniel S. told them to leave the area. A few seconds later, not spotting the group of nortenos he encountered earlier that day 50 to 60 feet away from us, Daniel S. rose his hands and stated "We are here." At that moment, Luis V. and I, pulled our guns out, a 22. rifle and 38 revolver, and started shooting in the direction of the nortenos. Jose S. returned fire with his shotgun After Luis V. and I disassembled all our bullets, we (Guillermo Daniel S., Luis V. and I) ran back towards the getaway car with Eduardo S. waiting with the engine running. We got in and headed towards Luis V.'s friend George C. In the process of heading there, we became aware that Guillermo V. received a wound to his knee in the crossfire. When we arrived to George C.'s house, we disposed of the guns and treated Guillermo V.'s wound

The result of the barrage was that Fernando C. an 8-year old boy was struck on his lower back as he and his friends ran away in fear at the sound of gunshots

Consequently, I was sentenced to a 40 to life sentence, consistent of one count of street terrorism and seven counts of deliberate, premeditated attempted murder with the related P.C. 12022.53(a) weapon use enhancements found true of state property." I had in my cell a shampoo bottle of tan paint for the purpose of painting my assigned cell. However, I did not allow this to stop my progress. I continued to take advantage of the available opportunities toward my rehabilitation, and gained valuable insight into becoming a mature person with a responsible outlook of life.

As an immature youth, I violently terrorized and disrupted the lives of seven people and each of their families, causing them an awful, traumatizing and unwarranted experience. I also caused unbearable life-threatening pain to an innocent and vulnerable young bystander; 8 year-old Fernando C., bringing forth anguish and emotional distress, not only to him and his family, but to each of my intended victims and their families.

My actions caused those I victimized countless hours of sleep, financial hardship due to absence from work and medical bills. I caused them to experience insecurity and fear within their hearts and minds.

My senseless crimes terrorized the community by jeopardizing their lives and taking away their sense of security to live without fear in their homes and neighborhoods from the threat of gang violence.

I have continued on my path of rehabilitation by acquiring my G.E.D. Certificate in Christian Leadership (a four year college level studies class) from The U. of T. Institute (T.U.M.I.) and I am currently three credits away from earning an Associate of Arts degree

Furthermore, I responsibly serve my incarcerated community in my job assignment as an American Disability Assistant (A.D.A.) in the Infirmity. A job that affords me the privilege of assisting, comforting and caring for who are disabled, sick and terminally ill. In my five years working there, I have learned a valuable life lesson: life is about adding value to others through servanthood

Another way I serve is through "We Care", an at-risk youth deterrent program whose mission is to reach and prevent the next generation from making irresponsible choices that have severe consequences. We provide the youth with a unique tour; explaining to them what life in prison consists of and we share the choices we made that brought us here in hopes of deterring them from the paths we were on.

Lastly I am a facilitator of Criminal and Gangs Anonymous

(C.G.A.), a group that challenges the criminal lifestyle with its distorts beliefs by offering a responsible view to life.

I believe that I have grown into a responsible mature adult that understands the impact of his destructive choice and that has made the choice to add value to others by being a servant toward them. I am not that 17 year old delinquent that was a risk and threat to his community, but a man that seeks to contribute to his community well being, understanding that life is all about relationships and adding value toward one another through it. Therefore for the above reasons I humbly believe I should be granted commutation. Thank you and God bless you.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Deryl Armstrong

In 1979, Mr. Armstrong shot and killed Samuel Beskin while attempting to rob his pharmacy. On October 5, 1979, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Armstrong to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Armstrong is now 63 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 40 years. In his application for clemency Mr. Armstrong wrote, "I fully accept responsibility for my actions and I acknowledge the catastrophic suffering I have caused [the victim's] family and community." Mr. Armstrong continued, "My path to rehabilitation has not been an easy one. Now at the age of 62 years old, I recognize and accept I have made poor choices. . . . I admit and understand my wrongdoing and I want to atone for the damage I have done."

Mr. Armstrong said that he made a decision to "put forth some qualitative effort to improve [his] life." To this end, he has abstained from violence, gangs, and drugs. He currently resides on the Progressive Programming Facility and wrote, "I have found incredible strength in sobriety and the Progressive Programming Facility has the structure and communal mindset to empower me to stay on the right path." A supervisor commended Mr. Armstrong for his consistent cooperation, positive attitude, and respect towards staff, writing "[Mr. Armstrong] has communicated and demonstrated rehabilitative progress by displaying mature character, reflecting self-control and a positive direction in his life." Mr. Armstrong has also participated in self-help programs, including Alternatives to Violence, Narcotics Anonymous, Victim Sensitivity, and Criminal Thinking Patterns. He earned his GED and completed vocational training in office services and building maintenance.

Additionally, Mr. Armstrong's application has been reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong committed a very serious crime, but it is clear that he has taken his rehabilitation seriously and has made strides towards becoming a better person for the community. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Armstrong has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, ~~EDMUND G. BROWN JR.~~, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Deryl Armstrong to a total of 39 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Blanca Avalos

In January 2010, Blanca Avalos and a few others drove to a home to commit a robbery. Rafael Vicente answered the door and was ordered to sit on his couch at gunpoint. When Mr. Vicente's wife, Nerida Sanchez, and their daughter came home, Ms. Sanchez was ordered at gunpoint to sit on the couch while someone covered their daughter's head with a shirt. Ms. Avalos and her co-defendants took a safe containing money and jewelry, then fled. On January 7, 2011, the Stanislaus County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Avalos to seven years and four months for robbery, plus an additional 13 years and four months for firearm enhancements.

Ms. Avalos has now served almost 9 years and has dramatically turned her life around during that time. In her commutation application, Ms. Avalos wrote, "I have spent my time rehabilitating myself by taking self-help groups, updating my work skills, education, language skills, spiritual programs, social skills and participating in community improvement." She told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that she applied for a commutation because she "believes she has grown immensely from her incarceration and self-help programs, and wants a second chance at life. She believes she is a better person and can help motivate others to fulfill a better life."

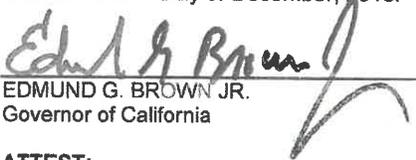

In prison, Ms. Avalos has shown a genuine commitment to her rehabilitation. She has never been disciplined for any misconduct in prison. She received two Certificates of Achievement in Relevant Issues and Ethics for Coaches and Effective and Responsible Role Play. She is also enrolled in classes to obtain her GED. Ms. Avalos participated in self-help programs, including Anger Management, Beyond Violence, and Substance Abuse, and participates in charitable events. Since 2015, Ms. Avalos has been a resident of the Latham Honor Unit. In 2016, a correctional officer commended her for "her commitment to self-rehabilitation, as well as her positive participation in community improvement." Also in 2016, Ms. Avalos was commended by a work supervisor for being a "diligent worker" who "has integrity and displays a great work ethic."

It is clear that Ms. Avalos has distinguished herself by her exemplary conduct in prison and has shown a continuous effort to improve herself through programming. For these reasons, I believe Ms. Avalos is ready to be released on parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Blanca Avalos to release her on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

I am serving 20 years 8 months for First-degree Robbery, First-degree Burglary and Two-gun Enhancements. The crime occurred in January 9th, 2010 however, there was a lot of errors made in court. My public defendant at that time did not give me the opportunity to speak for my self in court, nor my witnesses had the opportunity to testify on my behalf. The surveillance video they had as evidence was never reviewed by a surveillance specialist, date on video it's wrong, it read January 8th, 2010 once again crime occurred January 9th, 2010.

On the police report witnessed had said the suspects were all men. During my arrest a fire arm was never found, however I was charged with gun enhancements.

Even though I was wrongfully convicted I didn't get angry, I chose to see it as an opportunity to grow, become a better person and make better choices in life. I've learned a lot of coping skills by taking self help groups, learning from my sponsors and my peers, I've been disciplinary free all these time and I just want the opportunity to go home with my son and my mother that is sick.

Unfortunately my father passed away in May 22, 2017. I didn't have the chance to see him again, if opportunity to go home I will be the one to take care of my mother and son.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Richard Bach

In 1984, Richard Bach's friend approached him about a plan to kill his mother and stepfather, Sandra Capogreco and Wayne Donahue. On May 15, 1984, Mr. Bach and his friend went into the family home through an unlocked door. While Mr. Bach started stealing property from the house, his friend went upstairs and shot his mother and stepfather, killing them. On April 12, 1985, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Bach to life without the possibility of parole for murder, plus two years for grand theft.

Mr. Bach has now been incarcerated for over 34 years. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "I am no longer the immature, misguided and disrespectful person I was back in 1984. . . . The massive amount of grief that I have caused by my actions cannot be undone for them nor myself." Mr. Bach showed genuine remorse for his actions, and described his dedication to becoming a better person since participating in this crime.

Mr. Bach is now 60 years old and has shown a long-term commitment to rehabilitation. During more than three decades of incarceration, he has only been disciplined five times, and has never been involved in gang activity or violence in prison. He earned his GED and a vocational certification, and has participated in self-help programs including Alternatives to Violence, Anger Management, and Epictetus Club. Mr. Bach has maintained an impressive work record and developed many skills through his work assignments. He routinely receives excellent ratings from his supervisors. One staff member praised Mr. Bach's work ethic and wrote, "Inmate Bach was a highly-dependable, hard-working library clerk. . . . I could depend on him for handling his job and informing me of any job issues that he could not resolve himself. He also served as a great role model for other inmate library clerks." Mr. Bach was also a founding member of Veterans Empowered To Serve, a volunteer group that raised money for community organizations. Mr. Bach has a solid plan in place in the event of his release – he will live in a transitional housing or veterans housing program, and seek a job in one of the vocational trades he has worked in for years.

There is no question that Mr. Bach participated in an extremely serious crime as a young man. But since then, he has demonstrated a lasting commitment to turning away from violence and turning his life around. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that he can make his case to Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Richard Bach to a total of 34 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

② I committed these cowardly acts with the assistance of Sandra's son, [REDACTED]. This does not excuse me from my culpability in these actions. I had no right to commit such an act upon these people nor their families.

③ I am no longer the immature, misguided and disrespectful person I was back in 1984.

In the time that I have spent within the CDCR, one of the things I enjoy, is teaching others the knowledge I have acquired. If they listen, they will find a better way, and more positive thinking. Some of the skills I have taught myself and others, includes knowing when to shut my pie-hole. Take a breath and try to think things through before acting. Also, I have learned, a little bit of mindfulness goes along way, as to one keeping a job and shows others a work-ethic that will be of benefit to them in so many ways. A person may grow up and learn to help others at the same time. When you help others learn something new, you also help yourself spiritually and physically.

Learning to apply myself through active thought and actionable work is a much better way to walk the path of a person who is not only helping to be engaged by others, but enjoys the interaction of stimulating ones own gray-matter as opposed to bumping my gums just to hear my teeth chatter.

The massive amount of grief that I have caused by my actions cannot be undone for them nor myself. I have lived my life attempting to be a better person, than the one whom defiles the beautiful thing that is life. I have never forgotten the rotten soulless deed that I committed, as this still haunts my dreams, and will do so for the rest of my natural life.

I woefully regret my participation in this dishonorable act. Coupled with the loss of raising my own family, this weighs very heavily upon my being, as I am not able to protect my daughters from all the bad things and people in their lives. This is as a result of my deadbeat actions, that both of my daughters grew up without a stable father figure within the household. I cheated myself and my family out of the respect that comes from being a productive member of society...

Geraldo Bascomb

In January 2000, Geraldo Bascomb and his crime partner forcefully entered the apartment of James Moser to commit a robbery. While Mr. Bascomb ransacked Mr. Moser's home for drugs and valuables, his crime partner shot and killed Mr. Moser. On January 19, 2006, the San Bernardino Superior Court sentenced Mr. Bascomb to 25 years to life for murder and two years to life for assault with a firearm – a total of 27 years to life.

Mr. Bascomb was 21 years old when he committed this crime and has now been incarcerated for over 15 years. During an interview with a Board of Parole Hearings investigator, Mr. Bascomb took full responsibility for his crime, expressed sincere remorse, and discussed his road to positive rehabilitation. Mr. Bascomb stated, "My goal is to leave people and places I meet better than I found them." He has adopted the following mantra: "Things will be fine in due time; stand tall through it all."

To his credit, Mr. Bascomb has only incurred two rules violations during his entire prison term. A chaplain wrote the following about Mr. Bascomb's behavior in prison: "Mr. Bascomb has always led by example, and in doing so, he brings a unique practical leadership skills and professional integrity. When coupled with his spiritual maturity and willingness to make sacrifices, [he] sets an outstanding standard of personal conduct that aids in fostering a safe, peaceful, and healthy spiritual environment where individuals may grow and thrive in their spiritual walk." In addition to his work in the chapel, Mr. Bascomb has been the lead commercial painter at his prison since 2017. He has furthered his education by earning his Business Literacy Certificate from Palo Verde College, as well as a vocational training certificate in office services. Mr. Bascomb has also participated in self-help classes, including Narcotics Anonymous, Alcoholics Anonymous, Victim Awareness, Alternatives to Violence, and Getting Out by Going In. Upon his release he plans to work with victims in the community, find employment, and support his wife and family.

Mr. Bascomb committed a very serious crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Bascomb has earned an earlier opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of G3raldo Basc3mb to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Daniel Batchelder

On February 24, 2012, Daniel Batchelder was driving with Francisco Limon. When Mr. Batchelder pulled up next to a car occupied by Ever Ubaldio Cruz and Jaime Mejia, Mr. Limon pulled out a gun and fired into Mr. Cruz' car, striking Mr. Cruz in the neck, killing him. On June 24, 2013, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Batchelder to five years for attempted murder plus an additional 10-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Batchelder was 19 years old when he committed this offense. Upon reception into state prison, he immediately disassociated from gangs. He told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that his allegiances had been misplaced and that ultimately it is his family, and not gang members, that deserves his loyalties. He reflected, "Look at where I am, look at where [the gang] brought me."

Once he got to prison, Mr. Batchelder immediately looked to take advantage of opportunities to better himself. He worked hard in adult basic education until he was able to earn his high school diploma. Then, he enrolled in college courses. Mr. Batchelder has been disciplined just once and has never been involved with alcohol or drugs in prison. He fully participated in rehabilitative programs such as Anger Management, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Victim Awareness, Domestic Violence, Celebrate Recovery, Timeless, and Narcotics Anonymous. One program sponsor for the Victim Awareness Offender Program noted that during discussions, Mr. Batchelder "shared personal experiences and openly accepted feedback from the other group members."

The senseless killing of Mr. Cruz was a grave crime. I am moved by Mr. Batchelder's proven desire to turn his life around and his expressions of remorse. He has demonstrated growth in prison by resisting the substantial pressure to participate in gangs, violence, and drugs. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Batchelder has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Daniel Batchelder so he is eligible for parole consideration by January 1, 2021.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2. I am requesting a commutation for the above offences. I only pled guilty to the Attempted Murder which was the passenger who did not get shot. I was not aware of the crime that was going to take place that day and two men that were there in my car testified and said that I (Daniel Batchelder) was never aware of the crime that was going to take place. I was giving those men a ride when I was at work, I was a delivery man for a Chinese food restaurant and they were all sitting behind me in the back seat and one of the men behind me shot once at another man in the car next to us at a stoplight and killed the driver.

3. I am requesting a commutation because I was never aware of the crime I am now incarcerated for was going to take place when it happened. Since I have been incarcerated I have been doing well to change my life around for the better and rehabilitating myself and taking advantage of all that is positively offered to me. Such as rehabilitative programs, schooling, college, and working.

I have attached many chronos and milestones I have recieved so far while being incarcerated.

4. I feel I should be granted a Commutation because with my time of being incarcerated I have been doing really well and I'm still continuing to rehabilitate myself. I am no longer involved with any gangs but I am now a drop out. I have recently graduated high school and completed 6 classes and currently awaiting my high school diploma. I'm also now a student of Coastline Community College and going for my business degree. I graduated Victims awareness rehabilitative group/class, and I have many Criminal gang members anonymous group Chronos as well as Narcotics Anonymous Chronos. I have a really great hard working job as a Canteen Clerk. Doing this time of incarceration has allowed me to take advantage of all these programs, groups, and schooling that will benefit my life when I am out of prison, also preparing me to succeed, and I know I will because I have taken the first step of doing all these things while being incarcerated. So I know when I am out of prison I have properly prepared myself.

5. I have done this on my own.

Charles Batiste

On November 10, 1989, Charles Batiste and his co-defendant walked by Beatrix Sullivan's house and later returned to commit a burglary. When Mr. Batiste saw Ms. Sullivan, he struck her in the head with a piece of wood, causing her to fall, then struck her two more times in the head, killing her. On October 9, 1990, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Batiste to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Batiste is currently 53 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly three decades. During an interview with a Board investigator, Mr. Batiste explained that "he is remorseful and has grown as an individual, he is more respectful of others." He added that he "could not justify the crimes he committed and is seeking a commutation for a 'second chance at life.'" Mr. Batiste explained that he can "be a good citizen and wants to give back to his community and would like to make amends for what he has done to prove to himself that he can be a productive member of society."

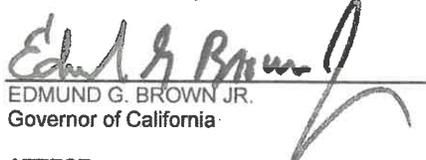

Despite his lengthy incarceration, Mr. Batiste has left his life of violence behind, receiving his last rules violation over 20 years ago. Mr. Batiste received exceptional ratings from work supervisors while working as a teacher's aide, clerk, and porter. He has taken self-help programs including, Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, Peace Makers, Men for Honor, and Bible Study. In 2017, Mr. Batiste was commended by a Men for Honor sponsor for his successful completion of the personal development class where he was "an attentive student who engaged with the rest of the class to make positive comments and insightful observations." In 2015, a correctional counselor commended Mr. Batiste for his participation in the Progressive Programming Facility noting that Mr. Batiste's "behavior is indicative of a positive orientation."

I do not discount the seriousness of this crime, but it is clear that Mr. Batiste has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison and his separation from violent behavior. I believe Mr. Batiste has earned an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so they can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Joseph Bell

In July 1995, Marcus Blueford and Joseph Bell went to Raul Dulanias' apartment to use rock cocaine. Mr. Blueford and Mr. Dulanias began arguing and a fight ensued. Law enforcement found Mr. Dulanias in his apartment, bound with duct tape around his head and neck. He died of asphyxiation. On November 8, 1996, the San Francisco County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Bell to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

The jury foreman from the trial wrote: "We believed from the testimony that the two defendants and the victim were engaged in conversation, visiting with each other on a social basis and that some type of argument or disagreement occurred leading to the death of the victim. This is why we found both defendants not guilty of burglary . . . if such a time comes when the law changes I would like this letter to reach some parole board in order to assist Marcus Blueford and Joe Bell in changing the possible outcome of their future; not having to spend the rest of their life in prison."

Mr. Bell has now been incarcerated for over 24 years. In 2008, Mr. Bell founded a program for at-risk youth called Education, Diversion, and Goals to Endeavor (EDGE). This program was designed to "steer at risk youth away from criminal activity and violence by guiding them into a positive direction and encouraging them to make dramatic life-altering changes in their thinking." A correctional lieutenant praised Mr. Bell for founding this program, writing, "Bell is the founder of EDGE and should be commended for his development of the program and has permission to start EDGE at another prison, if feasible."

In addition to his work with juvenile offenders and at-risk youth, Mr. Bell has earned his A.A. degree from Lassen College. He has worked as a literacy tutor and teacher's aide for two years. A librarian commended Bell for his "awesome" work in the library as a clerk. His "calm demeanor helped resolve any potential issues with inmates."

Mr. Bell has also participated in self-help courses such as Relapse Prevention and Creative Conflict Resolution. Mr. Bell's psychologist wrote the following regarding his rehabilitation, "I have offered to write this letter of recommendation for Mr. Bell because I believe he exemplifies an inmate who has used his time in prison wisely to become a very valuable and worthwhile person. I strongly believe that he would be an asset to any community into which he might parole." If released, Mr. Bell has the support of his wife, mother, and host of family members.

Mr. Bell committed a serious and violent crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his concerted efforts toward rehabilitation in prison, including creating a program to deter at-risk youth from entering prison. As a result, I believe that Mr. Bell has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Joseph Bell to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Sean Benge

In 2004, Sean Benge's uncle was having an affair with a woman who was married to Steven Brown. Mr. Benge's uncle repeatedly asked that Mr. Benge hurt Mr. Brown on his behalf. On January 4, 2005, Mr. Benge went to Mr. Brown's home, fought with him, and shot and killed him. On March 13, 2009, the Stanislaus County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Benge to life without the possibility of parole for murder, plus 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement.

Mr. Benge applied for a commutation based on his good record in prison and his rehabilitation. In his clemency application, he wrote, "I have been locked up for 13 years and have never been in trouble. I have been going to self-help groups and feel like I am ready to do more positive things with my life." Mr. Benge hoped to be given a sentence that would allow him to earn higher wages in prison and pay his restitution. Indeed, Mr. Benge has never been disciplined for any misconduct during more than a decade of incarceration. He has never been involved with gangs, drugs, or violence in prison. He earned his GED and has maintained a positive work record, earning excellent ratings from his supervisors. Mr. Benge's correctional counselor described him as someone who focused on his work and stayed out of trouble, and characterized him as a good candidate for a commutation of sentence.

Many people sentenced to life without the possibility of parole give up hope and lose themselves in drugs, gangs, and violence. Faced with such a sentence, Mr. Benge has instead shown a commitment to rehabilitating himself. I understand that this crime was devastating to Mr. Brown's family, and that they continue to experience a profound sense of loss. However, I cannot overlook Mr. Benge's hard work in turning his life around in prison. I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that, years from now, the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Sean Benge to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jessie Biggs

Jessie Biggs' friend offered him money to kill her husband, Monty Anderson, because she was being abused. In December 1981, Mr. Biggs shot Mr. Anderson in the neck, killing him. On June 3, 1983, the Yuba County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Biggs to life without the possibility of parole for murder, plus a three year firearm enhancement.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Biggs accepted full responsibility for killing his victim and for the lives destroyed in the commission of this crime. Mr. Biggs admitted to having made "bad mistakes" as a youth, but also expressed his desire to become a productive member of society. He said, "I have spent many years in prison rebuilding myself in every way I can."

Mr. Biggs' behavior in prison reflects his remorse and subsequent rehabilitation. Over the span of 36 years, Mr. Biggs has incurred only three rules violations. He has maintained employment and satisfactory work ratings for over 17 years. He has also participated in self-help classes: including Alcoholics Anonymous, Breaking Barriers, and Partnership for Reentry. He facilitates Victim Awareness classes, and writes letters to young people about his life experiences.

Correctional staff has noted Mr. Biggs' rehabilitation—six correctional officers commended Mr. Biggs for his positive attitude, dependability, positive rapport with fellow prisoners, and excellent attendance. His work supervisor wrote, "Biggs has shown positive programming and sets a good example to his fellow co-workers." A correctional chaplain also wrote in support of commutation. Of Mr. Biggs rehabilitation, the chaplain wrote, "For about 30 years now, Biggs has faithfully attended Bible-based meeting . . . his years of continued, sincere progress and a complete personality change are exemplary and I truly believe permanent." Mr. Biggs also has the support of his wife of 25 years.

Additionally, Mr. Biggs' application has been reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Biggs.

Mr. Biggs committed senseless crime, but it is clear that he has spent his years in prison reflecting on his crime and taking positive steps toward rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Biggs has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

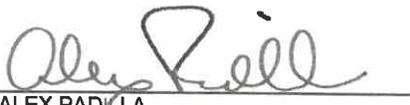

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jessie Biggs to a total of 36 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Dear Governor Brown,

I hope and pray that you read this letter. I made terrible choices when I was young. True, all youngsters make mistakes, but I made some very bad ones. I started smoking cigarettes when I was 9 years old, I started smoking pot when I was 13, and started using a needle when I was 15 years old. I was passed around from one family member and foster homes after another. I felt unloved and unlovable. I was in and out of C.Y.A. and prisons. On December 14th, 1981, I took a man's life. I was arrested February 11th, 1982, at 26 years of age. For the first time in my life, I accept full responsibility for my actions. As a young teenager and a young adult, I hated the world for my bad life, and blamed everybody else for my problems. I am very sorry for the harm I caused others. Through my faith, self-help groups, and alot of soul searching, I have learned to be a better person, to think before I act. I know that if ever given a chance, I would be an honest, productive citizen of society. I have matured and grown into a responsible man. I have been married to my current wife for 25 years, and she loves me and wants me to come home. I will be 62 years old on April 7th, 2017. Sometime in 2014, I filed a petition to your office to have my life without parole sentence changed to life with the possibility of parole. I never heard from your office. I have been clean and sober for 30 years, and I have no desire to use drugs or to drink alcohol again. The groups I have taken, A.A., Breaking Barriers, and Victims Awareness have helped me have the tools I need to be a good person. I avoid people who use drugs and drink alcohol, because I don't want them as my circle of friends. Please give me a chance to appear before the parole board to prove that I am a changed man. I am not bitter and resentful for being a prisoner, I put myself in here. I respect the man I have become. There is a big difference in thinking and being 26 years old, than thinking and being a 62 year old. I am so much different and much more mature. I am very sorry for all the harm I have caused others.

I humbly ask that your consider removing my life without to a possibility. That way, I can at least have a chance to prove to society that I am a changed man and forever will be. Thank you for your time.

Respectfully,

Jesse Ray Biggs

On DECEMBER 14th, 1981, I took the life of MONTY ANDERSON. I showed him no mercy, yet I ask for me mercy myself. I did not wake up that morning knowing I was going to murder MR. ANDERSON, however, my choices that day led up to his murder. I spent the day drinking whiskey because I could not deal with my emotions in a healthy way. Alcohol became my coping skill.

While I was drinking I kept ruminating about what CAROLINE ANDERSON, MR. ANDERSONS wife had told me about Mr. Anderson, that he was abusive to her and the children, had put a gun to her head, and threatened to kill her and the children. These thoughts continued to go through my mind all day with the request from Mrs. Anderson to kill Mr. Anderson. The more angry I got, the more I felt I did not have any other options, I began to corner myself in my own mind. I started to rationalize killing Mr. Anderson until I went to thier house and finally shot him in cold blood. I then tried to cover up this murder so that I could avoid being held responsible. I lied, refused to cooperate with the authorities and denied responsibility.

I killed Mr. Anderson in cold blood with no regard for his life, how it would impact his family, friends neighbors, or community.

I committed this senseless murder for $500.00, but the real reason I committed this murder was because I was an angry, damaged human. The underlying issues that I was not aware of at this time are the real reasons I was able to take Mr. Andersons life. These issues no longer control me or influence my decisions or behaviors.

I am requesting a commutation of my sentence so that I may have the opportunity to appear before the board of parole hearings to possibly show that I may be a reasonable candidate for parole.

I am requesting this because I want the opportunity to prove that I am no longer that person, that I have grown and changed and that I am no longer a threat or risk to society.

(ATTACHMENT#4)

I believe that I should be granted parole because I have completely changed who I AM SINCE I took Mr. Andersons life. I have spent many years in prison rebuilding myself in every way I can.

Among the things that have changed about me is that I have become empathic towards others. My life is spent loving people through the word of God, his word has become my guiding light, my principles and values are built on his word. This has opened my eyes to the pain and suffering I have caused others with my choices and actions and this realization is shameful and heart breaking.

Through self-help and my faith I have learned many things about myself and why I was capable and willing to kill Mr. Anderson for money. This has led me to committ myself to God and living my life in his image. This has allowed or required me to evaluate my beliefs in an honest way and that has led me to an entirely new way of thinking , new beliefs, new habits, new friends, new ways to communicate and new ways to deal with the stressors and challenges of life. This new way of living my life truly began in 1987 when I started making fundamehtal changes that have led me to be who and what I am now, which is a good, kind, compassionate, empathic, loving, patient person that values not only my life, but the lives, rights, and beliefs of others. This has required a lot time, hard work and honesty, but it has been well worth it.

I am seeking only the opportunity to show the board of parole hearings panel that I have changed, that the young man I was in 1981 is no longer the man I am today. I want to show that I have dealt with the underlying issues thatm that caused me to take Mr. Andersons life.

John Butterfield

In May 1981, John Butterfield, Larry Boone, Timothy Walder, and Jamie Lauer kidnapped and robbed Robert Kimberly. Mr. Kimberly was beaten and stabbed but fortunately survived. Mr. Butterfield and his crime partners then went to Raymond Martin's home where Mr. Butterfield and his crime partners stabbed Mr. Martin multiple times, killing him. The group then ransacked the house. On July 30, 1982, the Los Angeles Superior Court sentenced Mr. Butterfield to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Butterfield seeks a commutation based on his rehabilitation. In his application for clemency, Mr. Butterfield reported that he has had a large amount of time to reflect on his life and the impact of his actions. He wrote, "I have worked one on one, in great depth with professional mental health counselors and addiction specialist." He continued, "The severity of my crimes and disregard for others is a thing that haunts me, yet also pushes me to improve myself and grow from the naïve, selfish child I was into an adult that an average person wouldn't have to worry about living next to."

During the more than three decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Mr. Butterfield has indeed been dedicated to transforming his life. He has been drug and alcohol-free for over 29 years. He has been violence-free for over 30 years. Mr. Butterfield earned a GED and is working towards an A.A. degree. He has also taken advantage of multiple self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Al Anon, and Breaking Barriers.

Based on his exemplary conduct in prison and his commitment to his sobriety and self-improvement, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Butterfield's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of John Butterfield to a total of 37 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Application for commutation of sentence.

"Briefly describe the circumstances of the crimes for which you are requesting a commutation"

On the night of May 22, 1981, myself and three co-defendants went on a crime spree resulting in the kidnap, robbery and attempted murder of Mr Robert Kimberly and the subsequent murder and robbery of Mr. Ray Martin.

The robbery/kidnap was a result of going to Mr Kimberly's hotel room to sell him his D. The 5 of us myself, my co-defendants, and Mr. Kimberly then agreed to go to his friends house to "party".

Along the way we stopped to buy beer to take with us.

While we were in the liquore store it was noticed by Mr Boone (co-defendant) that Mr Kimberly had a substantial amount of money on him. This caused Boone to tell me "We're robbing this guy, you drive" We all get back in to the car on the pretext of continuing to our destination

As we drive Boone pulls out a pellet gun and starts in with the usual robbery type dialogue. I'm told to drive to a water tower someplace out in the Mojave desert. When we arrive the car doors come open, Mr Kimberly sprints out in the desert quickly followed by Boone and Walder.

After about 15 minutes they return, congratulating each other and informing me and Mr LAVER that "Hey's Dead", lets get out of here later that same evening we meet Mr Ray Martin at a different liquore store and he invites us over to his and his roommate place to have a few beers and talk about a motorcycle deal his room-mate had made with me that there was "bad" feelings behind, held by both sides.

The final outcome, after much heated discussion, was Mr Martin getting hit in the back of the head with a hammer, kicked in the face by me and stabbed by Mr. Walder. The house was ransacked, guns and other items were taken and Mr. Martin was left on the floor to die.

It is my fault Ray Martin died. I had said to Boone and Walder when Mr. Martin left the room for some reason

"Screw it, let's just kill him"

This statement has not come to light before. I feel I need to say it now in order to show responsibility for what I did, and what my roll really was in Ray Martin's murder.

I've tried to keep this as brief as possible which makes it all seem very simple and cold blooded, which it was. There is no other way to look at that night and those events.

Application for commutation of sentence

"Explain why you are requesting a commutation."

Butterfield C-51496

I realize nothing in my power will bring Mr Ray Martin back to his life and loved ones, nor ease the mental and physical suffering of Mr Bob Kimberly.

This being said, I can only hope that in some way I can make amends for my crimes.

Thirty Seven years ago was a long time. I have regretted my actions and outlook on life then, every day of my sentence. I'm older and wiser now.

Application for commutation of sentence

"Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation"

During my years of incarceration I have had large amounts of time to myself, my life and my actions. I have worked with several self-help groups over the years. Also I have worked one on one, in great depth with professional mental health counselors and addiction specialist through the mental health programs made available to me.

The majority of my incarceration was spent under the impression that life without merit life without, commutations where unheard of. This being the case I spent my time working for the state and growing for personal reasons. I received a G.E.O early in my sentence, an AA degree in general education through Hartnell Jr college, then a vast amount of practical knowledge in the area of industrial maintenance through working with free staff in jobs requiring a great amount of trust by them towards me.

The severity of my crimes and disregard for others is a thing, that haunts me, yet also pushes me to improve myself and grow from the the naive self-fish child I was into an adult that an average person wouldn't have to worry about living next to.

In summation, this application only scratches the surface of who I am today, as I wanted to keep things brief. It is my belief that if there was a chance for the parole board to review my case and CDCR file, they would find me suitable for parole

On July 17, 1981, Roy Camenisch and Robert Mistriel, planned to rob Edwin Buck. That evening, Mr. Camenisch followed Mr. Buck and Mr. Mistriel in his car. Mr. Camenisch walked up to the car, and he and Mr. Mistriel stabbed and beat Mr. Buck, killing him. The two men then drove Mr. Buck's car and body back to his house, where they incinerated them. On May 17, 1983, the Kern County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Camenisch to life without the possibility of parole, plus a one-year firearm enhancement.

In his interview with a Board of Parole Hearings investigator, Mr. Camenisch said, "There are no words that I can put on paper or say [to the family] to express how sorry I am . . . that this happened . . . that I took their family member's life . . . because words are just words. There are no words I can tell them to ease their feelings of loss. If I could go back in time to change what happened, I would. I think about this every day." In his application, he wrote, "Since I have been in prison, I have not repeated any of the actions (crimes) that caused me to be sent to prison. I have taught myself how to manage and deal with my anger through meditation. Now, I take the time to think about my actions, as well as what the consequences may be in the end."

Mr. Camenisch was 18 years old when he committed this crime. He is now 56 and has served almost four decades in prison – all of his adult life. Remarkably, Mr. Camenisch has not had any misconduct in 25 years. Mr. Camenisch has lived in the Progressive Program Facility since 2011. He has worked as a barber for many years and held positions in the California Prison Industry Authority laundry department, earning a certificate of expertise in commercial dryers. Mr. Camenisch has routinely received above average work ratings. He is currently participating in the self-help classes Getting Out by Going In and Insight.

Mr. Camenisch participated in a senseless and tragic crime. In the years since, he has demonstrated remorse for his actions and has used his 37 years of incarceration to reflect on the sorrow this crime caused the victim and the victim's family. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Camenisch has earned an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Roy Camenisch to a total of 37 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

I have also taught myself a viable trade that I can actually use on the streets, should I receive a commutation, and released back into society. The trade I am referring to is that of a barber. I am trying to find out if I can receive a certificate to show that.

Michael Caputo

In 1983, Michael Caputo and his crime partners, Bernard Gordon and Patrick Gordon, planned to rob an armored truck driver. After entering a department store, Mr. Caputo and Bernard Gordon stopped William Wiley, an armored truck driver, as he exited the store. Mr. Caputo shot Mr. Wiley, killing him. On July 27, 1988, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Caputo to life without the possibility of parole, plus a two year firearm enhancement.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Caputo wrote, "I am not the same selfish, greedy, and immature man I was 33 years ago. My priorities and values have changed. I believe I am mature enough now to be a useful, contributing member of society. . . . I know I can and will parole successfully because I never want to come back to prison."

Mr. Caputo is now 59 years old and has served 35 years in prison. Despite serving all of these years without the possibility of parole, Mr. Caputo has had only one rules violation. He has lived on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard that holds its residents to high standards of conduct and offers unique rehabilitative opportunities, for five years. Mr. Caputo earned his paralegal certificate and two vocations. In addition to learning new skills and maintaining steady employment, Mr. Caputo has participated in self-help classes, including Alternatives to Violence, Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Men for Honor.

Mr. Caputo has 19 years of work history and has routinely received satisfactory to exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. In 2013, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Caputo had an "easy-going" demeanor and was pleasant to be around. The officer added "I feel that Caputo can have a definitive positive impact on any environment he comes in contact with."

Mr. Caputo committed a senseless crime, but it is clear he is not the same person he was when he first came to prison. His rehabilitation and exemplary behavior in prison leads me to believe he has earned the opportunity to present his case before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Michael Caputo to a total of 35 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Casey Carroll

In March 1992, during the commission of an attempted robbery, Casey Carroll and David Fitts shot Charles Dimmitt and Steven Watkins. Mr. Dimmitt was killed, and Mr. Watkins was struck twice but survived. On September 21, 1995, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Carroll to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a five-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Carroll was 19 when he committed this crime. He is now 45 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 25 years. During an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Carroll said that at an early age, he learned to resolve conflict with violence. He also recalled that gangs were a part of his environment since elementary school. Mr. Carroll readily admitted being submerged in the gang lifestyle, including selling drugs and stealing. In his application for clemency, Mr. Carroll emphasized his rehabilitation. He wrote that he had to "look deep within myself, and honestly examine and identify everything that is ungodly, unlawful, unloving, unforgiving, and selfish; and begin to replace that junk." Mr. Carroll also spoke of his desire to make amends.

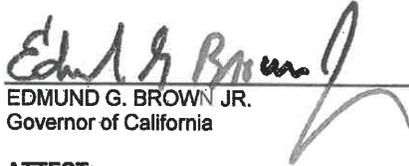

During more than two decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Mr. Carroll sought to become a better person. He turned away from gangs and stayed clear of drugs. Mr. Carroll completed the necessary conflict resolution curriculum to become a "peacemaker" within the prison. He reports that he has learned that most conflicts are about failed communication and narrow perspectives—insight that he regularly shares with the younger inmates who he mentors. Mr. Carroll has also completed courses in American Sign Language and serves as an interpreter during chapel services. A captain recently commended him "for his support and participation in the study and advancement of American Sign Language." Mr. Carroll is taking courses at a liberal arts college, and is separately seeking a degree in bible counseling from a seminary college. He has also been trained as an inmate peer educator. Mr. Carroll has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Reformer's Unanimous, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Marriage and Family. Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Carroll earned the privilege of residing on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard.

Mr. Carroll's gang lifestyle undoubtedly created numerous victims, including Mr. Dimmitt and his family, but it is clear that he is now dedicated to reforming his life and serving his community. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Carroll has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Casey Carroll to a total of 25 years to life.

MEMORANDUM

REQUEST FOR CLEMENCY---PARDON BASED ON INNOCENCE, AND REHABILITATION:

Based On Innocence.

First off, I would like to sincerely thank you for your time, Attention, and Concern in reviewing My request for Clemency (Pardon)...

For the entire 19-years I've been incarcerated since the date of My arrest August 27, 1993; I have Asserted My Innocence, through the Detectives interagations; The Preliminary-Hearings; The Pre-Trial; and during the two Trials that took place before the conviction. There was even several plea bargain deals offered by The District Attorney prior to the conviction; There was a deal for 18-years with half, and a deal for 9-years with half time, and consulting with My Mother for a couple of days about the 9-year deal, her advice, "You're Innocent; don't take no deals, let them find the person who's truly responsible for the demise of Mr. Demmitt, and the attempted murder of Mr. Steve Watkins," which happened during the commission of two attempt robberies, on March 7, 1992 2:00 AM on a Saturday.

And so I still uphold my Assertion of Innocence, even through the years of Appeals and Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus, that assertion remains; Because I can honestly say before Almighty God that I was at home with several Alibi-Witnesses: My Mother Marion Allen, Sister Natasha Carroll, and some friends of mines, Mr. Sef J. Noble; Mr. Robbert Eric Malone; Mr. Tazaino Harris; and Ex-GirlFriend Ms. Rhonda Johnson. Only four of them were called to testify on my behalf including one defense-Witness Mr. Clifton Anderson who's testimony was needed but never used during Trial, along with Mr. Sef J. Noble, and Ms. Rhonda Johnson, who appeared at both Trials ready to testify on My behalf to the time and date of Alibi. The only ~~Alibi~~ testimony was permitted to be used during the Trial was My Mother's and Sister's, due to My Trial-Attorney Mr. Donald R. Prigo who insisted that we didn't need Mr. Noble's, Ms. Johnson's, and Mr. Anderson's testimony because the case was weak...

Truthfully speaking after 19-years of incarceration, and spending 50% of that soul searching, making mistakes and bad decisions, and learning from every decision rather bad or good, I come to find within myself concerning the life style that I chose to live as a gang member, and all of the criminal activities I've involved myself in and never gotten arrested for; Although Innocent of the Dimmitt and Watkins Case #BA092591, what I know now and had I known back then, I would've took the 18-year deal with half time, not because I've been found guilty and spent over 18-years incarcerated serving a life without sentence; But because I've come to learn through My Biblical Studies that God's word (The Holy Scriptures) are true in what it says, from Genesis to Revelations; But speaking of this specific verse of Scripture, Galatians 6:7, which says "Do not be deceived God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows that he will also reap." See, although I'm innocent of the charges I've been convicted of, and though I've never done anything of the magnitude pertaining to the Dimmitt and Watkins case, I was still committing Felonious crimes that I've gotten away with, some would call it karma, others poetic justice, but myself and those who believe the Bible from cover to cover, we say or call it reaping and sowing, (or reaping what you sow); A spiritual principle that is very active in the natural (i.e. physical) realm, I am a firm believer, and will Teach People about this principle all the days of My life on this People planet, as well as sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Based On Rehabilitation.

Now after being convicted of a crime I had nothing to do with; I became angry and slightly bitter towards Authority, and over the years of Rehabilitating myself thoroughly through lots of soul searching, I've learned to forgive the People who I considered to be the blame for My current circumstance; 1. The Detectives who interrogated Me, and who I repeatedly told that I was Innocent, and that they had the wrong person, and they still charged Me even after my Alibi was confirmed. 2. Both District Attorneys who prosecuted Me, the first DA in the first Trial that was declared a mistrial after ten day deliberation and a deadlocked jury 3-not guilty and 4-guilty... The second DA and Trial I was found guilty, by a jury of my peers, and then there's that victim/eye-witness who lied on Me during Trial making Me out to be one of the assailants who shot him, and killed Mr. Dimmitt; I have forgiven every last one of them People,

I guess one may say or query; why do they need forgiveness for? They were only doing their jobs. Well seeing it from the eyes of a truly innocent Man (My Eyes), then maybe you'll understand why I was angry, and needed to forgive them before unforgiveness consumes Me with anger and hatred toward Authority and Eye-Witnesses, in which I no longer have, thank God; See I can't Love God, and My Neighbors, and Enemies with that mentality, attitude, and strong Emotion governing my life. And so I needed to find forgiveness in My heart toward anyone who did Me wrong, or I felt did Me wrong, so I could become a better person as God was and still is Training Me to be, He has been Rehabilitating Me, and using my Family and Friends to help with the process. It is the Grace of God that carries Me through the frustrating times, and makes it a lot easier to stay optimistic concerning My over due liberation, and helps Me to trust His word even more.

Not only have I dedicated My life to God, Biblical Studies, and applying it to every day life; But I've gotten involved with the Church here at Calipatria State Prison A-Yard, heeding to the call that has on my life: Evangelize, Preach, the Gospel, Pastor those whom I disciple; as well as Counseling and praying with Inmates on the Yard, of course this is a team effort with other Brothers who has heeded the same call on their lives all for the glory of God. And if and when needed I do what I can to help maintain the peace among inmates on the yard, and encourage them to see the hope set before them which is in Christ Jesus. I found by helping others, I'm helping Myself in ways needed for the service of The Lord God, and Mankind, in here and out there in Society.

The steps of Rehabilitation, and becoming Rehabilitated becomes an easy process when understanding the necessary steps to take.

1. Responsibility for My actions no matter what they are, even though I'm Actually Innocent of the crime I was convicted for, I still broke other Laws, that life style I lived opened the doors to be falsely accused and convicted, (Reaping what I've sowed), either way I was sick and in need of help from The Divine Sorce Who provides remedies of deliverance and healing.

2. Look deep within Myself, and honestly examine and identify everything that is ungodly, unlawful, unloving, unforgiving, and selfish; and begin to replace that junk with where the word of God is concerned and apply it, making it applicable to every day life, one day at a time.

For example: Operation in practice, (a). Ungodliness, is replaced with Mark 12:29-31 "Love the Lord God with all of your heart, with all of your soul, with all of your mind, and with all of your strength, and Love your Neighbor as your self." Matthew 5:44-45 "And Love your Enemies, Bless those who curse You; Do good to those who ~~hate you~~, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you; That you may be Sons of your Father in heaven; for He makes His sun rise on the evil and the good, He sends rain on the Just and the unjust." This is the Agape Love (unmerited, Unconditional Love) I'm taught to live by, and extend to others, as well as teach to others. It's not easy, by far is it, but I'm dedicated to live that Agape Love life until I'm removed from this people planet...

(b). Unlawfulness, I replace it with Romans 13:1-2 which says, "Let all or every Soul be subjected to the governing Authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities exist are appointed by God. Therefore whoever resist the authority resist the ordinance of God, and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves..." (c). Unkindness, a unlovingness, (hatred), is replace with Kindness, and Unconditional Love, according to 1-Corinthians 13:4-8; and Galatians 5:22-23, which says, "Love suffers long (i.e. Patient), and is kind; Love does not envy; Love does not parade itself; is not puffed up; Does not behave rudely, does not seek it's own, is not provoked, thinks no evil; Does not rejoice in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth; bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things, Love never fails." "The Fruit of The Spirit is Love, Joy, Peace, Patience, Kindness, Goodness, Faithfulness, Gentleness, Self-Control, against such there is now law." (d). Selfishness, is replaced with Service of God, and Humanity, and meeting the needs of others, Basically considering others before myself, learning to give freely, (Galatians 6:9-10; Luke 6:39; 2-Corinthians 9:9-12)....

(e). Receive Correction, And Do more listening than talking, (i.e. "being quick to hear and slow to speak," James 1:19)... (f). Watch the words that come out of My mouth, think before I speak, because I'm blunt speaker (talker), I say things sometimes with out considering others feelings, I've learned to phrase my words a little more digestible for lack of a better word. But over all I've learned to be a People person, who really cares about others, and wish that all would be saved by the Love, Grace, Mercy of God through Jesus Christ Our Lord and Savior... (g). And last but not least, I have took a Biblical College course see Exhibits of Character References, Informational/Laudatory Chronos, Academic Transcript, and Certificate of Completion... And I would like to get to this TRAINING CENTER for lifers, I believe it would be helpful to my return back into Society (either way I know with the help of God I will make a smooth transition back into Society.

All I need is your approval to prove not only to myself but to my Loved ones, You, the Board of Prison Terms, and Society, that Casey Orlando Carroll can and will make it out there successfully, being a Law abiding Tax paying Citizen.

EXPLANATION OF WHY I'M REQUESTING CLEMENCY/PARDON:

Plans, Actions, and Goals,

One of the reasons why I'm requesting Clemency-Pardon is, I've been incarcerated for 19-years from the date of my arrest August 27, 1993, for a crime I had absolutely nothing to do with, I am Innocent of the charges I've been convicted of, and I say that before Almighty God, that is the truth and nothing but the truth...

Two My Family needs Me out there, in many ways, to help raise My Nephews while they grow into manhood because there's no positive role-model (Male Role-Model) around to guide them, and help them make wise decisions in life. And through my years of experiencing the negative life style, and learning how to be a responsible man, through the teachings of The Holy Bible, and other methods of learning, I know I could assist them based on My experiences, example, and advise, as I spend quality time with them daily aside from whatever Job I'll be working at, until My Small Business plans kick in.

My entire Family has been estranged and distant from one another since My incarceration and the passing of My Grand-Mother who went to be with The Lord. I believe within My heart that I can restore My Family-Ties in the service of Almighty God who will enable Me to do so... He (God) has given Me a Ministry (Fight For Your Family Ministries) to Preach the Gospel, and extend The Love of Christ to all Communities, and with a strong desire and conviction to reach out to the Youth of the inner-cities with the Good News of Hope, and Mentoring skills that I've developed while being incarcerated; I know that I have the ability to be an excellent Mentor, and Motivational Speaker, I've had lots of hands on practice with positive results in here, I'm one of five Pastors on this prison yard, I Preach in the Chapel among a crowd of Inmates, My (Brothers in Christ) and to who aren't Christian believers.

The Lord uses Me to talk with or to Gang Members sharing His Word, and the Love of Christ Jesus, because I was once a gang member Myself, and the respect of relating to their struggle and mind state is there, and they're receptive to the message because I've been there and I know the source of hope for a better life, and how to reach them where they're at with that message with 65% positive result, I've seen it with my own eyes inside this environment, to the glory of God. I'm not saying I will always be successful; What I'm saying is since I'm one of the ones who contribute to this Youthful chaotic generation who live their lives as gang members through malignity, debauchery, hedonism, a life devoted to pleasure as we know it, and not being afraid to face the consequences of that gangster life style, rather it be by death, or imprisonment, unless they have an epiphany, that may come through a near death experience or a number of misfortunes take place in their lives one after another, or someone such as myself who is willing to go into the trenches of the inner-city streets to try and make a difference in someone's life, leading them to the right resources that would help them make that change.

I know People who know people that's willing to provide jobs gang members who are trying to or want to turn their life around to better themselves.

There is absolutely no programs concerning academic (Schooling) for Inmates sentenced to Life, or Life without the possibility of parole, so I had to take it upon myself to get all the necessary tools to teach myself certain skills that I have a passion for, and Creative Writing is one; Over the years I have developed a talent for writing Novels, and Movie Scripts by studying literary books on writing such as: 1. Handbook for Writers in Prison, by American, Pen-; 2. Save The Cat! The last book on Screen Writing that you'll ever need, by Blake Snyder; 3. Manuscript for writers-One, by Merriam Webster; Merriam Webster's Manual for Writers and Editors; 4. How to write for Television, by Madeline Dimaggio; 5. Play Wrihts on Play Writing, by Cole; 6. The TV Writers Work Book, by Ellen Sandler; 7. Reading like a Writer, by Francine Prose; the were other Books on writing too but I forgot the names and the Authors, I gave them away to the People I was Teaching how to perfect the craft of Creative writing, and there where numerous writer's Digest I also studied from due to My two years subscription.

I've also developed a skill of business plan, and starting up my own Small Businesses, by studying books like The "E" Myth, by Michael E. Gerber; Black Enterprise Magazines, and other Entrepreneur books and magazines, I've learned a lot and still need some Schooling on some things concerning business, I know some business owners who has taking Me under their wing, teaching Me all there is to know about business, as well as learning from material that I have from the Small Business Development Center.

So I do have a plans to Succeed once release from Prison, and to mention that I have taking a Biblical College Course From the Family Radio School of The Bible, see Academic Transcripts, and Certificate of completion attached. There's also several Business plans that I will get started upon release; I've written one Book, mentioned in the missive to the Governor, and I'm writing another one, as we speak, I do hope, and plan to succeed in all that I put My heart, Mind, quality time to, driven by the desire and passion that is far embedded in Me. There's no debt in My mind that I will make a smooth transition back into Society, through my determination, and assistance from the Training + Center, and Family and Friends who's supported Me all these years spiritually, Mentally, Emotionally, and financially.

With everything said I pray that you will consider and grant Me Clemency (i.e. Pardon) through good faith that I will not let anyone down, but prove to all that I am a changed Man, and I will Succeed outside of these Prison Walls, as a Tax Paying LAW Abiding United States Citizen. May God Bless You all in whom this concerns.

Daniel Carter

In December 1996, Daniel Carter and Andrew Tillman saw Alonzo Escobar, Vicki Sanchez, and Francis Rios, three pedestrians who they suspected were members of a rival gang. Mr. Carter shot at the group, hitting Ms. Sanchez in the hip, causing a massive hemorrhage. Ms. Sanchez died later at the hospital. On August 9, 1999, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Carter to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a 4-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Carter is now 42 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 22 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Carter wrote that he "would like an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings to show [his] growth, maturity, and rehabilitation and have a chance to be a productive citizen in society." During an interview with a Board investigator, Mr. Carter explained that he "is no longer a 20-year-old misguided kid" and he "has tried to rehabilitate himself and believes he can make a difference in society."

Indeed, over the last 22 years, Mr. Carter has committed himself to rehabilitation, despite serving a sentence that offered no hope of a life outside of prison. He earned a Legal Assistant degree and completed a vocation in Office Services and Related Technologies. Mr. Carter participated in self-help programs, including Men for Honor, Victim Sensitivity, and Friends Outside Parenting Education Program. Mr. Carter has participated in the Progressive Programming Facility since 2012. In 2017, he was commended by a correctional supervisor for his performance in the dining hall. The officer noted that Mr. Carter has "demonstrated exceptional skill, reliability and knowledge while working," adding that his "positive attitude toward fellow inmate workers, supervisory staff, and assigned tasking has been exceptional." He further noted that Mr. Carter "is strongly recommended for any program to advance his professional development and ultimately his discharge to society as a productive citizen." In 2013, Mr. Carter was commended by a correctional lieutenant who recognized Mr. Carter's humanitarian efforts in volunteering with the American Red Cross, Typhoon Relief. He noted, "By giving to others in need demonstrates the compassion and good will within a person in the darkest of circumstances," adding that Mr. Carter's participation is "consistent with the aims and goals of the Progressive Programming Facility."

This is a very serious crime, but it is clear that Mr. Carter has distinguished himself by his dedication to his self-improvement and his separation from gang activities of any kind. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Daniel Carter to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

John Cebreros

In January 1981, John Cebreros and his friend forcefully entered Dale Boender and Janice Allen's apartment. Mr. Boender and Ms. Allen were bound, blindfolded, and struck on the head with a blunt object. Ms. Allen died from her injuries and Mr. Boender was severely injured. On March 3, 1982, the Kern County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Cebreros to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Cebreros has been incarcerated for nearly 38 years. During this time, he has rejected gangs and violence and maintained a close to spotless behavioral record, receiving only two rules violations for almost four decades. In addition to his exceptional behavior, Mr. Cebreros has lived on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard that holds its residents to high standards of conduct and offers unique rehabilitative opportunities, since 2010. His dedication to self-help spans over a decade, with especially strong commitment to Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous.

Mr. Cebreros has maintained consistent employment, with his most recent position in the California Prison Industry Authority Laundry lasting over 14 years. As a lead man in the Prison Industry Authority, Mr. Cebreros has received exceptional work ratings. Indeed, a superintendent praised Mr. Cebreros' many years of work, writing, "Cebreros' quarterly performance reports consistently reflect positive behavior, maintaining an exemplary attitude and work ethic. As a result Cebreros has been entrusted with the clean-side 'Lead Man' position. Cebreros also shows that he is self-reliant and takes initiative to complete tasks that are required in the plant." Mr. Cebreros has the support of his wife, children, and grandchildren. Should he be released, he would like to work to help support his family and attend a trade school.

Mr. Cebreros participated in a brutal and senseless crime, however, his exemplary conduct in prison shows he has left violence behind. Based on his lengthy incarceration, exemplary behavior, and commitment to rehabilitation, Mr. Cebreros has earned the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Prolonged Hearings so that it can determine if he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of John Cebrenros to a total of 38 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Janine Chandler

In 2002, Janine Chandler's abusive husband, Gregory Chandler, brought his girlfriend Tiffany Donaville home with him. Ms. Chandler shot both Mr. Chandler and Ms. Donaville, who died from her injuries. On March 30, 2006, the Contra Costa County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Chandler to 25 years to life for murder plus an additional 25 years to life firearm enhancement – a total term of 50 years to life in prison.

Before committing this crime, Ms. Chandler endured years of abuse at the hands of her husband. She told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that Mr. Chandler routinely beat her, raped her, choked her, and threatened to kill her. Ms. Chandler said that she never confided in others about her husband's abuse, and that he intentionally tried to hit her where the bruises wouldn't be visible to others. The Board investigator also spoke with Mr. Chandler, who confirmed that he was controlling and abusive throughout their marriage. Ms. Chandler reported that throughout the night of this crime, Mr. Chandler screamed at her, left her threatening messages, and slammed doors in the apartment. She was hiding from him all day in a spare bedroom. When Ms. Chandler awoke and heard other voices in the apartment, she thought it was her opportunity to escape. A psychologist who evaluated Ms. Chandler in 2005 concluded that she was the victim of intimate partner battery at the time of the crime. The psychologist wrote, "Ms. Chandler was afraid that Mr. Chandler could assault her at any time. Given that the abusive incidents would erupt without any notice, Ms. Chandler felt powerless to control her own safety." The Board investigator concluded, "Evidence suggests Chandler shot her husband because she had decided to leave him on the day of the crime and was in complete fear of what he would do to her if she left."

Ms. Chandler is now 46 years old and has been incarcerated for over 16 years. In that time, she has shown a deep commitment to rehabilitation and transforming her life. She participated in numerous self-help programs including Domestic Violence, Survivors of Incest and Rape Anonymous, Healthy Relationships, and Creative Conflict Resolution. Ms. Chandler has maintained an excellent work record. She earned several vocational certifications and regularly receives positive ratings from her supervisors, who characterize her as respectful, dedicated, and helpful in training her peers. Ms. Chandler has also been involved in charity and community events, donating blankets for a veteran's hospital and helping coordinate a day of peace in the prison. Ms. Chandler's family has pledged to provide her with housing and financial support in the event of her release, and she has a job waiting for her at a construction company.

Ms. Chandler committed a tragic crime after suffering years of relentless abuse at the hands of her husband. She has demonstrated sincere remorse for her actions, and has worked hard to turn her life around and educate herself and others about the dangers of domestic violence. For all of these reasons, I believe Ms. Chandler has earned an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Janine Chandler to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

I was convicted of first degree murder of Tiffany Donaville and first degree attempted murder of my husband Gregory Chandler. I did not know the name of the person I killed until it was told to me by Corporal Delavan, when he informed me of her death.

On September 2, 2002, after an extensive period of hiding from my violent husband Gregory Chandler (victim #2), I emerged from our second bedroom intent only on leaving the apartment and him. I carried a two bullet derringer pistol for my protection. I got to the front door, which was barred with a chair. I saw Gregory and an unknown female in our small kitchen, right next to the front door. An argument ensued between the three of us and I was afraid of both of them. In my attempt to protect myself and flee to safety, I shot them both.

After this, Gregory punched me in the head and we both heard a loud crack. He howled in pain and started to bleed more profusely, while Tiffany was moaning in the kitchen. I begged that he call for help. Then I retrieved a towel for him and begged again for him to check on Tiffany. When the police arrived, I told them there was someone on the kitchen floor.

It pains me deeply to know that my terror of the situation caused another person to lose her life. I know that I have had such an adverse effect on Tiffany and her family, as well as Greg's. I did not know Tiffany, and yet her life ended by my hand. I have spent a long time thinking of ways I could have changed the scenario in order to save her life and ensure that her daughter has a mother. I can relate to her family's loss and distress. To have someone violently taken from you cuts deep. My intent was to survive, not to kill someone else, or involve someone else in my violent marriage.

If I had the opportunity to speak with Tiffany's daughter, I would convey to her that I wish I had been the person who died, so she could have her mother.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I was in an abusive relationship with Gregory Chandler for two and a half years. The first six months were fine, but then things changed. He started stalking me, questioning me about my activities, controlling my errands and who I could see. He would demand that I do tasks or chores for him without regard for my own needs. He coerced me into alternate sexual practices. He physically hurt me and injured me in many ways. He would physically restrain me, hold me until I was bruised, choke me, hit me, and throw me down. Over time, it got progressively worse. These drastic changes to my life created a bubble from which I could not escape. This abuse created a deep fear in me. That is why I was carrying a gun that day, to prevent him from attacking me.

Since my arrest, I have gained a better understanding about domestic violence. I have learned how domestic violence and sexual abusers use "priming and shaming" to get what they want. As a child, I was sexually abused by two different males. After feeling shamed and blameful for that abuse, it was easy to do the same in my marriage. Not wanting to send Greg back to prison has ultimately caused me to be imprisoned. I had not ever been in a situation similar to my marriage. Now I know what my warning signs are, how to extract myself, and what to do afterwards. Through my classes on domestic violence, anger management, and conflict resolution, as well as receiving emotional support, I know what things I can, and cannot do to de-escalate situations like mine.

I am requesting a commutation of sentence so that I could possibly return to society while I still have the ability to contribute. I would appreciate being able to demonstrate to other battered women what I've learned and accomplished in order to deter them from my circumstance.

4. Provide a brief statement why you should be granted a commutation.

I believe that my sentence should be commuted because I did not intentionally set out to kill Tiffany Donaville or Gregory Chandler, only to survive what I believed would be my own untimely death. My arrest and conviction have resulted from an extreme set of circumstances that I believe could not be repeated. Previous to my marriage, I only had traffic tickets. I had then, and continue to be, a volunteer in my community and a responsible member of society. I would return to those same tasks and endeavors.

I have worked to improve myself through a myriad of classes and self-education. In prison, I have faced biases—sexual, gender and religious—that have only strengthened my resolve to be better personally and a help to bridge the gaps with my peers and others in all three instances. I have completed, participated in or accomplished many classes, responsibilities and activities as shown by the exhibits attached to this petition.

I believe I will be able physically to continue in my previous vocation of welding, pipefitting and plumbing until I am about 52 years old. (I am 46 now.) I could be gainfully employed in that manner or through the job offers (included here) that I have received from people who knew me before my arrest. I have also discussed, with people on the outside, my being an instrument in developing a parole/transitional program for Muslim women, as our particular needs are not being met at this time. I would also like to give support, physically and mentally, to my sister who cares for our grandmother (now 86 with dementia). I am desperate to be an aid to her in any way possible, as she has been so supportive of me.

Monica Chavez

From November 1997 to January 1998, Ms. Chavez acted as a driver while her boyfriend Gilbert Rubio participated in a series of armed robberies. On January 11, 1998, Ms. Chavez, Mr. Rubio, and Alex Vega entered the home of George Blackwell. While Mr. Vega searched the house for valuables, Mr. Rubio bound Mr. Blackwell and forced him to divulge his pin number and write him a check for $2,000. Mr. Rubio directed Mr. Vega and Ms. Chavez to go cash the check. He then shot Mr. Blackwell, killing him. On March 30, 2000, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Chavez to life without the possibility of parole for the murder committed by Mr. Rubio plus 13 years for two firearm enhancements and nine counts of robbery.

At the time of the crime, Ms. Chavez had been the victim of years of abuse by Mr. Rubio. A Board of Parole Hearings investigation concluded that Ms. Chavez was suffering from intimate partner battery at the time of the crimes, and her experiences with domestic violence impacted her actions at the time of the offenses. In 2018, Ms. Chavez's defense attorney submitted a letter in support of commutation, noting that Mr. Vega and Mr. Rubio threatened Ms. Chavez's life during trial and that the Court denied his request to use battered women's syndrome as a defense. Mr. Rubio's defense attorney was interviewed and stated that Mr. Rubio was "probably the most cruel, violent, brutal person" she ever represented. She stated, "if any case was ever appropriate for the consideration of intimate partner battering consideration, it was Chavez's case." Mr. Rubio's attorney stated that she believed Ms. Chavez was abused and held captive by Mr. Rubio, and that she had no doubt Ms. Chavez feared for her safety and that of her family.

Ms. Chavez is now 61 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 20 years. In her application for clemency, Ms. Chavez expressed her desire to live as an example to other survivors of domestic violence and wrote, "I have a lot to contribute to society. My work ethic is solid, as well my ability to manage my behavior and make better choices for myself. My unfortunate upbringing can be an effective deterrent, preventing other abused women from making the same choices I made. I believe, with all my heart, that a second chance will prove my worth."

During more than two decades in prison with no possibility of parole, Ms. Chavez has been dedicated to transforming her life. She has never been disciplined for any misconduct. She completed vocational training in facilities maintenance. Through her positive attitude and behavior, Ms. Chavez has earned the respect of the staff members and prison volunteers who interact with her regularly. Ms. Chavez received above average work ratings. In 2018, a correctional officer commended Ms. Chavez "for her positive growth over the last 18 years." The officer wrote, "I witnessed Inmate Chavez display respect and a pleasant demeanor towards staff and other inmates," and "noticed her continued efforts toward positive programming." The officer praised Ms. Chavez's work on the cleaning crew, calling her a "valuable employee with a good work ethic." The officer concluded by writing, "Inmate Chavez should be commended for maintaining a positive attitude and high respect for staff and others." A supervisor wrote in 2011 regarding her work as yard crew that Ms. Chavez was a "very hard worker," who "keeps the yard looking good."

Mr. Blackwell's family has expressed opposition to Ms. Chavez's release. While the profound impact of this crime cannot be erased, I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence. I believe Ms. Chavez has earned the opportunity to present her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Monica Chavez to a total of 21 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th day of December, 2018.

Dear Sir

I am a child of abuse, physical and sexual abuse by some family members. 1968, age 11, raped by a stranger in my own bedroom. Age 14, raped by a gang of boys, thrown off a cliff and left to die. 1994, shot in the back by my son's friend - and on it went. I was the perfect wife, picked by my abusive husband of 16 years. I lived being afraid. One day, I got brave and for the sake of my kids, I ran. Then I met my co-defendant, Gilbert.

About a year after I left my husband, I met Gilbert. He was everything my husband wasn't. He was kind, respectful, soft spoken and had a very nice and neat appearance. Unlike my husband, Gil didn't drink, smoke, cuss or do drugs. He treated me well. I looked at him as my protector. But things changed. Gil went to prison. When he came out, he had changed so much: shaved head, long mustache, lots of tattoos, bad attitude and extremely paranoid. I had heard that he was on medication for these issues. He became possessive, controlling, started to scream at me, put me down, accuse me of having affairs with strangers. Months before the crime, he started threatening me with his gun. He would follow me everywhere, even to my job. Then he moved me to his mom's house and staged a burglary where all my things were the only thing stolen. It got so bad, I learned if I didn't want to get hurt, I just did what I was told. One day while he was gone, my dad came and got me and found us a place to live... but he eventually found me.

He had found my car. I was cleaning the windows when I looked up and saw him standing there with a sneer on his face. My heart fell. I was so scared and panic stricken but still went to the door. He called me out, took me by the hand and we walked back into the house. He moved in and refused to leave my side. When I went to work, he would stay in the room next to the one I was cleaning. I prayed no one would come and speak to me in fear he would shoot them and me. I worked at a high school in Downey as a custodian. I had an accident in September 1997. I fell off a ten foot ladder injuring my back, neck and legs. I was to be released back to work in January, 1998. By this time he was so far gone, out of his mind. He was talking to himself, seeing things that weren't there and imagining he saw me with other men. He accused me of having affairs with them, even when I tried to deny it, he would explode and start hitting, kicking and throwing me against the wall. He would constantly put the gun to my head and cocking it. He wouldn't let me sleep, making me drive him all around all night long. He wouldn't even let me stay home with my grandchildren. He would make me stay with him in motels or at his mom's house.

While at his mom's house, Gil's sister found my papers showing my $50,000 life insurance policy I had through the school district I worked for. It noted that it would be doubled if I died in an accident or was killed. They were in the process of losing the house so she told Gil he better hurry up and take care of business. So, that was his big plan, to kill me and save his mom's house. On 1-12-98, he came up with a plan. He decided to kill me and the victim at the victim's house. Gilbert and his friend, Alex, decided they were going to take us upstairs, strip us, put us in his bed and cut our throats. But Gil got greedy and demanded $2,000.00. He had the victim, George, write a check out to me and had his friend, Alex, take me to the bank to cash the check. While we were gone George panicked and tried to run. Gil shot him. The shot was so loud he panicked thinking the neighbors might have heard; he left the scene. On the way out he hid the gun, his hat and jacket in some nearby bushes. Someone saw him and called the police. The police spotted him, found the gun, hat and jacket, and did arrest him. In the meantime, his partner Alex, brought me back because I couldn't cash the check. He saw all the police and panicked, ordered me to head back to their house. That's when he said "Gilbert must have killed him!" So he wanted to leave. He then ordered me to drop him off. He then confessed to me that he and Gil were going to kill us. He said he didn't want to do it, but he was afraid of Gil too. He needed money to run so he still wanted to try and get some money from the victim, George's, debit card but the pin number wouldn't work. So he made me drop him off. In the meantime, I was scared to death Gil was looking for me. My daughter and dad saw the news and in a panic, thinking I had been killed, my dad called the homicide department asking for help. I talked to the detectives and told them everything! To my shock, I was arrested too. I was sentenced to life without parole plus 13 years. I believe these past 20 years I have learned to manage my fears, found the courage to move forward and to forgive myself for not stopping Gil. I've been working here in prison for almost 18 years. I worked 13 years on yard crew. I did landscaping in "D" yard. Turned it into a beautiful yard. Then I was a porter for a couple of years. Then I found the most wonderful and fulfilling job here for HFM/PIA janitorial. I've been training to work at the hospital. When I complete this course I will be certified! CCWF has offered to help me find work when and if I do get out of prison. Last year, our prison's hospital / Medical Center here at CCWF was voted the cleanest in all the state. WE ARE #1! I'm very proud of that. I've worked here for the last three years. I work the crisis unit. I support myself, I don't have family support unfortunately. I work hard and long so I can pay off my restitution. It was originally $10,000.00 but I've worked it down to $3,250.00.

This has been important to me, something I feel I need to do. I do read and study self-help books to improve myself. I've run an excellent program. In 20 years, I have NEVER received a single 128 or 115! I get along well with people and don't have problems with anyone. I work well with others and am getting all of my chronos together. I would really appreciate it if I could get the chance to leave this prison, you would never be sorry. I do know I still have a lot to give out there. I can see myself helping other young women in abusive circumstances, letting them know how to recognize the signs; give them the courage to leave before it's too late. I sure wish I'd been brave enough to have taken a chance and got that kind of help when I was younger...

Thank you for your consideration
Monica Chavez

Cesar Cisneros, Jr.

In 2010, 19-year-old Cesar Cisneros pulled up next to a car driven by Jonathan Disario and Rosendo Flores. Mr. Cisneros got out of his car, pulled out a gun, and fired multiple shots, injuring both Mr. Disario and Mr. Flores. On February 17, 2012, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Cisneros to 7 years to life for attempted murder plus a 20-year firearm enhancement – a total term of 27 years to life in prison.

In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Cisneros explained that he has devoted himself to understanding how he came to commit this crime. He expressed sincere remorse for his actions, saying, "It's a regret I have to live with every day. It hurts me to know that I was capable of doing something like that." Mr. Cisneros continued, "I understand what I did was wrong. I'm doing everything that's in my power to change my life, to transform it."

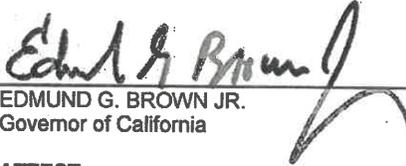

Since coming to prison, Mr. Cisneros has shown an admirable commitment to his rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct during nearly a decade of incarceration. Mr. Cisneros earned his GED and participated in self-help classes including Christian Brotherhood and Anger Control. He has been active in his church community, and is currently enrolled in The Urban Ministry Institute of Prison Fellowship. Mr. Cisneros has also earned the respect of the staff members who see him every day. In 2018, a correctional officer praised Mr. Cisneros for his work ethic and wrote, "[D]uring my observations of him, he has always shown himself to be respectful toward other inmates and staff alike.... Cisneros' positive programming should be applauded as he continues to a better path to be rehabilitated." In 2017, a college coordinator thanked Mr. Cisneros for volunteering for the music program, and wrote, "Inmate Cisneros has always shown himself as a hard worker, and has been respectful to staff and inmates. Inmate Cisneros is commended for his willingness to volunteer as a band member and his willingness to help facilitate the different functions on Facility C." Mr. Cisneros has a strong support system in place in the event of his release – his wife, parents, and other family members have offered him housing, financial support, help finding a job, and other support as he transitions back into the community.

Mr. Cisneros committed a reckless crime when he was a young man, but he has shown in the years since that he has matured into a positive person who is eager to contribute to his community. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Cesar Cisneros, Jr. to a total of 10 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

APPLICATION FOR COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Dear Governor Brown:

I am writing to humbly request a commutation of my sentence or, in the alternative, that I may appear before the Board of Parole Hearings before my Minimum Eligible Parole Date in 2032.

II. The circumstances of the crimes for which I am requesting a commutation:

On January 5, 2010, when I was 19 years old, I took a harmful action that I deeply regret. Out of fear for my life and the life of my then-fiancé and now-wife Maggie, I shot and injured Jonathan Disario and Rosendo Flores.

Mr. Disario was a member of a violent street gang, and he had intimidated, harassed, and attacked my family, my friends, and me over the previous three years. Specifically, he and his friends had beaten me with a baseball bat, shot two of my friends in front of my family's house, and threatened to kill me. So, when he began chasing Maggie and me while we were driving, I panicked. I tried to get away, but I got caught at a red light with traffic crossing the intersection. I thought Mr. Disario was going to shoot us then and there, so I reacted. I fired several shots at his car, hitting Mr. Disario in the arm and his passenger, Mr. Flores, in the leg.

Two months later, I turned myself into the authorities. I was convicted of attempted premeditated murder, assault with a firearm, and unlawful carrying of a loaded firearm. As a result, I was sentenced to life imprisonment with the possibility of parole with a 20-year firearm enhancement.

Currently, I have a petition for a writ of habeas corpus pending before the United States District Court for the Central District of California. It contains more detail about the circumstances of the crimes for which I am requesting a commutation and a constitutional challenge to my conviction for ineffective assistance of counsel.

III. Why I am requesting a commutation:

Over the past eight years in jail and prison, I have had the opportunity to reflect upon the choices that I made when I was young and the events that took place on January 5, 2010—choices such as why I was carrying a loaded firearm, why I resorted to violence, why I didn't go to the police, and what I need to do in the present to ensure this behavior is never repeated. In short, I realized that throughout my youth (teenage years) I began to develop warped and dysfunctional beliefs of what it meant to be a man, and what it means to care for and protect my family.

I developed a thwarted, self-sufficient mentality which led to a poor sense of judgment, a mentality which had not been taught to me by my parents. I thought that arming myself, rather than going to the police, was a way to protect myself. I realize that part of me maturing as a man is accountability and responsibility for my choices and actions, despite the circumstances. I hurt two people and, and not a day goes by that I do not regret my actions and the harm that I caused Mr. Disario, Mr. Flores, and their families. If I were privileged with the opportunity to speak with them, I would humbly ask for their forgiveness.

During my incarceration, I have done everything within my ability to better myself. I have been dedicated to living an honest and just life through self-awareness and self-control, and I believe that I have matured into a responsible adult. Now, I hope that I may one day redeem the time that I have lost; establish a career as a mechanic; become a father to children with my wife; and share my experience with others who are in difficult situations, to help them turn towards God and away from destructive behavior. Unfortunately, I cannot achieve these goals while I am behind bars, and I am not eligible for parole for another 14 years.

Consequently, I am writing to humbly request a commutation of my sentence or, in the alternative, that I may be granted a parole hearing. Due to my academic, personal, and spiritual development and the unwavering love and support of my family and friends, I am confident that I have what it takes to make a successful reentry into society. In addition, I am prepared to give a thorough account of my actions and of the transformation I have undergone during my incarceration. If I were under the same circumstances today, my response would be entirely different. Never again would I resort to violence to resolve a dispute; instead, I would seek the advice of my family and friends, and I would go to the police.

Lastly, my sentence was automatically "enhanced" by 20 years upon the jury's finding that I had used a firearm in the commission of a felony.¹ In February 2017, however, the Legislature passed--and you signed into law--a bill that that grants courts the discretion to strike or dismiss a firearm enhancement in the interest of justice.² Therefore, if I were sentenced today, I might not have received my additional 20-year term. Thus, I also respectfully submit my request to you in the interest of fairness and equal protection under the law.

² S.B. 620, Leg., 2017-18 Sess. (Cal. 2017) (available at http://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201720180SB620); see also Cal. Penal Code § 12022.53(h) ("The court may, in the interest of justice pursuant to Section 1385 and at the time of sentencing, strike or dismiss an enhancement otherwise required to be imposed by this section. The authority provided by this subdivision applies to any resentencing that may occur pursuant to any other law.").

IV. Why I believe I should be granted a commutation:

As mentioned above, I have used my eight years of incarceration to work on my weaknesses and to prepare myself to successfully reenter society.

To begin, I have been dedicated to my education. When I committed the acts for which I was convicted, I had not yet finished high school. Now, I have passed my General Educational Development Test (GED), and I am only five courses away from completing my Associate of Arts degree in Business Technology. When I took the GED in 2011, I scored in the 95th-percentile of test-takers on the science and reading portions of the exam. Since then, I have maintained a 3.63 cumulative grade point average while earning 43 credits towards my associate's degree through the Palo Verde College Inmate Program.

Additionally, I have worked on my self-awareness and self-control. In August 2011, I successfully completed the Desert Edge Adult School's independent study program on Thinking Skills for Anger Control, and throughout my time at Ironwood State Prison, I have maintained a disciplinary-free record. Every day, I strive to be a model prisoner by taking my job assignments seriously, volunteering to take on additional tasks, and treating members of the staff and other inmates with respect. To this end, I am very grateful to have received letters in support of my application from VEP/College Coordinator Baptiste, Ms. Willcutt, VEP/College Coordinator Dorame, and Officer Pimental, each of whom explicitly commended my strong work ethic and my desire to help.

My proudest accomplishment, however, is my commitment to my Christian faith, which has played a pivotal role in my personal transformation. In prison, I have been devoted to learning more about my faith and applying it to my daily life. I have successfully completed nine courses taught by the Exodus Bible Correspondence School and two Koinonia courses, which used the Bible and Christian fellowship to teach me character and moral values. In addition, as a member of the worship team at Ironwood, I attend the weekly chapel service, and I play guitar and sing in the English and Spanish choirs.

During my incarceration, my faith has given me purpose and a sense of responsibility to myself and my community. Through the "Fight the Good Fight of Faith" portion of The Urban Ministry Institute's Prison Fellowship Discipleship Program, I have been trained to become a minister of the faith, and I have been recognized for my service and dedication to the prison ministry. Ultimately, I hope to use my instruction in Christian ministry to share my story with young men who find themselves in challenging circumstances.

Finally, if I were to be released on parole, I would be surrounded by family and friends who love and support me. Most importantly, my wife Maggie has been by my side at every step of this difficult journey--from our engagement, to our traumatic experience on January 5, 2010, to our marriage on July 10, 2017. I cannot imagine a more understanding and patient partner to help me transition back into society, especially because Maggie works as a professional caretaker for the elderly and for a young boy with autism. In addition, I am so grateful to have received letters of support from my wife, Maggie, my mother, Marilyn; my father, Cesar; my sister, Jessica; my brother, Danny; my father-in-law, Juan Jose; my mother-in-law, Thelma; my sisters-in-law Cindy, Vanessa, and Yesenia; my brother-in-law, Antonio; my cousins, Marlene and Clarissa, my aunt, Maria; my uncle, Sergio; my former attorney, Ms. Benjamini; and our local pastors, Raul and Adam. I am completely overwhelmed by their compassion and generosity. They have offered me places to stay and to help me secure permanent housing; they've offered to help me get my driver's license, to let me borrow their cars, and to help me purchase a car of my own; they've offered to employ me in the short-term, and to help me find permanent employment. I know that the reentry process would not be easy; but I also know that I would always have someone to turn to in a time of need.

In brief, I am confident that my academic, personal, and spiritual development would provide a solid foundation upon which I can build and rebuild my life in society. And I am blessed to have the financial, emotional, and spiritual support of my family and friends. Just as I currently strive to be model prisoner, if I were to be released on parole, I would strive to be a model citizen. As I hope is made clear by my application and my letters of support, I am driven to improving myself and the lives of those around me.

Thank you so much your time and consideration, and I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Cesar Y. Cisneros Jr.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Lamarr Cooks

On October 27, 1991, Lamarr Cooks and Darryl Richard approached Fernando Hernandez and Lillian Martinez while they were walking on the street. Mr. Cooks grabbed Ms. Martinez's purse then pushed her. Mr. Hernandez tried to prevent Ms. Martinez from falling when Mr. Cooks shot him in the face, killing him. Mr. Cooks and Mr. Richard fled with Ms. Martinez's purse, which contained cash, a gold chain, and a bracelet. On July 28, 1993, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Cooks to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Cooks has been incarcerated for over 27 years and has dramatically turned his life around during that time. In his commutation application, Mr. Cooks explained the effect of not having a role model and mentor to steer him away from negative peers. He wrote, "I will continue to be that mentor and role model to my family and those that find themselves going down a negative path." He told a Board investigator that he applied for a commutation because he "wants to show the different person he is now compared to the person he was when he committed this crime," adding that he would like to "share his experiences so other individuals will not take the same path that he did."

Mr. Cooks was only 18 years old when he committed this crime, but has made substantial efforts to rehabilitate himself as well as help others around him. He has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Anger Management, Insight, and Success After Prison. He earned his GED and completed a vocation in Office Services. In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Mr. Cooks for 12 years wrote that Mr. Cooks "has established himself as a highly respected mentor among his peers. I have witnessed his conduct as he leads by example, and he is showing others how to positively transform their lives, into positive, productive members of the community." In 2017, Mr. Cooks was commended by a correctional officer for "his behavior and positive choices," writing, "if the opportunity to return to society were ever given, I believe that inmate Cooks would be a model citizen." In 2017, a correctional officer who has known Mr. Cooks for 15 years commended him for working well with inmates and staff and for being "dependable, respectful and also reliable." Since 2009, Mr. Cooks has participated in the Progressive Programming Facility. He has also taken American Sign Language classes, worked as an Adult Basic Education tutor, and participated in the Prison Letters 4 Struggling Youth program.

Mr. Cooks committed a serious and violent crime against two victims he did not know. However, he has shown remorse and a genuine commitment to his rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Lamarr Cooks to a total of 27 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Exhibit "A"

As Mr. Fernando Hernandez and Ms. Lillian Martinez walked together down the street, my co-defendant and I approached the two. With my illegal gun in hand pointing at Mr. Hernandez, I demanded their money. I grabbed Ms. Martinez purse which then I fatally shot and killed Mr. Fernando Hernandez.

Exhibit "B"

I am requesting a commutation because even though I deserved the sentence I was given, over the years I've demonstrated rehabilitation from thinking, acting and condoning criminal behavior.

I am no longer a child making foolish decisions as a child. I am now a 45 year old man who has learned what rules and laws mean, and to have consideration for others property. I've come to realize my faults, wrong morals, and guidelines I created and adopted as a youth.

I am no longer part of a gang and totally against gang behavior. I am also against drug and alcohol abuse. I will never own, or be in possession of a fire arm and taking the law into my own hands.

I now understand the impact of my life crime and the devastation of it. This will not be forgotten. I took a life of happiness from Mr. Fernando Hernandez; stripping away all his dreams and goals in life. I took Mr. Fernando Hernandez from his parents, family and friends. They will never again enjoy his smile, his presence or his contribution towards them.

I am ashamed, embarrassed, and regret my actions of killing Mr. Fernando Hernandez and victimizing Ms. Lillian Martinez. Mr. Hernandez in no way deserve to have his life taken in such a tragic way.

Through God, and CDCR'S self-help classes, I've learned who I am and what I will be in life no matter what ordeals come my way in life.

To reinsure my poor choices, and criminal behavior will never resurface again, the many self-help classes I attended, and completed has helped me to also recognize, that, the way I was living were outside the norms of society; something that is not tolerated. These classes has also given me new morals to live by such as; compassion, kindness, humility, integrity, love and respect. I now know what remorse and empathy is.

I will always work on myself in my life change, and will continue to make every effort to better myself and those around me.

THANK YOU.

It would be wrong for me to say I should be granted or even deserve a commutation considering the horric crime of murder I committed. It would only be through Mercy and Grace that the Governor would consider granting me a Commutation of Sentence.

Manuel Cuevas

On April 13, 2004, Manuel Cuevas shot and killed his cousin Rene Cuevas, who had impregnated Manuel's wife and who Manuel believed was still sleeping with his wife. On January 13, 2005, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Cuevas to 15 years to life for murder and 10 years for use of a dangerous weapon – a total term of 25 years to life.

Mr. Cuevas has now been incarcerated for almost 15 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Cuevas wrote, "I know how I've lived in ignorance and that I've made and done a grave harm. Irreversible – which it will always be in my mind and heart." During almost 15 years in prison, Mr. Cuevas has been dedicated to his rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct. Mr. Cuevas has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Fathers Behind Bars, Coping Skills, Self-Esteem, and Alternatives to Violence.

Mr. Cuevas also receives above average work ratings and commendations from correctional staff. In 2017, a correctional officer commended Mr. Cuevas for his "exceptional behavior" and wrote, "It is noted that Inmate Cuevas requires minimal supervision to ensure orderly operations. [He] abides by the rules and regulations of the department, is courteous towards others, and displays positive judgment and behavior." In 2013, an Adult Basic Education instructor commended Mr. Cuevas for his behavior and attitude in class. Mr. Cuevas participated in a victims awareness event and made donations to charity. Mr. Cuevas also has substantial family support in the event of his release.

While Mr. Cuevas committed a very serious crime, he has abstained from violence and demonstrated his commitment to his rehabilitation over the course of his incarceration. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Cuevas has earned an earlier opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Manuel Cuevas to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

I proceeded to pull out a firearm out of an briefcase. That was near. The Chooffer took off as he called. The Police. I was taken to The police station & paid a fine. A few day's later I was declared innocent of all charge's.

2.- Briefly describe the circumstance of the crime...

2.- Offense: It was April 13TH. 2004 when Rene Zarate approached me with a knife in hand. My reaction in the circumstances I found myself in with a fear as I never before felt. Made me reach for a gun which was under a mattress near the head part of the bed. I found nowhere to go, so I jumped onto the bed trying to head toward's the door. I fired a shot to hopefully try and scare him. As I was running from him during the chase, the movement of my hand wasn't really aiming toward him. I shot and when I see him fall, I attempted to help him. All to no avail! I couldn't do nothing for him. It became a little confusing to me. I was impacted by this experience and unable to forget and forgive my self, Not knowing what to do cause it all seemed so unbelievable to me. I went to a brother of mine who helped me out. I called 911 and waited for the police to arrive. Little by little my mind began clearing up realing the magnitude of what I had done.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation.

→ around enjoying some happy days with his family. And this would have never taken place, on April 13, 2004. This is all a hope. Even though this may be an impossible thing, how I wish it were so possible for both of us to be with our families. As I've looked over and again how my attitude in this situation could have been different. I could have been more socially active and with my family. I seek this of God and request that an opportunity be considered? My life is placed in your hands, so to say. The change can be seen mainly by those of my family who know me well. My request is to demonstrate, this to them in hopes to be there for them morally, spiritually as well as economically too. For this reason I request of you this commutation?

Respectfully yours.

4.- Provide a brief statement explaining why you...

→ Prison, level IV I went thru Alternative to Violence Project (AVP) began on 8-14-2006 for 20 hours in three days. This program was filled with different ethnic backgrounds. As certain rules were set, little communication took place. As the program proceeded, we were all asked to grab a ball or a doll. As we grabbed this out of a box, we were asked to throw these items at each other. Until there were 20 pieces laying on the floor. We, at the end of this began to laugh, And this was the beginning of a companionship which was not expected. Who could've known we didn't have to be enemies. We then sat down, each one with our backs to each other. This without knowing who we told our story to. This was a preparation so when we faced each other for a bout 10 minutes, sharing more of our story we began with our childhood. The next step was to encourage one another to continue with our story. To Finalize the program, we were one group or I should say, We felt as though we were a part of a society, looking for a change. Something happened within the group that took me back to my infancy. Pondering the memories when I was a good kid. I was marginalized by society who watched me grow. For unknown reasons I grew up speaking with a speech impairment. To where, I stuttered, and everyone made fun of me and tried to fight with me. I had teachers who also released their anger upon me when I didn't understand what they taught. I was finally sent to a special educational school, with those who had similar disabilities. This was a Grand Benefit for me. My parents are the ones who deserve all the credit. There were still moments to where boys my age bullied me, repeated every word I needed to learn how to defend myself. I grew in a city in Mexico, D.F. where life was not just for society itself. Especially, since there exists so much violence there, one learns to not call the Police, due to the fact that fears is placed within us by them. The era in which I grew up, I witnessed when Officials pulled over cars just rob citizens of their property. Once when I was headed home from elementary school, when again, I witnessed 30-35 students with their hands up against the wall. As I cautiously ~~to~~ walked home trying not to be seen. I was ordered. To come near and as I did. The Official began hitting me with the handle of the gun and insulting me. I by instinct ran for my life as I never before ran. Reaching home, my brothers saw I was scared. Asked me "what happened?" I told them every thing, and they all laughed at me. Telling me, "not to worry about it!" I was only eight years old and I was frightened of the police. The fear grew worst, that without reason they would pull us over and Rob us of our watches and our sunglasses too. There were two occasions when the police assisted me when I called them.

I know how I've lived in ignorance and that I've made and done a grave harm. Irreversible - which it will always be in my mind and heart. And this will stay in those person's I have injured. I am hopeful that maybe one day will come to where I am forgiven by my victim's - Family? Even though, I know this is not an easy thing to be forgotten. I was told by my wife, that her sister wanted to speak to me. As I spoke to her, I heard the excitement in her voice. As she reminisist on times that were good in our Family. Out of nowhere, she began to cry mixed with sorrow and pain.

Stating to me, "why Manuel, why?" We could have helped you! why didn't you ask for help? you destroyed everything Manuel. As I listened, I became Mute. Not knowing what to say, I was filled with guilt, an unknown feeling of deep pain. Filled me and void. not knowing what to do. I didn't want to cry cause my peer's were all around me. Pride got the best of me and I didn't want them to see me cry. When I was in the cell, I understood the immenseness of the crime that this would affect many people and this would continue to do so.

I wish to share with you a story.

which is similar to the life of an ignorant person. There was once a logger who ~~dec~~ decided to cut down a tree. As he looked up, he saw a nest in the branches. He decided to take the only egg and lay it with a nest of chicken's. After some day's the chick's hatched out. the egg's. The Eagle included. As the eagle grew with the chicken's scratching and pecking the ground. As time passed, the eagle chick looked up to the sky and asked the mother hen. Mother, what is that in the sky?

The Mother hen responded to him. "That is an eagle, it is a bird of prey, it is a powerful bird that can soar high above the clouds." The eagle continued to peck at the ground.

This eagle lived a life as a chicken, cause nobody told it what it was capable of doing. So this eagle's life was that of a chicken and in ignorance and not for what it was created for.

I lived in ignorance, this is how I felt, and understood that society has it's own set authority to assist and find solutions to problems to allow us not to fear the authority figures. I hope's that solution's can be found in communicating with one another? Hoping that with honesty solution's will come to pass. Leaving one's Pride and Machismo behind, understanding that these bring upon us destruction of oneself and that of the society, aswell.

David Dougall and his crime partner committed a string of robberies. During the last robbery, Mr. Dougall demanded that Jose Luis Montes give him his car keys. Mr. Dougall shot and killed Mr. Montes after he tried to flee. On June 18, 1997, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Dougall to life without the possibility of parole for murder, plus three years for robbery and a five year firearm enhancement – a total term of life without the possibility of parole, plus 8 years.

Mr. Dougall was 18 years old when he committed this crime and has been incarcerated for close to 23 years. In his application for commutation, Mr. Dougall wrote, "I've spent the last 21 years making amends for my mistakes . . . I have committed myself to social, academic, and psychological rehabilitation."

Mr. Dougall's rehabilitation has been extraordinary. Mr. Dougall has lived on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard that holds its residents to high standards of conduct and offers unique rehabilitative opportunities, for five years. He has also participated in self-help courses, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, Houses of Healing, and Men of Honor. In addition, Mr. Dougall earned an A.A. degree in biblical studies, and is currently enrolled in college courses at Coastline College. He also earned his GED and a certificate in counseling, as well two vocations. Mr. Dougall has been a dog trainer in Paws for Life since 2016, and a team leader since 2017. In July 2016, when Los Angeles County was in the middle of the Santa Clarita Sand Fire, Mr. Dougall helped to evacuate 50 deaf dogs. An assistant warden commended Mr. Dougall for "ensuring the welfare of these dogs" while "working 12-hour days in extreme heat."

Mr. Dougall's remarkable transformation has been noted by correctional staff. A correctional officer praised Mr. Dougall for having "a very optimistic view in everything he does. I have personally witnessed the tremendous strides Dougall has made to better himself. He has realistically evaluated the restraints and limitations of prison life and decided to be personally responsible for using available opportunities for improvement. It is my opinion that if released, Dougall would adapt to society and when confronted with any negative situation he would choose the correct path." Another correctional officer commended Mr. Dougall for his attitude and ethics, writing, "Dougall regularly demonstrated a positive attitude and strong set of work ethics. . . . Given Dougall's commitment to changing his life for the better, it is this writer's opinion if given the opportunity, that Dougall would have a seamless transition back into society and make a meaningful contribution as a responsible member of his community." Finally, a correctional officer wrote, "Dougall has always been polite, respectful, and carried himself in a manner that is conducive to the goals of the Progressive Programming Facility. . . . He also carries himself in a mature and stable fashion, setting an example for other inmates to follow. Every inmate incarcerated in [the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation] has decisions to make on a daily basis. It is clear the decisions being made by Dougall are of good nature and geared toward his own self-rehabilitation."

Although facing a prison term with no hope for release, Mr. Dougall has distinguished himself by maintaining a positive attitude and advancing his education. For these reasons, Mr. Dougall has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of David Dougall to a total of 23 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is David Dougall and I humbly appreciate you taking the time to read through my letter. I am submitting this letter in hopes of getting a hearing. I am currently serving Life Without the Possibility of Parole (LWOP) and I have been incarcerated for over 21 years.

This letter is not a plea to express innocence or disregard my crimes. I am sitting in our prison system today because of the many choices I made as a teenager who lacked respect for authority but also lacked in adult supervision and leadership. My path to prison, as odd as it may sound, has actually led me to a more positive path in my character and my motivation. If I had not come to prison, I believe that I may not have made it to see my 25th birthday; I would have died either by drugs or by the amounts of gangs that surrounded me in my youth. Prison has helped me to see how senseless my actions were and to take responsibility for the pain I have caused both my family and the Montes family. Every day that passes by, I am aware of what I did and the huge loss I have caused their family. I cannot undo the harm I have caused the Montes family, but my daily prayers include pleas for their forgiveness.

Nearly two decades ago (almost my 19th birthday), my journey in prison began with some very different choices. Those choices could have easily taken me down the path of destruction and prison politics. However, early on I made the decision to make positive changes in my life regardless if I was locked up. Like many of the youth from my neighborhood, I had the shame of coming to prison with a Life Without the Possibility of Parole sentence. I could have given up, but those people who have showed me grace throughout the years in prison, would not allow me to do so.

As a young boy, I did not do well in primary school. Although I could not read or write, the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) system kept passing me to the next highest grade. Every teacher would pass me on to the next without a second thought of the negative effects I would later face in school. I was in middle school when I was diagnosed as being dyslexic. I have faced overwhelming obstacles and could have readily admitted defeat, but I learn to have faith in myself, I learn to look to those who loved me for strength. Through their constant words of encouragement, I was able to see beyond my self-inflicted limitations and strive to develop the positive qualities they saw in me. It is because of their constant encouragement that I was able to find the courage and determination to teach myself how to read and write while being in prison.

With the same determination I made a goal to finish high school. Although I could not get a diploma, I successfully achieved my goal by passing the General Educational Development test (GED) in 2013. I also achieve my second goal by earning my Associate's Degree in Biblical Counseling, earlier this year (2017). I've also enrolled myself at Coastline Community College, I'm studying and taking classes for a degree in Social and Behavioral Sciences as well as Arts and Humanities. I have taken several other classes, (N.A., Parenting, Conflict Resolution, House of Healing, Re-Entry Workshop, Insight, Prep Turning Point, Great Truths of the Bible, Anger Management, Stress Reduction, and Victim Awareness) that have been offered while I have been in prison. I have taken these classes not only to better myself, but also to be able to help others on the same path as myself. I hope to one day be able to use my story and what I've learned over the passed 21 years to help at risk youth and prevent them from making poor choices. Currently I am also part of the Paws for Life Service Training Program where we train rescue dogs to be service dogs for Vets with PTSD. I've been doing this program over two years now and it's the first time since being in prison that I have had the ability to care for something other than myself. It is an amazing feeling to be contributing to society.

Despite my circumstances, I have kept a positive attitude and made positive choices and changes for myself as well as those around me. I am asking (if you can believe in a man once again) that you please accept this petition for consideration. I am seeking this opportunity to make amends to the family I have wrong as well as be able to have a chance to be a positive contributor to society. If you were to accept my petition for a sentence modification I would have the privilege of standing before a Parole Board and prove that my actions support my rehabilitation.

Your time and consideration of this petition is greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

David Dargatzis

Mario Duran

On January 28, 1988, Mario Duran, Carlos Ortega, and Jose Fuentes entered the house of Luis Rios-Martinez in order to burglarize it. Mr. Martinez's housekeeper Herlinda Organista, his wife Brenda Palacios, and his mother Paula Rios were home at the time. The men demanded money and threatened the women before searching the house for other valuables. When Mr. Martinez interrupted them during the burglary, Mr. Duran shot and killed him. On March 11, 1994, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Duran to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a two year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Duran has now been incarcerated for 26 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Duran acknowledged the senseless nature of the crime and the pain he has caused the Rios-Martinez family. He wrote, "My callous and coward[ly] actions caused Mr. Rios-Martinez's family and friends immense pain, grief and loss, and forever changed their lives, for which I am profoundly sorry, as well for negatively impacting the community and society." He told a Board of Parole Hearings investigator that there is no way he can take back what happened, but he has worked on himself and believes that he is a different person now.

During over two and a half decades in prison with no possibility of parole, Mr. Duran has demonstrated his commitment to his rehabilitation. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct, over 24 years ago. Mr. Duran resided on an honor yard for many years. He completed vocational training in laundry, industrial health and safety, and silk screening. He is currently taking college classes. Mr. Duran has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Victim Sensitivity, the Long Term Offenders Program, Alcoholics Anonymous, Guiding Rage Into Power, and Men for Honor. Mr. Duran acted as a facilitator for the Getting Out by Going In program and trained to become a peer educator in the Peer Medical Education Program.

Mr. Duran's positive programming and behavior garnered him excellent work ratings and commendations from correctional staff. In 2016, a superintendent with the California Prison Industry Authority wrote that during Mr. Duran's ten years of work in the laundry facility, he "has worked at various positions making every effort to learn all aspects of the industry." A work supervisor commended Mr. Duran in 2015 for being "highly proficient in the operation of multiple industrial laundry machines." A self-help sponsor wrote in 2015 that Mr. Duran "was an excellent student, who regularly participated in class discussion, had perfect attendance, and was an asset to the class."

Mr. Duran has the support of his family in the event of his release. Mr. Duran's ex-wife wrote in support of clemency and noted that throughout his 26 years of incarceration, he has continued to mentor their children from prison. In a letter supporting clemency for his father, Mr. Duran's son wrote, "My father was instrumental in my graduating high school and installing good moral values in my life." He continued, "My father always told me he didn't want me to walk in the same destructive path he took, as he has learned from his bad choices, and now deeply regrets the harm and pain he caused in his past."

Mr. Duran committed a senseless crime at a young age. But in the many years since then, he has made a serious commitment to turning his life around. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Duran has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Mario Duran to a total of 26 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th day of December, 2018.

coward actions caused Mr. Rios-Martinez family and friends immense pain, grief and loss, and forever changed their lives, for which I am profoundly sorry, as well for negatively impacting the community and society. Post-2000, I have shown remorse and a sincere desire to give a true account of my role, and that of the my companions (Fuentez, Palacios, Avendano-Palacios & Ortega), in the crimes, to assist to further the investigation. My assisting the police (Huntington Beach Police Department, Det Mack) helped locate Carlos ORTEGA, suspect wanted in connection with the felony-murder offenses, and his arrest was effected May 21, 2002. I have continued to offer any honest assistance with the case, because it is the right thing to do for the victims and society. My full, fair and truthful cooperation with the police was not considered when the sentence of LWOP was pronounced and direct appeal denied, as it has occurred post sentence and direct appeal.

I now have great respect toward law enforcement, and I will never participate in any criminal activity. I have matured, grown responsibly and remained disciplinary-free during my 23-plus-years of incarceration in CDCR with the important availability of education, self-help and social awareness groups. I have always programmed accordingly while in custody, and I have positively participated in the Honor Yard and Progressive Programming Facility (PPF) since the end of 2000, at CSP-LAC, as my C-File reflects. This positive environment has provided the tools and contributed to my positive growth and deep understanding of the kind of senseless person I was at age 20 with my distorted and evil thinking, and how necessary my continuous positive change is so I can respect others' life, safety, freedom, well-being and property. I pray for the healing of my victims, Rios-Martinez family, friends and community.

I am an El Salvadorian national and I have sought the support of an El Salvadorian Association, ASAPLE, headed by Ms. Elisa JURADO, who with El Salvadorian consulates in California and inmate families, together work to ensure the chances of success of inmates who will be released and integrated back to the community and society in our native country. My sister Ms. Aurelia Miranda has turned in support letters on my behalf to the CDCR External Communications Office, Mr. Rivas.

My appeals are exhausted. Due to the felony-murder rule, LWOP was the only sentence the court could give me. Under my circumstances, I believe that a commutation, reduction-of-sentence is appropriate. I greatly appreciate your consideration.

Mr. Duran:

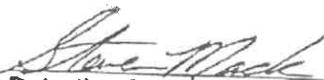

I have received your letter dated October 24, 2000. I am very interested in hearing what you have to say in regards to the other involved parties. I am just as interested today as I was when I spoke to you in 1993.

This case is still open pending the identity and arrest of all involved. I am more than willing to come and listen to what you have to say. You have to understand there must be corroborating evidence to substantiate what you tell me. I cannot simply rely on your statement. However, absolute honesty is a must. You cannot omit anything or add any untrue circumstances.

You must, as you state in your letter, "give a complete account of the facts surrounding the incident, and fully cooperate with law enforcement officials, truthfully, completely, and fairly." My willingness to listen to you in no way suggests your receiving any benefits, consideration, or promises of leniency. I will, however, attempt to prove or disprove all statements you give.

Should you still be willing to assist in this investigation, please contact me. You may call me collect at (714) 536-5507. My normal workdays and hours are Monday through Thursday, 7:00 AM to 5:00 PM. If access to a phone is unavailable, then you can write me at the address you have.

Jose Esquero

On December 28, 1996, patrol officers stopped a vehicle driven by Mr. Esquero. During a search of the car, officers retrieved a chrome revolver and a foil wrapper containing several pieces of rock cocaine. On January 31, 2000, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Esquero to 25 years to life for felon in possession of a firearm and 2 years for two prior prison terms – a total term of 27 years to life. Mr. Esquero is eligible for a parole hearing in 2020.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Esquero explained how he has modified his thinking since coming to prison, and how prison has changed him for the better. Mr. Esquero stated, "I am far different from the person I was twenty-one years ago. I have renounced all gang affiliations. . . . I am a lot older now and have matured a great deal in prison. I have made amends with myself and reconciled with God, and I now see the error of my wrong ways. I have made the effort of rehabilitation and have completed many group therapy sessions." Mr. Esquero told a Board of Parole Hearings investigator, "I am a changed man from when I came into prison. I think I can contribute to society and be a father to my sons, who need me. I want to be a father and be out there for my mother before she dies. I just want to work and live the rest of my years on a positive note."

Mr. Esquero is now 56 years old and has served over 22 years in prison. Over the last two decades, Mr. Esquero has avoided gangs and demonstrated a commitment to rehabilitation. He has been disciplined only four times, and only once for physical violence, over 20 years ago. Mr. Esquero participated in self-help groups, including Anger Management, Emotional Awareness, Stress Management, and Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous. He also successfully completed truck driver training. Mr. Esquero has earned the respect of staff. In 2017, a correctional officer wrote that he found Mr. Esquero's work performance to be "exceptional," and noted that he completes his work with no complaints. The officer wrote regarding Mr. Esquero, "He has displayed great skill through every work detail assigned to him. He has maintained a good working relationship with staff and inmates." The officer noted that Mr. Esquero is a "valuable asset," whose "effort and ability has been recognized as exceptional." The officer concluded that Mr. Esquero "should be commended for his work performance as well as his ethics. It has been a pleasure to have supervised Inmate Esquero."

In addition, Mr. Esquero's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Esquero. For all these reasons, I believe that Mr. Esquero has earned an earlier opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jose Esquero to a total of 22 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation.

The circumstances of my crimes are non-violent. I am serving a three strike sentence of twenty-seven years to life for possession of weapon (gun). In my 1997 trial I tried explaining to the judge that the gun found in my car belonged to the passenger. At this time I have realized the three strikes law was harsh back then. Nevertheless, it was unreasonable to convict me and give me a life sentence when the passenger, whom the gun belonged to, was let go.

My second crime used against me as a strike was a prior conviction from 1987. It was a kidnap (Penal Code 207). Considering the circumstances, it was non-violent. I was given a low base term of three years for the so-called kidnap, with five years added for an enhancement of a juvenile prior (P.C. 211 armed robbery). According to Prop. 21, this is an invalid strike and should not have been used when I was sentenced for this current term. As far as the kidnap, I never robbed the man. I had asked for a ride, and I did not physically harm him, nor touch him at all. A simulated verbal threat was made, and by law, this no longer constitutes a felony.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation.

I have been incarcerated twenty-one years now, and I feel I have served enough time for a possession offense. I am a changed man, far different from the person I was twenty-one years ago. I have renounced all gang affiliations. I have not been a disciplinary problem while incarcerated, showing that I can follow rules and obey the laws when released.

Being a layman of the law when I was convicted, I failed to recognize then what I know now. My rights were violated by the attorney who represented me at trial. I was a victim of an age old case of travesty of justice. [see copy of State Bar findings attached.] The state Bar stated, " I was deprived of effective assistance of counsel in 1997."

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation.

I am a lot older now and have matured a great deal in prison. I have been incarcerated a long time, and that time has allowed me to reflect on all my past mistakes. I have made amends with myself and reconciled with God, and I now see the error of my wrong ways. I have made the effort of rehabilitation and have completed many group therapy sessions. [see attached Laudatory Chronos]. Recently, while working in the prison visiting room, I was awarded a good work conduct chrono from my supervising officer. This proves I am ready to go out into society and be a productive working citizen. I pledge to be mindful of all the thoughts and decisions that I make in my life.

I have proved that I can follow the rules and obey the laws, and I am not a risk or danger to society. For all these reasons, I respectfully request to be granted a commutation of my sentence. Thank you.

Roberto Esquivel

In 1996, 17-year-old Roberto Esquivel and a friend followed Carlos Salgado because he was a rival gang member. When Mr. Salgado stopped in front of a friend's house, Mr. Esquivel and his friend fired multiple shots, hitting Mr. Salgado once and killing him. On December 8, 1997, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Esquivel to 48 years to life for murder, attempted murder, and two firearm enhancements.

Mr. Esquivel is now 39 years old and has spent 22 years in prison. During that time, he dropped out of his gang and instead dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He earned his high school diploma, and A.A. degree, and an A.S. degree. Mr. Esquivel has participated in numerous self-help programs, including Celebrate Recovery, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Alternatives to Violence, and Victims Awareness. He has also facilitated multiple classes for his peers, taking a leadership role and encouraging others to follow a positive path. Mr. Esquivel earned a certification as an alcohol and drug counselor. He volunteers for a juvenile deterrent program, through which he and other inmates mentor at-risk young people and encourage them to stay away from criminal activity. He has also been commended by several prison volunteers for his positive behavior and attitude. In 2017, a self-help facilitator praised Mr. Esquivel's dedication in groups, and wrote, "Mr. Esquivel is thoughtful and introspective; modest and willing to take criticism or feedback; intuitive and compassionate towards others; and inquisitive, open to a broad worldview, and willing to learn from others' expertise." Another group sponsor wrote, "It is my opinion that Mr. Esquivel is a great example of a prisoner who is ready for parole, who has rehabilitated himself and a man who has much potential and desire to contribute to society once released."

It is clear that Mr. Esquivel is no longer the teenager who committed this senseless, gang-related crime. During his two decades in prison, he has shown a genuine commitment to improving himself and turning his life around, and has encouraged others to do the same. For these reasons, I believe Mr. Esquivel has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Roberto Esquivel to a total of 22 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

The Honorable Edmund G. Brown, Jr.
Governor of the State of California

Attention: Legal Affairs Secretary

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Dear Governor Brown:

I am the attorney for Mr. Roberto Esquivel (CDC No. K87253). On behalf of Mr. Esquivel, I am petitioning you to commute his sentence. On December 8, 1997, Mr. Esquivel was sentenced to 48 years to life for a crime he committed on September 1, 1996, when he was 17 years old; a crime for which he takes complete responsibility, and for which he experiences regret and remorse every day of his life.

That crime, however, was the product of Mr. Esquivel's horrifying childhood environment. Mr. Esquivel was born to an immigrant family in which his father was an abusive alcoholic and his older brother was a gang member who was gunned down by a rival gang. Mr. Esquivel, therefore, had no chance at a normal life. Instead, his childhood and early adolescence were shaped by gang values, violence and physical danger. Mr. Esquivel made poor and tragic choices, but forces beyond his control often dictated these choices. At age 17, like most children, he lacked the judgment and maturity to reject his own family situation.

Since 1997, Mr. Esquivel has turned his life around in prison. As detailed in the attached exhibits, he has made serious and successful efforts to improve himself, has obtained the education he gave up outside prison walls, and made himself into a successful and functioning adult. He poses no risk to society and hopes to counsel children like him, at risk for gang involvement and gang violence. Accordingly, Mr. Esquivel respectfully requests that you commute his sentence of 48 years to life to a sentence of 15 years to life.

For the reasons stated in this letter brief, I now petition your office for clemency on behalf of Mr. Esquivel, and formally request a commutation of sentence.

I. CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE LIFE CRIME

According to the appellant's opening brief on this case: (See Exhibit A, Appellant's Opening Brief.)

At age 16, Mr. Esquivel began carrying a loaded gun in his shoe for protection against the neighborhood gangs who tried to kill his brother. One of Mr. Esquivel's associates was Edy Ramirez, a 20 year-old Marine reservist and member of a group who called themselves the "All Insane" ("AI") tagging crew. In 1996, AI was feuding with a rival tagging crew who called themselves "Hard and Insane" ("HAI"). On the afternoon of September 1, 1996, Ramirez picked up Mr. Esquivel at a friend's house and the two began to drive.

Mr. Esquivel soon realized that Ramirez was following another car. Carlos Salgado, an 18-year-old HAI member, was driving the car that Ramirez was following. Salgado's girlfriend, Glenda Ramirez, Glenda's baby, and Glenda's two younger sisters were passengers in the car. Salgado and the passengers realized that Ramirez and Mr. Esquivel were following. Salgado entered the driveway of a friend's apartment building, parked, exited the car, and began to walk quickly towards some men, including William Molina, who were standing outside the apartment building. Salgado said to Molina, "Some guys are chasing me. Go get something." Then, Salgado retrieved a baseball bat from his car and began walking towards the passenger side of Ramirez's vehicle. Upon seeing Salgado coming towards the car, Mr. Esquivel kicked off his shoe and took out the gun. Mr. Esquivel thought he was going to get hit with the bat. In response, he shot several times striking Carlos Salgado and nearly missing William Molina. Ramirez sped away. Meanwhile, Salgado died of a gunshot wound to the back.

On September 6, 1996, officers Lujan and Durdan were on routine patrol when they spotted a group of fifteen young men wearing gang attire near a fast-food restaurant. The officers observed one of the males remove a small gun from his shoes, so the officers requested an additional unit to respond. Officer Buchanan arrived on the scene, detained Mr. Esquivel, and recovered a .25 caliber, chrome handgun concealed inside Mr. Esquivel's shoe. The shell casing from the scene of the crime and the bullet that was removed from Salgado matched the gun found on Mr. Esquivel. Police also noted that Ramirez's silver Honda was parked near the restaurant.

Mr. Esquivel and co-defendant Edy Ramirez were charged with one count of murder of Carlos Salgado in violation of section 187, subdivision (a), and one count of attempted murder of William Molina in violation of sections 664/187, subdivision (a). It was further alleged that the murder was perpetrated by means of discharging a firearm from a motor vehicle within the meaning of section 190.2, subdivision (a)(21), and with personal use of a firearm within the meaning of section 12022.5, subdivision (a). Mr. Esquivel pled not guilty. The cases were severed and tried separately. Ultimately, the court found Mr. Esquivel guilty of all counts and sentenced him to 48 years to life.

II. MR. ESQUIVEL'S REASONS FOR REQUESTING COMMUTATION

Mr. Esquivel has been incarcerated for 21 years – over half of his life. While in prison, however, Mr. Esquivel has matured and dramatically altered his priorities in life. He takes full responsibility for his crime and the mistakes he made as a young adolescent and as young adult in prison. Mr. Esquivel recognizes the ripple effect of harm to the victim, his family, and the larger community because of his crime. As a result, he has dedicated his time in prison to helping as many people as he can, both within and beyond the facility where he is housed. Mr. Esquivel is a changed man who is eager to give back to the society he was unable. In light of Mr. Esquivel's positive development in prison, his youth and family circumstances at the time of the crime, and the length of his sentence, Mr. Esquivel is requesting a commutation of his sentence.

III. REASONS THAT MR. ESQUIVEL'S SENTENCE SHOULD BE COMMUTED

A. REHABILITATION

Mr. Esquivel has rehabilitated himself in several important ways. First, he has done remarkable work furthering his education. Since incarceration, Mr. Esquivel has earned a high school diploma from Nationwide Academy High School graduating with a 3.63 cumulative GPA. In addition, he has earned an Associate of Arts degree and an Associate of Science degree from Palo Verde College. He has also earned a credential as a Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (CADC) from the California Consortium of Addiction Programs and Professionals (CCAPP). This credential permits him to work as a drug counselor in state licensed recovery facilities. (See Exhibit B, Laudatory Chronos and Certificates.)

Mr. Esquivel's continued involvement in self-help classes – including Criminals & Gang Members Anonymous, "The Work" seminar, Ready4Life Character Development Training, Alternatives to Violence Project, Discover Your True North, Million Leaders Mandate, Kingian Nonviolence Conflict Reconciliation, Veterans Transition Center Substance Abuse Program, Alternatives to Violence Project, and the Success Stories Program – has helped him process traumatic events – both those he experienced and those he caused. (See Exhibit B, Laudatory Chronos and Certificates.)

In addition, Mr. Esquivel has also found a way to give back by mentoring other inmates and at-risk youth, showing them they have alternative paths, as well as demonstrating that there is life after gang membership. To that end, he has held numerous leadership roles in prison including Celebrate Recovery Inside Facilitator, Health Care Services Division Education Unit Peer Educator, Center for Council Facilitator, Leadership4Life Facilitator, Balanced Reentry Activity Group (BRAG) Facilitator, and Life Cycle Volunteer. (See Exhibit B, Laudatory Chronos and Certificates.)

Moreover, Mr. Esquivel has maintained consistent employment in prison demonstrating that he will be able to sustain employment after release.

Mr. Esquivel recognizes how fortunate he is to have the programming, structure and companionship that the CDCR has offered him. He has taken the necessary steps towards rehabilitation by removing himself from the negative environment of prison politics. He has transformed himself into a model inmate by continuing his pursuit of self-growth through education, positive programming, and self-reflection. In short, Roberto Esquivel, after a chaotic youth in prison, has become a mature, reflective man who wants and deserves a chance to give back to society.

B. MR. ESQUIVEL'S LIFE CIRCUMSTANCES AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME

Mr. Esquivel's family circumstances during his childhood and adolescence were tumultuous, abusive, and largely governed by gang dynamics beyond his control. Mr. Esquivel's parents immigrated to Los Angeles from El Salvador in 1977 and Roberto was born on August 7, 1979. While Mr. Esquivel's mother was generally attentive, his father was an alcoholic who physically abused him, his older brother, and his younger sister. (See Exhibit C, Life History Draft, The Victim and the Villainy.)

On the other hand, Mr. Esquivel enjoyed a close relationship with his older brother who, as an adolescent, became a Rockwood Street Gang member. In 1995, rival gang members shot Mr. Esquivel's brother in the street. Ultimately, his brother survived and recovered after spending several months in the hospital. Meanwhile, the family continued to unravel. (See Exhibit C, Life History Draft, The Victim and the Villainy.)

While his brother recovered, Mr. Esquivel was left to fend for himself. Mr. Esquivel's mother continuously occupied herself caring for his recuperating brother while his father, consumed with alcoholism, continued to be absent. Mr. Esquivel grew cold and indignant. He also began abusing drugs and associating with other at-risk teenagers. (See Exhibit C, Life History Draft, The Victim and the Villainy.) When rival gang members began threatening to harm his family, he felt there was no choice but to obtain a gun and become the family's protector.

It was under these circumstances that Mr. Esquivel eventually committed his life crime.

C. THE SIGNIFICANCE OF MR. ESQUIVEL'S AGE AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME

Mr. Esquivel was 17 at the time he committed this crime. The courts have consistently viewed youthful age as a mitigating factor in guilt and in sentencing. In Roper v. Simmons (2005) 543 U.S. 551, the United States Supreme Court found that, even in the most serious murder cases, youthful offenders cannot with reliability be classified among the worst offenders. (Id. at 569). As compared to adults, young offenders have a "lack of maturity and an underdeveloped sense of responsibility," they "are more vulnerable or susceptible to negative influences and outside pressure," and their character is "not as well formed.” (Id. at 569-570). Five years later in Graham v. Florida (2010) 560 U.S. 48, the Supreme Court went further in its analysis and recognized that the same differences between youths and adults are relevant to the constitutionality of sentences, and banned life without the possibility of parole (LWOP) for juveniles who commit non-homicide offenses. (Id. at 74-75.) The Court repeated Roper’s reasoning that because youthful offenders have lessened culpability, they are less deserving of the most severe punishments. (Id. at 75). Finally, the California Supreme Court extended Graham’s holding to a type of sentence that is particularly common in California: functional LWOP for non-homicide crimes, concluding that such sentences are per se unconstitutional. (People v. Caballero (2012) 55 Cal.4th 262, 268-269.)

These cases alone would entitle Mr. Esquivel to sentencing relief. However, the California Legislature, recognizing the magnitude of having tens of thousands of young people serving long sentences, has created the Youth Offender Parole Hearing to deal with this problem. Juvenile offenders – and now many young adult offenders – are entitled to early hearings, at which they have the opportunity to prove that they are ready to reenter society, at 15, 20 or 25 years.

The dates of these hearings, however, do not reflect the individualized culpability of each youthful offender – a requirement under the Graham-Miller-Montgomery line of cases. (See, e.g., People v. Gutierrez (2014) 58 Cal.4th 1354, 1378 [“[I]mposition of the harshest punishment on a juvenile requires individualized sentencing that takes into account an offender’s ‘youth (and all that accompanies it)’”] quoting Miller v. Alabama (2012) 132 S.Ct. 2455, 2464, 2469.)

This “one-size-fits-all” parole scheme cannot comport with these individualized sentencing requirements. For example, the fact that Mr. Esquivel was 17 years of age at the time of his crime, the fact that he faced special burdens as a child, and the fact that he has made tremendous strides in maturity and rehabilitation should be reflected in his parole eligibility date, not merely his ability to make a case for parole. To compare, under current law, a person with no mitigating circumstances, who committed multiple murders at age 25 and has made no progress while incarcerated will get a Youth Offender Parole Hearing at precisely the same time as Mr. Esquivel: 25 years. Although Mr. Esquivel’s excellent record of rehabilitation, which should be considered at his parole hearing, will give him a better chance of achieving release, his mitigating circumstances should advance the date of that hearing to earlier than 25 years.

As the U.S. Supreme Court recognized in Herrera v. Collins (1993) 506 U.S. 390 at page 415, “[e]xecutive clemency has provided the “fail safe” in our criminal justice system.” Although in Herrera, the death penalty was at issue, it is generally accepted that executive clemency is an appropriate remedy for an unjust sentence, especially when there is no other remedy at law. This is the case for Mr. Esquivel. While the creation of Youth Offender Parole Hearings was an enormously important step to address the widespread injustice of sentencing young offenders to long sentences, it should not blind the state to the fact that some youthful offenders deserve even further relief.

Mr. Esquivel is precisely one of those youthful offenders. Had Mr. Esquivel been charged today, at age 17, he would have been guaranteed an attorney before being interrogated by the police. (Welf. & Inst. Code § 625.6) He would have received a transfer hearing pursuant to Proposition 57, where his background and immaturity could have been explored. (Welf. & Inst. Code § 707(b).) The judge would have had the discretion to reduce or strike his weapon enhancement, to make his sentence more proportional to his culpability. (Pen. Code § 12022.5(c).) But in 1996, as a child facing a long life sentence, Mr. Esquivel had none of these protections. Nor did he have a proper sentencing hearing, during which he could present mitigation evidence. These laws now exist because of a widespread recognition that the then existing scheme, and the resulting sentences, violate the U.S. and California constitutions, as well as human dignity. A parole hearing for Mr. Esquivel after 25 years, while very welcome, is too long a delay. It is manifestly unjust.

For these reasons, when considering the facts of the life crime, and the impulsivity and poor judgment displayed, Mr. Esquivel's age at the time – only 17 years old – should be deemed a mitigating factor for purposes of a reduction in sentence.

D. POST-RELEASE PLANS AND COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Mr. Esquivel has been preparing for life after prison for almost a decade. He has seized as many opportunities for vocational training as possible, in an effort to equip himself with skills for when he is paroled. He earned his high school diploma, two AA degrees, a credential from the California Consortium of Addiction Programs and Professionals (CCAPP), and is currently employed in the Education Department in the prison. Upon his parole, he plans on maintaining strict self-discipline and only going to work and then going home. He does not want to intentionally or accidentally put himself in any position that will threaten his parole and life.

Though Mr. Esquivel's brother is now deceased, his mother, father, and sister still live together in Los Angeles, where he will be paroled. His father has become a born-again Christian, has embraced sobriety, and has renounced his abusive, neglectful past. Mr. Esquivel is excited to reunite with his family.

Additionally, Mr. Esquivel is a client of Loyola Law School's Juvenile Innocence and Fair Sentencing (JIFS) Clinic, which works with its clients through their reentry to ensure their successful and productive transition into the community. The JIFS Clinic, one of three clinics at Loyola Law School's Center for Juvenile Law & Policy, is committed to the Center's founding ideal of "holistic representation," which means that the Clinic, its students and attorneys, are not just committed to Mr.

Esquivel's release, but to his successful reintegration into society. In the past, law students from the JIFS Clinic have helped clients locate transitional housing, obtain identification documents, find jobs, and connect with family members. JIFS students have accompanied clients to their parole appointments, transitional housing placements, and substance abuse groups. Most importantly, because of its connection to the legal community, the JIFS Clinic has connected clients to at-risk youth, where lifer parolees have unique credibility. Accordingly, the JIFS Clinic, as it has done with its other clients, will connect Mr. Esquivel to the appropriate resources, services, and support systems he needs in order to become the contributing member of society he aspires to be.

IV. CONCLUSION

Mr. Esquivel will never forget the crime that put him in prison. He takes full responsibility for murdering Carlos Salgado, shooting at William Molina, and subsequently altering many people's lives for the worse. He is ashamed of his actions and deeply sorry for committing this impulsive crime. In the 21 years that Mr. Esquivel has been incarcerated, he has matured, received an education, obtained practical job training, and pursued every available avenue for service to others. For the reasons stated above, justice will lie in this case if Mr. Esquivel is granted clemency and commutation of sentence.

On behalf of Mr. Esquivel and his family, I respectfully ask that Mr. Esquivel's sentence be commuted to 15 years to life. Thank you in advance for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Christopher Hawthorne (SB 210578)

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Huey Ferguson

In January 1994, Huey Ferguson was observed entering the home of Ruth Roberts and exiting with a television set. Ms. Roberts was later discovered in her home deceased from a stab wound. On March 3, 1994, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Ferguson to life without the possibility of parole plus 1 year for murder and a deadly weapon enhancement. Mr. Ferguson maintains that he did not commit this crime.

Mr. Ferguson is now 67 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 26 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Ferguson wrote regarding his time incarcerated, "I actually have had the opportunity to grow in many ways." He added that while in prison he has learned good work habits and improved his social skills. During more than two decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Mr. Ferguson has made efforts to improve himself. He has participated in self-help programming, including Alcoholics Anonymous and Second Chance Group. He has also spent his time in prison consistently employed and received positive work ratings from his supervisors. Mr. Ferguson successfully lived in the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard that holds its residents to high standards of conduct and offers unique rehabilitative opportunities, for several years starting in 2011. In 2017, a correctional supervising cook wrote that Ferguson "has always been polite and courteous towards staff. He has demonstrated a resolved commitment in his efforts towards rehabilitation as part of Facility 'A' Progressive [P]rogramming Facility."

Additionally, Mr. Ferguson's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Ferguson.

Based on his conduct in prison and his efforts toward self-improvement, I believe that Mr. Ferguson has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Huey Ferguson to a total of 26 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. • State Capitol • Sacramento, California 95814

1. Conviction Summary:

Prior Convictions; (4 - 5).

Offense(s):	Date of offenses:	County Of Conviction	Sentence(s):
(4) Possess For Sale , First degree Burglary, First degree Robbery,	8/15/84	Los Angeles, CA.	60-days Jail & Probation. Life Without The
(5) Murder W/S Circumstance	1/22/93	Los Angeles, CA.	Possibility Of Parole.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a pardon or commutation:

-- that later resulted in the wrongful conviction of myself. (See attached exhibit 'A') 'Pitt's testimony pages 7-9; and letter of recantation attached Exhibit 'B',.

L.A.P.D. Detective Mr. LeFall further implicated me as the perpetrator of this crime by giving false evidence and knowingly added falsehoods to his testimony that also contributed to my being wrongly convicted. (See attached Exhibit "B" Mr. Pitt's five pages Declaration and exhibit "O" Letter to the F.B.I.),.

On January 27, 1994, A Los Angeles County Jury wrongfully convicted me of First Degree Murder With Special Circumstance for the death of Ms. Roberts; The jury also wrongfully convicted me of First Degree Robbery and Burglary.

I then appealed the conviction by way of the appeal process in order to seek justice for being wrongfully convicted. (See Attached Exhibit "C" copy of procedural history),

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon or commutation:

I, Huey Ferguson, am requesting a Pardon due to the following:

(A) I was wrongfully convicted of a crime that I absolutely did not commit or have any involvement with whatsoever; (B) I did not receive a fair and impartial trial; and (C) The evidence was both Tainted and Insufficient to sustain a conviction.

As stated earlier in question two (2) of this application;

I, Huey Ferguson, was wrongfully convicted of this crime for which I am incarcerated due to the false statements too the Police and perjured testimony to the Court by Mr. Eddie Lee Pitts and Detective LeFall's misconduct in not being forthright in presenting evidence and testimony.

(See Attached Exhibits (A)(B) and (C)),.

I am without any other avenue of recourse in my search for justice except by way of this application to our Honorable Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. In this instant matter, the jury relied on the false statements and perjured testimony of Mr. Eddie Lee Pitts and falsehoods of Detective LeFall to reach its verdict.

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY: CONTINUE.

3. (SEE Attached Exhibits (B) And (C)),. Due to L.A.P.D. Detective Mr. LeFall's misconduct and untruthfulness, false testimony and tainted evidence was knowingly presented in order to ensure a conviction and thus denying me a right to a fair and impartial trial. (SEE Attached Exhibits A) ,.

There was also exculpatory evidence (ie) Footprint and Fingerprints that were recover at the crime scene that failed to implicate me as the perpetrator. Yet this exculpatory evidence was never introduced in my behalf --- Thus making this a deliberat act of misleading both the Court and Jury that eventually led to this grave miscarriage of justice. (SEE Attached Exhibit "F" letters of investigation from Public Defender Michael P. Judore, (Dated January 31, 2001 P.I) and (June 18,2001 PP. 1 & 2) ,.

Further, I, Huey Ferguson, am actually innocent; I am also quite sure that your office probably hears this alot, from all those who are seeking mercy, Yet I am seeking justice ! I pray that I find relief by way of this application.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon or commutation.

I should be granted a Pardon for the following reasons:

(A) I've been wrongfully convicted of a crime that I did not commit and I'm no threat to the general public or anyone else, and ;

(B) Though a grave miscarriage of justice has occurred, I am without hostility due to the fact that I actually have had the opportunity to grow in many ways.

Sure, I would have love to have grown with family, friends, and love ones, but here (Prison) is where I am and I have made use of alot of the tools 'Social Skills' that they offer (ie) Alcohol Anonymous and Substance Abuse.

I've learned how these two things have influenced horrible decisions in so many of these Men' lives. I could also go into a lengthy explanation on how to abstain from these two, but I also want to mention the other areas I was able to utilize.

I have also learned a good Trade and work habit. (SEE Attached Exhibit "P" work chronos and pay sheets),. And I have also learned some very good socials skills as far as communicatiny and dealing with other people (SEE Attached Exhibit "Q" Copy of letters of character),. Last of ALL, I have maintained continuous contact with ALL my Family over the years who offer me support and a place of residence when I return to society, I am now getting old and becoming a liability to the State instead of an asset due to things breaking down through wear and tear. Further, due to being an innocent man. God know it is only right that I spend my remaining days with my family.

See attached letters from family.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Robert Figueroa

In 1989, Robert Figueroa was a 20-year-old gang member. He and his crime partners were convicted of committing a drive-by shooting that killed Miguel Navarro and Frank Fernandez and injured six others. Witnesses identified two others as the shooters, and identified Mr. Figueroa as a passenger in the car. On November 2, 1990, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Figueroa to two terms of life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Figueroa denies participating in this crime, but has expressed sincere remorse for his history of gang activity and violence. In an interview with an investigator for the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Figueroa explained, "I take responsibility because I was a gang member at the time. The lifestyle that I was living, I was doing what these people were doing. It could have been me."

Mr. Figueroa is now 49 years old and has been in prison for 29 years. Instead of remaining mired in gang activity, he has dedicated himself to living without violence and focusing on his rehabilitation. Mr. Figueroa has only been disciplined three times during nearly three decades of incarceration. He dropped out of the gang in 2000 and provided staff members with information about gang and drug activity in the prison. Mr. Figueroa has participated in self-help classes, including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous and Alternatives to Violence. He made donations to charity and has maintained a positive work record for many years. Mr. Figueroa also has a solid plan in place if he is released from prison – his family has offered him housing and support as he transitions back into society, and he has a job waiting for him.

There is no doubt that at the time of this crime, Mr. Figueroa was a reckless young man who was immersed in a violent lifestyle. But in the many years since then, he has made a serious commitment to turning his life around. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Figueroa has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

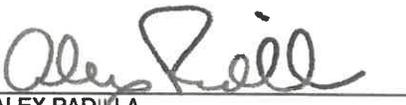

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Robert Figueroa to a total of 30 years to life.

REQUEST FOR SENTENCE COMMUTATION from: Robert Figueroa

Dear Governor Brown,

3/20/18

My name is Robert. The purpose of this letter is to humbly ask you to please grant me a sentence commutation and spare my life from the current LWOP sentence I have. I understand this is not an easy decision for you to make, so I'd like to give you an honest and brief description of the circumstances and bad decisions that lead to me being in this situation; as well as why two innocent people lost their lives.

I grew up on a property that had both a front-house and back-house, where I was lucky enough to live with lots of older family members to take care of me and influence me. These included Grandparents and many older cousins and uncles who taught me good morals. There was no gang influence at all at home. Instead, it was all sports: with a basketball court on the property and a long driveway to throw the football around. I loved all sports, and dreamed of being a pro athlete of any sport that would have me.

The area that my childhood home was in, was claimed by a gang called the "5th Street" gang of Santa Ana. Until Junior High school, I had been mostly oblivious to this gang's influence; instead I was steadily absorbed with family at home. But when I started 7th grade, I was sent to a school that was in the district where the 5th Street gang's rivals went: the "17th Street" gang. This became a very serious problem for me, given that the kids at school knew where my house was at, and thus assumed I must be affiliated with 5th Street. I tried and tried to convince them all that I was not a member or affiliate, to no avail. I was relentlessly bullied by them. And every time there was an altercation with these boys, the school Principal would also not believe me that I wasn't from 5th Street and did not start the fights. So I was repeatedly punished and felt indignant about it. This is by no means an excuse for any future bad decisions on my part, but merely part of the facts to the causitive factors that lead to my horrible life decisions.

This Junior High experience was very stressful for me. I could not adequately participate in sports due the 17th Street boys. The only positive apsects were some of the 17th Street girls who were nice to me. They believed me that I wasn't a 5th Street member, and would talk to me often. Also, the biggest positive aspect of all, was the female police officer who was assigned to our school. She always believed me and stuck up for me often when I was wrongly accused of starting fights. I appreciated her so much, words can't describe. One of my biggest regrets in life is not turning to her for help when things got worse. Today as an adult, I regret that with every fiber of my being. She was such a good person, I know she would have moved mountains to do her duty to protect me. But stupid me became too prideful with macho idiocy.

You see, after Jr. High, I thought the nightmare would be over from the 17th Street boys. But it was not. They ended up shooting up my house.

Again...nothing can excuse my life choices. Nothing. This was simply a crossroads moment for me. If I could go back with the knowledge I have today and implant it in my mind then, I would have gone directly to the female officer I knew so well from school and got her help. Not only would she have made sure the shooting got investigated thoroughly, she may have even helped me pursue a career in Law Enforcement—which is what I wish would have happened as I sit here today. Instead, I chose machismo pride as a solution, and finally approached the 5th Street gang for help.

The 5th Street gang treated me the opposite as the 17th Street gang did. The 5th St. guys were warm and open to me, offering me respect and friendship. They seemed so tough and cool to me at that age, and I wanted nothing more than to be "bad ass" like them and not have to be afraid anymore. This was the worst decision of my life. My morals I learned at home began to slowly go out the window. I would commit crimes with my new gang, and even joined in on their talk about murdering 17th Street gang members.

This change did not happen overnight after I joined the gang. It was instead a gradual deterioration over the course of about three years or so. The longer I stayed with the gang, the more evil behavior I would either tolerate or join in with myself. This horrible change from a good kid with good values, to an awful gang member who talks with his friends about murder, is a phenomenon I am desperately trying to understand through Self-help and recovery groups here in prison. I believe I do finally understand it. It would take too long to describe in a letter such as this, but suffice it to say: I am no longer that person anymore. Looking back at that young man (me), is like looking at a complete stranger; a stranger that I hate.

At the age of 20, in the year 1989, things had really intensified terribly between the two gangs. In September of that year my sisters boyfriend, a 5th Street member, was shot and put in the hospital. One night shortly after this, I was driving on a main street that passed through 17th Street territory and was stopped at a traffic light. A car full of 17th Street girls, some of the same ones who were nice to me in Jr. High, pulled up next to me. We both had our windows rolled down, and I decided to act like a jerk and taunt them. They said something witty back, which bruised my ego, so I said something worse and drove off. I would not think about this incident again for awhile, but it ended up being extremely important.

The following words, like all of this letter, are the absolute truth. I understand that by me telling this truth, I run the risk of it being misconstrued by anyone who reads this. But I have to stick to the truth and pray that the sincerity of it rings out through my words.

As stated, the gang rivalry had reached fever pitch. Before and after my sisters boyfriend was shot, I had had many conversations about wanting 17th Street members to die. I make no excuses for this whatsoever. I had gone completely over the deep-end of gang mentality. I supported and encouraged every act of violence that 5th Street gang committed. I will forever be ashamed of this, and I know that I deserve every single day of prison that I have spent.—No question.

The very next day after I saw the girls at the traffic light, Saturday, September 16, 1989, I had been invited to a party. Around 7:30 p.m. my sister called to be picked up from the hospital after visiting her boyfriend. My mom and aunt asked me if I could go do this, but I declined because I was getting ready for the party. So they went together to pick her up. Not long after that I heard sirens loudly passing by, so I went outside to see, and saw ambulances rushing down Euclid, about 30 yards from my driveway. As I was standing outside, my mom and aunt returned with my sister, and they urgently warned me not to go anywhere because something serious must have happened in 17th Street territory, due to all the police and ambulances in the area. Like the arrogant prick I was, I replied, "It has nothing to do with me. I'm leaving for a party."

I left for the party, but not before taking a detour into my gangs territory to see if anyone wanted to join me. No one was around at first, until I saw Roman (one of my co-defendants) pop up and demand that I follow him to Louie's (my other co-defendant) sisters house. We went to the back yard there and joined a large circle of our fellow gang members speaking in hushed tones. It was here that I learned that Frank "Shadow", Joel "Chim-Chim", and Victor "Kiki" had just went and did a drive-by shooting on 17th Street. This meeting quickly ended upon my arrival, and the group of us agreed to leave out the back, to avoid being seen by any cops that might be about, and go to the party.

It pains me a great deal to admit that I felt happy when I heard about the shooting. The morals I learned from my family were gone by this time, and I felt that 17th street deserved whatever they got. The next day was Sunday, and I had a ritual to always check the newspaper's sports page to see who was playing football on TV. When I grabbed the paper, I saw the front page said, "Worst Drive-By In OC History: 2 Dead, 11 Attempted Murders." And worst of all, one of the deaths was a child. It was all over the news, and all anyone was talking about. Even though I had fallen into the depths of evil, I took no joy at hearing about the child. I was mortified to say the least. But instead of reporting the people who did it, I made excuses in my mind for them that this was an "accident"; I know they didn't "mean" to hit a kid, but this was "war". I am so disgusted with myself for thinking these thoughts. I had brain-washed myself into gang loyalty. And this loyalty would be my undoing.

You see, the girls who saw me at the traffic light the night before ended up falsely telling police that they saw me in the car that did the drive-by shooting. As I stated earlier, I know my saying this now runs the risk of being misconstrued as someone failing to admit guilt. But that is not the case; what I am telling you is the absolute truth: I was not in the vehicle that killed those two people. What convicted me was those girls testimony, and my only theory for why they lied is because they were understandably very upset with these heinous murders, wanted someone to pay, and my smug face was fresh in their minds from the night before. I was a full member of the 5th Street gang, so I deserved to go down for murder period, is what I assume they were thinking.

The thing is, even though I wasn't in the vehicle or a part of the murders, I do not blame the justice system. The justice system did not fail me, I failed myself. The DA and detectives made it clear through their behavior that if I were to stand up and tell the truth they would work with me. But I remained loyal to the gang, and fooled myself into thinking I would get found not guilty since I was not at the scene of the crime. If I had done the right thing and reported the killers, the justice system would have worked. But I failed.

I also failed to see that by me supporting the gang in the first place, I deserved to be put away in prison for these crimes. Instead, I fooled myself into believing that "I" was a victim. It took me many years to finally realize that I am not a victim. I now understand that I am in here because of me, and deserve every day I've spent in prison.

I'm not asking for you to get involved in the facts of my case and get me exonerated; that ship has sailed. All I am begging you to do is commute my sentence from LWOP to Life, so that the Board of Prison Terms can decide if I have changed enough to be ready for society. The man I was before did not belong in society, but I am confident that the man I am today does. Please give me the chance to prove my worth. You will not regret sparing my life.

Thank you for your time to read my story. There is obviously much, much more I could say but I didn't want to take up too much of your time. Thank you.

Sincerely Robert Figueroa

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Michael Fischer

On January 25, 1997, Michael Fischer forcefully entered the home of Phillip Queen. Once inside, Mr. Fischer hit Mr. Queen several times in the head and shoulders with an object, knocking him to the floor. He then robbed Mr. Queen for his wallet. On October 28, 1997, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Fischer to 25 years to life for robbery plus 10 years for prior felony enhancements — a total of 35 years to life.

Mr. Fischer committed multiple robberies, including the senseless robbery of the Queen family residence, to fuel his drug addiction. He self-medicated with street drugs while suffering from an undiagnosed mental health illness. In his application for clemency, he explained "I am almost 60 years old and have served over 20 years on a 35 to life sentence. I have learned a lot in these years especially about victim impact."

Mr. Fischer is now 61 and has been incarcerated for nearly 22 years. In that time, he has never been disciplined for violence. Instead, he gained skills in vocational trades, including electronics, cabling, and automotive technology. Mr. Fischer also participated in relevant self-help programs such as Narcotics Anonymous, Chemical Dependency, Criminals and Gang Members Anonymous, and Guiding Rage Into Power (GRIP). In 2016, the founder of the GRIP program wrote in support of Mr. Fischer's release, stating, "It was clear immediately to me that his redemption is his number one priority and that he is willing to face his past and his addiction issues."

Regarding Mr. Fischer's application for clemency, in 2018, a Los Angeles Superior Court judge stated that while his sentence was "in line with other defendants similarly situated at that time," if a defendant "committed the same offense today with the identical history, there is a fairly strong possibility that the prosecutor or the court would strike one of his priors in the interest of justice and impose a sentence of 20 years in prison."

Additionally, Mr. Fischer's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Fischer.

Mr. Fischer's crimes caused unnecessary injury to his community. He has since engaged in rehabilitative programs and committed to his recovery from drug addiction. Mr. Fischer has spent a substantial period of time sober, and has a regimen for maintaining his mental health. He has also developed a viable relapse prevention plan. For all of the foregoing reasons, I conclude that Mr. Fischer has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Michael Fischer to a total of 22 years to life.

#2 Describe the circumstances of the crimes

I've had an on and off drug problem for many years, using a lot of different drugs. I believe I was self medicating because I would use Heroin for a short time [a couple of weeks at most] and then Cocaine and Meth. The Cocaine and Meth made it easy for me to get in trouble making victims and trying to get drug money. My father had arranged to have me psychologically diagnosed while I was in the county jail and the diagnosis was Bi-Polar, which made sense to everyone, including myself. I knew I was dealing with mood swings, but didn't recognize what it was.

I've been on mood stabilizers since the county jail in 1997 and they have helped me a great deal during this 35 to life sentence. I'm not claiming that Bi-Polar is the reason for me committing my crimes, but I believe it made me want to seek medication when my moods were too high or too low and the street drugs made an atmosphere, or opened the door to commit crime to obtain what I was looking for. Intimately, I made the decision to rob my victim no matter what the circumstances were, so I have only my poor choice for committing this act.

I've been a professional painter [houses, etc] and I love being around people. I've done many, many good things for contractors and home owners and it only took seconds committing my crime to wash that all away.

I want you to know I'm very sorry to my victim Phillip Queen and his family for my actions the day I robbed him. I'm sorry to my family for the shame and embarrassment I put them through and especially to my father who stood up in the court room to speak on my behalf before sentencing. Watching my father's face when the judge gave the sentence was worse than the sentence itself.

I've done a lot of good things since I've been in prison and I had a couple of bumps in the road. Five years after the bumps, I was privileged enough to be accepted into the Grip program [Guiding Rage Into Power]. The founder of Grip, Jacques Verduin, changed my life with his one year long program. It covered so many problem areas in my life and taught me how to deal with old resentments and lashing out behavior like drug use, criminal activity and making victims. And, when I make a victim, I make one of myself because I am in here. Through Grip, I am now a non-violent Peacemaker and I made this commitment and actually signed a pledge to uphold it. Jacques Verduin looked me in the eyes at one of our Grip meetings and said "Out of all of the Grip Tribe members who have paroled so far, No One Has Reoffended. Don't Be The First". That hit home for me. And so did the whole program.

#3 Explain why you are requesting a commutation

I am starting this explanation by saying I have sincerely and thoroughly Rehabilitated in the more than 20 years I served so far in this sentence. I did this rehabilitation dedicating it to my victim, Phillip Queen, my father, William D Fischer and the Grip Program who I will contribute back to now and when ever possible, hopefully in the future counseling in some way.

I am ready to be a productive citizen and abide by all the laws. I want to give back to my community and help protect it according to the commitment I made and the pledge I signed when I graduated from the Grip Program. To stop my violence and do no harm.

My family is supporting me 100% and helping me to start my painting business again. They also have Relapse Prevention Plans in place. I no longer take and rely only on my own, I ask for help when the need is there.

I am almost 60 years old and have served over 20 years on a 35 to life sentence. I have learned a lot in these years especially about victim impact. I promise to never have a victim again, including myself.

#4 Provide a Brief Statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation

I have come to learn through the Grip Program that the mistakes I have made in my past are not who I truly am, meaning that they don't define me. I can not minimize them, they are very serious mistakes, but they are not who I really am. I am a good person who lashed out. Jacques Verduin told all of us we are not our crimes, but we are and must be accountable and responsible for these mistakes and -Don't re-offend. This is now my belief System also. I believe I am ready to go back to society and to be the man I am meant to be. A peace maker and servant to the community.

To end this letter, I would just like to say I would like to go home to see my 88 year old Dad who has been with me every day of this sentence for over 20 years. I want to start my painting business back up again with my Dad's and my older brother's backing and I want to give back to the community I once took from.

I would ask that you please consider a time commutation on the basis that I am a changed man and sincere about my commitments for now and in the future.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Michael K Fischer E54345

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Gene Flack

In 1989, Gene Flack wanted to scare his friend's abusive father, Raymond Godlewski. Mr. Flack was driven to Mr. Godlewski's home, knocked on the door, and when Mr. Godlewski answered, they struggled over control of the gun. Mr. Flack then shot Mr. Godlewski once in the head, killing him. On November 2, 1990, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Flack to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a two-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Flack is now 52 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 30 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Flack described the significant changes that he has made to turn his life around since committing this crime. Mr. Flack reported that he has also accepted responsibility for his actions. He wrote, "I made a fatal mistake...I don't dismiss the enormity of my actions..." In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Flack expressed deep remorse and wants to live his life making amends to both the victim's family and his family.

Despite a prison sentence that provided no hope for a life outside of prison, Mr. Flack decided to dedicate his time and energy to self-improvement. He earned his GED and has participated in self-help programs, including Prison of Peace, Lifers Support Group, and Criminal and Gang Members Anonymous. In 2018, Mr. Flack became certified as a Rising Circle Keeper Trainer and was commended by the program director for "developing a life of service and contributing to his community by serving fellow inmates."

This is a very serious crime, but it is clear that Mr. Flack has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison and his forthright and continuing separation from gang activities of any kind. I believe Mr. Flack has earned an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so they can determine whether he is ready to be released from prison.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Gene Flack to a total of 29 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Raymond Godlewski Jr approached me and asked if I could get him a gun for protection from his father, I agreed. Later, after I got the gun he asked me if I would kill his father for him, I told him No. As a solution, I went to Mr. Godlewski Srs. house to scare him to protect Ray Jr so he wouldn't do anything stupid. I was convinced I had the answer to everything.

When I got to the door and Mr. Godlewski Sr answered, I was holding the gun on him, (knowing he was a violent man.) I started to tell him to leave Ray Jr alone and as I did Mr. Godlewski Sr grabbed the end of the gun to yank it away from me. The gun went off, I had pulled the trigger. I panicked at what I had done so I dropped the gun and ran. I had no intention of killing him; I only wanted to scare him. After, I accepted money from Ray Jr to get out of town. (This is not the story I had told at trial)

When I was arrested I lied, and that lie guided the rest of my life. At the time, I didn't know of anything else I could do. I did everything I could, amidst my own hectic distress, trying to protect myself and my friends so we would not go to prison.

On the day I was sentenced I knew I needed to change, I threw away my cigarettes. I was determined that I would not bring that filthy habit to prison and lump myself in with all the degenerates that I would soon do time with.

Next, I would find a way to deal with what I had done. Deep within my mind I convinced myself that my victim was a bad man and I had done something heroic. This helped me rationalize what happened so I could sleep at night.

I have now done lots of time in prison; its length exceeds over half of my free life. I have gotten my GED. I have taken courses and programs such as Criminals and Gang members Anonymous, Turning point, and I was a founding father for the Youth Adult Awareness Program. (I loved talking to the kids and lecturing). I am also a student in West Hills College and I have always had, and fulfilled my standing in many job assignments.

I have been nonviolent in a violent world. I have done my best to be a long time programmer and I have good rapport with staff. After talking with me, staff members sometimes have commented that I don't speak or act like a typical inmate.

I have also had many inmates approach me and reflect back on the times when we first met in prison. More than once I have been told, (in various ways) that the persistence of my values and goals have forever impacted their lives. I guess I inspired them to know that they are capable of more. I find this to be very rewarding.

I have not been perfect. I have made many mistakes along the way, but I do feel trying to cooperate will someday help me. I know these things are steps towards my own betterment. I have no addictions and I am known to verbally discourage "use" in others around me. And I won't stay celled up with inmates who have illegal vices.

The beginnings of my prison sentence were the most mentally chaotic as I tried to figure it all out. Most program opportunities were never required due to my sentence. Programs felt scarce and irregularly afforded during the bulk of my time on level four general populations.

What prison you're at as a level four inmate and how often and how long they are locked down impacts your ability to participate. Opportunities didn't seem to open up for me regularly until I left general population and moved to the Sensitive Needs Yard program. I am now level three and soon level two. I currently have no points earned for bad behavior except what's mandatory by my sentence.

However, the courses and programs I took by far did not produce the most important aspects of who I have become. On my own, and during lots of lockdowns, I studied many subjects starting with the classics, but mainly history and government were my passion. I learned that I actually was capable of intelligence and I had a great ability for the retention of large amounts of data. I began channeling my restlessness and scattered immaturity into something else.

I worked on my vocabulary, my dialect. I strived to be articulate, it mattered to me and I enjoyed sharing what I knew. To my surprise, other inmates on the yard started referring to me as the human encyclopedia, using me as an educational resource. It took me a long time to realize the person I could be.

These realizations about myself, I don't think I would have ever known had I not been forced into them by my extensive sentence. Some men lose their mind or fall into a stagnant abyss with a sentence like mine. I stayed sane because I was discovering new, better things about myself, and I knew I was guilty so I deserved to do time.

In 2013 I was married. I saw my marriage as the first gift to me from above, affirming that after all these years I was being rewarded for all that I had accomplished by living honest and upright. Most recently we were given back family visits. As far as I'm aware, I was the first lifer on my yard to be approved for the visits under the current rigid guidelines. We have thus far had two visits and we are waiting on our third.

If I lived a thousand years I could not find the words to express what it feels like after all this time to sit in an apartment with someone I love and hold her as we watch a movie, or make her dinner, or watch her put on her make up. Taking care of someone else is remarkable; I forgot what it was like. I feel I'm the luckiest man I know.

I am ashamed of the kid I was going into prison and for the things that I did from the start because I let my arrogance rule me. Over time, I wanted desperately to not be defined by my one act of horrific stupidity.

I also realized many of the people I was doing time with were not the degenerates I imagined. Most importantly, even though the image of his death caused me great mental trauma. I realized that regardless of what I forced myself to believe about my victim, I had no obligation or moral rights to end his life. Even under the circumstances that I described. I should have never been on his doorstep trying to be the, "Big man".

I am not an evil killer, but I killed someone out of pure spontaneous absurdity thinking I was someone's protector. Then I made things worse by lying about most of it. The families involved payed an emotional and financial price that they could never afford because of me and this adds to my guilt.

I made a fatal mistake and when I say mistake, Please know I don't dismiss the enormity of my actions, it's just something I never thought or planned I would do.

I am requesting a commutation of sentence because I still have hope. I have done everything I could in these near 30 years to see that I could somehow make peace and rise above my early actions. I have to believe that there is a reason that I have been sculpting myself to be proud of who I am. There has to be some reward for true repentance within a man.

I cannot take back what I did, I live with it every time I open my eyes in the morning, but I do know that I cannot do anything further for myself or anyone else if I am not allowed the chance.

Without a proper board evaluation I can only project what would be expected from me to be paroled or released but, I know who I am, what I have done and what I want in life.

I have the cherished gift of a wife and a stable home to go to. I have a healthy self-realization and as I stated, I have personal contentment and above average self-taught educational development which I take pride in.

I carry with me VERY hard learned lessons and values that would make me a humbled member of society which helps constitute a good husband and a good man. I want to take care of my family. I want to help aid them emotionally and financially to build a better life and stronger personal community for us all. And I want to embrace them freely before age and illness takes us away.

Granting me a commutation of sentence would be a great miracle. I have to believe that others can see that most people, to include myself are capable of revision, of growth, and of atonement for the things that have been squandered. It's hard for me to fathom that my evolving from an erratic kid into a logical adult has no purpose.

I lost my life the day Mr. Godlewski lost his. I would do anything to give it back to him, not for me but for him, so he could live. I felt that the second it happened. Maybe he would want the same for me if the tables were turned; maybe one day I can explain this to him on the other side and ask him for forgiveness.

My life still feels like it has value and purpose beyond these walls, though I have learned the only thing I have control over now is myself. I've never found a way to take back or make right what's in my past; I only try to do right with my future

This was my first felony which says a lot considering I had a very unstable, violent and mendacious childhood.

At worst, in infancy I was abandoned by my parents in Tennessee. They dropped me off at a cousin's house and never returned. Around age four I was back with my Mom in California. There I witnessed a murder and the disposal of his body in the Kern River. Later in grade school while back in Tennessee, I was abducted by family members and smuggled across the country to California again. Sometimes for short periods I was hidden from other family members in Louisiana. Each side always told me that the other side didn't love and want me.

My teenage years were filled with deception and unimaginable custody struggles from state to state. Even at that age I knew those things they did were wrong but I had no control over them or the confusion they gave me. Sadly, I never planted my feet in a stable "home" until prison.

Back then those vivid childhood memories gave me a stronger awareness that some people need help and protection from others. I know that's what put me on Mr. Godlewski doorstep that night and I know that's why Ray Jr came to me.

I don't feel there is a magic answer to these questions, there is only hope that someone will fully understand my sincerity as I have answered them.

I am an imperfect man yet I still seek mercy while "FINALLY" laying out my painful flaws, as I should have done from the start.

"I want to go home."

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Gustavo Flores

On October 12, 1995, Gustavo Flores broke a window and entered the apartment of the Mendoza family. When a 15-year-old resident of the home walked into the living room to investigate the sound, Mr. Flores ran out of the apartment. On April 15, 1996, the San Diego County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Flores to 25 years to life for burglary and an additional 15 years for prior felony enhancements for a total of 40 years to life.

Mr. Flores reported that he started stealing at an early age in order to obtain money for necessities such as food and clothing. Around age 12, he started consuming drugs. By age 18 he was regularly using heroin and stealing in order to support his habit. In his application for clemency, Mr. Flores writes, "I regret the pain I caused."

Mr. Flores is now 59 years old and has served over 23 years. Mr. Flores committed to his sobriety and his education early in his incarceration. Over the last two decades, he has remained both drug and violence free, and has never been disciplined for any serious misconduct. Despite entering the prison with no English reading or writing skills, Mr. Flores dedicated himself to earning his GED. After he earned his GED, Mr. Flores completed leadership training and tutored other inmates. A teacher wrote that Mr. Flores' voluntary work as a tutor was "successful in helping students make progress." Another staff member lauded his work in the Education Office stating, "He is a self-starter who displays pride in his work," and who "gets along well with others and is a good team member." Mr. Flores has continued to support his community by working as a teacher's aide and a chapel clerk. He has also taken self-help courses, including Alcohol Anonymous, Celebrate Recovery, Denial Management, and the Truth Project.

Mr. Flores explains in his application that "I am a man of regrets, but, now that I have had many years working to have a clean life, I am also a man who has pride in my accomplishments." His application for clemency is supported by San Diego County Supervisor Nathan Fletcher. Supervisor Fletcher noted that during "his 22 years in prison, Mr. Flores has completed a 12-step rehabilitation program, has received his GED, and has found his faith in religion." Supervisor Fletcher also stated, "Gustavo deserves a second chance. He is a changed man who is ready to re-enter society as a contributing member."

Additionally, Mr. Flores' application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Flores. For all of the foregoing reasons, I believe that Mr. Flores has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Gustavo Flores to a total of 27 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

In the early afternoon on October 12, 1995, I broke into a home. I knocked, no one answered. I broke in through the window hoping to steal something I could sell and buy Heroin. I thought no one was there but when I got inside, I saw a young kid (15 years old). I was startled and ran out. He called his dad, who called the police. I was later arrested. Because this was a "serious crime" and I had others, I was tried and sentenced under the 3 Strikes legislation.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

Although my crimes were not violent, my sentence was 40 years to life without the possibility of parole. I have been living in the United States without documentation since age 13, which may have contributed to my sentencing. During the last 22 years, I have accomplished much by working a 12 step program, becoming educated, and studying the Bible. I would like to go before a Parole Board to see if I can be deported and continue to do good works outside of prison.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation (attach additional pages if necessary):

I cannot change the things I did before prison. I regret the pain I caused, not only to the victims of my crimes but to my family. I have never provided for my family, I want to use the tools I have gained to do so.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Kelly Flynn

In May 1996, 17-year-old Kelly Flynn recruited her boyfriend, Kareem Sims, and two of Mr. Sims' friends to beat up Reginald Rachal, claiming that Mr. Rachal had raped her. Ms. Flynn took Mr. Rachal to Mr. Sims' home where Mr. Sims assaulted Mr. Rachal, before driving him to a levee. At the levee, Mr. Sims stabbed and fatally shot Mr. Rachal. On December 18, 1997, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Flynn to 25 years to life for murder plus 8 years for kidnapping — a total term of 33 years to life. Ms. Flynn is eligible for a youth offender parole hearing in 2020.

Ms. Flynn is now 39 years old and has been incarcerated for over two decades. In her application for clemency, Ms. Flynn wrote that "22 years ago I was a confused, troubled [17-year-old] who caused the death of a young man. I am now a mature, considerate, responsible woman who has proven that rehabilitation works." Ms. Flynn wrote, "[D]uring my 22 years in prison, I have worked hard to become a person who can make a positive contribution to the world. I have taken advantage of the many rehabilitative programs available to me to overcome substance abuse, to understand myself and my motivations, and to become educated and to learn valuable skills."

During more than two decades in prison, Ms. Flynn has been dedicated to transforming her life. She has not been disciplined for misconduct in over 10 years. While incarcerated, she earned her high school diploma, an A.A. degree, and is currently enrolled in college courses. Ms. Flynn has participated in a multitude of self-help programs, including Bridges to Life, Alternatives to Violence, Freedom to Choose, and Anger Management. Ms. Flynn is a dog trainer for the Prison Puppy Program, as well as a certified Offender Mentor and Peer Grief Counselor. Ms. Flynn has resided in an honor dorm since 2016.

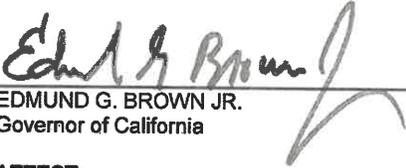

Through her positive attitude and behavior, Ms. Flynn has earned excellent work ratings and commendations from correctional staff. In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Ms. Flynn for 3 years wrote, "During this time, she has proven herself to be a very hard, efficient worker. She takes the initiative to help staff and peers, and her attitude is always optimistic and constructive. Flynn seems to have dealt with the issues that lead her to prison, and I believe she is ready to reestablish a successful life in society." Also in 2018, a self-help sponsor wrote, "I consider Kelly Flynn to be a role model in the inmate population. [¶]...She helps to encourage other inmates to be better people. She continuously shows her willingness to assist as needed with very difficult moments in the group. [¶]...I have to say that it has been a pleasure to work with Kelly Flynn. Her determination and willingness to keep growing to be a better person is wonderful...With all of her positive accomplishments, I know she will be an asset to anything she puts her mind to once she is released." A staff psychologist also praised Ms. Flynn's efforts, writing, "Ms. Flynn explored honestly and openly her behavior before, during, and after events which culminated in her current imprisoned state...Ms. Flynn expressed deep states of sorrow, regret, sadness, and the desire to live her life differently...[S]he never minimized or attempted to rationalize her behavior at the time of the crime... [Ms. Flynn] is an excellent listener, very intuitive, empathetic, and has no problem with breaking problems down into their component parts; such an individual would add a great deal to the larger society as a whole." In the event of her release, Ms. Flynn plans to live in Southern California where she has family resources. Additionally, the Anti-Recidivism Coalition has offered Ms. Flynn support upon her release.

Although she participated in a serious crime, Ms. Flynn has demonstrated her commitment to her rehabilitation. Based on her age at the time of the crime, conduct in prison, and dedication to self-improvement, I believe Ms. Flynn has earned an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings in order to determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Kelly Flynn to a total of 22 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Re: Kelly Marie Flynn, #W72220
Application for Commutation of Sentence

Dear Governor Brown,

On behalf of Kelly Marie Flynn, I am pleased to submit the attached Application for Commutation of Sentence and supporting materials.

I have known Kelly for six years, first as her habeas counsel and now as her friend.¹ We have spoken at length about her past as a drug-abusing teenager and the abuse she endured at the hands of adults and romantic partners in her teenage years; her present as a student in prison earning a bachelor's degree, learning software engineering and training puppies to become support dogs; and her future, in which she sees herself released from prison and proudly independent, but with a loving family and friends nearby.

As habeas counsel, I became intimately familiar with Kelly's story. By the time Kelly was seventeen years old and charged with kidnaping and felony murder, she had already led what could only be described as a sad and traumatic life. Her parents separated when she was eleven months old. According to her mother, "Kelly lived with me after her father and I separated []. I was an alcoholic and suffered from deep depression. This left a little girl to care for herself and sometimes me." (Letter from Kathy M. LaFever in support of Commutation, attached.) By the time Kelly was nine, her mother and new stepfather had become violent alcoholics, and the child was exposed to drunken displays of screaming, yelling and physical abuse. According to Kelly's father, "When Kelly's mother moved out of town with her new husband, Kelly lost touch with part of her family, and by the time she was a teenager, it was apparent that something was wrong. This was the beginning of systematic neglect evidenced through physical and emotional abuse that she suffered in the home of an alcoholic mother and an alcoholic step-father. Once as a young teen, she was abandoned at a local bar when her mother left with a man whom she had met." (Letter from Dennis Flynn in support of Commutation, pg.2.) Kelly hid the abuse from other family members and "began to avoid family gatherings on weekends and holidays. Her self worth was severely damaged." (Id.)

¹ Pursuant to Penal Code section 4807.2, please note that I am no longer retained and am currently providing assistance pro bono.

When she was fourteen, Kelly met Kareem Sims and became pregnant by him a few months later. Although her mother and stepfather were now in recovery, they agreed to let Kelly move out and live with Sims and his father, who was kind to the girl and agreed to take care of her. Unfortunately, the elder Sims died unexpectedly; following his death, the young couple, now with a three-month old baby of their own and living off the inheritance left by Mr. Sims, started using drugs – crack, marijuana and methamphetamine. Kareem Sims became abusive and, inevitably, the couple's relationship soured. Eventually, although they continued to live in the same house, they agreed to stop being a couple and began to date other people. Shortly thereafter, Kelly met and became involved with the victim, Reginald Rachal.

At first Kelly was enamored with Rachal. Sadly, however, their third date began with violent, abusive sex and ended with Rachal deriding Kelly, making threats and heaping verbal abuse on her. By the time Kelly returned to the home she shared with Sims, she was bruised both mentally and physically and was crying hysterically. Sims saw her and demanded to know what had happened to her. Kelly told Sims she had been raped, because that is how she felt when it happened. Sims was infuriated. He and Kelly devised a plan to punish Rachal: Kelly was to bring Rachal to the house and leave him. Sims and his friends, Harry Haanstra and Gabe Gonzalez, would beat Rachal up and then dump him somewhere away from the house. Kelly agreed to the plan, brought Rachal to the house, left him there and drove away. As a result, the young man died, and Kelly Flynn, charged as an aider and abettor to a kidnaping, was convicted of felony murder.

For me, the resolution to this case is deeply troubling. Kelly Flynn was not only an abused individual but a juvenile. She admitted her responsibility for the death of Reginald Rachal early in the investigation. Nevertheless, she was tried in San Joaquin County as an adult, even though a co-defendant her own age, Gabe Gonzalez – who actually participated in the brutal beating, kidnaping and shooting of the victim and who continued to lie to authorities even after accepting a plea – received a juvenile disposition of only seven years. A second co-defendant, eighteen-year old Harry Haanstra, who also actively participated in the violence and murder, served less than six years. Kelly Flynn, however, is serving a sentence of thirty-three years to life.

Another troubling issue is the characterization during trial of what happened between Kelly and Rachal prior to his kidnaping and murder as “consensual sex.” Kelly was only 17 when she admitted her role in the young man's death. Today she is 39 and takes full responsibility for the murder. However, as a result of the in-depth programs she has participated in while in prison, she now understands that she was pressured to recant her experience of rape and tell the story as if her experience of sexual violence was consensual simply because she had agreed to have sex with Rachal on an earlier occasion. Nowadays, date rape is a concept that survivor advocates have worked hard to expose. At the time, however, the criminal justice system lacked an understanding of rape in the context of intimate relationships, including teenage relationships. Kelly suffered from these misconceptions and struggled to understand the minimization of her own experience of rape under societal pressure, including prosecutorial pressure, especially in light of her guilt over what had happened to Rachal. Regrettably, there is no doubt that Kelly's experience as a child victim witnessing and enduring domestic violence at home contributed to her inability as a teenager to recognize that intimate violence – at any stage of a relationship – is unacceptable.

To her credit, the woman Kelly is today takes unflinching responsibility for the death of Reginald Rachal. This is not a woman who makes excuses for what she did. In our correspondence, she has explained, "I never said no in all of this and I had choices that I chose not to make. I closed my eyes to what could happen and did what felt best to me. No one convinced me to make myself feel better by hurting someone else." She fully admits that despite what happened between them, Reggie Rachal did not deserve to be savagely beaten, let alone die for it. And she has chosen to make amends to him and to his family by becoming the best person she can possibly be. Her disciplinary record is minor, and she has been discipline-free for a decade. She has taken a myriad of self-help and educational courses, and is praised by her fellow inmates as well as her teachers for her dedication, diligence, respect, kindness and consideration. (See letters in support of Commutation, attached.) She has mended fences with her family, who are whole-hearted in their support for her commutation. And her father is her strongest advocate.

In the six years I have known Kelly, I have seen a remarkable, heartening and consistent growth in her, including in-depth healing from trauma and abuse. She has become, through her own efforts at rehabilitation, a confident woman who knows she is on a path to freedom and a healthy, supported and satisfying life outside of prison. She takes responsibility for her actions, but knows that the only way to make restitution is to live a good, productive life. She has chosen to study challenging career opportunities and to become friends with fellow inmates who share her commitment to sobriety, personal development and individual integrity.

I am proud to call her my friend.

Thank you, Governor Brown, for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Theresa A. Gibbons, Esq.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Palmira Galache

In 2000, Palmira Galache and Luis Vega were married, but Ms. Galache was having an affair with Carlos Ceron. Ms. Galache wanted to leave Mr. Vega, but Mr. Vega threatened to disinherit her if she did. On August 17, 2000, Mr. Ceron and other men beat Mr. Vega to death outside his apartment. Ms. Galache maintains that she was not involved with the crime. On November 14, 2003, the Orange County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Galache to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Ms. Galache has no prior criminal history and has never been disciplined for any misconduct while in prison. She is now 53 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 16 years. In her application for clemency, Ms. Galache expressed remorse for bringing Mr. Ceron into her family's life, and wrote, "I will never make choices that will lead to hurt[ing] others ever again." During her incarceration, Ms. Galache has been a model inmate. She has participated in numerous self-help groups, including Celebrate Recovery, Codependents Anonymous, Victims Impact, and Beyond Violence. Ms. Galache has lived in an honor dorm for many years, and contributes to charitable causes. She routinely receives excellent work ratings from her supervisors, including for her current position as a caregiver for ill and disabled inmates. In the event of her release from prison, Ms. Galache plans to live with her mother and brother. Her daughter has also offered to help support her financially and emotionally as she transitions back into society.

For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Ms. Galache's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Palmira Galache to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Circumstances of crime

I was 17 year old when I got married to Luis Carlos Vega we were married for 17 years my mirage was good.

Luis Carlos Vega was a good husband, father and a hard worker. He worked 12 hour a day, during that time I had a neighbor name Carlos Ceron that always tried to talked to me on my way back from dropping my kids in school.

with time he caught my attention he always made me feel good with the attention he give me.

Something I didn't get at home. so I started cheating on my husband and lying to him. I never had a plan to leave my husband and this caused me problems because I was married, and had a son out side my marriage. If I wouldn't had been in this relationship with Carlos Ceron or had ever open the doors in the first place, none of this wouldn't had happened, my accions outside my marriage had Luis murdered.

Today I know I could of had done thing different. I could of had talked to my husband and tell him that I was feeling alone, or talked to someone else for advice, now I can say no to temptation.
I understand the damage I cause to

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Timothy Galvan

In January 2002, Timothy Galvan carjacked a vehicle, then drove into rival gang territory, parked the car, and exchanged words with Jose Mendoza. Mr. Galvan returned a few moments later and opened fire on Mr. Mendoza. Mr. Galvan then fired shots toward Jaime Gutierrez and Jose Caranza, but missed. Mr. Galvan was eventually subdued and arrested. On April 17, 2009, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Galvan to 25 years to life for murder plus 7 years to life for attempted murder plus a 45 years to life firearm enhancement – a total term of 77 years to life.

Mr. Galvan is now 38 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 17 years. During an interview with a Board investigator, Mr. Galvan stated that he is "remorseful and is learning to understand the totality of his actions. He desires the opportunity to share his experiences with youth in the community on a path of destruction through gangs and criminal behavior." He added that he "wants to live through the successes of others by helping them."

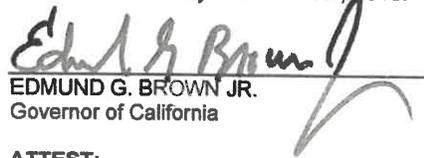

Mr. Galvan has shown a genuine commitment to his self-improvement and rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for any misconduct during his incarceration. He earned his GED and received numerous certificates of completion for his involvement in religious activities and self-help groups, including Fathers Behind Bars, Criminal and Gang Members Anonymous, and Alternatives to Violence. Mr. Galvan served as a facilitator in the Operation New Hope and Inmate Peer Education programs and was elected Vice Chairman on the Men's Advisory Council. In 2018, a correctional officer described Mr. Galvan as "orderly, well spoken, and respectful towards both staff and inmates," adding that he has a "good reputation due to his overall work ethic and pleasant attitude." Also in 2018, a sponsor commended Mr. Galvan for his "ongoing commitment to embrace change." He also participated in charitable events, including a Walk-A-Thon fundraiser to raise money and awareness for the Special Olympics Summer Games. Mr. Galvan currently works as a dog trainer for the New Life K9s Program.

Since committing this very serious crime, Mr. Galvan turned away from a lifestyle consumed with violence and gangs. He has been a positive role model for other inmates and strongly advocates against gang culture. For all of these reasons, I believe that Mr. Galvan has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Timothy Galvan to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

First I would like to express that I am very sorry for murdering Mr. Mendoza and for the harm and grief that I have selfishly inflicted upon his family and friends. I am sorry.

Gov. Brown, these are the circumstances of my crimes.

On January 4, 2002 I deliberately chose to commit the callous crime of murder against Jose Mendoza, while attempting to murder Jaime Reyes, Aldeberto Mendoza and Jose Carranza. Prior to this night I lived my life as a wanna-be gang member. I glorified the gangster lifestyle because I believed it could provide me with a sense of belonging and fulfill the desire to feel loved.

On this night, I cared about no one other than myself and I started my terror beginning at some apartments where rival gang members lived. This would eventually lead to where Jose Mendoza and his family and friends were playing billards in the garage of their family home. I felt as a gang leader of the varrio north Fremont gang that my reputation was on the line and to not act upon the intrusion of my so-called territory I would be seen as the phony I believed I always was.

I regrettably made deliberate attempts to rally up my friends by insisting that we were to remove the enemy from our neighborhood. After coercing my co-defendant Fidel Torres to accompany me I then made calls in efforts to locate a gun so that I could carry out my murderous thought. Once I got my hands on a weapon, in my mind, there was no turning back.

While parked around the corner of Viola Court I told Fidel to "wait right here". As I walked to the Mendoza family home I knew in my heart what I was about to do was wrong. Unlike so many other times, I wouldn't listen to my conscience.

I appeared out of no where wearing a red bandana over my face hoping to hide my identity and make an escape. Sadly the last words Jose Mendoza would ever hear was a misguided gang slur a second before I pulled the trigger which ended his precious life. I then turned the shotgun I was holding in the direction of Jaime Reyes and Jose Carranza but thankfully on my blind side Aldeberto Mendoza grabbed hold of the barrel which caused me to miss. From there a struggle to get away was made but I was held down and bounded at the scene until police could arrive.

The reason I am requesting a commutation of sentencing is because I am sorry and remorseful for the monstrous crimes I have committed. I have been incarcerated since the age of 21. Since that time I have cut off all former gang ties and a life of crime. I am now a born again Christian who has been disciplinary free and have spent my time by going to self-help groups, earning my GED and being a role model for those around me.

Today I continue to stay the course in addition to now being part of the New Life K9s dog handler team where I work along side eleven other handlers and a total of six dogs. NLK9s has taught me to give back to the broader community and has taught me how to effectively work along side my fellow teammates as well as seek a common goal: getting our dogs into the arms of a Veteran or a First Responder who suffer from PTSD.

I am thus requesting a commutation of sentencing so that I may positively give back to the communities I once help destroy but also because I see how I've impacted many lives and now it is my deepest desire to help save those children who are losing their lives for the very same crime I am locked up for.

Today I am a man who understands who I used to be. After digging deep into my past and recognizing my false belief system I feel that my living amends can be much more beneficial for those out there in the community.

I am remorseful for murdering Mr. Jose Mendoza and for bringing harm to his family and friends on the night of January 4, 2002. Today I am a strong advocate against the gang culture and I strive to expose the lie of what a gang really is: hurt people, hurting innocent people. I take my sobriety seriously in that the spirit of the 12 Steps resides in my heart rather than a mere recitation of words.

I am looked to for guidance from my peers and I take a healthy pride in knowing that these men (some older, some younger) place their trust in me to share their most sacred and intimate feelings in order to try and understand their past so that they may become men of integrity.

I am involved in my prison community by not only being available but by participation in various activities on the yard such as talent shows, graduation ceremonies, the National Crime Victims' Rights' Week, and now my full time job as a dog handler. I've learned to play the guitar and am now a musician/songwriter. The music I write is filled with inspirational messages which hopefully leaves the listener thinking about their own lives.

I feel in my heart every single day that my living amends is needed out there in the community in a major way. It is my desire to work along side law enforcement in order to be there for those lost and hurting children the way I wish someone would have been there for me. I not only have the "experience" but my past is one that sadly those kids look to and glorify. My transformation is one that kids will learn and see with their own eyes that there is a real life on the other side of the fog that they are currently living in.

Today I am able to give back to society by serving my community with the skills I have learned during my incarceration (guitar/dog teaching lessons), but most of all I am able, as a law-abiding citizen, to give those who are hurting what they've long for for so long:

unconditional love, because at the end of the day that's all that anyone really needs.

In closing I am asking that you grant this commutation so that I may broaden my efforts in living in amends for the crimes that I have committed against the Mendoza family and the citizens of my community.

Thank you.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Vicente Godoy

Vicente Godoy worked as a security guard at a small local market. Mr. Godoy, Manuel Corado, and Carmelo Corado, planned to rob the market. Mr. Godoy allowed his two crime partners to enter the market and gave them access to the backroom. During the robbery, the store manager, Luis Valdez, and the assistant manager, Teresa Cano, were both shot by Manuel Corado. Mr. Valdez died from his injuries. On December 5, 2001, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Godoy to life without the possibility of parole, plus seven years for attempted murder, and a two-year firearm enhancement.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Godoy accepted full responsibility for his crime and wrote, "I am asking for a commutation because I am no longer the person who was involved in my life crime. I am a rehabilitated man with a different way of thinking." Mr. Godoy has now been incarcerated for 19 years. During these years, he has demonstrated his desire and willingness to put his life on a productive path. He has only been disciplined three times in close to two decades in prison. Mr. Godoy has lived on the Progressive Programming facility since 2012. He has never been involved with gangs or drugs. He has maintained steady employment and routinely receives above average work ratings. Mr. Godoy has participated in self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Houses of Healing. Mr. Godoy has made significant effort toward earning his GED by participating in Adult Basic Education for five years. In the event of his release, Mr. Godoy hopes to rejoin his family and seek employment working on his family's farm.

Mr. Godoy committed a very serious crime, but he has distinguished himself by his good conduct, consistent work history, and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Godoy has earned an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings to it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

2. circumstances of crime continued...

- in the back with the supervisor of the store MR. Luis Valdez. When Mr. Teresa Cano doesn't come outside, Mr. Valdez goes back in to check in on her. I remain outside until I hear gunshots, I run in and find Mr. Valdez wounded on the floor. I tried to lift him up to get him to a hospital but Ms. Cano did not let me move him until the police arrived. When I went to the police station to give my statement I was informed that Mr. Valdez did not survive.

3. why requesting a commutation continued...

- up in prison for the rest of their lives. In these last 19 years of incarceration I have lost my mother and one of my sisters. I have suffered greatly because I could not be there for my family because of my bad choices. My father is now 85 years of age, and if given a second chance I can be there for my father in his last days.

4. why should you be granted a commutation continued...

I was entrusted to protect the market for Mr. Valdez and all the market employees and customers, and I chose to let my roommates in through the back to rob the store. Mr. Valdez was my friend and I did not think he was going to get shot and killed. That weighs heavy in my heart because I am responsible for letting them in to rob the store when I was suppose to be protecting the store. I betrayed his trust and he lost his life and for that I am responsible and I am so sorry.

June Gravlee

On July 17, 1987, June Gravlee and her brother, Gary Smith, participated in the fatal stabbing and beating of Andrew Gravlee, Ms. Gravlee's husband. After Mr. Gravlee's death, Ms. Gravlee continued to receive his monthly pension checks and his social security checks; she forged his signature and cashed the pension checks. On April 24, 1990, the Tulare County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Gravlee to life without the possibility of parole for murder for financial gain.

Ms. Gravlee has been incarcerated for nearly 31 years and is now 64 years old. In this time, Ms. Gravlee has lived violence-free. She has never been disciplined for serious misconduct. Ms. Gravlee has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Pathways to Wholeness, Beyond Violence, Victim Awareness, and Life Plan for Recovery.

Over the past three decades, Ms. Gravlee has earned the respect of prison staff. Numerous staff have lauded her work ethic, and her service to her community. Ms. Gravlee has primarily worked as an aide to teachers, psychologists, and correctional officials; she routinely received exceptional work ratings. One staff member commended Ms. Gravlee for her "exemplary" work and wrote, "I have observed her to be respectful, mature, well-mannered and helpful to staff and her peers." Another staff member described her as "an exceptional person," and also stated "I know if given the chance, Ms. Gravlee will be an incredible and successful member of society." A work supervisor stated, "From what I have seen firsthand, I believe Ms. Gravlee will be a successful and positive member of society once allowed to return." A self-help program sponsor commended her for assisting with activities focused on improving prison conditions for elderly inmates. Ms. Gravlee has made and donated hats to non-profit organizations for use by terminally ill children, and served as a dog trainer in the Prison Pup Program. In 2018, a dog training instructor wrote, "June has been in this program for several years and has always maintained a great attitude." The supervisor concluded, "We feel she will succeed on the outside, is ready and will be a valued member of the community if given a chance."

Ms. Gravlee committed a very callous crime. However, it is clear that she has distinguished herself by her exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Ms. Gravlee has earned the opportunity to present her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

#(2).

Up to 1985-87 I was a law abiding citizen, and still in here I do everything expected of me as I do not get into trouble, simply because I don't care for the consequences involved.

My husband & I were married in October of 85 I believe. Since this happened I have no recollection of dates. It definitely traumatized me.

My brother lived with us basically on the weekends as he was a journeyman plumber. He traveled around the state working.

One Friday evening my brother asked if we'd like to go out for the evening. My husband said no because he had to go to work Saturday morning. I really wanted to go because I had been stuck at home for weeks with no break. So, I made up my mind that I was going opposed to my husband telling me that I couldn't go. I got ready, we argued, but nothing either one of us wouldn't get over in a few days.

My brother & I had left Andy and the kids, my 3 children at the house. We went to a club and had a few drinks, plus I mixed a shot of tequila with my rum and cokes I had been drinking. I don't remember how many I had.

We got home and my husband was still upset with me. I told him I didn't want to argue with him we'd talk about it later when he came home. I got up and went into the living room and watched a movie that was on cable with my brother. He asked me if everything was alright & I told him nothing I couldn't handle later.

My brother knew we were having problems and didn't really like the way Andy had been treating the children and me. He said he was going to go talk to him. I didn't see that would help, but he did.

As Gary left the room, I began feeling the night's festivities in a whole different way. I got nauseous and went into the bathroom where I spent a good 20 to 30 minutes losing everything taken in that previous evening. I heard my brother say "Someone ought to kill you you S.O.B." I never took words that seriously before and certainly never thought a threat like that would ever be carried out in my own home. So, I really dismissed the statement. I said stupid things all the time, it never was meant to be carried out though. More or less, it was to get people to back off of me. Never to harm.

When I came out of the bathroom through my daughter's bedroom, my brother was at the kitchen sink running water. I wasn't sure what he was doing as the lights were off so we only had the light from the television.

I walked over to my bedroom door and as I reached for the door knob my brother grabbed me from behind. He told me I could not go in there because Andy was dead. In total disbelief he shook my shoulders and stared down into my eyes with a piercing empty glare I'd never seen before in him, and it scared me. He said, "Andy is dead, you can't go in there." I began crying and asked if we could get him to the hospital, or call an ambulance, I refused to believe the words I just heard. He shoved me over to the sink in the kitchen, as he did he made it perfectly clear to me to keep my mouth shut as he would not be going to prison for this. I was scared out of my mind.

When he came out of the bedroom he told me to help him carry Andy out to the pick-up. I begged him not to make me do this, but he said if I didn't he'd get one of my boys to help him. I could not let him involve my children... I did what I was told to do.

Andy was wrapped in a tarp, I was told to grab his feet, I did. We carried him out to the bed of the pickup and placed him inside.

He asked where my purse was I pointed to my room door, he got my purse and grabbed my arm. I again begged him to leave me there with the children, but he took me out to the passenger side opened the door and told me to get in. He shut the door & walked around to the driver side. Before getting in, he pulled his belt off and took his hunting knife off then threw it in the seat between us. Just glaring at me with that frightening stare. At that point I didn't figure I'd be coming back to see my kids either.

Reverend Brown, they put financial gain on me saying I had an insurance policy on my husband. There was no insurance policy at all.

I did not even know how Andy was killed until I went to trial. Then I found out he was stabbed to death plus his head was crushed with a hammer. Oh my God, I would never wish this treatment on anyone.

I must definitely was not "June Cleaver" but I tried to be the best wife, housewife, and nother possible.

Time and time again I wish I could take this all back and give this man back his life ... but I can't. I've asked my God for forgiveness and, I'm asking you and the State of California for forgiveness with at least a lesser sentence for the part I did participate in, and not of my own free will.

Thank you so much for your time and consideration in this matter.

(3.) Through working with Mental Health I learned more about me. I learned I could not fix everything and it wasn't my responsibility to do so. Also, found out it is alright to make a mistake, and to be forgiven by my peers. I know right from wrong, but got caught up in a very bad situation.

(4.) chance. I've gone to CODA which is through AA/NA, I've learned it's not my responsibility to make up excuses for others and I do know I have choices to make a better life for me, and others around me.

I'm currently in the Prison Pup Program where we train dogs to help and assist the handicapped. Some of our dogs go to veterans with PTSD. A very rewarding experience knowing I'm giving a person more freedom, a dog that can retrieve items, give them the item, turn lights on and off, and give their person the ability to be more social. I have earned my trainers certificate through Canine Support Team.

I did the Veterans group here which involved making hats, scarves, lap blankets, & afghans for a year.

When I first got here I did 11 years worth of groups. Daily I went to groups after work. Then my sentence just got the better of me and I gave up. After awhile you just feel that it is not worth the effort anymore. After all... I've been placed here to die too. I've come back to my senses, and still have hope that can never be taken from me. I've been very scared of the legal system, and that's why it has taken me so long to respond.

(7)

All in all... none of this would have ever happened had I known what was going on. Never did I intend, ask, or agree to any of this. My husband did not deserve to die like this & even if we didn't see Eye to eye on everything I would never wish this on any one.

Thank you Sir for your time and consideration.

Earl Griffin

In 1995, 20-year-old Earl Griffin and Byron Smith confronted Dameon Singleton, a drug dealer. They took cash, marijuana, car keys, and other property from Mr. Singleton, then one of the men shot him, killing him. On February 28, 1997, the Alameda County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Griffin to life without the possibility of parole for murder. Mr. Griffin has consistently denied shooting Mr. Singleton.

Mr. Griffin is now 44 years old and has been incarcerated for 23 years. Although he has consistently denied shooting Mr. Singleton, he has accepted responsibility for his role in the crime and expressed sincere remorse. In his application for clemency, Mr. Griffin wrote, "[T]here is no explanation that excuses what I've done. . . . As a result of my actions a young man's life was taken, leaving his family with agony, and a lifetime of unexplainable loss." He described the significant changes he has made since coming to prison, and said, "I am a 'God-fearing' adult with absolute remorse for my adolescent choices. If granted an opportunity to re-enter society, there is no possibility that I would participated in any kind of criminal history."

Mr. Griffin has shown through his actions in prison that he is no longer the young man who participated in this senseless crime. He earned his GED and has maintained a positive work record, including his most recent assignment as a caregiver for disabled and ill inmates. He has participated in self-help programs including Narcotics Anonymous, Anger Management, and Criminal Rehabilitation Anonymous. Mr. Griffin has also earned the respect of the staff members who see him on a daily basis. In 2017, a correctional captain commended Mr. Griffin for his positive attitude and wrote that he was polite, respectful, has "exemplified outstanding work product," and "is to be recognized for his dedication, and expediency." In 2016, a work supervisor praised Mr. Griffin for participating in self-help groups and wrote, "His behavior to date is that of a person who strives toward rehabilitation. Furthermore, I have observed that he has a willingness for self-development and continues to demonstrate that he is prepared to become a responsible member of society upon release." Mr. Griffin has developed a solid plan in the event of his release – his wife and parents have pledged to support him and help him transition back into the community, and he has a job offer waiting for him.

Despite serving a sentence that gave him no hope of ever being released from prison, Mr. Griffin has worked hard to better himself, and strives to be a responsible member of his community. I believe it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Earl Griffin to a total of 25 years to life.

Ultimately, both Applicant and co-defendant were found guilty and sentenced to Life Without Parole (LWOP). Although the special circumstance was later attached, after a preliminary hearing, an actual death sentence was never sought by the prosecution. As such, no penalty phase was utilized to determine fair and appropriate sentencing. Judge G. Baranco stated that he had, "...absolutely no discretion to modify that sentence." (Refer to sentencing transcript page 3) Currently, I have been in prison for a longer period of time than I was in society before making the worst, reckless, insensitive decision I've ever made. This request, seeking a commutation of sentence, affords me the opportunity to draw attention to new Senate Bills having to do with scientific studies pertaining to brain development from a youth to an adult. (See attached document- exhibit line #3) severity of the reckless decisions I made in my younger life. This request for commutation of sentence is in no way meant to disregard, and/or lack accountability for justice rendered. However, it has recently become a fair question to ask whether or not egregious crimes committed by young adults justify an LWOP sentence. I was twenty (20) at the time of this crime. Governor Brown, there is no explanation that excuses what I've done. My only hope in asking for commutation has to do with the opportunity available with this application; to express the fact of my awareness of the traumatic pain and hurt I caused. As a result of my actions a young man's life was taken, leaving his family with agony, and a lifetime of unexplainable loss. The ripple effect has caused my own family a great deal of suffering as well.

As mentioned earlier in this letter, Governor Brown, there is no justification for my delinquency, but there is a childhood that may offer insight into my poor judgment during those adolescent years. When I was 8 years old both of my parents began smoking crack cocaine. My childhood was perplexed with various mixed emotions ranging from low self-esteem, shame, and of course anger. Most of the other kids I gravitated towards, including my co-defendant, also grew up with drug addicted parents. Other kids, whose parents were not drug addicts, would usually tease kids like me for not only having less than they had, but also for having addicted parents. Reflecting back, I now realize when anger began to take root. By age 12 I felt ashamed of who I was and fighting other kids became normal - if not a natural result of this. My environment consisted of consistent drug sales and drug abuse. At age 13 I began selling crack, truly believing in my mind at that stage in my life, that doing so was the only way for me to survive. By the age of 16 my daughter Tiffany was born. One month later I was arrested for narcotics sales and sentenced to California Youth Authority (CYA). Two and a half (2½) months after being released from CYA I was arrested on my current case and sentenced to LWOP.

Governor Brown, I mentioned these facts of my childhood in order to appropriately answer the particular question asked as to why I should be granted commutation. Sir the immature, reckless, confused young man I was growing up under those extreme circumstances, is not the person I am today. Having earned my G.E.D., Anger Management and Critical Thinking certificates etc., I have matured in such a way that literally brings me to tears when reflecting back on what I've done and the sadness of my childhood. Today, at age 43, I am a "God-fearing" adult with absolute remorse for my adolescent choices. If granted an opportunity to re-enter society, there is no possibility that I would participate in any kind of criminal activity.

Furthermore, it is my goal to mentor the youth based on the skills I have acquired during incarceration and with the insight I have gained into my own past experiences. Honorable Governor Brown, I have attached chronos, certificates, and support letters from my father, Earl Sr., my aunt, Mari Stewart, uncle Leroy Berrows, my wife Christine Watson, and other notable achievement certificates to provide tangible evidence of my efforts at rehabilitation. It is my sincerest hope that these documents, along with a review of the Applicant's behavioral improvement while incarcerated will attest to this reality.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Earl Griffin

Jose Gutierrez

On December 5, 2008, 16-year-old Jose Gutierrez and a fellow gang member pulled up near a liquor store where Martin Miguel was standing. Mr. Gutierrez chased Mr. Miguel and fired multiple shots at him, killing him. On May 24, 2010, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Gutierrez to 15 years to life for murder, plus an additional 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total term of 40 years to life.

In an interview with a Board of Parole Hearings investigator, Mr. Gutierrez described the difficult childhood that contributed to his gang involvement at a young age. He reported that his father drank excessively and was verbally abusive to the children and physically abusive to Mr. Gutierrez's mother. Mr. Gutierrez grew close to members of the neighborhood gang and began carrying weapons in an effort to prove himself to them. In his application for clemency, Mr. Gutierrez wrote, "I had a very immature and selfish mentality, but by the grace of God and his principles I have renewed my mind and have developed my character throughout these years beginning with gang renouncement." He described the Bible study and other courses that have helped shape his thinking, and explained, "This counseling also helped me to come to terms in my involvement in this crime, and provided me with personal tools in order to become a man, a son, a brother, and an uncle capable of being a positive influence to my family, my community here in prison, and the community beyond these walls."

Mr. Gutierrez has demonstrated his commitment to self-improvement throughout his incarceration. He has never been disciplined for misconduct, and is currently working towards his GED. He has participated in multiple self-help classes, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Addiction Counseling, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Alternatives to Violence. Mr. Gutierrez has been offered employment in the event of his release, and his sister and several other family members have offered him housing and other support as he transitions back into the community.

During nine years in prison, Mr. Gutierrez has matured from an impulsive 16-year-old into a young man who has accepted responsibility for his actions and is determined to make positive contributions to his community. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jose Gutierrez to a total of 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2) Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation: The circumstances of my crime is that on December 05, 2008, at the age of 16, I shot and killed Miguel Martinez (Martin) as he emerged from a market in Pomona. My co-defendant Albert Sandoval was the driver of a Nissan Altima and I was the passenger and the shooter. As Miguel was walking in front of Ted's liquor store, I went up to him and pointed the gun at him, and as soon as he saw me he began running and he cut through an opening near the newspaper rack in the northwest corner of Guadalajara market. I chased him. As I was chasing Miguel, I fired one shot. Miguel ran through the opening between Ted's and Guadalajara market, where he fell down. I reached Miguel and fired several more rapid shots at him while I stood over him. I then turned around and ran across Mission Boulevard carrying a gun in my right hand and almost got hit by a passing car. I then ran and entered the vehicle driven by Albert Sandoval. As Sandoval and I were backing up, witnesses were able to get a partial license plate number. We pulled off driving Westbound and went to Sandoval's parent's house to change cars and he got his mother's van to take me to my uncle's house. The very next day on December 06, 2008 officers put surveillance on Sandoval's vehicle, and noticed that it was parked in front of my uncle's house facing Northbound on [REDACTED] in the city of Pomona. After officers identified us as the suspects, we were taken into custody. On May 24, 2010 the trial court sentenced me to state prison for a total of 40 years to life.

3) Explain why you are requesting commutation: The reason why I am requesting a commutation of sentence is because I pray that redemptive qualities may grant me a second chance at life. I know that I am not the same person I was when I first got arrested, because I matured through self-correction. I was 16 years old when I committed my crime and due to my immature selfish actions and my destructive behavior I murdered a human being named Miguel Martinez (Martin). I had a very immature and selfish mentality, but by the grace of God and his principles I have renewed my mind and have developed my character throughout these years beginning with gang renouncement as well as mental, physical, emotional, and spiritual development. Now I can humbly and honestly say with all confidence that I have changed my life through the power of God "The Almighty". I'm a man of God now who loves and enjoys helping others in any way I can. Qualities that I look forward to bringing into my community to do my part in making a difference for the better with my testimony of personal transformation.

4) Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted commutation: The question as to why I "should" be granted commutation, this question is very difficult for me to answer because I honestly don't deserve a commutation sentence due to what I have caused in the life of Miguel, his family, and my community where I grew up. My selfishness and destructive behavior brought sorrow, grief, and fear in people's lives due to this crime that I committed on December 05, 2008. However, I'm pleading for a commutation of sentence because I have learned so much through a lot of groups in here, helping me to understand insight and the tremendous impact I had in Miguel Martinez's (Martin) family and the community. At the age of 17, I made a serious decision that I will never take for granted. I made a decision to turn my will and my life over to the care of God as I understood him. I didn't know anything about God, until I first came to jail when beautiful people like Eddy Martinez, Father Mike, and all the Christian volunteers who accompany and mentor kids in Sylmar juvenile hall "The Compound", a place where high risk juveniles are housed. As I built a relationship with them, I started to hear the message of the gospel being preached to me. As I was paying attention to the message of Christ, the word of God penetrated my heart and soul. As I received the message, I was cut to the heart and I got convicted for every wicked thing I did in my past, especially for this crime that I committed. I was grieved and remorseful for what I had done to Mr. Miguel, his family, my community, and my family. As I started getting closer to God I then realized how sinful and selfish I had become in my life, meaning I was disobedient, rebellious, lawbreaker and took the law into my own hands. Therefore, I came to believe that a power greater than myself could restore me to sanity. As I came to my senses, I recognized that I needed God's help to change my thinking, my behavior, my character, my motives, and my whole life. I then cried out to my lord and savior Jesus Christ and asked him to change my life. This transformation took place one morning on April 9th, 2010 as I was sitting in the holding tank at Pomona Superior Court, it was during the middle of my trial, I had been stressing for over 17 months not knowing what was going to happen in my life, I then put my head down and got down on my knees and started praying and talking to God. I truly wanted to change my life. I honestly didn't want to continue being that old person I was, but I didn't know how to change, so I prayed to God. At first I was being selfish by asking God to help me get out of the situation I got myself in, but then I stopped myself, corrected my words, and my thoughts because in all reality I deserve my sentence; therefore, I asked God to help me change my life and to help me make a difference in this world and in people's lives. I opened my heart to Jesus Christ and I made him the lord of my life and my savior. Ever since that day, I made a commitment to God and myself that never again in my life I would hurt another human being. Even though I got sentenced to 40 years to life, I never lost hope and I continued advancing in my life and changing for the better, which shows in my disciplinary free record. In prison I have not received any disciplinary reports of any rules violations of any kind for 7 years. This is the result of me being true to my change, to myself, and to my commitment of changing and living an obedient lifestyle in my Christian faith. Now I see people the way God sees them, with love, compassion, respect, and with a purpose in life, not as an object but as a human being. As I continued to walk in this Christian lifestyle, I continued to grow spiritually and matured in a lot of ways. I've learned that people are valuable in life and that we all need guidance in life. Therefore, I have committed my life to help anybody in need, I have become a mentor to people here in prison, and I have a spiritual gift and use it to encourage people. I encourage them by letting them know that there is hope in changing their life, if they choose too. I encourage them to get involved in every self-help group and to go to church, because these are tools that can change their lives. I also became a student and a teacher of the bible. I have a great desire to continue to learn and develop my character. My whole purpose in life is to be of service, meaning to be of service on helping or doing work for others. One of my main purposes as well, is to help the youth, young people that are struggling with the same situation that I was in, "the gang life", I want to reach out to these individuals and let them know that there is hope and a purpose in their life; and that they too can change and make a difference in this world. Throughout my incarceration, I've been participating in all the self-help groups that the department of corrections provides here in Ironwood State Prison, which helped me understand that my childhood was dysfunctional. This counseling also helped me come to terms in my involvement in this crime, and provided me with personal tools in order to become a man, a son, a brother, and an uncle capable of being a positive influence to my family, my community here in prison, and the community beyond these walls. I've learned that it's not all about me, but it is about what I can do to help people with their struggles of addiction and their destructive behavior. As I continue in these self-help groups, they continue to equip me and prepare me for my facilitating skills. I'm also enrolled in The Urban Ministry Institute (TUMI). TUMI is a training institution that exists to equip leaders for the urban church especially among the poor, in order to advance the kingdom of God. This ministry is and has been a mighty blessing in my life because it shaped me as a leader and has taught me bible theology and the skills required for missionary work and ministry. My focus is to develop more in God's word and to further prepare for leadership. I believe that God is raising up dynamic leaders from among the urban poor who would benefit from access to quality theological education. My main goal is to continue being involved in God's ministry, preaching and teaching his word (the bible). By the grace of God I have this great zeal and passion to preach and teach God's word. As I continue in God's ministry, my focus is in developing lay and pastoral leaders who can effectively disciple others, especially among the urban poor; a contrast as to when I first came to jail. At first I didn't know my ABC's, and I didn't know how to read, I didn't know how to write a simple letter to my family; and I strongly felt like a failure. I was ashamed and embarrassed of the person I was. I examined my heart and evaluated my life, and I saw no accomplishments in my life and I told myself "what are you doing with your life?" I started to see potential in me and started to value my life through Christ. Today I have achieved and continue to accomplish set goals, for example, advancing from ABE 1 to 2 educational system, and am in the brink of obtaining my GED through ABE 3. I hope to share these achievements with you in person hoping and praying that you will give me the opportunity to share my story with you of the person that I have become. I want to thank you for taking your valuable time in hearing my story and my response to the questions. I'm very grateful for giving me this opportunity in my life. All I'm asking from you is a chance to share my story. God bless you all.

Anthony Guzman

On September 19, 1980, Anthony Guzman robbed Mike Issa, a car salesman, then took a vehicle from the dealership and killed Mr. Issa. On June 13, 1983, the Santa Clara County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Guzman to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 3 years for burglary.

Mr. Guzman is now 60 years old and has been incarcerated for over 38 years for this crime. In his application for clemency Mr. Guzman expressed remorse for the killing of Mr. Issa, writing, "I will always be accountable to Michael, I wish to honor him with all the good I am able to provide in a more sensible and productive manner." Mr. Guzman wrote that he seeks an opportunity to appear before the parole board as a changed man, stating, "I am responsible and accountable for my decisions. I wish to be a good brother to my siblings, a good neighbor, and a responder to the world. To finish my life out in the service of others."

Mr. Guzman has transformed himself in prison. He was last disciplined for misconduct over 20 years ago and has never been disciplined for any violence. Mr. Guzman earned a GED in 2014 and routinely received above average work ratings. He has participated in self-help groups, including Criminal and Addictive Thinking, Victim Awareness, Alternatives to Violence, and Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous. Mr. Guzman was a founding member of the Centinela State Prison Veterans Activity Group and donated to charitable causes.

Mr. Guzman's warden recommended him for clemency, and he has also been recognized by other staff members for his good behavior and attitude. In 2017, a chaplain commended Mr. Guzman for his active participation in Catholic services, noting that he is always eager to help and "is polite and associates well with staff and inmates." In 2014, a GED instructor wrote that Mr. Guzman "has a good attitude and works hard to improve his skills. He is a pleasure to have in class." In 2013, a sponsor wrote that Mr. Guzman is "an integral part in establishing fund raising events for the purpose of donating to the Veterans Employment Committee." Mr. Guzman has the support of his family upon his release. His sister wrote in support of his clemency application and offered "full support in whatever it takes for a successful transition" in the event of Mr. Guzman's release.

In addition, Mr. Guzman's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Guzman.

Many people sentenced to life without the possibility of parole give up hope and lose themselves in prison. Faced with that same sentence, Mr. Guzman exhibited a commitment to his rehabilitation. I acknowledge that this crime was devastating to Mr. Issa's family members, who have opposed clemency in this case. However, after serious consideration, I cannot discount the turnaround Mr. Guzman has made during his incarceration. I believe that it is appropriate to reduce his sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Anthony Guzman to a total of 38 years to life.

SUMMARY OF OFFENSE:

The Court has heard this matter; however, the following summary was derived from the San Jose Police Department's investigation report.

(Counts 1, 2 & 3)

The body of victim Mike Issa was first discovered October 7, 1980, 3.8 miles south of Uvas Road, Morgan Hill. The body was then taken to the Santa Clara County Morgue, where an autopsy was performed. The body was positively identified as that of Michael Issa on October 8, 1980. Evidence indicated that he had been murdered.

As of September 20, 1980, at 11:30 p.m., an investigation had begun to locate the whereabouts of Mike Issa, a victim of possible foul play. Victim Issa worked as a car salesman for Auto San Jose, 1660 West San Carlos, San Jose, California, and last had been seen at 8:45 p.m. on September 19, 1980, in the company of the defendant who was a prospective buyer of a 1968 Chevrolet Corvette. At the time, the defendant was believed to have with him $6,000 cash in a duffle bag, but lacked an additional $1,000 to complete the sale. The Corvette was registered to Auto San Jose, [REDACTED]

The victim was later to fail to keep a prearranged appointment at the apartment of Dennis Cory, a friend. The defendant also did not return home the evening of September 20, 1980, which was extremely unusual behavior for the victim. Two close friends of the victim went to look for him and located the car the victim was using at the time (not the Corvette). The vehicle was found on the south side of Scott Boulevard, west of Leigh intersection. It was illegally parked and was observed to have blood on the exterior, although none was noted on the ground surrounding the vehicle. No blood was found inside the vehicle and nothing unusual inside the trunk. Nobody in the area the previous night or day had reported any unusual sounds. The police, now being involved, found miscellaneous papers on the victim's desk, where he worked. These papers contained identification of the defendant, along with a description of the vehicle which the victim had been attempting to sell. These included one of two contract forms, an odometer record form indicating mileage, both bill-of-sale, trip slips and other notepaper. The victim's handwriting was recognized on all forms except the bill-of-sale slip "... which looked as if they had been completed by buyer of the vehicle, who signed his name: Anthony Carlos Guzman." Of all forms present, it appeared that one contract form was missing and there was no receipt for any sales transaction noted in the company receipt book.

Additional investigation, including interviews with relatives and acquaintances of the defendant, led officers to conclude he was their likely suspect. On September 20, 1980, at 4:30 p.m., a fellow employee of the victim, telephoned the defendant to talk about the victim. The defendant answered the phone. In conversation, he told the calling party that he had receipts and paperwork for the vehicle and the car was his, that he had "given Mike $6,000" for the car. He told the caller that he did not know where Mike Issa was, ~~but the last time he saw him was on the car lot.~~ When asked by the caller where he got the money, the defendant told him it was none of his business. In an effort to scare the defendant into telling where victim Issa was, the caller told the defendant that the police were looking for him, at which point the defendant said the caller was "crazy" and hung up. Statements taken by other parties indicate that the defendant was seen to have blood on his person/clothing and other evidence.

Police were unable to locate the defendant and had reason to believe the defendant was in southern California, in the Pasadena area.

~~_____~~
warrant was sought for the defendant's arrest, and granted on September 22, 1980, and officers proceeded to the Pasadena area and returned with the defendant in custody. The defendant, when arrested by Pasadena police, was driving the 1968 Corvette. It was later found that the victim's credit card Visa credit card had been used by the defendant to rent Room 4 at the Manhattan Motel, 1523 East Colorado, Glendale.

(Counts 4 & 5)

In the process of investigating the defendant, police were to be advised by victim Rick Galli, 1121 Rhinecastle, San Jose, of a burglary. On September 19, 1980, the defendant entered the victim's residence to commit theft. Taken was a .25 caliber automatic, a 9-millimeter P-38 semiautomatic handgun, jewelry, a 35-millimeter camera and the victim's car keys. The defendant was identified as the same person who earlier had attempted to purchase a vehicle belonging to victim Galli. The defendant later returned in the absence of the victim's family and took the items already noted.

Attached for the Court's information and consideration are copies of the presentence report and arraignment/consolidation petition in this matter.

VICTIM'S STATEMENT: (Appearance unknown)

The victim's family has been notified of the time and place of sentencing and of their right to be present and heard, with or without benefit of counsel.

DEFENDANT'S STATEMENT: (Not received)

The defendant has declined to discuss the offense on advice of counsel and has not done so. He did, however, supply information as to his personal life, i.e., former employers, personal data, health, etc.

INTERESTED PARTIES:

Although the defendant was on formal supervised probation when the new offense occurred, he was being actively supervised by a California Youth Authority Parole Agent. This officer then attempted to contact Parole Agent Pam Marshall, who was unavailable, but this officer was referred to another Parole Agent who had the defendant's file available. The report indicated that the defendant was discharged (dishonorably) from

DEAR GOVERNOR BROWN,

THANK YOU! IN RESPONSE TO QUESTION #4.

I WAS NOT PREPARED TO RECEIVE THIS APPLICATION. I HAD TO TAKE A KNEE TO COLLECT MYSELF. I TREMBLE EVERY TIME I HOLD IT. MY PAPA, FAMILY AND MICHAEL FILL MY THOUGHTS. IS THIS MICHAEL'S AND GOD'S WAY OF SHOWING ME FORGIVENESS? I WILL NEVER BE ABLE TO FORGIVE MYSELF WITHOUT SOME SEMBLANCE OF REDEMPTION. AM I WORTHY OF MERCY AND HOPE FOR REDEMPTION?

EVERY DAY I PRAY IN MEMORIAL TO MICHAEL, I HONOR HIM AS MY HERO! I PRAY THAT I COULD CARE FOR MY ELDERLY PARENTS AND AUNT MARY, MY SISTER JANIE WHO AILS FROM EFFECTS OF A STROKE, ALL REQUIRE DAILY CARE.

SIR, MY CAPTAIN, AM I GETTING "CLOSER TO HOME, PLEASE RETURN ME TO MY HOME PORT, THAT I MAY KISS MOTHER EARTH"

I TREMBLE WITH ANTICIPATION FOR AN OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME MY FATHER'S SON. (THIS IS A MAN I DID NOT KNOW PRIOR TO MY ARREST, YET HE BLAMES HIMSELF FOR MY STUPID MISTAKES MY SELFISH IMPERTINENCE) NO PAPA, I SAY TO HIM. I AM RESPONSIBLE AND ACCOUNTABLE FOR MY DECISIONS. I WISH TO BE A GOOD BROTHER TO MY SIBLINGS, A GOOD NEIGHBOR, A RESPONDER TO THE WORLD. TO FINISH MY LIFE OUT IN THE SERVICE OF OTHERS.

I WILL ALWAYS BE ACCOUNTABLE TO MICHAEL, I WISH TO HONOR HIM WITH ALL THE GOOD I AM ABLE TO PROVIDE IN A MORE SENSIBLE AND PRODUCTIVE MANNER.

WHEN I INFORMED MY PAPA OF THIS APPLICATION - WITH OUT HESITATION:
"SHOULD WE E-MAIL THE GOVERNOR, LET HIM KNOW WE NEED YOU TO COME HOME TO TAKE CARE OF US". OTHER FAMILY MEMBER HAVE SINCE OFFERED THEIR HOME, AND WHATEVER IT TAKES TO SHOW YOU HAVE OUR FULL SUPPORT"

THESE ARE PEOPLE WHO HAVE SUPPORTED ME, ENCOURAGED ME, HAVE FAITH IN ME TO BECOME A GOODMAN, OFFER THEIR HOMES TO ME!

I AM BLESSED AND I WANT THE WORLD TO KNOW!

EIGHT YEARS AGO I GAVE UP MY TYPEWRITER FOR A GUITAR, I HAVE SINCE PRODUCED MY OWN SOUND (COUNTRY BLUESY) AND PENNED SEVERAL SONGS IN HONOR OF "MICHAEL, MY PAPA", "4 GOOD MEN" I'VE COME TO KNOW AS BROTHERS! (MARK, RICK, JOHNATHAN + RAFAEL, BUT, THAT'S ANOTHER CHAPTER IN A 37 YEAR OLD BOOK.)

AGE 15, MORE MATURE THAN I WAS AT AGE 20-22.

ANOTHER FOSTER HOME AND GUARDIAN LIKE ALL THE OTHER CHILD MOLESTER AND SEXUAL DEVIANTS. BUT, I WASN'T GETTING BEAT-UP. I BELIEVED I COULD RISE ABOVE IT. MY AMBITIONS WERE TO BECOME AN OLYMPIC ALPINE SKIER, A GT RACE CAR (PORSCHÉ 911 CARRERA RSR) DRIVER. THEN A ARCHITECTURAL/DRAFTING DESIGNER. AND ATTEMPT KAYAKING THE PEACE AND MACKENZIE TO THE ARCTIC

TO SOMEONE WHO IMPACT SO MANY PEOPLE IN A TERRIBLE AND TRAGIC WAY.

PRISON, MY RETRIBUTION WILL NEVER BE ENOUGH. SANQUENTIN, FOLSOM, SAC., WHERE I MANAGED TO EVADE THE KNIFE 3 OUT OF 4 TIMES. I FINALLY LEARNED WHERE THESE ORDERS ORIGINATED. AN OTHER REASON WHY I ATTEMPTED TO SHUN MY FAMILY. I DIDN'T BELIEVE I WOULD MAKE IT THIS FAR. 1996 WAS THE LAST ATTEMPT.

SIR, I'M NOT CERTAIN IF THIS IN ANY WAY PERTINENT IN THE CONTEXT OF THIS APPLICATION OR MY CAUSE?

I AM NOT A SHOT CALLER OR A GANG MEMBER. I'M A NO BODY WHO LIVES WITH TOO MANY BUT WREACKING REGRETS.

HOWEVER, SINCE MICHAEL DEATH, I WILL NOT REGRET ANOTHER DECISION OR ACTION AGAIN.

I AM NOT INTO SELF EXPLOITATION IT SEEMS TACKY AND BRAGGADOCIOUS. I BELIEVE I HAVE MATURED INTO A GOOD MAN, LESSONS LEARNED. OVER 37 YEARS EARNED. I HAVE CONSOLED, COUNSELED, TAUGHT, COACHED AND SAVED LIVES OR AT LEAST THE THREAT TO INMATES AND STAFF.

"MICHAEL GAVE HIS LIFE SO YOU COULD HELP OR SAVE OTHERS" MY AUNT MARY SAYS. BLESS HER. BUT, IT'S A BAD PLAN FOR ANYONE.

THIS IS NOT THE PLACE OR HOW I WANT TO BE IN THE SERVICE OF OTHERS.

ALTHOUGH I KEEP ALL THE GOOD MEMORIES OF ALL THE GOOD ADVENTURES AND TASKS I'VE DONE IN MY PAST. THE FEW GOOD FRIENDS AND PEOPLE WHO HAVE HELPED ME IN MY FIRST 20 YEARS.

MAMA'S DELICIOUS BLUEBERRY PEACH PIE THE FILLED WITH CREAM OR CAMEMBERT CHEESE SERVED WITH A MILLION DOLLAR SMILE!

I HAVE MADE EVERY ATTEMPT TO FORGET ALL THE TERRIBLE EVENTS THAT OCCURRED - INCLUDING HOW THE POLICE AND D.A. ASSEMBLE AND PRESENTED THE EVIDENCE AGAINST ME. IT DOESN'T MATTER, THE RESULT IS THE SAME. I AM AT FAULT, I AM RESPONSIBLE, ACCOUNTABLE MY RETRIBUTION THE REST OF MY LIFE.

ON MY FAVORITE DAY OF THE WEEK, A SUPER BLUE MOON LIGHTS THE NIGHT SKY.

I SUBMIT THIS CRY FOR MERCY AND HOPE FOR AN OPPORTUNITY FOR REDEMPTION.

WITH A SOLEMN HEART THANK YOU!

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jeffrey Douglas Hall

On July 2, 1992, 18-year-old Jeffrey Hall and several friends planned to steal Christian Sturdevant's car, and asked him to meet them near a local high school. Mr. Sturdevant arrived with his friend Mark Berkey. Mr. Sturdevant left for a while, and Mr. Hall and the others started fighting with Mr. Berkey. Mr. Hall stabbed Mr. Berkey multiple times, killing him. When Mr. Sturdevant came back, two of Mr. Hall's crime partners attacked him and tried to take his car keys, but Mr. Sturdevant fought them off and fled. On January 16, 1996, the Santa Clara County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hall to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a one-year deadly weapon enhancement.

During his 26 years in prison, Mr. Hall has demonstrated a serious commitment to his rehabilitation. He is now 45 years old and has only been disciplined twice for misconduct during more than two decades of incarceration. He has participated in numerous self-help groups including Alcoholics Anonymous, Childhood Abuse and Trauma, Alternatives to Violence, and Victim Awareness. Mr. Hall has learned vocational skills through his job assignments and routinely receives excellent work ratings from his supervisors. One kitchen officer noted that Mr. Hall "has shown exemplary skill" while "maintaining excellent work habits." Another supervisor praised his work ethic and wrote, "Mr. Hall is to be commended for his positive programming and commitment and, in my opinion, I would recommend Mr. Hall for any job in or out of prison."

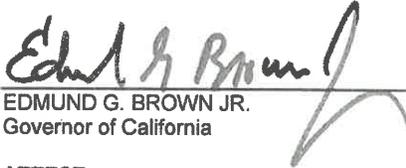

Mr. Hall was recommended for a commutation by his warden, and has earned commendations from other correctional officers as well. In 2017, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Hall "has been an exemplary example of positive programming and behavior." Also in 2017, a correctional captain praised Mr. Hall for participation in self-help groups and said, "Inmate Hall has demonstrated an ability to work across the lines with management, staff, and inmates to create an environment conducive to rehabilitation and for the betterment of incarcerated individuals on numerous levels."

I acknowledged that Mr. Hall committed a very serious crime, which has had an enduring impact on Mr. Berkey's loved ones. However, Mr. Hall has spent many years in prison and has significantly matured and reflected on his actions. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "I believe the change in my character from 26 years ago is evident." He continued, "I can only plead that I may have the opportunity to have a chance at parole to demonstrate that I am not forever a danger to society." For all of these reasons, I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Hall's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jeffrey Douglas Hall to a total of 26 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

#2) BRIEFLY DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME(S) FOR WHICH YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION

In July of 1992, at the age of eighteen, I both aided in and committed the murder of Mark Berkey while trying to steal the vehicle of his friend, Christian Sturdevant. I was found guilty of first degree murder, robbery, and the special circumstance allegation of committing a murder in the act of a felony. I was sentenced to life without the possibility of parole (LWOP). The following is a statement of the facts of the case as found by the California Court of Appeal, 6th Appellate District, Case #H014967.

In June 1992, Hall, Swokla, and Bitz were working with a traveling magazine sales crew. The three became the nucleus of a group of young people who called themselves "The Krew". During that month, Jessica Richie met defendants who were staying at a Travel Lodge on the Alameda in San Jose. Richie "hung out" and "partied" with defendants and considered them like "family".

Around this time, defendants quit their jobs with the magazine crew, and Richie, who was a prostitute, provided financial support for the group. Sometime in late June, 15-year-old Jessica Tavares met defendants at a Taco Bell and she joined the group. On June 26 or 27, Andy Gates met defendants and allowed them to stay at his apartment. Gates owned a Gerber knife which the group passed around among themselves.

The group frequently talked about leaving Santa Clara County. Defendants and Richie were not from the area. Hall was homesick; Richie wanted to avoid upcoming court appearances for misdemeanor prostitution charges; and Bitz wanted to attend a Fourth of July party in his hometown of Port Hueneme. Gates was "on the run" from a felony warrant and Tavares just wanted to go. They all talked about leaving California and going to Colorado Springs. After discussing various ways to travel, they decided to steal a car.

After several failed attempts to steal vehicles, at approximately 11 pm on July 1, 1992, defendants Richie and Tavares were at the Taco Bell and decided to leave town that night. Tavares suggested she call one of her friends, tell him she needed a ride, then beat him up and steal his car. She decided on Christian Sturdevant, who had a nice vehicle which was big enough for five passengers and their belongings.

The group agreed that Tavares would call Sturdevant and ask him to come to the Taco Bell to give her a ride to Wilcox High School. According to Richie, Swokla told Tavares to "lure" Sturdevant out of his car. One of them would then stab Sturdevant or cut his throat. They also discussed beating the victim. Hall and Bitz were present when the plan was discussed and did not object. They then went to Blinky's bar behind the Taco Bell in order to make the call. While at Blinky's Swokla gave Gates' knife to Hall.

Tavares called Sturdevant and asked him for a ride to her brother's house. Sturdevant and Mark Berkey had been to a concert that evening and Sturdevant was about to take Berkey home when he received the call from Tavares at about midnight. Sturdevant agreed to give her a ride and Berkey went along. Sturdevant did not know Tavares very well, but had no reason to distrust her. About ten minutes later, Sturdevant and Berkey arrived at the Taco Bell and met Tavares and Richie. Tavares and Richie were surprised when Sturdevant showed up with another person. Nevertheless, they proceeded with the plan, got into the vehicle and proceeded to Wilcox High School.

When they arrived at the high school Tavares and Richie got out of the vehicle. Defendants arrived and Richie walked up to them as if surprised to see them. When Sturdevant announced that they were going to leave, Tavares asked him to stay. Sturdevant asked Berkey whether he wanted to stay and Berkey responded that he did. Someone suggested that they all go into the school inner courtyard or "quad"

After about 20 to 40 minutes, Sturdevant said he was hungry, and asked Berkey if he wanted to go get something to eat. Berkey declined. As Sturdevant was walking to his Jeep, Richie told Tavares to go with him to make sure he returned. Tavares told Sturdevant that she wanted to go along for the ride. Sturdevant first drove Tavares to her parents' mobile home where she picked up her clothes. Then they went to Jack-in-the-Box to get something to eat. Tavares' mood seemed to change after they left the school, and she remained quiet during the ride.

After Sturdevant left, Richie pulled Bitz aside and told him: "If something is going to happen, let's do it now - if not, let's just leave." Richie and Bitz were approximately 15 feet from the others. Swokla was standing in front of Berkey who was sitting on a table; Hall was standing behind Berkey. The three were joking and talking; there did not appear to be any argument between Swokla, Hall, and Berkey.

Without warning, Swokla hit Berkey in the face and Hall hit him in the back. Richie and Bitz walked over. Berkey fell to the ground and all three defendants began kicking and hitting him. Berkey screamed and yelled, "What did I do wrong? Please don't kill me." Richie yelled at Berkey to shut up. She was concerned somebody would hear the noise they were making. Richie walked away from the assault and stood by the fence for a few seconds, because she was scared.

A short time later, Richie saw Swokla drag Berkey by the feet to a darker part of the school yard. As Hall started walking away, Swokla said that the victim was still breathing. When Hall went to where Swokla had dragged Berkey, Swokla told Hall to "stab him in the neck". Swokla kept saying "go for the throat". Richie watched while Swokla and Hall stood over the body for about 30 seconds; she could not remember whether Bitz was standing near the body at the time. As the group walked to the school yard fence, Hall, crying and upset, approached Richie and hugged her. He said, "I can't believe I killed somebody, I slit his throat."

Sturdevant and Tavares returned about five minutes later. Richie pulled Tavares aside and told her they had killed Berkey. Sturdevant asked where Berkey was, and one of the defendants responded that Berkey had gotten mad and walked home. Swokla started to hit Sturdevant while Bitz held him in a choke hold. At first Sturdevant thought defendants were engaging in horseplay. However, when Bitz tightened his grip and began to choke him, Sturdevant fought back. As Sturdevant started to black out from the choke hold, Richie approached and said that all they wanted were the keys. Sturdevant grabbed the keys from his pocket and threw them to the ground. According to Bitz, he also threw out money. Richie picked up the keys and ran to the Jeep.

Bitz grabbed the money on the ground and ran to the Jeep. Richie started the Jeep, and the others got into the vehicle. She drove straight for Highway 101 without stopping for Gates or their bags because they were afraid of being caught by the police.

#3) EXPLAIN WHY YOU ARE REQUESTING A COMMUTATION.

I am sentenced to life without parole, and all post-conviction remedies have been exhausted through the courts. A commutation of the LWOP sentence is my only opportunity to seek a chance of parole.

#4) PROVIDE A BRIEF STATEMENT EXPLAINING WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED COMMUTATION

The question as to why I "should" be granted commutation implies that I feel I deserve one. I deserve what I got by being sentenced to life without parole. However, I am pleading for a commutation for the following reasons.

My youth at the time of the crime, eighteen, and the instability of my home life, as well as the absence of positive role models in my life are all a factor. I was only eighteen at the time I committed this atrocious crime. I was an immature, selfish, and very insecure teenager who strived to be accepted and to fit in with my peers, just for the sake of acceptance. The entire impetus for my involvement in the killing of Mark Berkey was the overwhelming need to be liked and accepted, regardless of the consequences.

As a boy at the age of nine, I was required to grow up and become a care-giver to my three siblings because my mother had died of cancer, and my step-father was physically abusive to all of us children. I did what I could as the oldest to shield them from his abuse. During that same year of my mother's passing, we were removed from the step-father's home because of his abuse and separated amongst other family members. This being bounced from one family member to another is where I believe my selfishness and rebellion began, because even though I was with family I mostly felt unwanted.

As I grew into my teenage years, I became angry both that I didn't get to have a childhood and that I seemed unwanted by my own family. It seemed like I just never "fit in" with their established lives. I continued in this mindset through junior high and high school, trying desperately to fit in and be accepted, but always seemingly being the outcast.

I was lost and directionless and had a serious lack of discipline in my life, including quitting on the military while in basic training simply because I felt it was too difficult and I didn't want to be yelled at anymore. All selfish and misguided reasons. I believe this lack of guidance, lack of discipline, and the desperate need to be liked and accepted led me to latch on to anyone who would befriend me. And I would do whatever seemed necessary to impress them or keep them interested in me for fear of them no longer wanting me around.

This is how I came to be involved with my codefendants and engage in these criminal activities. Right and wrong didn't matter to me at that age, only doing what I felt would keep me liked, regardless of consequences. As a result of my decision to disregard the consequences of my actions, disregard the sanctity of life, and put my misguided sense of need first, I received an LWOP sentence.

Although there is no diminishing my culpability in being involved and participating in this murder, my age at the time of the crime and my role in the killing do not indicate an irreformable state that would deem me irretrievably incapable of rehabilitation. In fact, the prosecution offered a "deal" of life without parole in lieu of a possible death penalty verdict for a guilty plea. Since the death penalty is reserved for the worst of the worst, the prosecution did not deem this case as such.

As the facts stated above show, it was Richie who provided the financial support, Gates was the original owner of the weapon, Richie and Tavares came up with the plan to choose Christian Sturdevant because of his particular vehicle, Swokla told Tavares to lure Sturdevant from his car, Swokla originally had the knife and gave it to me (Hall), Tavares asked Sturdevant to stay, Richie was the instigator to "do something", and Swokla initiated the first punch of the attack and continued to urge me to continue with the violent attack, and Swokla and Bitz continued the second assault on Sturdevant.

As reprehensible as I now find my involvement in the murder of another human being, my conduct did not show a level of sophistication that would see me as irretrievably incapable of rehabilitation. While not an excuse for my behavior, I was a misguided teenager who strove for the acceptance of those I thought were peers.

I have demonstrated personal growth and maturity that greatly separates the man I am now from the boy who committed this murder. Over the last 26 years of incarceration, I have grown and matured both spiritually and ethically. I have transformed from a directionless, selfish, immature, and insecure boy to a responsible man who values integrity and honesty, and I have developed a strong sense of self and a solid work ethic.

Through all these years, I have continued to stay in contact with my family, repaired the damage I caused to my family relationship by my anger and insecurities of the past, and I continue to have their full support to this day. Also, over these last two decades, I have come to understand and honor my faith as a Christian man. I have become increasingly active at the prison chapels as a chaplain's aide as well as teaching various Christian classes, such as New Testament Greek, for which I received an accredited Certificate of Teaching from the American Bible University in Florida.

From 2007 through 2013, I was heavily involved with the Kairos Prison Ministry where love, empathy, and human kindness were at the forefront. Through this ministry, I met and still maintain contact with several Kairos men and their families, who also are willing to aid me in the event that I am blessed with parole.

Since being allowed to transfer to both level 3 and now level 2 facilities, from the strict confines of the level 4 facilities, I have immersed myself in various programs specifically geared to help me understand why I became the person who could kill someone. This includes two separate year-long personal introspection classes and group psychotherapy classes. I also attended victims awareness classes, which focuses on the victims' lives and what they go through as victims, employing restorative justice principles which encourage us to have empathy for them and see them as human beings worthy of respect. I also completed and became a facilitator for the Alternative to Violence Program (AVP), which teaches transforming power to not use violence, as well as conflict resolution.

I am currently enrolled in a seminary level class called T.U.M.I. (The Urban Ministry Institute). I am also currently enrolled in the DEFY Ventures Program, which teaches career readiness and is an entrepreneurial incubator for business ideation and success. I have also been able to earn an E.P.A. certification in HVAC/R through my job in maintenance. The various skills I have learned through these programs and job assignment will help me to have a successful parole if granted the opportunity.

I believe the change in my character from 26 years ago is evident in both my learned and applied skills from the various self-help programs, and is also seen by my in-custody behavior and conduct. I have not received any disciplinary infractions in over 17 years, and I have earned numerous accolades from various staff, ranging from Associate Wardens all the way down to line staff. This is a direct result of making the conscious effort to lead an obedient life-style and one based on Christian morals and values. I can only plead that I may have the opportunity to have a chance at parole to demonstrate that I am not forever a danger to society.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Ricky Hamilton

In early 2011, Ricky Hamilton planned to rob Wasann Flores. On March 1, 2011, Mr. Hamilton entered Mr. Flores' home with two other young men. Mr. Hamilton assaulted Mr. Flores, before shooting him in the hip and stealing his property. On June 4, 2014, The Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hamilton to 15 years to life for attempted murder plus 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement—a total of 40 years to life.

Mr. Hamilton was 18 years old when he committed this crime and has been incarcerated for over 7 years. His application for clemency chronicled a challenging childhood, including "people getting shot, getting beaten up and every other person smoking or abusing drugs." During an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Hamilton talked about being born with crack cocaine in his system causing his mother to lose custody rights; his father's death when he was two years old; at least two failed assignments to foster homes; and his mother's successful, but prolonged fight to regain legal custody. Mr. Hamilton also discussed the impact of his 16-year-old sister's death. He acknowledged adopting violence as a method of conflict resolution. Mr. Hamilton also explained his efforts to navigate as a youthful offender in an adult prison, including after the death of his mother.

In his application and in his interview with the investigator, Mr. Hamilton expressed remorse for his criminal conduct. He also related his desire for a positive and stable life, free of the violence that he committed and that he experienced. Upon reception into prison, Mr. Hamilton requested training in Building Maintenance, Electronics, Janitorial, and Office Technology. During his term, he has never been disciplined for violence or gang activity. Instead, he enrolled in college courses. Mr. Hamilton has participated in self-help programs including Alcoholics Anonymous, Anger Management, Alternatives to Violence, and Forward Thinking. In 2017, he was transferred to the Positive Programming Facility. Mr. Hamilton told the Board investigator that he was seeking a commutation because he "is not that person he once was when he was 18 years old," and that coming to prison made him realize, "this is not the lifestyle I want to live."

Mr. Hamilton was sentenced to prison for committing a very serious crime. He has since turned away from violence and toward rehabilitation and education. For these reasons I believe it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Hamilton's sentence so that he has an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ricky Hamilton to 15 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

On the date of March 1, 2011, I was having drinks at home with friends and family. We were celebrating the life of a loved one whom's funeral was held earlier this day.

It was approximately 11:15 p.m. when I received a visitor, Darrin Collins, whom was a childhood friend. He had, apparently been threatened and chased away by a rival, gang member (Wasann Florey) and some of his friends.

I then accompany Collins to Florey's mother's home, where Florey then lived, in order to mediate a fair, fist fight between the two. Collins and I arrive, fifteen minutes later, and proceed towards the back, sliding door of the apartment so as to not be confronted by Florey's mother.

This, sliding door was unlocked and Collins and I entered the apartment. Upon reaching the living area, I noticed a cell phone and laptop computer which I immediately ran to steal. As I was grabbing the laptop, gun shots rang out. I fled out of the apartment the same way that...

I had come in, laptop in hands. It was subsequent to this encounter that I was arrested, tried, and convicted in the attempted murder of Wasann Florey.

Some important moments from the life of Ricky Hamilton

My name is Ricky Hamilton. I'm a 17 years old African American male. I was born on October 15, 1992. I was raised in Los Angeles. The area I was raised in is a pretty bad environment especially for young free minded guys and girls. While growing up, I saw a lot of violence such as people getting shot, getting beaten up and every other person smoking or abusing drugs. I learned from what I saw, and the next thing I know, I was abusing drugs and beating up people. I started smoking marijuana at the age of seven years and I smoked until I learnt positive ways of find peace.

At the age of twelve I started going to middle school. I was in a program called California Cadet Corps (C.A.C.C.) that basically prepares youth for entering in the army. I started to mess up during my middle school and towards the end of middle school, I really started messing up by gang banging; smoking weed every day; ditching school; fighting etc and all this landed me into jail. I got many traffic tickets, and I was placed on probation. On February 28, 2009 I went to jail for the very first time for a (211) robbery that I believe I didn't do. I was with the guys who were doing the robbery, which is called accessory. I went into central juvenile halls for 60 days (two months).

While I was in jail I called home on April 16, 2009 and I was told by my little brother that our little sister was stabbed. I was in shock I couldn't believe it. This news changed me somewhere at the back of my mind. I thought to myself to put all this gang banging behind me, but I was scared of unknown future. I got released on my sister's funeral day. Until today I thank god for letting me attend my sister's funeral; that was my last good bye to her. While I was out of jail, another friend of mine, Michael, also died. He got shot on May 6, 2009. I attended his funeral which was on May 14, 2009. I was out for three weeks and I got arrested again on Michael's birthday on May 23, 2009. I felt hurt, because I went to jail for gang injection which had killed Michael. This is the time when I started to regret my gang banging.

I was in jail for one month and two weeks. I went to court on June 25, 2009, the day Michael Jackson died. I was released on house arrest for two months until August 5, 2009. I finished my house arrest program without trouble. After two month of freedom I got arrested again. I believed I was kept going to jail because I'm an African American male. I believed all this because I saw many African American friends getting harassed by cops, often for unnecessary reasons. On October 13, 2009 I got arrested again for the same things which happen to be just two days before my birthday. I was highly upset because, I wanted to be out of jail and free for my birthday. I went to court on November 13, 2009, the judge got tired of seeing me going back to jail. She mentioned that she didn't want anything happen to me due to my gang banging issues and this is the reason she recommended me to go to a placement for six months.

I met with a lady named Princess Jones to get placed in a placement. She is an Admission coordinator for a placement called pacific Lodge Boys Home. I had an interview and got accepted at Pacific Lodge - PL. When I arrived at PL, I found there were a lot of rules which

I didn't like it but I had to deal with them. The first few months I was running my own program by doing whatever I wanted to do instead of learning and following PL program. Today when I look back at my early days at PL, I realize the importance of these given rules in our lives. Before PL I had lived my life in and out of Home, jail and on streets doing things which were everything but rules.

After living a few weeks at PL, I realized that I need to do well in my life, and it all started with going back to school regularly. I told myself to finish school, which later helped me stay away from trouble. I started to understand what I don't want to be in my life – a gang banger, a drug addict and an unlawful person. I started to do good so I could be like other adults I see and meet at Pacific Lodge.

PL provided me with services of a therapist, Substance Abuse counselor, Case Manager, Counselors and also an on ground PO, to help me deal with issues I was facing in my life. With the help of my therapist I realized many hidden issues tangled up within me. I had two therapists helping me from time to time; they helped me write down my goals of life, and also helped me achieve those goals step by step. While I was dealing with my issues and working on my goals, my many counselors helped me get back to a normal life by showing me right path and right ways.

Today, I am doing well in school and I have an on ground job. I have saved some money for my education and hoping to get an off ground job so I could save more money to go to college. I will finish my high school by fall 2010. I want to go to college afterward and would like to study Criminal Justice so I can help other youth, who might are ignoring truth of life and are messing up on streets. I hope I can finish my college in time and be a good probation officer, who can help other children.

Throughout the time I have been on probation, I got a lot of support from my PO Ms. Perdomo. Her help has inspired me to do good for myself in life. I have learnt my lessons in life which was hard way but I am happy because I got the chance to come to PL and learn things I didn't know before. Without the help of PL, I am not sure where I would have ended.

After losing my little sister and a good friend I don't want to lose myself in gang banging or in drug abuse. I have stopped smoking and also have stopped gang banging. Today I know my positive future. I want to be a role model for my younger brother. I don't want my brother to go down the path I once walked, it's not worth it. Today I am almost 18 years old and want to tell all young boys and girls at streets that life has a more to offer than wasting precious time in gang banging, drugs or messing up doing illegal stuff. Life offers us all many issues, just pick one issue at a time and deal with it; it will help you move up in life. Life is precious, live it well.

Attachment 'B',
Plea & Prayer

Wasann Forey never deserved to be shot in the leg on March 1, 2011. Whatever crimes he may have committed were strictly a police matter as opposed to being some, irrational excuse for me to decide that it was a good for he and Darrin Collins to engage in a fist-fight. I, furthermore, am a petty thief for adding insult to Forey's injury by then stealing someone's laptop from his mother's apartment. I owe he and his family an apology for his as well as their pain, along with the pain and frustration of a community, afflicted by such crimes. If given the opportunity, I will atone; I will add to society and never again take away.

I, Ricky Hamilton, hereby respectfully request that the firearm element of my sentencing be commuted. This grace will provide me the slim hope of eventually being able to truly and fully make amends to society.

Attachment 'C', Supportive Facts

I am so thankful for the opportunities afforded to me merely from being housed here at C. S. P. Lancaster's P.P.F. facility. Apart from studying 'Child Growth and Development' and 'Introduction to Stage Craft' among other courses provided by Pierce College, I have made big strides in correcting behaviors which got me here such as my success in several, therapeutic workshops aimed at substance abuse as well as the 'Alternatives to Violence Project' (A.V.P.) geared towards conflict resolution. It is also relevant that I've continued to grow in faith and spirit through Christ. This transformation is chronicled over years of documented study under organizations, like 'Emmaus Correspondence School', where I've completed their intermediate series consisting of thirty-two units, the 'Crossroads Bible Institute', where I've passed the 'Great Truths of the Bible' course, and 'Crossroads Prison Ministries' whom have aided me in reaching great milestones. I want only to apply all I've learned to a positive life beyond these, prison walls.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Michael Hansen

In August 2000, Sarah Hansen met Rodney Crain and began an affair. On one occasion, she told her husband, Michael Hansen, that she had not returned home overnight because Mr. Crain had drugged and raped her. That fall, Mr. Hansen went to Mr. Crain's home and vandalized his car three times. On January 22, 2001, Mr. Hansen waited outside Mr. Crain's home. When Mr. Crain arrived, Mr. Hansen shot him, killing him. The trial judge sentenced Mr. Hansen to a total of 19 years to life, but the Court of Appeal reversed, requiring the addition of a mandatory 25 years to life firearm enhancement. As a result of this order, on February 24, 2004, the San Diego County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hansen to 15 years to life for second degree murder plus 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement – a total sentence of 40 years to life.

Mr. Hansen is now 45 and has been incarcerated for nearly 18 years. When submitting his request for clemency, Mr. Hansen wrote, "I am determined to show my remorse and rehabilitation by helping others and by giving back in any ways that I can." Mr. Hansen has demonstrated through his actions that he is committed to rehabilitating himself and helping others to do the same. Despite the pressures in prison, he has never been disciplined for any misconduct. Mr. Hansen received vocational certifications as an Offender Mentor and an Addictions Treatment Intern. He took advantage of numerous self-help programs, including Victim Awareness, Criminal and Addictive Thinking, Anger Management, and Denial Management Counseling. He receives above average to exceptional work ratings and volunteers as a mentor and a tutor. Mr. Hansen has also been praised by staff members for his positive behavior and attitude. One correctional sergeant wrote, "Mr. Hansen should be commended for his efforts to change his life and his desire to help others. These qualities show that Mr. Hansen could be an asset to the community upon release."

The trial judge served as a San Diego prosecutor for 12 years in addition to 22 years on the bench beginning in 1984. After hearing all of the evidence at trial, she felt that a sentence of 19 years to life was appropriate. Although this sentence was later reversed, her perspective on the appropriate sentence for this case is compelling. She wrote in 2015 strongly supporting the commutation of Mr. Hansen's sentence to the term that she initially intended. She noted that Mr. Hansen has been a "model prisoner" and continued, "There is nothing in Michael Hansen's life or crime to suggest he would be a danger to society if paroled during his lifetime." She wrote, "I believed at the time, and still believe, that two life sentences are grossly disproportionate to Mr. Hansen's culpability."

Mr. Crain's family members wrote moving letters to me to oppose clemency. Their pain and anger is profound and the loss of Mr. Crain still impacts their lives. This is not a decision I make lightly. However, in light of the trial judge's assessment of the case and because of Mr. Hansen's exemplary record in prison, I believe he should have an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute Michael Hansen's sentence to a total of 19 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Dear Governor Brown,

Hello, I am writing with sincere hope that you can help me and my trial judge Honorable Laura P. Hammes change my current 40 to life sentence back to the original 19 to life sentence Judge Hammes feels is appropriate. Her recent letter is included. Please commute the extra 25 to life my judge calls unconstitutional and grossly disproportionate.

Before trial I was offered a plea deal of 19 to life for second degree murder and use of a gun. The judge and DA's agreed that 19 to life would be correct. I mistakenly refused the 19 to life deal. My family and I were told not to worry about the 25 to life gun enhancement (PC 12022.53(d)) because it was just for gangmembers, drive by's and repeat offenders. My judge did not think the extra 25-to-life applied either and sentenced me to 19 to life, exactly how the DA's agreed to at the plea deal for second degree murder and use of gun (exactly what I was found guilty of at trial). Two years later the DA's appealed and the appellate court made Judge Hammes change my sentence to 40 years to life even though she did not want to. Also, the appellate court did not know how my family and I had been so misinformed about the plea offer.

Please consider the current letter from my trial judge Hon. Laura P. Hammes. There were various factors that my judge brought up. I am an Eagle Scout, served a two year mission for church, earned my BA in Spanish/Teaching at SDSU and became a substitute teacher for the San Diego Unified School District. I was also a busy self-employed painter. I was (and still am) a loving father to 3 beautiful daughters.

I was hired by the United States Border Patrol but chose to be a teacher and stay in San Diego near family as my father was getting very bad with Alzheimer's. We had to put him in a special care facility. One day, around this same time, his face and upper body was a complete bruise and his wedding ring was missing. I was so upset that they let this happen. It was an extremely difficult/emotional time when my wife told me that someone drugged and raped her.

Instead of doing the right thing, talking to someone or calling 911 to have them figure out what happened, I got mad and reacted like I was a tough family (totally irrational) protector. I put all of the current problems with my dad and wife along with my past issue (of being molested as a boy) onto this man my wife said raped her. The next day I took my dad's gun to go confront this man she said was named Rod. As he was getting out of his car I walked up yelling at him accusing him of raping my wife. My actions caused him to get scared and defensive. I immediately pulled out my gun and shot him four times. I meant to hit and kill him. I know this is all my fault. I should have never gone there. I should have never picked up a gun. I am so very sorry for my actions that night.

I have learned so much since the day that I committed such a sad crime, wrongfully taking Rodney Crain's life and causing so much pain to his family and friends. I will forever be remorseful for what I did. At trial I learned that he did not rape my ex-wife and I have not seen her since.

I am determined to show my remorse and rehabilitation by helping others and by giving back in any ways that I can. I share my story of wrongful thinking to try to prevent future tragedies like this. During the 15 years that I have been in prison I have remained disciplinary free and have been working hard in different clerk positions in education, assignment and program offices. I have been tutoring my fellow inmates working on their GED's and college classes and I help others recognize the different forms of "stinkin' thinkin'" that cause so much trouble in life. I attend various religious and self-help programs/workshops. I promise that I will be a productive member of society if I get this second chance. I will be a good father, future grandfather and counselor.

I am currently in the OMCP (Offender Mentor Certification Program) being trained to become a state certified drug and alcohol counselor. I promise to do the best I can as a counselor here in prison and also when I get out to help as many people as I can.

Please commute the extra 25 to life part of my 40 to life sentence and change it back to the original 19 to life that Judge Hammes feels is appropriate.

Sincerely,

Michael E. Hansen

RE: Inmate Michael Hansen's Request for Commutation of
One of Two Life Sentences

Dear Governor Brown,

I am writing in support of inmate Michael Hansen's petition for commutation of a portion of his prison sentence. I am the trial judge, now retired, who sentenced Michael Hansen and I believe justice would be served by granting his petition.

Mr. Hansen murdered his wife's lover. He was convicted by jury in my courtroom of second degree murder with use of a gun. He is currently serving a sentence of 15 years to life for the second degree murder conviction, plus an additional 4 years for use of a gun, plus an additional 25 years to life sentence for use of the gun pursuant to Penal Code section 12022.53(d). This latter, duplicate sentence for the same act (use of a gun) under 12022.53(d), was enacted by the Legislature as a means of deterring gun use. However, this extraordinary, consecutive life sentence is unconstitutional and must be stricken if, in a given case, it is so grossly disproportionate to a particular defendant's individual culpability as to constitute cruel or unusual punishment.

At the time of Mr. Hansen's sentencing hearing, I found that imposition of the double punishment would be unconstitutional as applied to Mr. Hansen, for reasons which are put forth at length in the transcript of the hearing and included in Mr. Hansen's petition. I will not repeat them here.

The Fourth District Court of Appeal disagreed with this court that the punishment was grossly disproportionate to the defendant's individual culpability and mandated imposition of the 25 to life term in addition to the court's already imposed 19 year to life term. I believed at the time, and still believe, that two life sentences are grossly disproportionate to Mr. Hansen's culpability.

After twelve years as a prosecutor and twenty two years on the bench in a criminal trial department, I have handled murder cases too numerous to count. I have upheld death sentences in two cases. All murder is awful. Nevertheless, the law recognizes degrees of culpability in murder. When looking only at murders, some are indeed worse than others. The jury in this case set the crime at second degree murder. This was appropriate. It was appropriate for Mr. Hansen to receive the sentence for second degree murder: Fifteen years to life with an additional four years for use of the gun. However, adding an additional life term for the gun use, assuring no possibility of parole for Mr. Hansen, puts him in the same sentencing framework as a death penalty eligible defendant who commits first degree murder with a gun while stalking a completely innocent victim, or first degree murder by cutting a victim's throat in the course of a Robbery.

Depraved, cruel and evil defendants, who kill without provocation, deserve sentences of life without possibility of parole, and in some cases, the death penalty. In contrast, Michael Hansen was a tortured young man trying to put his marriage and family back into order when he confronted his wife's lover with a gun. Mr. Hansen's wife had been unfaithful to him. She began losing weight and she became distant. Finally, she told Hansen that she had been drugged and raped by the man Hansen killed. After months of anxiety over his wife, complicated by the institutionalization of his father for Alzheimer's, the death of an uncle, the care of his mother and of his sister's children, Michael Hansen lost his reason and his self control.

Previously, Michael Hansen had been a pillar in his community, a devout Mormon, and a concerned father to his three children, as sixty letters to the court attested. A series of family tragedies, plus the unfaithfulness of his wife, drove Michael Hansen to murder the man who knowingly carried on an affair with her.

The victim, it should be noted, knew that Michael Hansen's wife was married with children when he began an affair with her. The victim did not love Michael Hansen's wife, but used her and even discussed this with his friends.

I believe that a sentence of 19 years to life is appropriate, but an additional twenty five years to life constitutes a duplicative sentence never intended by the legislature for a case such as this.

I understand Mr. Hansen has been a model prisoner. I am not surprised. There is nothing in Michael Hansen's life or crime to suggest he would be a danger to society if paroled during his lifetime.

One final note: Prior to the trial in this case the prosecutor had indicated willingness to accept a plea to second degree murder with a four year gun enhancement, in return for dismissing the additional life sentence gun enhancement. The defense rejected this proposal in the mistaken belief that by electing a jury trial Mr. Hansen would be found guilty of no more than voluntary manslaughter based on heat of passion. The defendant gambled and lost. The People won the case and then took the position that he deserved the second life sentence.

The real truth is that the proposed plea was proper and should have been the result in this case.

For all of the foregoing reasons, I support the petition for commutation of the second life sentence.

Respectfully Submitted,

Laura Palmer Hammes

Ceona Harvey

In 2006, 20-year-old Ceona Harvey helped plan a home invasion robbery of her former employers, Veronica and Sebastian Caradonna. During the robbery, Ms. Harvey's crime partners held the Caradonnas and several employees at gunpoint, and ultimately shot and killed Mr. Caradonna. Ms. Harvey was not present when the robbery and murder were committed. On April 16, 2007, the Fresno County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Harvey to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

In her application for clemency, Ms. Harvey accepted responsibility for Mr. Caradonna's death and expressed sincere remorse for her actions. She wrote, "I know now with all my heart that I did have a role in this crime and hold my responsibilities very seriously." She continued, "I am no longer that angry, vulnerable, irresponsible youth I was when I committed this crime. . . . Today I consistently understand who I am. I am confident I won't commit another crime because I have a strong desire and the tools to be successful."

Ms. Harvey has dedicated herself to rehabilitation despite serving a sentence that offered her no hope of being released. She has only been disciplined once during her 12 years of incarceration, and has never been involved with drugs, gangs, or violence in prison. She earned a vocational certification and reported that she recently completed her A.A. degree. Ms. Harvey has participated in many self-help courses, including Restorative Justice, Denial and Anger Management, Alternatives to Violence, and Conflict Resolution. She lives in an honor dorm. Ms. Harvey has the support of many members of her family, who have offered to help her if she is released from prison. She has a plan for housing, marketable skills, and a job offer waiting for her.

Ms. Harvey has also earned the respect of the prison staff who interact with her every day. In 2018, her correctional counselor reported that Ms. Harvey was "an ideal candidate for commutation" and wrote, "She utilized her time in prison to grow positively and prepare herself for the possibility to reintegrate into society. She has expressed both verbally and through her actions that she desires to have another shot at life and is choosing to do the right thing." Also in 2018, a correctional officer who has known Ms. Harvey for eight years commended her positive attitude and wrote, "Inmate Harvey has remained disciplinary free, and has good communication skills, which has been of enormous help when dealing with the difficulties of prison life. [She] has shown great strength in the face of adversity. . . . Inmate Harvey is to be commended for her accomplishments." Another correctional officer praised Ms. Harvey's personal growth and noted, "Inmate Harvey sets a positive example [for] her fellow peers and the youth, on how rehabilitation should display itself."

I understand that this crime left an enduring mark on the Caradonna family and affected many in their community. But I cannot overlook Ms. Harvey's acceptance of responsibility for her actions and her strong commitment to turning her life around since then. I believe that she should have an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so that it can determine whether she is suitable for parole. I expect that Ms. Harvey will stay on her positive path until then, and encourage her to continue participating in programs and encouraging her peers to embrace rehabilitation as she has.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ceona Harvey to a total of 20 years to life.

of my incarceration I've had good behavior, identified goals related to non-violence, compassion and education. I have focused my energy into improvement in all areas of my life. I am requesting a Commutation in hopes of receiving the blessing that my Life Without the Possibility of Parole (LWOP) sentence be reduced. This reduction will afford me the opportunity to demonstrate and prove to the Board of Prison Hearings that I am no longer that same person I once was. I am requesting this consideration to convey my personal growths, positive changes, my rehabilitation and that I am no longer a risk or danger to society that I am and will be a good citizen and positive role model.

Question #4

Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a Commutation.

On February 1st, 2006 Mr. Caradonna was murdered during the commission of a home invasion robbery. Even though Mr. Caradonna was not murdered by my hands, I am absolutely certain his death was a direct result of my actions.

It took me a few years to realize my responsibilities as I always felt that I was innocent of this crime because I had no knowledge beforehand or during the crime. I know now with all my heart that I did have a role in this crime and hold my responsibilities very seriously.

I now know that there are consequences for my actions, and as soon as I understood and accepted my responsibilities I began to grow and self-examine who I am and look at my choices. I realize that I not only took a man's life, I stole his destiny and destroyed his family. I changed the quality of their lives, assaulted their peace and their sense of security. I have made Mrs. Caradonna and her children feel fearful and unsafe and their hearts will grieve for Mr. Caradonna each and every day.

This letter is to hopefully give you some insight into my background. Growing up I resided with both parents and my sister. My home was dysfunctional, although I didn't know it at the time, alcohol, drugs, physical and verbal abuse was what I witnessed night and day, every day. At the age of seven (7), I was removed from my Mother and into my Father's care. My Dad's parenting style was to give me and my sister every material possession we wanted and needed. The home was without emotional love or communication. Due to no love in the home, hurt and pain started my materialistic development at school. Due to the lack of affection, my search for attention led me to unhealthy choices. This began to sell marijuana and then quickly accelerated to selling crack cocaine.

Many things happened during my childhood and what resulted was I became a person who gave no thought to my decision making. I was literally driven to do whatever I wanted. My behaviors had little or no consequences. Upon coming to prison I was angry, vulnerable and had an addiction. I had no clue how to deal with conflict. I would run away from it and shut down on people. I did not want to face any problems until it was too late. All of my life choices led me to where I am today. I was so lost and then I found a tough crowd to hang around because I thought it would make my prison life easier. I would be protected and nobody would mess with me. It lasted a couple of years, until one day I work up and asked myself: What are you doing? I took the initiative to start putting myself into Self-help groups to help me see where my life started to go so wrong. I learned how to break cycles by taking responsibility and accountability. I took a Self-Esteem Group because somewhere I was not recognizing my worth and in the past was looking to other for confirmation.

I also took Victim's Awareness and learned how my actions affected so many people that I was not aware of it, Victim's Awareness gave me insight. For so long I didn't understand how I could be in prison if I did not murder someone. That group taught me to take responsibility and be accountable for the role I played. Mr. Caradonna's life was taken because of me.

I am no longer that 20 year old that needed acceptance from other to feel worthy. I am not that angry, vulnerable, irresponsible youth I was when I committed this crime. Not only have I grown, I have allowed positive people to teach and show me what my defects were that caused me to try to fit in and be this self-centered person. I am confident that I won't commit another crime because I have the tools now to be a productive citizen in my community. I am deeply aware of my triggers and now know how to neutralize situations. Today I consistently understand who I am. I am confident that I won't commit another crime because I have a strong desire and the tools to be productive.

Even though I am not deserving of a second chance, I am requesting my sentence be commuted to whatever the Governor deems fit. I am asking for the mercy and grace to be able to present my new self to the members of the Board of Prison Hearings.

Lloyd Herbert

In March 1997, Lloyd Herbert committed three home invasion robberies. His victims, Mary Legg, Helen Swain, and Mae Cohn, were elderly women. In each case, Mr. Herbert stole money and property after binding the women and ransacking their homes. On March 12, Ms. Swain was found deceased in her home with a piece of cloth in her mouth and around her neck. On October 20, 1999, the Los Angeles Superior Court sentenced Mr. Herbert to life without the possibility of parole for murder, seven years and four months for two counts of robbery, plus one year and four months for weapon enhancements.

Mr. Herbert has been incarcerated for nearly 22 years and is now 49 years old. In his application for clemency, Mr. Herbert wrote, "It's still hard to accept that I could have been so self-centered, naïve, callous and cold. But as time went by I couldn't ignore the fact that my actions affected a lot more people than just myself. Of course it was there all along. But eventually I began to see the pain and sorrow in the faces of my loved ones." He went on to say, "I knew I couldn't change without help, so I started participating in self help programs—they were all geared toward reprogramming my old habits and ways of thinking." Mr. Herbert told an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that "Ms. Legg, Ms. Cohn, and Ms. Swain did not deserve what I did." He also stated, "I can't take back what I've done, the pain or hurt that I caused, but I can honestly say today that I've transformed my mind."

During more than two decades in prison and with no possibility of parole, Mr. Herbert has demonstrated a desire to reform. He routinely receives above average work ratings from his supervisors, and was recently commended for voluntarily working additional shifts to support kitchen operations. A correctional sergeant described Mr. Herbert as reliable, respectful, and knowledgeable in his work assignment. Another officer praised his work ethic and wrote, "Herbert has shown himself to be courteous with all correctional staff members and his peers; has outstanding communication skills and many other attributes that set him apart from all other inmates."

Mr. Herbert has also participated in self-help programming, including Getting Out by Going In, Anger Management, Kairos, Prison of Peace, and Personal Insight. Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Herbert has earned commendations from staff members who see him on a regular basis. A correctional sergeant recognized Mr. Herbert for his positive behavior and wrote, "Herbert has shown himself to be respectful, well-mannered and resourceful... He also takes the initiative by facilitating as a Facilitator of Personal Insight Exploration of 60 plus inmates and helps minister to his peers during Worship Services on Sundays." A correctional officer wrote, "I commend him for his work and rehabilitation and believe he has and is working hard toward rehabilitation to make an easy transition upon his release to society." A different officer wrote, "I commend Mr. Herbert on becoming a model inmate who shows constructive behavior towards rehabilitation." Still another correctional officer wrote, "I commend Inmate Herbert on being a model inmate who shows constructive moral fiber towards rehabilitation. It is my opinion that he will serve his community well because he loves helping other people. He has taken the right steps towards rebuilding his future."

Based on his conduct in prison, and his dedication to self-improvement, I believe that Mr. Herbert has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Lloyd Herbert to a total of 23 years to life.

RIEF STATEMENT CONTINUANC

still hard to accept that I could have been so self-centered, naive, callous and cold. But as time went by I couldn't ignore the fact that my actions affected allot more people than just myself. Of course it was there all along. But eventually I began to see the pain and sorrow in the faces of my loveones.

They had taught me to be so much better, and what I gave them in return was disappointment, and I brought shame to my family.

Prison life was a wake up call. The ultimate predatory inviroment, where Gangs rule and the strongest survive. I've never had any Gang affiliations, and no matter how strong I thought I was, I was one against many. I felt helpless and just had to do the best I could. I began to despise the men around me: How could they be so mean and cruel. One day in my turmoil, I realized that all of them were a reflection of myself. I didn't like but I knew it was true, I wanted to change, I wanted to be a better person, someone my loveones could be proud of. Someone I could be proud of - and respect..

I knew I couldn't change without help, so I started participating in Self Help Programs - they were all geared toward reprogramming my old habits and ways of thinking.

The most enlightening program for me was also the most difficult for me: Victim Awareness.

It was during this course/period that I began to consider my victims. How terrified and helpless they must have felt, and what a horrifying death Ms. Helen Swain suffered.

It was all my fault Gov. Brown. I'm so sorry for what I've done. I don't know if I'll ever be able to forgive myself. I've been taught that I must learn to forgive myself so that I could become whole, but I don't know if I can. It's especially hard because I'm aware of the devastation I cause to Ms. Swain's family. All of the grief and pain I've given them. How I took their love one away from them and I could never give her back.

There is also two other people I robbed in the same way. I heard one say through the article of clothing that she couldn't breathe, so I pull it down off her mouth so she could breathe. I could never make up for that Mr. Brown.

Governor Brown, this is why I can not, in good conscience, write a statement as to why I should be granted commutation of my sentence.

I could only ask for your clemency, and give you my Word - Because I know in my heart - That if given a second chance, I will never do anything that would cause you regret for granting my request. I'm a 1st time offender. I only have (2) 115's in 21 years.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR TIME AND CONSIDERATION

Sincerely Slayd Heeban

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Janett Hernandez

On February 11, 2002, after Miguel Cerda ordered his girlfriend, Janett Hernandez, to shoot Jacqueline Mendoza, Ms. Hernandez pointed the gun at Ms. Mendoza and pulled the trigger, but the gun did not fire. Mr. Cerda then took the safety off and shot Ms. Mendoza, killing her. Ms. Hernandez then helped Mr. Cerda cover up the murder by hiding the gun and washing Mr. Cerda's bloody clothes. On November 16, 2007, the Riverside County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Hernandez to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a 10-year firearm enhancement.

Ms. Hernandez was 19 when she committed this crime, she is now 36 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 17 years – nearly half of her life. While in prison, she has dedicated herself to rehabilitation and describes herself as “a woman of service who mediates in helping people to recognize that there are options and different avenues.” Ms. Hernandez has only been disciplined once during her incarceration. She has participated in numerous self-help programs, including Beyond Violence, Domestic Violence Awareness, and Victim Impact. In 2017, Ms. Hernandez led an effort to translate the Bridges to Life curriculum from English to Spanish. Also in 2017, a retired chief deputy warden praised Ms. Hernandez for her work as an Inmate Peer Facilitator for the Beyond Violence and Healing Trauma programs.

In her application for commutation, Ms. Hernandez wrote, “When my crime happened, I realized I hadn't the courage to stand up for another such as Jacqueline... I failed as a friend and failed to step away from a very co-dependent and toxic relationship that was damaging to everyone around me.” Ms. Hernandez described growing up in a household that was dysfunctional, which caused her to feel emotionally neglected. When Ms. Hernandez tried to leave Mr. Cerda, he would threaten her and tell her that he would shoot one of her family members. An investigation conducted by the Board of Parole Hearings concluded that Ms. Hernandez was suffering from the effects of intimate partner battery at the time of the crime, as a result of prior and constant abuse from her codefendant. Ms. Hernandez reported, “Today I am no longer that co-dependent person who doesn't know how to speak or stand up for another person... I am a mediator and conflict resolver who helps build lives in honor of giving back....”

I acknowledge that Ms. Mendoza's relatives have opposed clemency. I do not discount the seriousness of Ms. Hernandez's crime, but the record also indicates that she was suffering from severe effects of intimate partner battery at the time of the crime. She has since distinguished herself by her exemplary conduct in prison and her commitment to rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Ms. Hernandez's sentence so that the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Janett Hernandez to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

I was born to a dominant 17 year old mother and a submissive father. Today I realize that I identified with my father.

My parents immigrated to the US from Mexico when I was four. My two brothers and I were left to be shared by both sets of grandparents. During this time I was molested by two different people, an older cousin and a neighbor. I never told anyone. At the age of 6, my parents sent for me to live in the US. The molestation continued. This time it was by my uncle's brother in-law. Again, I didn't tell anyone.

My household started to become dysfunctional as my father was an alcoholic, he worked sometimes and other times he got laid off. My parents struggled for years as they rented a room and lived there with us five children. My dad would go fishing and gather food from churches so we could be fed. This was my life until the age of 12. My mother decided to gain her independence as she went to Mexicali and got odd jobs. She was never home. We had live-in babysitters, and when the babysitters couldn't handle the responsibility, I was left to do the cooking, cleaning, and taking care of my six siblings.

At the age of 13, I ditched school one time. My mom decided school was over for me, so I found myself sneaking out of the house to go to school, because at school I had found that I was accepted and understood. My mother would only come home every three months, her absence became my norm.

At the age of 15, my mom would humiliate my dad more and more in front of us. They would fight and my dad would cry. This taught me how to be a happy family on the outside as I had to pretend in front of friends and others. My mom became the sole financial provider while she urged my dad to quit his job and stay at home with us because the babysitters could not handle all seven of us. Both of my parents disconnected from us. I felt like my mom only cared about money and my father was hung up on my mother. Emotionally I was neglected. I started living a double life as I was good at home and around my friends I did what others wanted, giving in to peer pressure, and I became promiscuous to satisfy my need to be loved, however it always left me feeling empty.

At 16, my mother took me to Las Vegas to get married to a boy who was 18, someone I had been dating, because I lied and told her I was pregnant. I felt free and had no responsibility to take care of my siblings. Soon I returned home, barely over a month later. At this point my parents treated me different as they no longer gave me anything and now everything was earned. I still looked for love in the wrong places and my behavior only increased.

At 17, I met Miguel, my codefendant, who was 5 years older than me. He was fun, exciting, and determined. A month into the relationship I noticed he started acting controlling and would get mad at my guy friends for hugging me. He became physical and would push my face and make verbal threats. Once he showed up at a party with a knife and I calmed him down. I tried breaking up with him but he would never take no for an answer. He made friends with one of my guy friends and would show up where I was at. This continued for two months and every time I would try to break up with him, he would threaten me and tell me he would shoot one of my family members. This is how he got me to live with him. When my parents got word of this threat they called and I lied to them and told them things were okay and I wanted to stay with him. Little by little he began demeaning me and hitting me, even while I was pregnant. He had a physical fight with my dad and then forbid me to have communication with my family, it had to be limited. I always made excuses to why I was never around. He had me accompanied by his mother as well, who would always take his side and assume I was lying. This always resulted in me getting hit and as the relationship progressed, "no" was not an option for me. Sexually he was aggressive and no longer became by choice for me. Soon I was allowed to be around my family but he gave me a 5 o'clock curfew – not a minute later. I walked with my head down as I was not allowed to look at another person. I felt stuck, unhappy, and wanted to die. I did try to ask my mom if I could come back home and she said she could not afford to take care of me and another child. She also reminded me that women should put up with husbands behaviors for the children. Again, I felt alone and so I still pretended to show others my home was a happy home. I became submissive like my father who never spoke back and never fought back.

When my crime happened, I realized I hadn't the courage to stand up for another such as Jacqueline. It was almost easier to let her take the consequences of his anger rather than it be me. There is no justification for my selfishness that allowed Jacqueline to go through such horrific pain in that situation. Now I realize I had so many options but the person I was "then" saw no options, as I cared but did not care. I failed as a friend and failed to step away from a very co-dependent and toxic relationship that was damaging to everyone around me. Even after the crime I was not truthful and tried to protect him in statements that I falsely gave.

Today I am no longer that co-dependent person who doesn't know how to speak or stand up for another person. Who I am today is a woman of service who mediates in helping people to recognize that there are options and different avenues. I am a mediator conflict resolver who helps build lives in honor of giving back, because I know my crime against Jacqueline impacted and robbed her and everyone.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jesus Hernandez

In 1997, Los Angeles police officers spotted Mr. Hernandez driving at a high rate of speed in a vehicle that had been reported stolen in a carjacking. Police pursued and arrested him after his car collided with a light pole. On May 13, 1998, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hernandez under the three strikes law to 27 years to life for carjacking, four years for a firearm enhancement, plus a five-year prior felony enhancement—a total prison term of 36 years to life.

Mr. Hernandez was 22 years old when he committed this crime. He admitted to an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings that he engaged in felonious conduct because he lacked discipline, had no respect for others, and only cared about himself. He is now 44 years old and has been incarcerated for over 21 years. Over the past two decades, he has demonstrated a commitment to rehabilitation. Mr. Hernandez has been disciplined for serious misconduct only once and has remained discipline-free for more than 15 years. He has avoided prison gangs, substance abuse, and violence. In addition to vocational training in graphic arts, he has participated in substance abuse programming for over a decade, including as a facilitator of Celebrate Recovery and as an executive committee member of Alcoholic Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous. Mr. Hernandez has completed self-help classes such as Victim's Awareness and Anger Management, as well as others designed to improve his public speaking and stress management. He earned his GED, and for the last several years has been enrolled in college courses. Mr. Hernandez told the investigator that he does not deserve clemency, but hopes to be released out of mercy and grace.

Several people appeared in support of Mr. Hernandez at the Board of Parole Hearings en banc meeting. A prison chaplain supported clemency and noted that Mr. Hernandez is an influential elder of the church who teaches bilingual classes. The president of Follow-Up Prison Ministries also supported a commutation. Several of Mr. Hernandez' family members spoke in support of clemency and offered their support. Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at the en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Hernandez.

For all of these reasons, I believe that Mr. Hernandez has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jesus Hernandez to a total of 21 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

PROVIDE A BRIEF STATEMENT EXPLAINING WHY YOU SHOULD BE GRANTED A PARDON OR COMMUTATION

I was judged and sentenced for a serious crime. I violated some ones' rights by taking what did not belong to me. On account of this crime, I was given thirty seven years to life, under the Three Strike Law. Justice was executed.

Justice is the foundation and Divine Institution given by God to man, in order to govern the systems of a Nation, and all its judiciaries. Justice must be the means in which society acquires an impartial decision on an issue of fact in a civil or criminal cause. Justice should be feared and should never be compromised.

Based on this foundation, and under this concept, I do not believe I should be granted a pardon. Honorable Mr. Brown, I am appealing to you and to your Administration not on the basis of justice, but on the basis of Grace.

I am begging you now on the basis of Grace and Mercy to please look into my C-file, and judge for yourself Mr. Governor, the kind of person Justice had created in me.

Justice was exhibited in my crime and had condemned me to a life sentence. But now Sir. On the basis of grace and Mercy judged me for who I am today.

Mr. Governor very respectfully, allow me to go back to my family. I have been incarcerated for sixteen years now, my Father and my Mother is all I have now, and I am all they have. The rest of my brothers went their own way and had families of their own.

I cannot and I refuse to commit any crime at all, if you look into my C-file you will notice that I am disciplinary free. And I must confess to you that even though, it has been hard on me to learned discipline this way, and to stay in the right path, this experience I would not change it for nothing.

Mr. Governor, I am willing to submit to any requisites you may bestow upon me. I have a place to go, I am planning to work next to my Father in Mexico City, and get involve in a Church Ministry also in Mexico. Mr. Governor, I could not help but to speak from the bottom of my heart. I may not be educated and eloquent in my phrases, but I promise you that each word and each phrase is engulf with sincerity and Honesty, these two attributes are part of my life in private as well as in public.

I pray to my Heavenly Father, that you will find the time to read my letters, and that I will find Grace and Mercy before your eyes, and that you will allow me to return to my Parents.

Mr. Governor thank you, I am tremendously grateful for the opportunity to have addressed you in this matter.

Very sincerely,

Hernandez, Jesus

BRIEFLY DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME (S) FOR WHICH YOU ARE REQUESTING A PARDON OF COMMUTATION.

I consider myself happy, Honorable Governor Brown, because I will answer for myself before you, describing the circumstances of the crime (s) for which I am requesting a commutation of sentence.

In order for me to describe the circumstances of my crime, allow me first, very respectfully describe to you the state of mind that I found myself in that day, calling attention to the fact that I am not making excuses about my crime at all.

While being incarcerated the first time, I never took the time to educate myself, to learn a trade or vocation, or to try to get my GED. Instead, I had the misfortune of being introduced to drugs right away, I began experimenting with them, and I liked them. It was something new and exciting for me, all the years of my imprisonment I used drugs almost on a daily basis. At first it was recreational, then it became a tool of escape from reality; and at the end I became a slave to it.

With this new life style, I developed repressed feelings and thoughts that influenced my behavior in a negative way. I never stopped and thought about my family for a minute. I had this foolish idea that as long as my family did not know that their son was trapped in a drug addiction, I would be okay; I could stop my addiction any time I wanted I thought. I didn't.

When I was released from prison I was worse than when I first came in now I had developed bad habits, I lacked discipline, and what is worst in the life of any individual, I had not prepared myself to face trials in life with boldness and resolution. As soon as I was released from prison I began working with one of my oldest brothers, but I was unable to commit myself to my work and to his correction, therefore I quit.

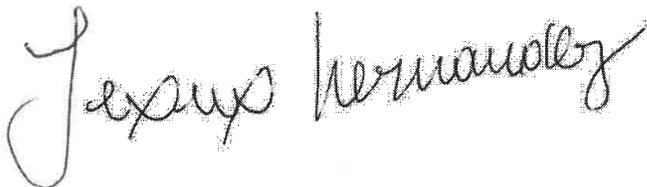

I began looking for work, praying that I might not find one that is what my Mother used to tell me. By this time I was anti-social, I had distanced myself from my loved ones. My drug addiction was getting worse; I was depressed, and always angry. I could not think correctly.

When I committed the crime I had this mental attitude. I approached my victim without compassion, and craftiness. I did not care about his feelings or my modus operandi; I was blinded by arrogance and pride. I was not concerned about my life; maybe I needed to be arrested. I did not physically hurt the victim; I do believe I hurt him emotionally.

Mr. Governor, I know that I did not steal a bag of candy; I know my case is a serious crime, and I am taking full responsibility for it, therefore I am doing my best to stay in the right path. I have changed a lot since the first time I was arrested, and I am working hard in staying disciplined. Would you please Governor, have Mercy on me?

I thank you so much for such a great opportunity Mr. Brown. May the Lord continue to bless you and to keep you healthy.

Very respectfully,

EXPLAIN WHY YOU ARE REQUESTING A PARDON OR COMMUTATION

It seems good to me Honorable Governor, to explain to you respectfully why am I requesting a Pardon or commutation. My second request is to ask you to please patiently hear a little bit of my background.

Right after my arrest, I was sent to Super-Max Three Strikes dorms living. 95 % of the population in my dorms were fighting life sentences under the three strikes Law.

Most of them were ex-convicts, much older than my self.

I knew I had to behave correctly, I also knew that I could not demonstrate any kind of weakness in front of my fellow prisoners, so I acted as they did, tough, showing no emotions, etc.

I noticed some of them were using drugs, others were too violent, and some others were losing hope and were becoming sociopaths.

What were my chances of surviving this life sentence? How could I overcome these social issues and be the person I am destined to be? I truly had no idea.

At first I thought that I had no other choice but to live as they did. I remember how one day I was giving the opportunity to do drugs. I said no the first time, but I was giving the same offer for a second time. I also said no! Right there and then I knew I was in trouble, because they were expecting me to behave like one of them, besides, I was just a youngster who did not know better. What happened to me next changed my destiny, my life style, my essence.

On September of 1997, I made the choice of accepting Jesus Christ into my life.

I wonder Mr. Brown, how many times have you heard someone say to you, that they have become Christians and yet have the same life style as before. It is not in my place to pass condemnation to anyone Sir, but I can only speak to you from my perspective, for what happened to me.

I can honestly say that I am no longer the person I once was. As a Believer of the Lord Jesus Christ I study the Scriptures on a daily basis. I have certificates in Homiletics, Hermeneutics, Systematic Theology, and Associates for Ministry from Harvest Bible Institute.

The Scripture have taught me what integrity is. They have taught me what honesty is, what humility is, how to love God in a personal way, how to love the person next to me with impersonal Love.

The Scripture teaches me how I must respect Authority, and how to submit to them. I am so blessed by being under the teachings of Jesus Christ Mr. Governor. I am active in my Church here in Old Folsom. I have the privilege to work in the chapel as a porter. I am given the privilege to preach and to teach the Scriptures. All of these Mr. Governor I owed to my Heavenly Father.

I have accomplished a lot as a believer, and I continue to stay focus in my personal relationship with my Heavenly Father, and to be honest with my fellow inmates and church members.

Governor Brown, I am not avoiding my responsibilities as an inmate at all. I am aware that I am under obligation to give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar. Allow me to explain please.

I have not received a write up in all this sixteen years. I am disciplinary free.

I am involved in all self help programs that I am able to take. Programs such as AA, NA, Anger Management, Parenting class, I have vocational certificates, I have worked under staff supervision as a clerk in the building, and in Education.

I am about to get my GED, I only miss one subject which is Math. Also next month I will be taken a placement test to enroll in College, and right now I am in the Gavel Club.

I am taking advantage of all the opportunities that I am been giving right now. I want to continue my Rehabilitation programs and Academic education.

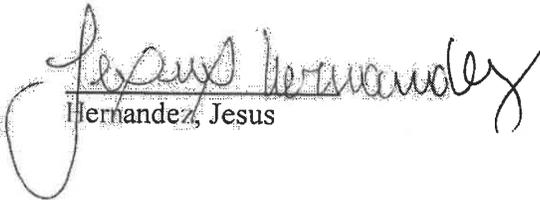

I have accomplished many things while incarcerated, and I am willing to continue to stay disciplinary free, because I believe it is a great accomplishment in my part. As of right now, I am in the lowest Level two an inmate with a life sentence can be. I cannot go lower than this.

Honorable Governor, I am at your hands Sir. I only ask you to please consider my petition, and to see for your self the kind of person I once was and the kind of person I am today.

I strongly believe that nothing in this world can cause me to commit any type of crime at all, not emotional issues, or financial issues.

Honorable Governor, may the Lord bless you with wisdom, spiritual strength, and physical. I will continue to pray for you and for your Administration.

Very sincerely,

Hernandez, Jesus

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Ryan Patrick Hill

In 2004, Ryan Hill and some other gang members hired a police informant to murder Jason Jordan, a fellow gang member. Mr. Hill and his crime partners provided the informant with a gun and a map to Mr. Jordan's home. Mr. Hill was arrested days before the murder plot could be executed. On August 15, 2008, the Sacramento County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hill to 25 years to life for conspiracy to commit murder plus 3 years for a firearm enhancement.

Mr. Hill is now 41 years old and has been incarcerated for over 10 years. He has committed himself to his rehabilitation through his disassociation from gangs and his dedication to education and self-improvement. In his application for clemency, Mr. Hill expressed remorse for his actions and wrote, "I can honestly admit that I was acting out of pure bravado and was foolishly attempting to impress a class of people for reasons I still do not know. I immediately realized the potential severity of what my behavior could have caused, and then eventually did cause to myself and my family."

In prison, Mr. Hill has turned his life around. He has only been disciplined once for misconduct during more than a decade of incarceration, and has never been involved in gangs or participated in violence. Mr. Hill has earned a high school diploma, an A.A. degree, and a vocational certificate in office services. He has participated in self-help programs, including Alcoholics Anonymous, Criminals and Gang Members Anonymous, Victim Awareness, and Restorative Justice. Mr. Hill has also received praise from many staff members who have supervised him. One work supervisor wrote that Mr. Hill "displays a positive attitude and works well with all staff and inmates. [Mr.] Hill is commended on his strong work ethic, ability to learn and receive instruction, as well as his positive contribution to the plant operations of this facility." In 2014, a work supervisor supported a commutation for Mr. Hill and wrote, "In my 14 years tenure with CDCR, Mr. Hill is the most upstanding inmate I have had a chance to encounter. He consistently shows a desire to improve himself, and a willingness to put in the hard work to accomplish his goals. I believe Mr. Hill would be worthy of consideration for commutation, and I believe he could return to society and be a positive influence in the world around him." If released, Mr. Hill will be supported by his family as he adjusts to life outside prison.

Mr. Hill committed a serious crime, but it is clear that he has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct and rehabilitation in prison. For these reasons, I believe Mr. Hill has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ryan Patrick Hill to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime for which you are requesting a commutation:

The conviction for which I am requesting commutation is for conspiracy to commit murder (P.C. 182/187), with a resulting sentence of twenty-five years to life.

During the early part of 2004, as an immature and foolish young man, I became involved with a motorcycle gang known as the Vagos. Within a few short months in October of that same year, along with two other Vagos members, I became involved and participated in the solicitation of a confidential informant to have fellow Vago, Jason Jordan, killed. My personal participation, under the instruction of co-defendant and Vagos' chapter president, James Cross, included showing the informant where Mr. Jordan resided along with what kind of vehicle he owned. At the conclusion of our meeting I also gave a hand written map, which had been generated by co-defendant Nick Matteson at an earlier date, to the informant who then submitted it to law enforcement as evidence.

Fortunately, on October 14th, 2004, law enforcement intervened and I was arrested, preventing any actual harm to Mr. Jordan. It should also be noted that throughout the duration of the crime, the informant was always under the careful supervision of Law enforcement. Thus further preventing the act from ever coming to fruition.

In addition to these circumstances, I feel it necessary to include the fact that while my actions were extremely egregious, I never intended to, nor was ever instructed to, participate in the actual killing of Mr. Jordan.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I am requesting a commutation of my current sentence for mitigating factual reasons, as well as reasons based on purely pleas of compassion.

It should be noted that I shamefully admit that my past behavior absolutely warrants incarceration. However, I simultaneously and sincerely believe that a determinate, while lengthy, sentence would adequately punish me. This sentence would not only sufficiently penalize, but also allow for a realistic chance at a viable and rehabilitated return to society at still a productive age.

I truly believe that my actions coincide much for closely to the actions of a solicitation of murder for hire. Still an extremely egregious act, however, a crime garnering a much different sentence. Neither my co-defendants, nor myself, ever planned to, or were assumed to, ever participate in the physical act of killing or harming Mr. Jordan. I did partake though in the joint participation of soliciting the confidential informant. This fact was confirmed during trial with both the trial judge and the prosecution repeatedly using such verbiage as “solicited” and “solicitation” as to count one, the life term.

Along with my personal beliefs regarding my sentence, I feel it is also worth noting that both the prosecution and trial/sentencing judge felt that a life term was “an incredibly severe punishment.”¹ With the prosecutor, DDA Scott Triplett, at one point during sentencing actually stating, “It seems odd that the Legislature has created a situation where on one hand they say it is a probation eligible crime and then on the other hand it’s twenty-five to life. There is really no wiggle room. Is this a case where the court should grant probation and sentence the defendants to a year in county jail? Absolutely not. Since that is not an option, there is no alternative other than twenty-five to life.”²

Another factor in regards to my request is that of a third co-defendant, Nick Matteson’s sentence. Mr. Matteson was initially charged with and tried, along side myself, for conspiracy to commit murder. Yet due to a single juror hold-out, a mistrial was declared. Two days after the verdict Mr. Matteson was offered a plea agreement, which he accepted, to a charge of P.C. 653(f), solicitation of murder for hire.

I feel this is relevant due to the fact that because the prosecution was only able to successfully convict two of the three defendants to a life term offense, they then felt it equally just to convict Mr. Matteson to a far lesser offense. That offense being solicitation of murder for hire, for literally the same act with the same intended victim, Mr. Jordan.

It is in no way my intention to minimize or rationalize my past actions. The criminal behavior in which I rashly and momentarily participated in was inexcusable. While accepting full responsibility for the way I conducted myself, as well as a humble understanding that my actions absolutely warrant incarceration, I truly believe that a more merciful and appropriate penance could produce equal results.

Aside from legal or factual reasons for my request, I also humbly request mercy for more personal reasons. I make this plea with the great hope of having the opportunity to be the productive, caring, and responsible parent, husband, son, employee, and citizen that I know I was, and still am, capable of being.

One of my greatest fears is the thought that my young son, Tycho, who I abandoned by putting myself in my current situation, could possibly ever find himself in a similar situation as a result of my absence. A scenario I should have reflected on long ago, but unfortunately did not. I truly believe that together with the invaluable lessons that I have learned and continue to learn, and the fact that no one was ever harmed, I could be far more productive to my family and society if afforded a priceless, second chance at life.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I believe that if I were fortunate enough to be granted any form of relief, it would be for a combination of my past, present, and future behavior.

Although my past behavior is what led me to prison, it was also only a momentary period of my life that was truly out of my normal character. I was raised in a very loving, faith-based, and predominately law enforcement employed family. So I am not absent of what it means to; practice good values, act ethically, and respect laws and authority. I truly feel that my behavior during the less than one year period that I associated with the Vagos was, and is, not at all an accurate account of who I truly am. I can honestly admit that I was acting out of pure bravado and was foolishly attempting to impress a class of people for reasons I still do not know. I immediately realized the potential severity of what my behavior could have caused, and then eventually did cause to myself and my family.

Prior to my arrest in 2004, I did not have a history of reoccurring interactions with law enforcement. I had maintained constant employment since I was fifteen years old, obeyed the law, and lived a responsible, family orientated lifestyle.

Following my arrest I was released on bond, where for roughly three years I again held gainful employment, lived as a responsible citizen, appeared for every court date, and most importantly did not have any interaction with law enforcement. I believe it is necessary to emphasize the fact that I took full responsibility for my poor behavior by appearing for dozens of court appearances, as well as a lengthy trial, all the while realizing what lay in store.

I do not mention this with the intention of being praised. However, as examples of how I truly lived the great, majority of my life. I can honestly say that during the few, brief months that I began to errantly venture down the wrong path was, and still is, not an accurate description of my true character.

Since my incarceration I have maintained the same responsible and conducive lifestyle. I have utilized my time, while in prison, to not only avoid negative behavior and maintain an exemplary record, but to also be as productive as I possibly can. I immediately began my incarceration by earning my high school diploma. I am actively enrolled in college courses, through Coastline Community College, where I am currently six units from obtaining my degree in Social Sciences, along with a certification in Business Management. I have graduated the

William Hoffman

In August 1997, Amy Preasmyer asked William Hoffman to kill her fiancé, Richard Cowles, Jr. After days of planning, Mr. Hoffman went into Ms. Preasmyer and Mr. Cowles' apartment, hid in the bedroom closet, and waited for Mr. Cowles to get home from work. When Mr. Cowles got home, Mr. Hoffman hit him several times with a hammer, then shot him once in the head. Mr. Cowles died at the hospital several days later. On October 8, 1999, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hoffman to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus a 10-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Hoffman was 18 years old when he committed this crime and has now been incarcerated for over 20 years. In his application for commutation, Mr. Hoffman explained that he "was using drugs heavily and willing to do anything to fit in and earn the acceptance of others." He wrote, "I want to tear down the false perceptions that drugs and criminality are glamorous or acceptable. I want to reveal the truth that there is only loss, pain, and suffering; not only for the victims and survivors of crime, but also for the perpetrators." He added, "I vow to continue my life of recovery and amends for the rest of my life...."

For two decades, Mr. Hoffman has focused on his rehabilitation, despite serving a sentence that offered no hope of a life outside of prison. He has only been disciplined for serious misconduct twice. He has earned his GED, an associate's degree, and certificates in Christian Leadership and Business. Mr. Hoffman participated in self-help programs, including Life Without A Crutch, Alternatives to Violence, and Victim Awareness. In 2018, an education coordinator who supervised Mr. Hoffman for five years commended him for his hard work, writing, "As a tutor Mr. Hoffman gave freely of his knowledge to help his peers improve their education and rehabilitation....Over the years I have come to believe that Mr. Hoffman's care for his fellow man is genuine and heartfelt." In February 2018, the Healing Dialogue and Action program provided Mr. Hoffman with an opportunity to meet with Mr. Cowles' mother, father, and sister. Mr. Hoffman reported that it was not until this meeting that he was able to fully understand the pain and suffering the family endured and was amazed by their compassion. Mr. Hoffman wrote, "The impact of that meeting will remain with me for the rest of my life as I strive to fulfill the family's request to reach others in the hope that they will also change their lives."

While this is undoubtedly a very serious crime, it is clear that Mr. Hoffman has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Hoffman has earned the opportunity to present his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of William Hoffman to a total of 20 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.
State Capitol
Sacramento, CA 94814

To the Honorable Edmund G. Brown Jr.

I submit this Application for Executive Clemency solemnly asking you to consider commuting my sentence. My request is not made with disregard to the severity of the crime, the impact on the victim's family and society, or the validity of my sentence. The shame and remorse I feel for murdering Richard Lynn Cowles Jr., and for the irreparable pain and devastation I have caused, is with me everyday. Therefore, I have wholeheartedly committed myself to my rehabilitation to ensure I would never victimize another person. The past 18 years have been a time of progressive transformation for me spiritually, emotionally, and intellectually. Today I am living a life of consistent moral integrity devoted to the betterment of myself and others. I am no longer the person that I was when I murdered Richard, and I hope that will become evident to you as you evaluate my application.

On August 12, 1997, at the age of 18, I callously murdered Richard Cowles Jr., a man I had never met. I did this at the request of his girlfriend, Amy Preasmeyer, and her friend, Jennifer Kellogg; although, I do not know their motives to this day. I am ashamed to confess that I laid in wait for Richard in his own home, ambushed him by striking him with a hammer, and then shot him once in the head. I wish I could convey my own horror and shame at the brutality of the murder. No person deserves to have their life taken in such a way, but this is especially true of Richard. From meeting with his family, I have learned he was a good man who positively affected the life of everyone he met.

I make no attempt to excuse or justify my choices and actions because they are absolutely inexcusable and unjustifiable. I take full responsibility. I said yes when I was asked to murder Richard, I planned his murder, I made the reprehensible decision to take his life, and afterward I chose to continually lie about my involvement. I had every opportunity to make different choices, but I did not. I am also responsible for all the choices I made which placed me in the situation to begin with.

At the time of the murder, I was using drugs heavily and willing to do anything to fit in and earn the acceptance of others. My unhealthy need for acceptance came from the feelings of rejection and inadequacy I developed from years of negative interactions with my parents and peers. I believed criminal activity, including murder, would give me the acceptance and notoriety I so greatly desired. This warped belief is evident in how I boasted to others leading up to and following the murder. These things were normalized and glamorized within the environment I had placed myself in. It would not be until several months after my arrest in 1998 that I first noticed a change in my thinking which I can only describe as a fog lifting from my mind. My delusions slowly became evident, and I began to rationally consider my thoughts and actions. This began what the long evolutionary process that has led to my reformation.

While many factors have been involved, God has been the greatest influence on my transformation. After a long struggle against surrender, I became a Christian in September 1999. For many years my faith was essentially the only thing I relied on to change, and it continues to be the dominant factor. Over the years I have completed numerous Bible studies and Christian education courses to increase my knowledge and understanding of God's Word. However, my greatest accomplishment in this regard is becoming a graduate of The Urban Ministry Institute (TUMI) in 2016. I am currently working toward a B.A. in Theological Studies. In 2015, I began serving as a deacon in the church. I became an elder in 2016, the position in which I continue to serve in various ways; such as preaching, teaching, and ministering to the community. The church community has continually been a tremendous source of support in the form of counsel, accountability, and encouragement.

Also integral to my change has been the change in the sort of people I associate and develop friendships with. I have distanced myself from those who still live a lifestyle of addiction and criminality. Instead, I now associate with those who are seeking to live a life of moral character and recovery. I am thankful that I have been able to restore my relationships with my mom and grandma after the pain and turmoil I put them through. Today I cherish them, and our relationships, as they are a constant source of love and support for me. Since 2010, my greatest source of love, support, acceptance, motivation, and accountability has come from my best friend, Eunice, who became my wife in 2016. Her presence in my life has dramatically increased my growth and maturity during the last few years.

In 2005, I began attending self-help and insight programs which have played a significant role in my rehabilitation. Victim Awareness, CGA (Criminal & Gangmembers Anonymous), and AVP (Alternatives To Violence) have been the most impactful. These programs have helped me examine myself and my past to identify, understand, and address the contributing factors and warped beliefs that have influenced my choices. Each program is unique, but I find that they have all caused me to stop, examine myself, and do the work necessary to affect change in my thinking and behavior.

Education has also been important to my recovery. I earned my GED in 2002, an A.S. in Business with honors in 2015, and an A.A. in Science & Math with honors in 2016; thereby becoming the first of my family to receive a college degree. I will receive an A.S. in Management at the end of the semester, and I am currently 24 units from my B.S. in Business Administration. I have discovered that the things I have learned in my business courses have many practical life applications; such as communication, team work, and conflict resolution. My ability to do the hard work necessary to achieve my educational goals has given me a sense of accomplishment and a confidence in my ability to succeed. In addition, I have taught myself how to type and use computers, becoming exceptionally proficient with Word and Excel.

The knowledge and skills I have acquired have provided me with outstanding employment opportunities throughout my incarceration, and they will transfer into society as well. I am also proud to have been able to tutor others at both the GED and college level; helping three men obtain their GED's.

God, healthy relationships, self-help/insight programs, and education have all been vital to my rehabilitation. Each helped me address the issues that contributed to my life of criminality and to establish a new life based on moral principles. The life I am living today, along with the things I have accomplished, demonstrate the transformation I have undergone. I have not simply abated my former lifestyle of criminality and harm; rather, I am living a contrasting lifestyle which positively contributes to my community.

In February 2018, I was given the opportunity to meet with Richard's father, mother, and sister. Personally hearing from his family the devastation and suffering they have endured on a daily basis for over 20 years crushes me with remorse and shame. I had spent years trying to imagine what they have endured, and all the ripple effects that occurred from the murder, but nothing could have prepared me for the reality of it. The compassion Richard's family showed me was even more difficult to bear and made me feel so ashamed for murdering their son and brother. They told me about Richard, the wonderful person he was, and the effect he had on others. For the first time he was not a stranger to me. I am so sorry for what I have done. What I would give to be the person I am today 21 years ago. The impact of that meeting will remain with me for the rest of my life as I strive to fulfill the family's request to reach others in the hope that they will also change their lives.

The most significant things I am doing in this regard come from my position as the lead elder in the Protestant church at my facility. The church, the Tree of Life Fellowship, has services in English and Spanish and a congregation of about 80 men. As an elder, my primary responsibility is to serve my congregation and community. Along with the other leaders, I organize and oversee nine church services/classes and six community ministries which are changing the lives of men. In addition to preaching and counseling, I lead a life group of 20-30 men. I feel this group is one of the greatest contributions I have made to my community, and even society. I have seen several member's lives dramatically changed, and they have personally shared how the class was the primary cause. I am thankful to have earned the trust of these men and to be able to positively influence their lives.

Every area of my life reflects the change in me. I am emotionally equipped to deal with rejection, conflict, and relationships in a healthy way. I have over 18 years of sobriety from all forms of drugs and alcohol. While I have rightly received two rule violations during my incarceration, neither involved drugs, contraband, or violence; and I have had none since 2010. I am a devoted husband, a parent-honoring son, a faithful friend, a productive employee, an honor student/college graduate, and a respected church leader. I strive to make every decision with wise consideration because I realize that every decision has consequences and affects myself and others.

I am not requesting commutation because I simply want to get out of prison. I am requesting commutation because, as a result of my rehabilitation, I can better serve and contribute to the interests of society upon release.

I desire to be a law-abiding, tax-paying citizen who works and serves in his community. I would like the opportunity to better fulfill my role as a husband by supporting my wife in ways I am unable to currently. For 20 years the consequences of my actions have prevented me from being there for my family as I should have been, and I would like the opportunity to be there for them now; especially as they are aging and in more need of assistance. I also hope to establish a relationship with my son which I have not been able to do during my incarceration.

Lastly, I have a passion to reach the youth before they go down the path I did. While incarcerated, I have worked to help others off that path and onto one of right living. However, I want to reach kids before they become addicts, before they become criminals, and especially before they victimize others. Inspired by Javier Stauring and Healing Dialogue and Action, I envision survivors of crime and rehabilitated perpetrators of crime coming together for the purpose of speaking to at-risk youth. I want to tear down the false perceptions that drugs and criminality are glamorous or acceptable. I want to reveal the truth that there is only loss, pain, and suffering; not only for the victims and survivors of crime, but also for the perpetrators. Preventing just one kid from choosing a life of criminality will spare countless others from suffering as a consequence of his or her crimes.

Thank you for considering my request for commutation. I would like to close by saying I am truly sorry for taking the life of Richard Cowles Jr. and for all the harm I have brought to others through my life of criminality. I vow to continue my life of recovery and amends for the rest of my life whether in prison or in society.

Sincerely,

William Hoffmann

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jason Holland

In 1995, 18-year-old Jason Holland and several other teenagers went to Michael McLoren's house to steal marijuana from him. After Mr. Holland and the others started beating up Mr. McLoren, James Farris confronted Mr. Holland. Mr. Holland stabbed Mr. Farris twice, killing him. On August 21, 1996, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Holland to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus eight years for burglary, a deadly weapon enhancement, and a great bodily injury enhancement.

Mr. Holland is now 41 years old and has spent 23 years in prison. In his application for clemency, he wrote, "At a young and impressionable age, I came into prison with no hope of ever leaving. It was quickly ingrained in my mind by the people and environment around me that there was no other opportunity left to me, or meaning to life, beyond 'making a name for myself' in prison." Mr. Holland spent years mired in gang activity and violence before realizing, as he put it, that "There was another version of prison reality, and it was the reality of rehabilitating myself, improving myself, and trying to make right the wrongs I had committed." In 2014, Mr. Holland made the decision to drop out of the gang and provided staff with critical information about gang leadership, weapons, and assaults.

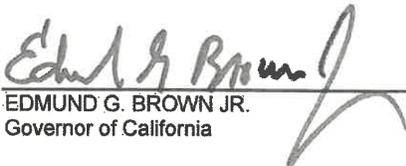

Since then, Mr. Holland has demonstrated a serious commitment to turning his life around and leaving violence behind. He earned three A.A. degrees from Coastline Community College and maintained a positive work record. He has participated in many self-help programs including Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, Victim Awareness, and Anger Management, and has recently begun facilitating groups for other inmates. He has also made donations to charity, worked as a literacy tutor, and participated in an Arts in Corrections program. Notably, Mr. Holland has earned respect and commendations from members of the correctional staff, including five correctional officers who supported his commutation. A self-help coordinator called Mr. Holland "a positive influence to peers and to the total work environment," and wrote, "I have observed Inmate Holland showing a desire to improve by taking advantage [of] self-help and college programs in preparation for being released back to society." Additionally, a correctional sergeant praised Mr. Holland's work performance and wrote, "Holland has proven to show that he is committed to his rehabilitation and that of his peers. Holland performs as a model inmate and is a good example to those around him."

Mr. Holland committed a senseless crime as a teenager, and continued down a dark and violent path when he came to prison. However, in the years since, he has shown a desire to transform himself and make amends for his past. Clearly, Mr. Holland has more work to do to show that he has made a permanent commitment to this new path and that he is ready to be released. But I see enough progress on Mr. Holland's part to conclude that he should have an opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jason Holland to a total of 30 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

I. INTRODUCTION

I, Jason Holland, ask you as Governor of the State of California to exercise your clemency power under the constitution of this state, to commute my sentence of life without the possibility of parole to the sentence of life with the possibility of parole, id est, 15- or 25-years-to-life; or any other sentence you deem appropriate.

This petition is not an attempt to persuade you that some miscarriage of justice has happened, and that a lesser sentence is appropriate. No, rather it is a petition that asks you to consider the man I have grown to become in prison, as I grew older from the young adult I was when I committed my commitment offense. Recent laws such as SB261 have recognized the diminished culpability of offenders under the age of 23 due to biological development in the brain still occurring. Unfortunately, as LWOP, I do not qualify for any of the new laws occurring for people convicted at the same age as I. Further, SB9 allowed for people convicted as a juvenile to petition the court for a lesser sentence after 15 years if they have shown significant progress in their rehabilitation.

II. CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME

On May 22nd, 1995, I took the life of Jimmy Farris and I stabbed Michael McLoren. This happened while engaged in a teenage brawl in the backyard of Michael McLoren's family home.

The entire day leading up to the actual commitment of my crime was a series of very poor choices while in a drunken state—a bad decision in and of itself. In fact, the entire lifestyle I was living at the time was incredibly reckless, irresponsible, and thoughtless. This tragically resulted in the unnecessary loss of another teenager's life, and the grave injury of another. Not to mention the damage done to the families of my victims, their families, the families of my co-defendants, my own, and my community.

My friends and I had begun the sequence of events with underage drinking at the home of Jason Stout, another friend. The alcohol had been taken from the liquor cabinet of Jason Stout's father while he was at work. We had to leave the house before Mr. Stout returned home, and decided to go to a local park to finish the bottle of alcohol. Upon arriving at the park, I noticed a wallet sitting on the front seat of a parked van. Without thinking, I snatched the wallet. My friends and I then left. We stopped at a local strip mall and went into a store. Upon exiting the store, the woman who owned the van confronted us. This caused a scene, prompting us to leave the premises. We decided to go to the house of Michael McLoren, another teenager we knew from school. Our intent was to take his stash of marijuana, by force if necessary.

Michael McLoren was in his backyard, outside of a clubhouse, with his best friend Jimmy Farris. We jumped over the fence to go into the backyard and entered the clubhouse. We confronted him for the marijuana; he did not give it to us. I initiated a fight. During this fight, I stabbed him four times, and Jimmy Farris twice. We ended up leaving the premises in a panic without taking the marijuana.

It was not my intention to kill anyone. At the time, I was living not only a reckless, but a clueless, life. I had seen people stabbed with little injury; I had friends who had been stabbed with little injury. For some strange reason, on that day, it did not resonate with me that stabbing Jimmy Farris with a pocketknife would kill him.

The series of events that day were interpreted as a crime spree. In addition to Jimmy Farris' father being a police detective for the LAPD, the political climate at the time was such that the prosecutors' in our case pursued our convictions for felony murder with intensity—perhaps rightfully so. The result was that while one teenager died, four others were sent to prison with life sentences and a community was grief-stricken all the way around. I myself ended up with life without parole and a lifetime of regret.

I have come to realize that at the time, not only did I have a misguided value system but also I simply did not have a very sophisticated thought process or sense of responsibility. I distinctly remember the moment in which I learned I had taken a life, and the sinking realization that it was an action that I could not take back. Up until that moment, I had been under the impression that I could always make reparations for the bad things I was doing; yet this was an act of finality that has taken me a long time to come to grips with, and that I am still dealing with to this day.

The understanding that I have now did not happen overnight. It has taken a lifetime to internalize and process.

III. REASONS FOR REQUESTING A PARDON/COMMUTATION

Until 2014, I was living a life that ultimately became meaningless. At a young and impressionable age, I came into prison with no hope of ever leaving. It was quickly engrained into my mind by the people and environment around me that there was no other opportunity left to me, or meaning to life, beyond “making a name for myself” in prison. In the mid-90’s, with an intensely hostile CDC environment, I was sent to one of the most violent prisons in the state and left to sink or swim of my own accord. Fearing for my own survival, I adopted the so-called “convict code” of violence, criminal mentality, and belligerence. I climbed my way close to the top of the prison pecking order and saw no point in changing, because I foresaw no better outcome. Though I had come to the realization that I was living a meaningless existence, I saw no alternative, which offered any value. I only knew one possible version of prison reality.

It had become clear to me that even though I had thought along the way that I was doing things for the right reasons—or at least reasons that made sense at the time—that ultimately I was living a duplicitous life. At the time when I really began to question how my life had ended up where it was, and how it was impacting everyone else in my life past or present, I was dealing with a near constant state of internal conflict. My peers were looking to me as a leader, but I only felt like a fraud. My family in the free world looked to me as a good person struggling with tough circumstances, yet they did not know about my involvement with the criminal underworld inside prison. It became apparent that I could not continue along this path without committing actions that would somehow lead to someone being harmed. I had created a ‘Gordian Knot’, and all that was left were the tough decisions.

I then took notice of the growing rehabilitation movement. I watched as opinions began to change, and policy and legislation began to get passed. I had conversations with friends and

IV. REASONS WHY PARDON/COMMUTATION SHOULD BE GRANTED

a. Introduction

I am no longer the person who killed Jimmy Farris and stabbed Michael McLoren. I am no longer the person I was when I came to prison twenty-three years ago. I am no longer the person I was during the hopeless period of my incarceration, when there seemed to be no alternative for a better future.

Today, I am a conscientious man. I have a moral compass, which led me to embrace principles, which guide me to not only behave in a moral way, but also to constantly consider how I am contributing to my community. I have chosen to pick up the burden of living the self-examined life, while recognizing that I have an obligation to my fellow man and myself to consistently live as an example of my best self.

Looking back at my history, and comparing it to the changes I have made towards my rehabilitation, one may argue that I have not done enough to merit consideration for parole. Indeed, this may be true. I am merely asking that I be afforded the opportunity at some point. I believe that the following narrative will allow you to see that I have made significant strides to show, at least, that there is something good and human, thus something redeemable, within me.

b. The Road to Redemption

i. Corcoran SHU

In January of 2014, I received a visit, which served as the catalyst for my change. During this conversation, a friend told me that whether I realized it or not—through decisions of my own or decisions I allowed other people to make for me—I had put myself, literally, into a box.

loved ones who told me what was happening, and how I was ruining my life, and I finally realized that I was simply wrong. There was another version of prison reality, and it was the reality of rehabilitating myself, improving myself, and trying to make right the wrongs I had committed.

I have been on the road to this moment in my life for nearly twenty-three painful years in prison. The last four of these have been some of the most intensely difficult, as they were devoted to things I was very unfamiliar with. I needed to come to grips with completely destroying my criminal persona, which had been a part of me for over twenty years. I had to learn not just to challenge my thinking, but how to challenge it. I had to learn a new paradigm for morality, value, and socially acceptable behavior. I had to learn to recognize how and why the way I reacted to things in life were entirely and completely inappropriate, detrimental, and morally unacceptable.

Additionally, in over two decades of incarceration, I have never seen a climate as favorable to rehabilitation as there is today. To be fully transparent, this is a platform to show rehabilitation, and I would be remiss to neglect it.

And if I ever wanted to live a different life, I was going to have to make some real difficult decisions. As I have mentioned earlier, I had come to accept the fact that I was living a meaningless existence.

The conversation gave me serious pause. While I was already having doubts about my lifestyle, this discussion caused me to begin questioning my belief system in earnest. At the time, I was deeply entrenched in the prison gang culture; but over the next few months, I decided to begin making real changes in my life. This led me to finally walk away from the prison gang life and the persona I had created to live within it.¹

During this transition, I was participating in correspondence courses, and I began to learn about things like scripting and other cognitive awareness tools.² These courses were showing me that I had not only been programmed, or "scripted," to behave certain ways, but that these scripts could be changed. This could lead to different outcomes in a person's life, if a person chose to do so.

The next pivotal insight I had occurred while taking the Addictive & Criminal Thinking course while at Corcoran State Prison's SHU during my debriefing.³ This course is what taught me about "thinking distortions" and "thought maps," and how they are created. These thought maps are a person's thinking strategies and patterns for solving problems or obstacles in life. In criminals, these thought maps are filled with an excessive amount of thinking distortions—faulty or incorrect ways of thinking that become engrained as patterns. Further, this course helped me to gain insight into how my own thought map was created from my youth, prior to any actual criminal history at all. This was the point when I started to realize that childhood factors in my upbringing had been internalized in a way which caused me to develop thinking distortions. For example, I used to equate being wrong about something with being unacceptable as a person. The distorted reasoning was that if I was wrong about something, I was not good; if I was not good, I was bad. If I was bad, I was unacceptable. This realization made me realize that if I was wrong about something, I was simply mistaken. It had no bearing on my worth as a human being. This insight really allowed me to begin on my path to internal healing and, in essence, a rebirth.

³ Exhibit C. Addictive & Criminal Thinking completion chrono

I next took a class at Corcoran called Coping Skills⁴. This class was essentially group therapy, where the group discussed healthy ways of adapting to our environment as opposed to the ways we adapted when we were criminally active. I discovered a lot of other people were struggling with the same issues I was struggling with—things like how to deal with frustration in a healthy way, establishing a new identity for myself, and forming a new social circle. This group helped to emphasize to me the need to have a stable support group inside prison as well as outside.

This was also when I first enrolled in college, and began to further my education. My goal was to get Associate Degrees in both Business and Social and Behavioral Sciences. These college classes are something I am still involved in today, and upon completion of the current semester at the time of writing this, I will be one class away from completing these degrees as well as an additional one in American Studies.⁵

ii. Transitional Housing Unit—KVSP Facility 'D'

I was transferred to the Transitional Housing Unit at Kern Valley State Prison, Facility 'D', in November of 2015. I was given a job as a teacher's assistant helping fellow inmates prepare for their GEDs. I created a curriculum to teach algebra, the subject on the GED test which most people struggle with in prison.

In March of 2016, I was selected by the facility captain, K. Hixon, to participate in a rehabilitative program-planning meeting with headquarters staff assigned to the SHU Step Down Program Team. For this, I received a laudatory chrono from Captain Hixon thanking me for my contributions towards establishing an effective program.⁶

During this time I was also placed in Narcotics Anonymous, a twelve-step program aimed at helping people overcome with addiction to controlled substances. I was in the program for only a few months due to my short stay in the THU program, but it was a rewarding experience in that I was introduced to the twelve-step model and able to internalize how to apply them to my life.⁷

However, the program I participated in THU that had the most impact on me was called Self-Reconstructive Therapy, designed and taught by Dr. Dan Eppler.⁸ This program examines how habits are formed through neurological pathways, and how to recondition them through intention and repetition. This course differed from traditional cognitive behavioral therapy in that it includes a moral element in its philosophy, focusing on the need for such things as altruism and right conduct. This group coincided with my personal studies into neuroassociative conditioning, which leans heavily into the idea that we have the ability to rechart our trajectories by changing our habits.

I was also able to complete the course work for Anger Management before leaving. This was another course conducted in a group setting that consisted of participants reading from a workbook and then discussing what they got from the material. The biggest take away for me was being able to identify my own triggers and developing a relapse prevention plan for dealing with these triggers.⁹

iii. KVSP Facility 'C'

Upon completing the THU process,¹⁰ I was moved from KVSP Facility 'D' to Facility 'C'. I was fortunate enough to get involved with not only the rehabilitative groups that the facility offered, but also some of the efforts being put forth by the inmate population to contribute back to the outside community.

My first introduction to these efforts was as a facilitator for Pioneer Peace Day, a fundraiser held by the facility newspaper for CASA of Tulare County, a child-advocacy group in one of the poorest counties in California. My role as facilitator was to man the "Peace Wrap," a symbolic exercise in dedication to prayers for peace. The full account of this can be found in the attached exhibit.¹¹

During the Fall semester of 2015, I managed to make the Dean's List at Coastline Community College for the first time. The requirements for making the list are maintaining a GPA of 3.5 while taking 12 units or more. I managed to do this while taking 15 units, with the letter stating that I was one of only 274 individuals out of a body of 15,000 to achieve this honor.¹²

Throughout the time of my incarceration, one of the productive activities that I often turned to as catharsis was artwork. I began to draw to impress a girl who was visiting me in 1998, and wanted to make her smile. In time, I began to ask myself, "How good can I get?" And so I stuck with it, and practiced it, and became good at it. I have since been commissioned for work on the streets, have had work sent all around the world, and art continues to be a large part of my life. Because I became known as a good artist, I was placed into multiple Arts In Corrections program, and have been asked by facility staff to do various personal art projects such as murals for photo sales. I have enclosed a few chronos that I have received for Arts in Corrections, as well as a few examples of my more accomplished artwork.¹³

iv. Executive Secretary, IAC

In February of 2017, I was elected by the inmate population to serve as the Executive Secretary of the Facility 'C' Inmate Advisory Council (or IAC).¹⁴ The IAC serves as a liaison between the inmate population and the facility staff, and my duties were officially to take minutes of meetings, distribute paperwork and notices, and disseminate information on matters of importance. Unofficially, I serve as an all-around program facilitator.

On Facility 'C', we have an extensive and unique emerging rehabilitative model, one that is constantly evolving and shifting because of the dynamics of the people involved and the climate of the times. At any given time, we are managing twenty groups or courses within our facility, which fall under the heading of rehabilitation in some way or another.¹⁵ I work with a team of individuals with diverse strengths that are uniquely suited to meet these needs. We manage the various tasks involved with these groups from conceptualization to the administrative processes needed.

My role often takes the form of a troubleshooter for inmate grievances. It is taken as a matter of course that I am going to be able to function in a hostile atmosphere with frustrated inmates, and that I will be able to communicate effectively in order to quell the situation, without putting a target on my or any other back. For example, on any given day, I handle a variety and wide range of concerns from the inmate population, or the staff if I am tasked to either convey information or find a resolution to an issue.

Because of my new position, I was now assigned to an office in the facility chapel. I was afforded the opportunity to work hand-in-hand with inmates who were working on some of the more innovative and impressive projects on the yard. One of the first projects that I was able to take active part in was the creation of the Reflective Writers Guild program¹⁶ for inmates on C-Status, or disciplinary status. This twelve-week program gave C-Status inmates assigned writing prompts, and required research, conversation, and insight on a variety of virtues and concepts. It culminates in a written essay for the facility captain and facility chaplain, as well as enrollment in a critical thinking/life skills course. While the carrot is that it gives these troublesome inmates an opportunity to get off of C-Status early, the idea behind it is to intrigue them into becoming interested in the programs that are available. It is something of an 'escape hatch' from their bad habits, which ultimately invites them to take part of rehabilitative efforts on the yard.

¹⁵ Exhibit O. Inmate Activity Group Fact Sheet

Part of the inspiration for the program above was a class called Life 101¹⁷, taught by the facility 'C' chaplain Ron Krantz. Life 101 is a critical thinking and life skills class that identifies objective morality, and the importance of acknowledging human dignity. It delves into such topics as honoring one another's potential (or teleos), and the merits of citizenship, community, and collegiality. The course material is advanced and participants are required to question what they know and how they know it on a multitude of levels, and ultimately whom they are and how they came to be that way. It is essentially the intellectual man's guide to confronting the question of whether God exists, and the how then shall we live.

I was also selected to participate in the first Toastmasters Club ever held on Facility 'C'. I had the good fortune of being elected to the position of Executive Treasurer, responsible for managing the funds of the entire group. Toastmasters Club is an internationally known organization with a motto of "friends helping friends succeed." This group has been instrumental in helping me get a good grasp on the skills of public speaking.¹⁸

During this same time, I was also participating in correspondence courses through the Partnership for Re-entry Program (or PREP) called "Turning Point—Part 1."¹⁹ This is an extensive course broken into modules that require inmates to answer questions dealing with a range of topics such as personal inventories and victim empathy. It took me several months to complete this correspondence course. The biggest takeaway I received from this course was

¹⁷ Exhibit Q. Life 101 completion chrono

¹⁸ Exhibit R. Toastmasters Club material

¹⁹ Exhibit S. PREP completion chronos/certificates that it forced me to really confront and answer the questions on much more than a superficial level, and I got a much better understanding of myself than I would have if I had not done the coursework.

In March of 2017, I received a certificate of achievement for the InsideOUT Writers program.²⁰ I had first begun participating in this program while in the THU, and was placed into the Facility 'C' program once I had completed the THU process. This is a program where inmates share written works based on writing prompts assigned by volunteer facilitators. This class was instrumental in finding the ability to share vulnerability in a group, and articulate myself in a way that was different from the sterile prison environment I had become accustomed to. A big reward for doing so was that I found that many of my classmates dealt with some of the same struggles that I did, and though I had connected with fellow inmates in other classes, this was the first class that built strong bridges in a very short amount of time.

Throughout much of the second half of 2016 and the beginning of 2017, the yard embarked on a massive campaign to try and attract the Defy Ventures to the facility. One of the final stages of this campaign was a large group photo of the inmate population, with a massive banner reading "WE WANT DEFY." I was asked to help design and draw this banner with a group of my coworkers and my brother, and the campaign was ultimately successful. Defy Ventures arrived on the facility in spring of 2017, and I was one of the people tasked with helping facilitate its commencement. I was also lucky enough to be a part of the first class, which started with 70 participants.

Defy Ventures is a select fellowship program geared towards grooming people with criminal histories for management and leadership roles. Participants are educated in a variety of subjects from character development to social etiquette, from business ideation to market research. Incarcerated participants actually sit down with venture capitalists and other businessmen and women to discuss business concepts and receive feedback, and the program culminates with a Shark Tank-style 'Rocket Pitch' competition. Contestants compete to receive start-up capital upon their release, and I am proud to say that I won first place in the competition out of a class of the 46 participants who completed the program.²¹ Beyond winning the competition, one of the biggest takeaways from Defy Ventures was the connection that I felt with my class members and with the outside volunteers at the end of the program. It was a transformative process.

My most recent accomplishment was completing the Avatar BPH Preparation course offered by the Anti-Recidivism Coalition's Hope & Redemption team. This group of ex-lifers visits prisons to share their insight and knowledge into what it takes to authentically and successfully change your mindset, and ultimately your life, for the better so that you can contribute back into the community in a successful way, and construct a sustainable future. The group that I attended specifically focused on Board of Parole hearings. During the graduation ceremony, I was asked to speak on what the class meant to me, and I have enclosed a copy of that speech for your review so that you can understand the full value of this course.

c. Looking Forward

At the time of writing this, there are several projects that are currently underway that I have dedicated considerable time and energy towards. These projects, which are fully inmate-generated and driven, could potentially have a tremendous and measurable effect on the way rehabilitation is approached in the California correctional system.

The first phase of these efforts has taken the form of what we term a Progressive Program Unit proposal.²² This program reinforces positively programming inmates while incentivizing those who have not yet committed to personal growth. Furthermore, this acts as a first step towards implementing a bigger program that we have termed the Cyprus Ambassadors program.²³

The concept behind the Cyprus Ambassadors program is to change the way CDCR approaches rehabilitation and make it more effective, while having inmates drive these efforts through peer mentoring, effective communication, and inmate-staff cooperation. While the concept of the program is fully inmate-generated and driven, in order for it to be successful, it will require the assistance of administrative staff as well as outside resources that have already made a commitment.

Due to the unique makeup of the team of inmates who work together here at Facility 'C', we have realized that we have something other prisons do not: the inmates here know how to draft proposals, facilitate groups, run fundraisers, create curriculums, and teach other inmates in an effective manner. This is differentiated from someone being simply titled a 'facilitator' in a group; these are intentional, motivated actions towards improving the standard for inmates, their quality of life, working environment for staff, and ultimately a better future for all parties—including society, because our end goal is lowering recidivism rates.^{24 25}

V. CONCLUSION

To reiterate my introduction, this petition is not an attempt to minimize the pain that I have caused through my actions, nor to suggest that any amount of time served in prison equates to the life of Jimmy Farris or the trauma to Michael McLoren.

This petition is my illustration of the man that I have become, and how I hope to impact people in the future through a life dedicated to making amends for the wrongs I have committed.

I am not requesting release from prison; I am only requesting the opportunity to appear before the parole board and weigh myself against their rigorous test for suitability for reentry into society. If given the opportunity to do so, I will rise to the occasion.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Jason Holland

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Gerald Holton

In 1995, Gerald Holton hit Jerry Gilchrist in the head with a pipe during a robbery. Mr. Gilchrist later died as a result of his injuries. On July 9, 1996, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Holton to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus six years for firearm and prior felony enhancements.

In an interview with an investigator from the Board of Parole Hearings, Mr. Holton explained that he had a serious, long-term drug addiction before he came to prison, and that he committed this crime to get more money for drugs. He reported that he is now sober and hopes for the opportunity to earn his release on parole and show that he is a different man than he was at the time of the crime. Mr. Holton is now 61 years old and has been in prison for 23 years. He has only been disciplined twice for misconduct during over two decades of incarceration, and has never been involved with drugs, gangs, or violence in prison. He participated in self-help groups, including Criminal Thinking and Relationships, as well as several Biblical programs. Mr. Holton has maintained a positive work record and participated in several events for charity. In the event of his release, he plans to live with family, support himself with a clerical job, and help raise his grandsons.

Additionally, Mr. Holton's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Holton.

Mr. Holton spent many years mired in drug abuse and criminal activity before coming to prison. Since then, he has shown a genuine commitment to turning his life around and dedicating himself to his rehabilitation. For these reasons, I believe that it is appropriate to reduce Mr. Holton's sentence so the Board of Parole Hearings can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Gerald Holton to a total of 25 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Daniel Hopper

In 1999, 17-year-old Daniel Hopper was with several fellow gang members when they were approached by James Guadagno, a member of a rival gang. Mr. Hopper pulled out a gun and shot Mr. Guadagno, killing him. On September 29, 2000, the San Diego County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Hopper to 25 years to life for murder plus an additional 25 years to life firearm enhancement – a total term of 50 years to life in prison.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Hopper discussed the significant changes he has made in his life since committing this crime. He wrote, "I am fully persuaded that a profound and fundamental work has taken place in my heart and soul, the kind of work necessary for me to be a good citizen, community member, and contributing servant-leader to the state of California. I am pleading for that opportunity, namely to demonstrate my value in society."

The warden of California State Prison – Solano recommended Mr. Hopper for a commutation of sentence. Mr. Hopper is now 37 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 20 years. He has only been disciplined once and has never been involved with gangs, violence, or drugs. Mr. Hopper earned his GED, completed several vocational certifications, and routinely receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. He has participated in many self-help classes including Criminal Thinking, Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous, and Anger Management.

In addition to the warden, Mr. Hopper has been commended by many members of the correctional staff who have witnessed his profound transformation. One officer who has known Mr. Hopper for 16 years supported his commutation and wrote, "He will be a powerful asset and resource in any community. He demonstrates the characteristics of a caring, supportive, patient, committed, and intelligent man." Another officer praised Mr. Hopper's "exemplary change" and wrote, "I look forward to seeing Mr. Hopper as a free man and continuing to work with him in educating law enforcement...about gangs, violence, prevention, intervention, and creating a safer California." Mr. Hopper helped establish the Youthful Offender Program at Solano in 2015, and worked as a lead mentor for the program. In 2017, a correctional counselor praised the work he has done for the program and said, "Inmate Hopper has shown a true commitment to furthering his pro-social and Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor certification skills by helping others change their lives....Through these functions he has demonstrated the asset he is to CSP-Solano's rehabilitative mission."

I acknowledge that Mr. Hopper's senseless actions have had lasting consequences for Mr. Guadagno's family members, who continue to feel pain and loss these many years later. However, I cannot overlook the extraordinary transformation that Mr. Hopper has made in prison. I believe he has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Daniel Hopper to a total of 20 years to life.

being challenged by Clarence and that my own gang expected retaliation. I was angry, felt humiliated, was motivated by deepseated insecurities, and wanting to prove my courage, loyalty, and reasons for higher status. Hiding behind a gang and a .32 caliber pistol, I cowardly squeezed the trigger, ending the young life of James and introducing unspeakable pain, loss, grief, mental anguish, fear, sense of helplessness, and a host of other tormenting evils into the life of the Guadagno family.

for that opportunity, namely to demonstrate my value in society.

(Allow me to elaborate on some of the most recent ways I have served and positively impacted both prison culture and our local communities outside of prison.)

I believe I have contributed substantially to the progress of CDCR's rehabilitative and educative efforts. I have worked alongside of Lt. Ojo, Public Information Officer (Solano) and I.G.I/I.S.U officer Medina in educating various community colleges on criminality and some of the enhanced forms of intervention conducted by mentors at the Long-Term Offender Program (L.T.O.P). I was instrumental in the statewide development of CDCR's Youthful Offender Program (Y.O.P), under the supervision and leadership of Ms. Chu, CCIII (C.S.P-Solano), and Capt. Mike Masters (CDCR headquarters) - our Y.O.P curriculum and basic format became a guiding framework for other institutions. I served as a major consultant for the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ), working with Mr. Joe Orlando, CDCR Public Information Officer, on producing an orientation video for youth offenders soon to arrive to CDCR.

On a larger scale, I have had multiple opportunities to advance the clear message of human change with the L.A Times interview (Sunday, April 23, 2017 with Jazmine Ulloa), Capitol Public Radio (KXJZ 90.9 FM with Sally), KTVU Channel 2 (San Francisco with Claudine Wong), and Univision, Sacramento (19.2 with Jose Ramos). The first two were opportunities made available by Ms. Krissy Khokhobashvili, Public Information Officer (headquarters), as ways to convey the power of rehabilitation and the major role recently passed California legislation (SB 260, SB 261, Proposition 57, and the like) has had in encouraging inmates addressing their antisocial characteristics to continue.

In more recent times (approximately one year in the making), I was part of a think tank which conceived, initiated, and facilitated the development of an early intervention at-risk youth program. I serve alongside of Pastor Phil

Lockwood, local minister at Living Hope Church (Dixon), Ms. Chu, CCIII (C.S.P. Solano), Lt. Ojo, Public Information Officer (Solano), Dr. Youseff Elmanawy, Clinical Director (Substance Abuse Program, Solano), and other community leaders in developing A.L.P.H.A Project (A Life of Purpose Hope and Achievement), a unique, early intervention, community focused, outreach program that works with at-risk youth in the Dixon school district. I am one of eight inmate CATC certified mentors. I combine evidence-based approaches with my life story as a way to help these youth understand the meaning of choices and the significance of consequences. We have seen that this facilitates a more responsible approach to how they live life and approach change.

Again, while these are some of the more recent engagements I have undertaken (all the above in the last three years), in partnership with CDCR administrators and community leaders, they are only a small fraction and expression of approximately eighteen years of my efforts to impact as many as possible with the message of fundamental human change, and how it can powerfully influence our society as a whole. The broader narrative that fuels my endeavors (secular and faith-based), and gives meaningful direction to my life, is the Gospel of Jesus Christ ~ the relationship which secured my life time of service.

Re: Application for Executive Clemency of Johanna Ceniceros (a.k.a. Johanna Hudnall) Inmate No. 79576, Florence McClure Women's Correctional Facility, Las Vegas, Nevada

Dear Governor Brown:

Please find the enclosed Application for Executive Clemency. It follows a long and frustrating process through the judicial system that was unsympathetic to the procedural hurdles created by incarceration in Nevada pursuant to the interstate compact.

Specifically, Ms. Ceniceros, (a.k.a. Johanna Hudnall) sought relief pursuant to California Penal Code §1170. The procedural difficulty that arose is that the statute only affords standing to the California Department of Corrections (CDC), and in practice requires a recommendation from the case worker of the facility where an inmate is incarcerated. Ms. Ceniceros sought this recommendation based on her inmate record, but was unable to obtain it because of the Nevada law which prohibits any prison employee from making any recommendation regarding an inmate's parole application or status. Ms. Ceniceros is presently incarcerated at the Florence McClure Women's Correctional Center in Las Vegas, Nevada because she had been raped during her prior prison sentence.

solifant@gmail.com

Based on the forgoing impasse, I prepared a petition for Mr. Jeffrey Beard, Secretary of the Department of Corrections. I had hoped he would address the problem procedurally if not substantively. He never responded directly. I followed up with the CDOC's legal department. Ultimately, they stated in an e-mail that I should pursue Ms. Cenicerros' relief in Court. I did.

The Superior Court dismissed the motion without addressing the specifics of the standing issues, or the claim of delegation of duties based on the e-mail from CDOC's lawyer. The Court simply denied the motion on lack of standing grounds. The Court of Appeal found the denial was not an appealable order. The California Supreme Court refused to grant review.

Substantively, Ms. Cenicerros has demonstrated substantial rehabilitation. While imprisoned she has pursued and successfully completed every educational opportunity afforded her, assisted numerous other inmates in pursuing their educations, participated in inmate panels with the prison administration regarding relevant issues and even made charitable contributions to worthy organizations from her prison earnings.

Ms. Cenicerros' conduct relating to rehabilitation and fitness to rejoin society is set forth in the initial petition to the CDOC with related exhibits that is submitted here in CD format. Additionally, the unsuccessful motion for relief pursuant to Penal Code §1170, the Court's order and the Appellate Court's denial of review are on CD format as well.

The legal and equitable considerations support commutation as well. Presently a substantial number of inmates are being released who have done far more harmful acts to society such as murder after serving 15 years. Ms. Cenicerros' crimes, while admittedly substantial, have not caused any physical injury to anyone, her restitution of less than $1,000.00 is fully repaid and cannot constitute the permanent financial ruin of anyone. Now, having served over 13 years in prison, the comparative severity of her crimes with those of persons being released for approximately the same amount of time served for far more serious crimes, is greatly disproportionate to the entire 36 years, 8 months she must serve for her crimes as sentenced. It is wholly inequitable to the taxpayers as well. They will pay over 1 million dollars to keep her imprisoned for another 19-20 years even if she is granted parole. She has a strong potential for being a contributing member of society rather than a burden. (Dr. Stone's psychiatric evaluation, exhibit 15 to the initial petition to the CDOC.)

In Conclusion, I believe Ms. Cenicerros is an appropriate candidate for commutation of her sentence. I am confident that upon thorough review, you will agree this is more than a pro forma petition, but a case where an imperfect person became the victim of an imperfect system (rape by a prison employce) and then descended into substance abuse from the trauma, reoffended, was sentenced to an extremely harsh sentence of 36 years, 8 months, and then has risen above the trauma and limitations of prison to educate herself, help others and prepare herself for a final opportunity to be a contributor to society rather than a burden.

With all other avenues of redress unavailable, I humbly request that you bestow this most generous act of kindness on Ms. Cenicerros, and grant her freedom via a commutation of sentence.

Please feel free to contact me if you should have any questions.

Sincerely,

Scott B. Olifant

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Johanna Hudnall

Between November 2001 and February 2002, Johanna Hudnall committed a series of burglaries, many against elderly victims. On May 23, 2003, the San Joaquin County Superior Court sentenced Ms. Hudnall to 36 years and 8 months for seven counts of burglary, a prior felony enhancement, a defenseless victim enhancement, forgery, and possession of a controlled substance.

Ms. Hudnall has now been incarcerated for nearly 17 years. In her interview with the Board of Parole Hearings investigator, Ms. Hudnall said that at the time she committed these crimes she was an addict. She further relayed that she has now been clean and sober for 15 years, thanks to the help of many people and programming that taught her how to identify her addiction and manage it. In her application for clemency, Ms. Hudnall stated that she takes steps every day to make the remainder of her life count.

Since coming to prison, Ms. Hudnall has been dedicated to turning her life around. She has only been disciplined for misconduct once. She completed paralegal training and a college degree. Ms. Hudnall has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Addiction Recovery Program, Restorative Justice, and Beyond Violence. She has served on the Stop Prisoner Rape board of advisors. The Nevada Department of Corrections, where Ms. Hudnall has served much of her sentence, reported that she completed "nearly every program offered" there during her incarceration. One instructor wrote, "Johanna is a team player. She accepts responsibility and tactfully deals with others by example." In 2009, a program associate wrote that Ms. Hudnall "has demonstrated a dedication to improve herself and her community that should not be ignored or overlooked. She found positive and constructive ways to contribute to society, even from behind bars, and has become a powerful voice in the struggle to end sexual violence in prisons." In 2007, the co-executive Director of Stop Prisoner Rape supported clemency for Ms. Hudnall and wrote that she "has played an integral role in [Stop Prisoner Rape's] advocacy work" and, if released, "would undoubtedly continue her hard work on behalf of others."

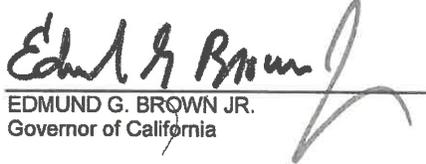

Additionally, Ms. Hudnall's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Ms. Hudnall.

Ms. Hudnall committed a series of crimes against vulnerable victims while she was struggling with addiction, but it is clear she has shown dedication to her rehabilitation and sobriety. I believe she has earned an opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Johanna Hudnall to make her eligible for immediate parole consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

Factual Summary of Crimes

Second Strike Convictions

Ms. Cenicerros was convicted of seven counts of first degree burglary on March 14, 2003. Ms. Cenicerros freely admits that she was suffering from a substantial substance abuse problem at the time. For this reason she has no real recollection of the burglaries. She is aware that, according to the police reports, she took a checkbook from one of the homes and sought to cash a check for $400.00. She was also found in possession of a controlled substance when arrested. These facts account for the other non-burglary conviction at the time of the trial.

It is important to note in mitigation that while incarcerated on the first offense noted above, she was sexually assaulted (raped) by a prison employee. The State of California has admitted this occurred. It is referenced in the transmittal letter from the California Department of Corrections to the State of Nevada where she is currently serving her sentence. (Attached as an exhibit to this application for executive clemency) It is also important to note that Ms. Cenicerros has made full restitution as per the order of the Court.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Angel Isarraras

In 2008, 17-year-old Angel Isarraras and several fellow gang members confronted Deryon Williams and Kevin Carr about their gang status. Later, they returned with a gun and Mr. Isarraras and one of his crime partners opened fire, hitting Mr. Williams, who survived. On October 20, 2008, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Isarraras to seven years to life for each attempted murder, plus 45 years to life for two firearm enhancements – a total term of 59 years to life in prison.

In his application for clemency, Mr. Isarraras expressed sincere remorse for his participation in this crime, and explained that he has come to realize that he must make amends for the errors he made as a young man. He wrote, "The way I plan to accomplish that is by becoming a man of service to my community and doing volunteer work wherever I am needed."

During more than a decade of incarceration, Mr. Isarraras has made strides toward his goal of turning his life around and helping others. He earned his GED and is currently taking classes from Palo Verde Community College. He completed two vocational certifications and has been commended by his supervisors, including one who praised his leadership skills. Mr. Isarraras has participated in self-help programs including Alcoholics and Narcotics Anonymous, Victim Awareness, and Alternatives to Violence. Mr. Isarraras has also been active in a youth diversion program that counsels young people against getting involved with gangs and criminal activity. He reported, "[O]ne thing I have noticed about sharing my story is that, it not only raises awareness to teenagers about what's to come if they make poor choices like I did, but I also want to show society that with help change is possible." In 2018, a correctional counselor praised Mr. Isarraras's leadership in the program and wrote, "As a mentor he has realized the importance of public safety through rehabilitation and this has benefitted his own insight." Mr. Isarraras also has a strong plan in place in the event of his release; he will live in a transitional housing program then with his wife, who has offered to help support him as he returns to the community.

As a teenager, Mr. Isarraras committed a reckless crime. Since coming to prison, he has demonstrated a real commitment to his rehabilitation and now sets a positive example for those around him. For these reasons, I believe that Mr. Isarraras has earned an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Angel Isarraras to a total of 17 years to life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

#2. Circumstances of the crime I am requesting a Commutation for.

On January 23, 2008, I attempted to murder Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr. ON the day of the crime my co-defendants Jorge Abeica, David Negrete and I arrived at a gas station. As I went to go pay for gas, I noticed Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr approach Negrete and I assumed that there was an issue between them. I did not know at the time that they were only asking Negrete for some change/quarters. I then hurried out of the gas station and confronted Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr. I exclaimed my gang affiliation and they responded with claims of association to a rival gang. At that moment I viewed their association as grounds to fight, so I approached them to do just that. At that point in time Mr. Williams stepped back grabbing at his waist as if he had a gun. I immediately froze in fear of the gun I thought he had. Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr then began walking away all the while Mr. Williams grabbing at his waist as if he had a gun. As soon as Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr left the gas station I was left feeling angry, disrespected and vengeful. At that moment I decided to go get a gun from my co-defendant Negrete's house. Once I had the gun, we went in search for Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr. When I saw Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr I told my co-defendant Abeica to stop the car. I then exited the vehicle and fired multiple shots in the direction of Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr, striking Mr. Williams in the buttocks area.

On January 23, 2008, I made the poor choice when I attempted to murder Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr not only because I felt disrespected and challenged, but also because at that time I was already angry, short tempered, impulsive and lacked the coping skills to deal with my bottled up feelings. So when I put myself in the situation of confronting Mr. Williams and Mr. Carr and I noticed that Mr. Williams reach for his waist as if he had a gun, that triggered me to no longer feel safe because it reminded me of the time I was shot at fifteen and seventeen years of age, which left me traumatized. I had already told myself that "If trouble comes my way not only am I going to shoot first, but I am going to shoot to kill." and that is exactly what I did to Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr.

In that moment I was careless, I was selfish. In that moment I did not think about the consequences and the repercussions were nowhere near my mind. The only thought that came to mind was the selfish gain I would receive from the gang.

#3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation?

I am humbly requesting a commutation because ten years after I attempted to murder Mr. Deryon Williams and Kevin Carr, I am truly sorry and I take full responsibility for my actions. I now understand that nothing gives me the right to hurt people the way I hurt Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr.

One thing I have learned about myself from that point in time is that not only was I emotionally broken because growing up seeing my father was more dedicated to his life of addiction than living his life with his family. That made me grow resentment towards him because I saw how my mother had to step up and be both Mom and Dad, which she did just fine. However, that wasn't enough for me because deep down inside I yearned for my father. So I began to look for that father figure elsewhere, and I found it in my older brother. Which he was a loving brother to me.

However, my brother was already deep into the gang life style, he was already coming in and out of jail, and addicted to drugs. So what he began to teach me was all the negative traits that would help me survive out in the world, rather than to live a normal life with my family.

So, what prison has taught me in the past ten years is that not only is it my responsibility to make amends for using my own personal struggle as an excuse to victimize everyone in my community, but I'm also committed to making things right with Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr because I now understand that they as well as their families did not deserve to get hurt the way I hurt them.

#4, Provide a brief statement why you should be granted a commutation.

Dear Governor Brown,

I acknowledge that the person I use to be is not deserving of any special treatment. However, what motivates me today to humbly come before you and ask for a second chance at life, is the fact that after my father passed away on January 3, 2017, not only did it change my life for good, but what helped me to mourn and finally find the peace to fill the void I have had my whole life is coming to the realization that I need to pay the debt I have with Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr, their family, my co-defendants and their families, my family and society as a whole. By honoring my father and being a good son to my mother. Being a good husband and step-father. Being a good rolemodel to my family. Lastly, being a respectable member of society.

The way I plan to accomplish that is by becoming a man of service to my community and doing volunteer work wherever I am needed.

If granted a commutation I will not only use this opportunity to continue to make amends to Mr. Deryon Williams and Mr. Kevin Carr, but I will also continue to do some of the work I am honored to do here at Ironwood prison. (Sharing my testimony with the local high school) because one thing I have noticed about sharing my story is that, it not only raises awareness to teenagers about what's to come if they make poor choices like I did, but I also want to show society that with help change is possible.

In conclusion, I thank you for allowing me the opportunity to not only present my case, but also for allowing me the opportunity to humbly ask for a second chance at life.

Sincerely,

Executive Department

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Fateem Jackson

In August 1998, Fateem Jackson and Temeria Garner approached Artashes Kazaryan with a gun and demanded his car. When Mr. Kazaryan refused, Mr. Jackson shot Mr. Kazaryan in the back of the head and arm. Mr. Jackson and Ms. Garner then stole Mr. Kazaryan's car. Mr. Kazaryan survived his injuries. On April 16, 1999, the Los Angeles County Superior Court sentenced Mr. Jackson to 18 years for carjacking, 15 years for a prior felony enhancement, and 3 years for a great bodily injury enhancement – a total of 36 years.

Mr. Jackson is now 42 years old and has been incarcerated for over 20 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Jackson expressed his sincere remorse for the victim and victim's family. He wrote, "I constantly think about the harm I caused Mr. Kazaryan and his family; as well as my family whom I abandoned and disgraced...With a healthy sense of guilt and remorse, I intend to make amends by never forgetting what I've done, and honoring the survivors of my criminal acts through positive service."

During more than two decades in prison, Mr. Jackson has been dedicated to transforming his life. He is currently enrolled in college courses and has participated in multiple self-help programs, including Guiding Rage into Power (GRIP), Domestic Violence, and Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous. Mr. Jackson also completed training to become a certified domestic violence facilitator. A correctional lieutenant who has observed Mr. Jackson facilitate the GRIP program wrote, "Mr. Jackson's life-walk at San Quentin is indicative of someone who has undergone a value and character change...I express to you today that I observe Mr. Jackson, a mature, level-headed, goal-oriented adult, who has educated himself to assimilate back into society and he has developed into a role-model for other incarcerated men." The founder of the GRIP program wrote that Mr. Jackson "is one of my best facilitators and in my 21 years of service he ranks one of the very best students I have ever had." In the event of his release, Mr. Jackson plans to live in transitional housing, and he was offered employment as a facilitator for GRIP.

Additionally, his application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend clemency. The California Supreme Court also made the recommendation required by the California Constitution for a grant of clemency to Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson committed a very serious crime, but it is clear that he has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation and has worked hard to set a positive example for his peers. As a result, he has earned an opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Fateem Jackson to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 24th Day of December, 2018.

On September 4, 2017, I submitted an application for clemency to the Governor's office. In Attachment "1" of the application where it states to list all prior convictions, I demonstrated my adult record, however, I inadvertently omitted my juvenile record. I have no written copies of any of my juvenile adjudications. However, in good faith I would like to disclose the facts to the best of my recollection and knowledge.

Between the years 1991 and 1992, I received probation for two charges of Grand Theft Auto and was sent to a boys' camp for petty theft. I cannot fully recall the exact dates.

It is my sincere apology for not disclosing this bit of information in my initial application packet. I hope that this informal letter can be included with my official application, and collectively be given consideration. Thank you.

Under the penalty of perjury I declare that the forgoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

Part 2

I was two weeks shy of my 22nd birthday on August 11, 1998. Shamefully, I and my eighteen year old accomplice, Tarina Garner, attempted to rob Mr. Artashes Kazaryan at gunpoint. I held the illegal firearm to Mr. Kazaryan and forcefully demanded his possessions. He rightfully refused, which sent me into a rage. Fueled by my PCP intoxication, I impulsively shot Mr. Kazaryan two times. In a vicious and cowardly way, I removed him from his vehicle and cruelly left him lying in the street barely holding on to life as I stole his vehicle.

I was apprehended and arrested on August 20, 1998. Originally, I was only charged with possession of an illegal firearm (the same illegal firearm used to severely injure Mr. Kazaryan). Then on December 3, 1998, while still in custody, I was charged with attempted murder, carjacking and the use of a firearm.

I plead guilty in a plea agreement and was convicted of carjacking, great bodily injury, and use of a firearm. I was sentenced to an aggregate prison term of thirty-six (36) years. Currently, I've been incarcerated for nineteen (19) years. See Appendix "A" p. 2 - 3 of 5

I truly thank you Honorable Governor Brown for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Fateen L. Jackson
CDCR# J11772

Note: The 36 year sentence was enhanced because of a prior felony. I was sentenced as a second striker.

Part 3

For a prolonged period in my life I was lost in a mind-state and belief system that distortedly affected my judgment. I was damaged for a long time by developmental trauma from my early years. I became troubled because I didn't have the tools to cope with my emotional and mental hardships. Therefore, I suppressed it. However, it came out at times, impulsively and violently.
